Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with Section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 1613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors:

- (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities;
- (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields;
- (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs;
- (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations;
- (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and
- (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application.

Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the RFA. 2 CFR Part 200 - Subpart C and Appendix I apply to this program. 2 CFR Part 400 applies to this program. Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 1613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, $18,116,106 was available to support awards after deductions for legislatively authorized set asides. A total of 169 applications were received in response to the FY 2017 RFA. Two (2) peer review panels were convened to review all of the applications. An 18-member peer review panel evaluated the Teaching and Extension applications, and a 25-member peer review panel evaluated the Research applications. The peer panel included faculty and administrators from land grant and non-land grant colleges and universities, industry reps, and practitioners from the food and agricultural sciences community. Funds were available to support 59 awards. By grant type, the number of projects recommended for funding (with total funding) is shown below.7 Professional Development ($584,846)26 Regular ($6,565,417)16 Collaborative ($6,256,687)10 Integrated ($5,545,337)By project type, the number of project recommended for funding (with total funding) is shown below.29 Research ($9,981,709)14 Teaching/Education ($3,519,809)16 Extension ($5,450,769)The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 was 35%.Funded projects will:(1) build and strengthen institutional capacity through stimulating the development of high quality Teaching, Research and Extension programs at the 1890 Land-Grant Universities; (2) produce Baccalaureate and higher level degree graduates capable of strengthening the Nations food, agricultural, natural resources, and human sciences professionals and scientists; (3) develop strong research that addresses current challenges in todays agriculture; and (4) deliver needed help to communities, small farms and other clients. Fiscal Year 2018: In FY 2018 it is anticipated that $18 million will be available to support awards after legislatively authorized set asides. A total of 178 applications were accepted for review in response to the FY 2018 Request for Applications (RFA). It is anticipated that approximately 60 awards will be granted in FY 2018. As of August 2018, the FY 2018 peer panels have not been convened to evaluate the merit of the submitted applications. Therefore, further information is not available. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. Fiscal Year 2019: For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019:It is projected that $ 18 million will be available for similar projects in FY 2019. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, $4,519,357 was available to support awards after legislatively authorized set-asides were deducted. A total of 105 applications were reviewed in response to the FY 2017 RFA. A 21-member peer review panel evaluated the applications. The peer panel included faculty and administrators from land grant and non-land grant colleges and universities, and practitioners from the food and agricultural sciences community. Funds were available to support 19 awards in the following Grant Types: Planning Activities [Five (5) awards]Regular Projects [Six (6) awards]Collaborative Grant Type 1 Projects [Four (4) awards]Collaborative Grant Type 2 Projects [Four (4) awards]The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 was 18%.Funded projects will address one (1) or more of the following educational strategies: (1) Curriculum Development, Instructional Delivery Systems and Expanding Student Career Opportunities; (2) Faculty Preparation and Enhancement for Teaching; and/or (3) Facilitating Interaction with Other Academic Institutions.The Higher Education Challenge (HEC) program seeks to improve formal, baccalaureate or masters degree level food, agricultural, natural resources, and human sciences (FANH) education and first professional degree-level education in veterinary medicine (DVM). HEC projects may improve the economic health and viability of communities through the development of degree programs that emphasize new and emerging employment opportunities. Projects may also address the national challenge to increase the number and diversity of students entering the FANH sciences. Fiscal Year 2018: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, it is anticipated that $4.5 million will be available to support awards after legislatively authorized set-asides are deducted. A total of 116 applications were received in response to the FY 2018 RFA. It is anticipated that approximately 20 awards will be granted in FY 2018. As of August 2018, the FY 2018 peer panel has not been convened to evaluate the

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. 10.220 Higher Education - Multicultural Scholars Grant Program

Institution Challenge, Multicultural Scholars & Graduate Fellowships Grant Program (Multicultural Scholars)[Formerly: Minority Scholars Program],

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Legislative authority for this program is contained in section 1417 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA) (99 Stat. 1548; 7 U.S.C. 3152). USDA/NIFA administers this federal assistance grant program to support food and agricultural sciences baccalaureate and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (D.V.M.) degree training of the next generation of scientists, policy makers, and educators in the Food and Agricultural Sciences. USDA initiated the Higher Education Multicultural Scholars Program in FY 1994. This program, functioning collaboratively with eligible higher education institutions, is developing intellectual capital to secure the preeminence of U.S. food and agricultural systems., 7 USC Code 3152.

OBJECTIVES:

To increase the ethnic and cultural diversity of the food and agricultural scientific and professional work force, and to advance the educational achievement of minority Americans, by providing grants to colleges and universities that have a demonstrable capacity to attract, educate, and graduate minority students for careers as agriscience and agribusiness professionals, and have unique capabilities for achieving the objective of full representation of minority groups in the fields of agriculture, natural resources, forestry, veterinary medicine, home economics, and disciplines closely allied to the food and agricultural system.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Competitive annual grants to selected U.S. institutions of higher education provide for a limited number of four-year undergraduate scholarships to support minority students pursuing baccalaureate degrees in the food and agricultural sciences. Institutions also receive an annual cost-of-education allowance for each scholar supported by a grant. The scholars are selected by the institutions and students must apply for the scholarships through procedures established by the individual institutions. No scholarship grants are made directly to students and students cannot apply directly to USDA for scholarships. Scholarship monies may be used for tuition, fees, room, board, and other educational expenses as announced in a Federal Register notice inviting applications for new awards. The institutional cost-of-education allowance may be used by the selected institutions to defray program expenses including, but not limited to, travel and publications costs incurred for student recruitment, and salaries of project personnel.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Minority group; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Proposals may be submitted by all U.S. colleges and universities with baccalaureate or higher degree programs in agriculture, natural resources, forestry, veterinary medicine, home economics, and disciplines closely allied to the food and agricultural system, including land-grant colleges and universities, colleges and universities having significant minority enrollments and a demonstrable capacity to carry out the teaching of food and agricultural sciences, and other colleges and universities having a demonstrable capacity to carry out the teaching of food and agricultural sciences.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Minority group; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; Other private institution/organization; Native American Organizations; Other Non-White; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Funds awarded under this program are used to support full-time undergraduate students pursuing a baccalaureate degree in an area of the food and agricultural sciences or a closely allied field. Persons eligible to receive scholarships under this program are students who either are enrolled or have been accepted as full-time baccalaureate or DVM degree candidates, and who are members of groups traditionally under-represented in food and agricultural scientific and professional fields.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/higher-education-multicultural-scholars-program-mspRFAs> are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. Please see the following Grants.gov link for more information:

http://www.grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Higher Education Native American Formula and/or Higher Education Native American Institutions,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Authority for the Tribal Colleges Education Equity Grants (TCEG) program is contained in the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 301 note) as amended by the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7601 note). Appropriated funds are to be awarded to the 1994 Land-Grant Institutions (hereinafter referred to as 1994 Institutions) for Education capacity building and funds are to be distributed equally among institutions that meet eligibility requirements., 7 USC Code 301 note.

OBJECTIVES:

This grants program is designed to promote and strengthen higher education instruction in the food and agricultural sciences at the 34 Tribal Colleges designated as 1994 Land-Grant Institutions in the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994, as amended. Plans of Work should focus on undergraduate and/or graduate studies in the food and agricultural sciences in one or more of the following areas: Curricula Design and Materials Development, Faculty Development and Preparation for Teaching, Instruction Delivery Systems, Student Experiential Learning, Equipment and Instrumentation for Teaching, or Student Recruitment and Retention. The purpose of the TCEG Program is to provide funding to enhance educational opportunities for Native Americans in the food and agricultural sciences. The TCEG program is intended to strengthen institutional capacity to deliver relevant formal education opportunities. The TCEG is intended to be a component of the applicant 1994 institutions land grant roadmap or strategic planning process. To the extent practicable, priorities should reflect the following national critical needs areas: 1. Sustainable energy2. Global food security and hunger3. Climate change4. Nutrition and preventing childhood obesity5. Food safety6. Sustainable rural economiesAwards are made upon approval of each institutions application for a grant that relate to an institutions long-range goals. As indicated in Part 1, C. of the RFA, an application may address one (1) or more of the following program areas:Curricula Design and Materials DevelopmentFaculty Development and Preparation for TeachingInstruction Delivery SystemsStudent Experiential LearningEquipment and Instrumentation for TeachingStudent Recruitment and RetentionRecognizing that strengthening instructional programs is a long-term ongoing process, the TCEG program is interested in funding subsequent phases of previously funded projects in order to strengthen institutional capacity, and institutions are encouraged to build on a theme over several grant awards to reach institutional long-range goals.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant.Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 1. Bay Mills Academics and Agricultural Initiative The Equity grant funded 13 student retention workshops attended by 270 students. These workshops, held at the Bay Mills Student Success Center, provided tutors in math, science and computer programming for free and 135 students rely on these services. In addition the colleges demonstration farm partnered with the USDA's Soil Conservation Service for an annual Education on the Farm event for 77 participants. In addition, Waishkey Bay Farm hosted six sustainable agriculture workshops attended by 213 participants. 2. Din STEM-EQUITY Project This project is designed to improve reservation math education from Kindergarten to high school. A total of 520 teachers and students benefitted from this project, including 54 math teachers who attended professional development workshops and 67 students who participated in a summer math camp and the Great Salt Lake Math Immersion Camp. In addition, the colleges STEM festival had 17 secondary schools participating with 360 teachers and students joining the event. 3. SCC Native in Future America (NIFA) Project The Equity grant at Stone Child College provides funding for tuition and stipends for students attending college. All students receive extensive mentoring to ensure they succeed. Of the students 14 students who participated in the scholarship program five were majoring in natural resources, three in math, two in pre-engineering, two in applied science and two in computer science. Of the eight students receiving stipends five were majoring in natural resources, two were in pre-engineering and one in mathematics. 4. NWICs Program to Create and Implement a Training Program for Our STEM Faculty and Tutors This program provides professional training to math teachers for the colleges faculty and staff to increase the number of students on campus with enhanced knowledge and competence in mathematics. Faculty observe that some of the 160 students who participated are saying that mathematics actually makes more sense to them because of the new teaching methods. 5. Creation of a Wildlife Biology Degree Program at the Salish Kootenai College The Equity funding supports improvement for courses in GIS technology, hydrology and forest management. In addition, nine new courses were added including laboratory classes in ornithology, entomology and ichthyology. A total of 95 students benefitted from this grants because new and improved courses became available to them at the college. 2018 1. Advancing and Supporting Indigenous Perspectives of Sustainability at Home and Beyond The Sustainable Development Institute (SDI) has been a part of the College of Menominee Nation since inception in the early 90s. Early SDI work included support for faculty development and guiding the development of a research agenda based on the Menominee Theoretical Model of Sustainability (MTMS). This proposal builds on that history and recent work through the following three goals: 1) Provide a deeper understanding of the MTMS and its application in different spheres of influence (education, research, and outreach) as a means to engage faculty and students on topics of sustainable development, sustainable forestry, and human-environmental relationships; 2) develop regional, national and international relationships for engagement opportunities between CMN faculty and students with other Indigenous peoples and institutions; and 3) develop a Program Evaluation for proposed faculty and student development activities that align with CMN Program Review processes and SDI stakeholder Engagement Plan. We believe these activities will assist our CMN Faculty in their engagement with students, developing deeper connections to Indigenous knowledge through professional development and course delivery and help CMN SDI advance understanding of the MTMS. We seek to share what we learn locally, regionally, nationally and internationally through existing and developing partnerships, as an opportunity for faculty and students to learn about other Indigenous models of sustainability as part of their curricular work and future endeavors. 2. Little Priest Tribal College Extension: Strengthening Communities through Agriculture, Health, and Natural Resources Education Food, agriculture, natural resources, and health are topics that have been a focus for the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska in recent years. As a result of food security, health, and wellness initiatives on the Winnebago Indian Reservation, there is an opportunity and a need to create a formal, culturally relevant, undergraduate curriculum in agriculture, health, and natural resources at Little Priest Tribal College (LPTC) that will complement the community education curriculum to be implemented through the Tribal Colleges Extension Program. LPTC, a fully accredited, tribally controlled institution of higher education affiliated with the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska, proposes the Growing Resources in Agriculture, Health, and Natural Resources, 2018-2022 project. We are requesting Tribal Colleges Education Equity Grants (TCEG) program funding to develop and deliver the educational programming described above to LPTC students, residents of the Winnebago Indian reservation, and surrounding communities in northeastern Nebraska. Emphasis will be placed on attaining four specific objectives designed to meet the project goal described above: 1. Expanding current Indigenous Science course offerings to meet student and community needs, increasing student enrollment in Indigenous Science; 2. Developing sustainable, culturally relevant, science-based curriculum in agriculture, health, and natural resources, increasing student retention in the Indigenous Science program; 3. Incorporating experiential learning opportunities for students enrolled in the Indigenous Science program; 4. Offering professional development opportunities for LPTC faculty and staff that focuses on cultural sensitivity and effectively incorporating culture into the curriculum. 3. Creating Resiliency in Campus Sustainability Efforts In the last funding cycle, Haskell focused on increasing sustainability on campus by establishing a Sustainability Office. The main focus of the office was to manage initiatives that provided experiential learning opportunities for students in sustainability. Specifically, students participated in expanding the recycling program; low maintenance landscape design and implementation for the main part of campus; planting, maintaining, and collecting data in the campus vegetable research garden; development of a campus Tree Inventory; cataloging of the Haskell Herbarium; energy use monitoring; and gathering data for assessment of activities campus-wide. The grant also provided a mechanism for faculty development and curriculum development in sustainability. The particular sustainability programs undertaken under the last funding cycle were chosen after consultation with stakeholders (Haskell administration, faculty, staff, and students) but prioritization of those programs was chosen by Equity grant staff. Paid student workers and volunteers worked on those programs under the direction of the Equity grant PD and the Sustainability Director. In the new grant cycle, Haskell will flip that paradigm and focus our efforts on developing student leaders who will drive our sustainability programs forward. Students will develop planning and leadership skills as they work on sustainability initiatives of their own design, within broad food, agricultural, natural resources, and human science topics at Haskell Indian Nations University. Just as important, we will help our student leaders train students coming up behind them to take over their programs after they graduate. We believe this will ultimately improve the resiliency of our sustainability programs. 4. Promoting Agriculture Capacity and Equity in Crow Country The Crow Reservation encompasses 2.3 million acres in southeast Montana, and it is the largest reservation in Montana, 6th largest in the United States. The abundance of natural resources on the Reservation creates an atmosphere for opportunity. Like all towns in Montana, agriculture dominates the industry, and majority of Crow Tribal Lands are used for just that Agriculture. Although Crow tribal lands are owned by the Crow Tribe and Crow Tribal members, they are not the ones reaping the benefits of their lands. Majority of Crow Tribal lands are leased by non-Indians. It is ironic that the number one industry in Big Horn County is Agriculture, yet the Crow Reservation has an unemployment rate of 18.1 percent and a poverty rate of 31.5 percent. Considering the Crow Reservation makes up 72% percent of the land base in Big Horn County, is it very concerning why poverty and employment rates are high on the reservation, when the agricultural market on tribal lands is successful. Little Big Horn College sits at the hub of Crow Agency, the capital for the Crow Reservation. The primary goal of the program titled, Promoting Agriculture Capacity and Equity in Crow Country, is to offer students and community members a curriculum a custom made education program inclusive of Crow Culture and Indian Land Policies that will increase their local agricultural knowledge base, ultimately in effort to help alleviate the disproportionate number of Crow Indian agricultural operators in the community.

5. TMCC Equity Program Project The Natural Resources Management program will be interdisciplinary in construct and as such, will integrate existing TMCC courses with online courses from other academic institutions, and as necessary support courses to supplement the NRM program and sciences. The concept of interdisciplinary in natural resources management will focus on three aspects:

1. People respecting people in communion with an understanding of environmental dynamics;
2. Discernment of the respectful utilizing of natural resources for their highest and best use for society without denigrating the integrity of the natural resources in question;
3. Sustainable management and respect of natural resources for the complexity of ecosystem services rendered.

This project will support the expansion of existing efforts through new program development, while increasing opportunities through the development of ag disciplines.

Objective 1: Offer a Natural Resource 2-year program and to improve and support the biological sciences.

Objective 3: To develop and support Anishinabe Learning Center goals and activities.

Objective 3: To encourage research activities involving faculties and students in the land grant language. The project outcome will result in 10 students enrolling in the Natural Resource Management Program. A minimum of three workshops supporting or relating to the ag-related disciplines with at least 30 total participants.

2019 FY 2019 is projected to be the same because this is the first year of a continuation award.

It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the request for applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. There is no application process. Please refer to Section :093 for specific details regarding the Award Procedure.

Award Procedure:

On the termination of each fiscal year, the Secretary of Agriculture withdraws the earned interest from the Endowment fund and distributes it to the 1994s on a pro rata basis. The pro rata basis formula is as follows: 60 percent is based on the Indian student count for each institution; 40 percent is distributed in equal shares. Interest distributions are made on an annual basis. The interest earned from the endowment corpus is distributed to each 1994 Institution based on a 60-40 percentage formula: 60 percent (60%) is based on the number of American Indian students enrolled (based on the annual Student Indian Count as defined in Section 390(3) of the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Education Act) will be furnished to the agency by the American Indian Higher Education Consortium - AIHEC) and 40 percent (40%) on an equal base formula. The computation is made by NIFA and a letter of notification is sent to each 1994 institution President. The Endowment Interest distribution is available to the 1994 Institutions to be drawn down at their discretion through the electronic payment systems of either the Department of Health and Human Services (PMS) or through the Treasury ASAP system. Upon notification of their annual distribution, 1994s are required to submit a Planning Document (subject to approval) on how their Endowment funds will be spent.

10.223 Hispanic Serving Institutions Education Grants

HSI Grants,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

This program is administered under the provisions of section 1455 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended (NARETPA) (7 U.S.C. 3241) pursuant to section 815 of Public Law 104-127 and Public Law 110-246. Section 1455 of NARETPA, as reauthorized by section 7128 of Public Law 110-246, provides the Secretary of Agriculture with the authority to make competitive grants (or grants without regard to any requirement for competition) to Hispanic-Serving Institutions for the purpose of promoting and strengthening the ability of Hispanic-Serving Institutions to carry out education, applied research, and related community development programs., 7 USC Code 3241.

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of this program is to promote and strengthen the ability of Hispanic-Serving Institutions to carry out higher education programs in the food and agricultural sciences. These programs aim to attract outstanding students and produce graduates capable of enhancing the Nation's food and agricultural scientific and professional work force. Grants under this program will be awarded to: (1) support the activities of consortia of Hispanic-Serving Institutions to enhance educational equity for underrepresented students; (2) strengthen institutional educational capacities including libraries, curriculum, faculty, scientific instrumentation, instruction delivery systems, and student recruitment and retention, in order to respond to identified State, regional, national, or international educational needs in the food and agricultural sciences; (3) attract and support undergraduate and graduate students from underrepresented groups in order to prepare them for careers related to the food, agricultural, and natural resource systems of the United States, beginning with the mentoring of students at the high school level and continuing with the provision of financial support for students through their attainment of a doctoral degree; and (4) facilitate cooperative initiatives between two or more Hispanic-Serving Institutions, or between Hispanic-Serving Institutions and units of State government or the private sector, to maximize the development and use of resources, such as faculty, facilities, and equipment, to improve food and agricultural sciences teaching programs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used to support one or more of the following target areas or additional target areas as identified in the annual program announcement: Curricula design; materials development; library resources; faculty preparation and enhancement for teaching; instruction delivery systems; scientific instrumentation for teaching; student experiential learning; and student recruitment and retention.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Minority group; Hispanic serving institutions are eligible to receive funds under this program. "Hispanic serving institutions" means an institution of higher education which, at the time of application, has an enrollment of undergraduate full-time equivalent students that is at least 25 percent Hispanic students, and which (1) admits as regular students only persons having a certificate of graduation from a school providing secondary education, or the recognized equivalent of such certificate; (2) is a public or other nonprofit institutions accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting body; and (3) is legally authorized to provide a program of education beyond the secondary level for which a 2-year associate, baccalaureate, or higher degree is awarded. Applications may be submitted by, and awards may only be made to, public or other non-profit Hispanic-Serving Institutions as defined in the definitions section of this solicitation. For the purposes of this program, the individual branches of a State university system or public system of higher education that are separately accredited as degree granting institutions are treated as separate institutions eligible for awards. Accreditation must be by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. Institutions also must be legally authorized to offer at least a two-year program of study creditable toward an associate's or bachelor's degree. Separate branches or campuses of a college or university that are not individually accredited as degree granting institutions are not treated as separate institutions. To be eligible for competitive consideration for an award under this program, a Hispanic-Serving Institution must at the time of application: (1) certify that it has an enrollment of undergraduate full-time equivalent students that is at least 25 percent Hispanic students; and (2) provide assurances that not less than 50 percent of the institution's Hispanic students are low-income individuals as defined in the definitions section of this solicitation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Minority group; Graduate Student; Spanish Origin; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Hispanic serving institutions, as identified above, are eligible to receive funds under this program.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/hispanic-serving-institutions-education-grants-program-hsirfAs> are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. Please see the following Grants.gov link for more information: http://www.grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: The amount appropriated for the Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSI) program was approximately $9.2 million. Per the Budget Office, approximately $8.8 million was available to support grants. After legislatively authorized set asides and peer panel costs. The Program received 63 proposals on this year's competition. The HSI Panel was held on May 25-26, 2017 to review 63 proposal. Twenty panelists with expertise in education, natural resources, biotechnology, general agriculture, food and nutrition sciences, horticulture and animal sciences reviewed the proposals. A total of 29 proposals, including seventeen continuation grants, were recommended for funding. The remaining 51 proposals were declined. Institutions submitting proposals were from the following states: California, Florida, New Mexico, Texas, and Puerto Rico. Panelists represented various academic areas including business, agriculture, natural resources, forestry, veterinary medicine, family and consumer sciences, and closely allied disciplines. Based on the peer review deliberations, funds were available to support 29 grants. Each project has planned some form of collaboration and coordination efforts with a local USDA office. Fiscal Year 2018: For Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, $9,129,000 was appropriated to support the HSI Program. Per the Budget Office, after legislatively authorized set asides and peer panel costs, $8,808,579 were available to States. The FY18 HSIs RFA was published in March 2018. Funds for seventeen (17) continuation awards were provided as well as 10 new projects. The Program received 58 proposals on this year's competition. The HSI Panel was held on June 19-21st, 2018 to review 58 proposal. Twenty panelists with expertise in education, natural resources, biotechnology, general agriculture, food and nutrition sciences, horticulture and animal sciences reviewed the proposals. A total of 27 proposals, including seventeen continuation grants, were recommended for funding. The remaining 43 proposals were declined. Institutions submitting proposals were from the following states: Arizona, California, Florida, New Jersey, New Mexico, Texas, and Puerto Rico. Panelists represented various academic areas including business, agriculture, natural resources, forestry, veterinary medicine, family and consumer sciences, and closely allied disciplines. Based on the peer review deliberations, funds were available to support 27 grants. Each project has planned some form of collaboration and coordination efforts with a local USDA office. Fiscal Year 2019: For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: The funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. However, for Fiscal Year (FY) 2019, it is projected that approximately $9 million will be appropriated to support projects. Per the Budget Office, it is projected that approximately $8.8 million will be available for grants. A total of 65 proposals are expected for consideration for funding in 2019, the twenty-seventh year of the program. We are expecting proposals from the following states: Arizona, California, Florida, Illinois, New Mexico, New York, Texas, Washington, and Puerto Rico. A three-day panel is expected. The grant applications will be evaluated by a peer review panel comprised of faculty members from land-grant and non-land-grant universities, members from private industry, and representatives of the Federal government. Panelists will represent various academic areas including business, agriculture, natural resources, forestry, veterinary medicine, family and consumer sciences, and closely allied disciplines. Based on the peer review deliberations, funds should be available to support about 25 grants. Each project will include some form of collaboration and coordination efforts with a local USDA office.

instructional diversity, and using innovative, dual-purpose initiatives: 1. faculty travel awards as incentives for graduate course creation; 2. humanitarian aid project and student mentoring research scholarships to foster collaboration and integration of nutritional sciences into existing Natural Sciences departments to stimulate critical thinking; and 3. community practicum experiences in service to the underserved population. The Central Valley of California (CVC) is a food basket of the US. The large number of agriculture-related commerce and agencies in the CVC provides extensive opportunities for well-trained students from the region. An institution with an established history of generating large numbers of these highly qualified scholars especially those from traditionally underrepresented groups. This institution will lead the efforts in training these scholars from across the CVC and across a number of ag-related disciplines include soil science and nutrition. We expect these scholars to contribute to the ag-related growth of the CVC and the nation. A project will impact the horticulture program for 200 inmate students that are part of a certificate and associate degree program in Texas. Its goals are: 1. Practice in applying communication, problem-solving, and self-management and teamwork soft skill; 2. Practice in applying financial management principles to personal and business finances; 3. Increased degree completion rate for horticulture students; 4. Increased number of students articulate into related bachelors degree program; and 5. Majority of released completers in related employment after release. Underrepresented Students Pursuing Agriculture-Related Careers (U-SPARC) is a program designed to increase the recruitment and retention of undergraduate students at the University in food, agricultural, natural, and health (FANH) science careers. U-SPARC builds upon existing infrastructure to provide experiential research-training opportunities for sophomore- and junior level undergraduate students, thereby creating a bridge toward joining the American agricultural workforce in the priority need areas and primary disciplines: 1) biotechnology related to agriculture; and 2) plant health and production. U-SPARC will train 24 sophomore and junior undergraduate (i.e. Bachelor of Science degree) URM students through intensive research experiences in the USDA Salinity Lab and UCR plant biology labs, and through a new course that promotes soft skill development and a better understanding of the career opportunities available within USDA and local agricultural industries. A project will impact the horticulture program for 200 inmate students that are part of a certificate and associate degree program in Texas. Its goals are: 1. Practice in applying communication, problem-solving, self-management and teamwork soft skills; 2. Practice in applying financial management principles to personal and business finances; 3. Increased degree completion rate for horticulture students; 4. Increased number of students articulate into related bachelors degree program; and 5. Majority of released completers in related employment after release. 2018 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: In the Rio Grande Valley, agriculture is constrained by soil quality issues such as high salinity and low availability of nutrients. Decades of reductions in soil-specific course hours in modern environmental science majors have left few qualified soil scientists nationally compounded by a lack of Hispanic representation in soil science and natural resources conservation. Hence, we propose to enhance education and training and provide research experience, addressing four USDA educational need areas, preparing over 280 students for soil science careers. University faculty will develop five courses and respective lab manuals for introduction to soil science, soil physics and hydrology, soil chemistry, soil biology, and soil conservation. Experiment-based labs will utilize state-of-the-art techniques and instruments from the PDs research. Experiential learning also includes field excursions to promote in-depth understanding of soil genesis, soil morphology, and land use. 2019 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. Per the Budget Office, it is projected that approximately $8.8 million will be available to support the HSI grants. The FY 2018 HSIs RFA was published in March 2018. Funds for seventeen (17) continuation awards were projected, as well as 10 new projects.

10.225 Community Food Projects

Community Foods,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

The Community Food Projects Competitive Grants Program (CFPCGP) legislative authority is located in Section 25 of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2034), as amended by the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 and Section 4402 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act (FCEA) of 2008 (Pub. L. 110-246), which authorizes a program of federal grants to establish and carry out Community Food Projects., 7 USC Code 2034.

OBJECTIVES:

To support the development of community food projects designed to meet the food needs of low-income people; increase the self-reliance of communities in providing for their own needs; and promote comprehensive responses to local food, farm, and nutrition issues.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Community food projects are intended to take a comprehensive approach to developing long-term solutions that help to ensure food security in communities by linking the food sector to community development, economic opportunity, and environmental enhancement. Comprehensive solutions may include elements such as: (1) Improved access to high quality, affordable food among low-income households; (2) support for local food systems, from urban gardening to local farms that provide high quality fresh food, ideally with minimal adverse environmental impact; and (3) expanded economic opportunities for community residents through local business or other economic development, improved employment opportunities, job training, youth apprenticeship, school-to-work transition, and the like. Any solution proposed must tie into community food needs. Successful applicants must provide matching funds, either in cash or in-kind amounting to at least 50 percent of the total cost of the project during the term of the grant award.

Applicant Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Proposals may be submitted by private nonprofit entities. Because projects must promote comprehensive responses to local food, farm, and nutrition issues, applicants are encouraged to seek and create partnership among public, private nonprofit and private for-profit organizations or firms. To be further eligible for a grant, a private nonprofit applicant must meet three mandatory requirements: 1. Have experience in the area of: (a) community food work, particularly concerning small and medium-sized farms, including the provision of food to people in low-income communities and the development of new markets in low-income communities for agricultural producers; or (b) job training and business development activities in low-income communities; 2. demonstrate competency to implement a project, provide fiscal accountability and oversight, collect data, and prepare reports and other appropriate documentation; and 3. demonstrate a willingness to share information with researchers, practitioners, and other interested parties.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Low income people.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/community-food-projects-cfp-competitive-grants-program> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. Please see the following Grants.gov link for more information: http://www.grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer

(ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 100%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Successful CFP applicants and PP award applicants MUST provide matching on a dollar-for-dollar basis (100%) for all federal funds awarded. Matching funds are not required for T & TA grants. The legislation establishing the FSLC requires that as a condition to receiving a grant from NIFA, the NGO must contribute in-kind resources toward implementing the grant. To comply with this provision, NIFA has determined that applicants must provide at least 25 percent of total project resources on an in-kind basis during the term of the grant award. The Federal share of FSLC costs can be no more than 75 percent of total project costs. CFP, PP and FSLC grantees may provide matching funds through cash and/or in-kind contributions, including third-party in-kind contributions fairly evaluated, including facilities. The non-federal share of the funding may come from state government, local government, other non-profit entities, or private sources. Examples of qualifying matching contributions may include direct costs such as:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

rent for office space used exclusively for the funded project; duplication or postage costs; and staff time from an entity other than the applicant for job training or nutrition education. SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Use of Indirect Costs as In-Kind Matching Contributions. Indirect costs may be claimed under the Federal portion of the award budget or, alternatively, indirect costs may be claimed as a matching contribution (if no indirect costs are requested under the Federal portion of the award budget). However, unless explicitly authorized in the RFA, indirect costs may not be claimed on both the Federal portion of the award budget and as a matching contribution, unless the total claimed on both the Federal portion of the award budget and as a matching contribution does not exceed the maximum allowed indirect costs or the institutions negotiated indirect cost rate, whichever is less. An awardee may split the allocation between the Federal and non-Federal portions of the budget only if the total amount of indirect costs charged to the project does not exceed the maximum allowed indirect costs or the institutions negotiated indirect cost rate, whichever is less. For example, if an awardee's indirect costs are capped at 22 percent pursuant to section 1462(a) of NARETPA (7 U.S.C. 3310(a)), the awardee may request 11 percent of the indirect costs on both the Federal portion of the award and as a matching contribution. Or, the awardee may request any similar percentage that, when combined, does not exceed the maximum indirect cost rate of 22 percent. (2) Matching funds are not required for training and technical assistance (T & TA) grants. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The term of competitive project grants and/or cooperative agreements under this program may not exceed three (3) years. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database--Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213Telephone: (202) 690-0009E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical ReportThe Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. (3) Further guidance is provided under 2 CFR Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR Part 400, USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards. PROGRESS REPORTS: See above for pertinent and specific details. EXPENDITURE REPORTS: See above for pertinent and specific details. PERFORMANCE MONITORING: See above for pertinent and specific details.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F - Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. A non-Federal entity that expends less than $750,000 during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards is exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Farms to Food Banks Capacity-Building Project Farm to Food Banks Capacity Building Project reduces food insecurity in Kentucky and strengthens the linkages between key sectors of Kentucky's food system, including farmers, nonprofit food distributors and low-income consumers. Outcomes include increasing the amount of fresh produce to low income Kentuckians by 9 million, increasing by 20% the number of food bank patrons that are aware of the benefits of healthy eating and possessing the skill necessary to prepare fruits and vegetables; and increasing by 200 the number of Kentucky farmers benefiting from a new market for a Number 2-grade and surplus produce and an average increase in cash flow of $2,500. 2018 Farming for Life Farming for Life is a comprehensive program that will alter the current food production and access trajectory by bringing together healthcare, agriculture, and social service organizations to systematically address issues of food insecurity, health, and local food production. This program builds a bridge between healthcare, social services, and agriculture to mitigate the heavy burdens of chronic disease and food insecurity, while simultaneously enhancing the capacity of local farmers to supply the community with fresh produce. Participants will be referred to Farming for Life by their primary care physicians, where they will collect weekly supplies of vegetables free of charge. The vegetables will be sourced directly from local farms and will be distributed through existing distribution infrastructure at local social service organizations. 2019 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: Pertinent details provided by Program at a future date.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Within guidelines established for the program as described in the Request for Application (RFA). 1. The applicability and merit of the proposed project in regard to its ability to: Meet the food needs of low-income people in the proposed community for providing for its own food needs; and promote comprehensive responses to local food, farm, and nutrition needs; 2. the capacity to become self-sustaining once Federal funding ends; and 3. organizational and staff qualifications and experience; and 4. additional criteria will be considered relative to the extent the proposed project contributes to: (a) developing linkages between two or more sectors of the food system; (b) supporting the development of entrepreneurial projects; (c) developing innovative linkages between the for-profit and nonprofit food sectors; (d) encouraging long-term planning activities and multi-system, interagency approaches; and (e) incorporating linkages to one or more ongoing USDA themes or initiatives referred to in the program guidelines and/or annual proposal solicitation. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. extension and teaching in the food and agricultural sciences. Section 7109 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (P.L. 110-246) amends the authority for this program contained in section 1417(j) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended (7 U.S.C. 3152(j)). In accordance with the statutory authority, subject to the availability of funds, the Secretary of Agriculture (USDA), who has delegated the authority to the Director of the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA), will award grants to: (a) promote and strengthen secondary and 2-year postsecondary agriscience and agribusiness education, and Agriculture in the K-12 Classroom, in order to help ensure the existence in the United States of a qualified workforce to serve the food and agricultural sciences system; and (b) promote complementary and synergistic linkages among secondary, 2-year postsecondary, and higher education programs in the food and agricultural sciences in order to attain excellence in education and to encourage more young Americans to pursue and complete a baccalaureate or higher degree in the food and agricultural sciences., 7 USC Code 3121. Section 1405 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended, (7 U.S.C. 3121) designates the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) as the lead Federal agency for agriculture research, extension and teaching in the food and agricultural sciences. Section 7109 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (P.L. 110-246) amends the authority for this program contained in section 1417(j) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended (7 U.S.C. 3152(j))., 7 USC Code 3152 (j).

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the Secondary Education, Two-Year Postsecondary Education, and Agriculture in the K-12 Classroom Challenge (SPECAs) Grants Program is to: enhance curricula in agricultural education; increase faculty teaching competencies; interest young people in pursuing higher education in order to prepare for scientific and professional careers in the food and agricultural sciences; promote the incorporation of agriscience and agribusiness subject matter into other instructional programs, particularly classes in science, business, and consumer education; facilitate joint initiatives by the grant recipient with other secondary schools, institutions of higher education that award an associate's degree, institutions of higher education that award a bachelor's degree, and nonprofit organizations supporting agriscience and agribusiness education, to maximize the development and use of resources, such as faculty, facilities, and equipment, to improve agriscience and agribusiness education; support other initiatives designed to meet local, State, regional, or national needs related to promoting excellence in agriscience and agribusiness education; and support current Agriculture in the Classroom programs for grades K-12.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used only in targeted areas, e.g., curricula design and materials development, promotion of teaching competencies, promotion of agriscience and agribusiness career information, instruction delivery systems, student experiential learning, and educational activities that increase the diversity of students pursuing degrees in agriscience and agribusiness.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Public secondary schools or public or private nonprofit junior and community colleges.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Public secondary schools or public or private nonprofit junior and community colleges.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 100%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. A grant recipient is required to match the USDA funds awarded on a dollar-for-dollar (100%) basis from non-Federal sources. Matching funds are not required to come in any particular amount from any one source. However, all matching funds pledged in this application must be accompanied by documentation. See Part IV, B.5. SF 424 (R&R) Budget Fed and Non-Fed, Field K-Budget Justification, for additional details. Note #2 - Use of Indirect Costs as In-Kind Matching Contributions. Indirect costs may be claimed under the Federal portion of the award budget or, alternatively, indirect costs may be claimed as a matching contribution (if no indirect costs are requested under the Federal portion of the award budget). However, unless explicitly authorized in the RFA, indirect costs may not be claimed on both the Federal portion of the award budget and as a matching contribution, unless the total claimed on both the Federal portion of the award budget and as a matching contribution does not exceed the maximum allowed indirect costs or the institutions negotiated indirect cost rate, whichever is less. An awardee may split the allocation between the Federal and non-Federal portions of the budget only if the total amount of indirect costs charged to the project does not exceed the maximum allowed indirect costs or the institutions negotiated indirect cost rate, whichever is less. For example, if an awardee's indirect costs are capped at 22 percent pursuant to section 1462(a) of NARETPA (7 U.S.C. 3310(a)), the awardee may request 11 percent of the indirect costs on both the Federal portion of the award and as a matching contribution. Or, the awardee may request any similar percentage that, when combined, does not exceed the maximum indirect cost rate of 22 percent. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

In accordance with statutory time limits, project periods, including no-cost extensions of time, are not to exceed five (5) years. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 ENHANCING THE FUTURE POULTRY WORKFORCE THROUGH STEM BASED INDUSTRY EXPOSURE AND ENGAGEMENTThis three-year project will support a total of 405 students and faculty through a curriculum that combines STEM knowledge with career development using the poultry industry as its focal point. COLLABORATIVE LEARNING BETWEEN HIGHER EDUCATION AND HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS DUALY-ENROLLED IN ONLINE NUTRITIONThis two-year project will support partnerships and networking among academic institutions. It will advance agricultural education by fostering partnerships between high schools and colleges in the area of nutrition. The grant will strengthen content and delivery of a high school nutrition course and allow junior and senior high school students to take a dual enrollment in a college level nutrition course for credit. CONNECTING LAND-GRANT UNIVERSITY RESEARCH CENTERS TO SECONDARY AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION STUDENTS IN IDAHO, KANSAS, AND OKLAHOMAThis three-year project will support 7,290 faculty and students through a curriculum development initiative involving a partnership of three Land Grant Institutions: University of Idaho, Kansas State University and Oklahoma State University. The project will create opportunities for high school students to have hands-on research experiences in agri-science at university research centers. To ensure the students get the most out of their research experience the project will provide mentoring to high school agricultural teachers and participating university researchers so they can optimize their ability to teach and develop students talents. IDAHO AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION ALTERNATIVELY CERTIFIED TEACHER SUPPORT PROGRAM (ACTS)This two-year project will support targeted training to certify agricultural teachers who entered their profession in different ways from the traditional four-year teaching degree program. Since more than 40 percent of the new agricultural teachers in Idaho are not certified in the traditional manner this program will help insure that agricultural instructors in the state receive the training and mentoring they required to provide quality instruction to their students. The project director expect to serve 22 faculty and, ultimately, over 13,000 students. ONLINE MODULES FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS THAT HYBRIDIZE HORTICULTURE AND SCIENCE CURRICULA WHILE PROMOTING HORTICULTURE AS A CAREERThis two-year project will support curriculum development to support 805 students and faculty. It will provide secondary instructors with modules in plant production, including general plant biology, hydroponics and careers in horticulture. These online modules will allow educators to introduce horticulture as a technology rich career path that relies on robotics, drones and computerized environmental monitoring and control. It will promote career awareness as a means to increase the number of trained horticulturalists in response to anticipated industry workforce demands. 2018 SNEAD STATE COMMUNITY COLLEGE SECONDARY TO POSTSECONDARY 2+2This three-year project will improve the graduation and matriculation of students interested in agriculture careers. This project will re-establish four agriculture courses, the first at Snead State since 2008. The project director expects to enroll 30 high school agriculture program participants in postsecondary education, enroll a minimum of 25 students in Agriculture Science and Horticulture degrees, graduate 80% of these students with a two-year degree, and increase the number of students who transfer to a four-year institution with agriculture degrees. The project will be funded at $47,156. SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE PRACTICES RESEARCH STUDY (CRELLIN ELEMENTARY (MD))This two-year project will support approximately 90 students and staff members. Crellin Elementary plans to prepare their students for post-secondary education and career opportunities in the sustainable agriculture and environmental fields. To accomplish this goal, the project director will combine mentorships with local expert partnerships and teacher training in a student-driven research program titled Young Researchers Institute. The project will be funded at $12,900. ENGAGING LOCAL UNDERREPRESENTED YOUTH THROUGH A HIGH SCHOOL AGRICULTURE BIOSCIENCE CERTIFICATE (HS-ABC) PROGRAM (TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY)This two-year project proposes to deliver an Agriculture and Bioscience Certificate (ABC) Program in Metropolitan Nashville Public Schools (MNPS) with the infusion of critical technologies, faculty, and graduate student resources from Tennessee State University (TSU). The Certificate program will be delivered in three phases: 1) preparing high school agriculture teachers to co-teach the courses; 2) providing inquiry-based classroom and lab-based teaching activities; 3) offering a summer research camp for the high school students to conduct research projects at TSU. The project director aims to certify 100 high school students and give teaching and mentoring experience to 40 TSU graduate students. The project will be funded at $148,923. PINNING DOWN AG LITERACY: EXPANDING ACCESS TO INSECT SCIENCE (NEW MEXICO STATE)This three-year project will serve approximately 5,000 students and 50 teachers by supporting the teaching of 7th grade insect science. In an effort to increase the representation of minority groups in entomology, the project will create a suite of online learning modules in the field that highlight the importance of insects to the world around us. Through its partnership with New Mexico Ag in the Classroom and the Asombro Institute, NMSU will offer professional development for teachers alongside highly visual, interactive insect science tools and disseminate them statewide and nationally. The project will be funded at $196,919. PATHWAYS TO HIGHER EDUCATION: ENGAGING SECONDARY EDUCATION STUDENTS IN THE FOOD, AGRICULTURAL, NATURAL RESOURCES, AND HUMAN SCIENCES. (UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING)This three-year project will support 180 students through a comprehensive recruitment and training program. UW will develop introductory courses in the College of Agriculture of Natural Resources for secondary education students to engage them in higher education and career opportunities in Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources and Human Science fields. The project director hopes that increasing visibility and recruitment across state by directly engaging with secondary school students and providing them an opportunity to earn college credit will encourage them to continue on in Agriculture disciplines. The project will be funded at $153,270. 2019 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019:Information is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.227 1994 Institutions Research Program

Tribal Colleges Research Grants Program (TCRGP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1405 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA), as amended (7 U.S.C. 3121), designates the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) as the lead Federal Agency for agricultural research, extension, and teaching in the food and agricultural sciences. Authority for this program is contained in the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 301 note), as amended by the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7601 note). In accordance with the statutory authority, subject to the availability of funds, the Secretary of Agriculture may award competitive grants, as defined in section 536 of the Equity in Educational Land Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 301 note), to assist the 1994 Land-Grant Institutions in conducting agricultural research that addresses high priority concerns of tribal, national or multi-state significance., 7 USC Code 301 note.

OBJECTIVES:

The Tribal Colleges Research Grants Program (TCRGP) (aka 1994 Institutions Research Program) is a competitive grants program supporting fundamental and/ or applied agricultural research projects that address high priority concerns of tribal, national or multi-state significance. The program funds investigative and analytical studies and experimentation in the food and agricultural sciences (as defined in section 1404 of the NARETPA (7 U.S.C. 3103) and Part VIII, E. of this RFA). TCRGP seeks to advance the body of knowledge in the basic and applied natural and social sciences within the food and agricultural sciences.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 2271 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-2271 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. RFAs are generally released annually and provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. (2) The details of the reporting requirements are included in the NIFA General Terms and Conditions Grants and Cooperative Agreements (dated October 2016). (3) Further guidance is provided under 2 CFR Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR Part 400, USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards. PERFORMANCE MONITORING: See above for pertinent and specific details.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. A non-Federal entity that expends less than $750,000 during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards is exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: NIFA made ten (14) awards to seven (13) institutions totaling $2,240,078. One school received two awards. The 1994 Research Program is a competitive grant where recipients are selected via peer review. There were 18 proposals accepted for review. Each proposal was evaluated and scored by three reviewers. Applicants could apply at five (5) different levels. A Student Research Experience can be funded up to $60,000; a Research Capacity Building Option up to $95,000 and a New Discovery Research option up to $200,000 and New Discovery with significant student research (five or more students) set at $220,000. In 2017 it was also possible to receive a Pathways to Research grant. This grant helps a 1994 Land Grant build scientific capacity in order to become a more competitive funding candidate. Pathways awards were funded up to $59,954. For the FY 2017 program, there were no restrictions in the number of applications that an eligible institution may submit through grants.gov. NIFA would only award up to two research awards to any one institution in the New Discovery Research option and up to two awards in the Capacity Building option with a limit of three awards total to any one eligible institution in response to the FY 2017 RFA. An institution applying for a Pathways to Research award could not receive more than one award overall. In FY 2017, there were two (2) pathways projects, two (2) student projects, one (1) capacity and nine (9) new discovery; seven (7) of those included significant student research. Further, one (1) proposals that was not funded in FY 2016, re-submitted enhanced applications and received an award in FY 2017. Fiscal Year 2018: A total of 17 proposals were submitted and 13 are recommended for funding with 1 being recommended for funding with additional information regarding their 1862 collaborator and 2 being recommended for funding with additional information to the project. There will be an additional RFA titled Tribal College Areas of Expertise that will be released soon. Appropriations for the program will be $3,801,000 and $2,144,240 is remaining. The remainder of these funds will be used for the Tribal College Area of Expertise. Fiscal Year 2019: The projected level of funding for FY 2019 will be the same as for FY 2018. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

As an administrator of U.S. government support, NIFA works in partnership with grantees to ensure responsible stewardship of federal funds. RELATED PROGRAMS:

Not Applicable.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 1. Building A Community-Based Research Plan At Tohono Oodham Community College This two-year, Pathways to Research proposal will support a partnership with University of Arizona and meetings to develop an Indigenous Research program at the college. Project directors will reach out to students and the greater community to learn about what they would support in a new research program that is adapted to the needs of the Tohono O'odham Reservation. 2. IAIA Student Agricultural Research Project Phase II This two-year Student Research project builds on a previous program to provide arts students with an opportunity to study science. Working with New Mexico State University, IAIA will train students in agriculture research methods applicable to farms along the Rio Grande and Pecos River corridors. This will enhance science literacy among all participants and may engage a few students in a new academic career. 3. Implementing Interdisciplinary Experiential Learning at a Tribal College This two-year Capacity project will focus on building new collaborations with North Dakota State University. The project will investigate the potential of equine assisted learning as a means to address the community concerns about loss of culture and low academic achievement among reservation youth. 4. Effectiveness of sub-irrigation in the Milk River floodplain, Montana This two-year, New Discovery project will investigate whether a sub-irrigation system can address the agricultural needs of in semi-arid regions of northcentral Montana. The Aaniiih Nakoda College community garden will serve as a demonstration plot for this new tool to manage soil moisture and nutrient management. The project director also hopes to attract more students to the environmental science program with the project. Montana State University-Bozeman will partner with the college on this research. 5. Strengthening Little Big Horn College Research Capacity through Improving Rural Families' Access to Safe Drinking Water This two year, New Discovery project, a partnership with the University of Wisconsin-Madison, seeks to apply archeology to develop a more sustainable agriculture on the Menominee reservation. The project builds on three tribal research capacity grants and will explore Menominee agricultural practices from 750 to 1650 AD to gain insights on systems that could benefit modern agriculture during times of climate change. Thirty students will benefit from this project, including ten student interns, qualifying it for the enhanced student funding option. 2018 1. Rapid, early warning approaches to track shellfish toxins at Se'lhaem Buoy The goal of this New Discovery Research grant is to determine if including water quality, toxin, and harmful algae data at the Se'lhaem Buoy in Bellingham Bay will increase the resolution and quality of data being collected at nearby Gooseberry Point, Lummi Nation. The Lummi people have been fishing in these waters since time immemorial, and depend heavily on the shellfisheries for subsistence, ceremonial, and commercial purposes. Harmful Algal Blooms are a serious threat to shell fisheries along the West Coast, and virtually all coastal habitats in the US are at threat from toxic harmful algal events. To accomplish these goals we have identified University of California Santa Cruz as a 1862 Land Grant partner for this project, bringing extensive experience in toxin identification and monitoring. This builds on a previous project, where weekly sampling at Gooseberry Point, Lummi Nation, in Lummi Bay monitors for water quality, toxins, and harmful algae. Northwest Indian College will lead all fieldwork for water quality, phytoplankton, and toxin monitoring at the Se'lhaem Buoy in Bellingham Bay. This additional monitoring may widen the net for identifying toxin and harmful algae input from the north, a concern expressed by Lummi Natural Resources, as it could have swift consequences for shellfish harvests. This project will support at least six American Indian students at Northwest Indian College through summer and school-year paid internships. The research will support TCRGP Priority areas: (1) Natural Resource conservation or adaptation to changing climate (2) Tribal youth and leadership development, and (3) Food sovereignty or food safety for tribal communities. Also the REE goals: (1) Local and Global Food Supply and Security (2) Responding to climate and energy needs (3) Sustainable use of Natural Resources and (4) Education and science literacy. 2. Ecological Restoration of native plant communities in forests and woodlands on the Navajo Nation. The proposal titled, Ecological restoration of native plant communities in forests and woodlands on the Navajo Nation is a new application submitted as a New Discovery-Enhanced, applied research project. The overall proposal to the Agriculture and Food Research Initiative (AFRI) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) Tribal Colleges Research Grants Program is a partnership between Din College (lead) and Northern Arizona University. The overall goal is to carry out experiments in ecological restoration in and near Tsaile, Arizona. The proposed research is to determine evidence of ecological restoration of native vegetation after implementing ecological restoration thinning prescriptions in dense pinyon, juniper and ponderosa pine forest. The NAU investigator P. Ful, will support the overall project as described in the full proposal. Specific responsibilities of Dr. Ful are to: (1) support development of restoration treatments in collaboration with Din College staff and forest managers, (2) serve as mentor to NAU students participating in the project, and (3) evaluate research outputs and contribute to their professional presentation and publication. Din College Land Grant Staff and Interns will implement the project and ensure the collaboration with Northern Arizona University as a partnering institution. The grant opportunity will allow Din College students interns to receive experience in applied research. 3. Traditional Mvskoke Foods: Connecting with our Ancestors Relevance of the Project to the Goals of TCRGP: This student led research will answer allow students to form a research question relating to traditional foods. By allowing students to select from a broad subject matter, they are able to see how these foods have made an impact in their own lives. In addition, the project also encourages students to bolster research knowledge, and to take those skills forward in their quest for higher education, which effectively encourages lifelong learning. 4. Expanding a Surface Water Monitoring Program in the L'Anse Indian Reservation and Ceded Territory This project will continue and expand a surface water monitoring program that has been successfully administered since 2015. This work reflects a collaborative effort to collect water temperature data in targeted streams, wetlands, and near-shore Lake Superior locations throughout the L'Anse Indian Reservation and ceded territory in northern Michigan. Target locations provide critical habitat for fish and plant species that are deeply-valued by the tribal community. Findings will enhance two years of baseline data to detect long-term trends and will inform KBIC-NRDs management decisions with fish stocking/harvest and water quality programs. The project will strengthen existing relationships by leveraging resources and expertise across collaborators. Research capacity will be enhanced through the inclusion of SFRESs valuable insight on links between forest management and water quality, representing the key expansion of previous work. KBIC-NRD practitioners will provide expertise and student mentoring related to the day-to-day administration of natural resource programs. Ties between SFRES, KBIC-NRD, and KBOCC will be strengthened. Student research assistants will be very active in this research and will receive stipends and internship credits for their work. They will also gain valuable workplace and field research skills, have opportunities to deliver professional presentations, and be exposed to pathways to SFRES programs. Students will conclude their internships well-positioned for employment and transfer to 4-year STEM programs. 5. Landscape Impacts on Mercury Cycling in the St. Louis River Watershed Landscape Impacts on Mercury Cycling in the St. Louis River Watershed is a new application under the Tribal College Research Grants Program (USDA-NIFA-TCRGP_006534). This New Discovery research project fulfills the Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College's Environmental Institute mission and provides research that helps tribal authorities address the impact of mercury on both Fond du Lac community and natural resources in the St. Louis River watershed. Our 1862 Land Grant Partner is the University of Minnesota. This project is a continuation of previous research supported by the USDAs NIFA program and will expand on that work to study the influence of landscape type on bioaccumulation of Hg in Odonate (dragonfly) larvae. In prior work, our team of researchers and students investigated spatial patterns in mercury deposition in the St Louis River watershed, a large diverse ecosystem with mining impacts near the headwaters and connection to reservoirs and Lake Superior near its mouth. We measured Hg in leaf litter as an indication of atmospheric sources and in odonate (dragonfly) tissue as an indicator of bioaccumulation potential. While some spatial differences in Hg were identified, they appeared to be related more to the character of the local watershed upstream from the sampling site rather than the proximity to regional Hg point sources. In the work proposed herein, we will use sample collection and measurement methods established successfully in the first Ph case of the project to sharpen the focus of our investigation on differences in mercury cycling in watersheds with contrasting landscape features. 2019 It is projected that similar projects will be funded in FY 2019 as for FY 2018. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

10.228 Alaska Native Serving and Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions Education Grants

ANNH Grants Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

This program is administered under the provisions of section 759 of Public Law 106-78 (7 U.S.C. 3242) which was amended and redesignated as section 1419B of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act (NARETPA) of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3155). As legislatively reauthorized in the Public Law 110-246, the purpose of this program continues to promote and strengthen the ability of eligible Alaska Native-Serving Institutions and Native Hawaiian-Serving Institutions to carry out education, applied research, and related community development programs within a broadly defined area of food and agricultural sciences and related disciplines. In FY 2009, the Secretary will make competitive grant awards to individual eligible institutions or consortia of eligible institutions in Alaska and in Hawaii, with funds awarded equally to each of the states of Alaska and Hawaii., 7 USC Code 3242.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of this program is to promote and strengthen the ability of Alaska

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Native-Serving Institutions and Native Hawaiian-Serving (ANNH) Institutions to carry out education, applied research, and related community development programs. NIFA intends this program to address educational needs, as determined by each institution, within a broadly defined area of food and agricultural sciences and related disciplines.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used to enhance educational equity for under-represented students in order to prepare them for careers related to the food, agricultural, and natural resource systems of the United States; to strengthen institutional educational capacities, including libraries, curriculum, faculty, scientific instrumentation, instruction delivery systems, and student recruitment and retention, in order to respond to identified educational needs in the food and agricultural sciences; and to facilitate activities and cooperative initiatives between AN/NH Serving Institutions, or between AN/NH Serving Institutions and units of State government or the private sector, to maximize the development and use of resources, faculty, facilities, and equipment, to improve food and agricultural sciences teaching programs.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Individual public or private, non-profit Alaska Native-Serving and Native Hawaiian-Serving Institutions of higher education that meet the definitions of Alaska Native-Serving Institution or Native Hawaiian Serving Institution established in Title III, Part A of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended (20 U.S.C. 1059d.) are eligible institutions under this program.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Native American Organizations; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Alaska Native Serving Institutions and Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control

No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/alaska-native-serving-and-native-hawaiian-serving-institutions-educationRFAs> are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1.) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 2271 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-2271 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. RFAs are generally released annually and provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. (2) The details of the reporting requirements are included in the NIFA General Terms and Conditions Grants and Cooperative Agreements (dated October 2016). Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. A non-Federal entity that expends less than $750,000 during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards is exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For the FY 2017 ANNH award cycle, a total of $3,064,215 was available for awards after deducting legislatively authorized set-asides. Grant types are as follows:Regular grants ($150,000 - $450,000)Collaborative grants ($300,000 - $1,500,000)Each eligible individual institution, independent branch campus, and branch institution of State system may receive, or be a party to, a maximum of two (2) grant awards one (1) Regular Grant and one (1) Collaborative Grant. A total of four (4) ANNH applications were received: 1.collaborative grant for a consortium project of nine (9) institutions in Alaska; 2.collaborative grant of consortium project of nine (9) institutions in Hawaii; 3.regular application from one (1) institution in Hawaii; and,4.regular application from one (1) institution in Alaska.The peer review panel recommended three (3) of the proposals for funding two (2) collaborative grant applications, one (1) regular grant application). Since the three (3) recommended projects totaled $3,478,215, budget modifications will be made. The available funds of $3,065,340 was awarded in FY 2017.The funding ratio for the ANNH Program in FY 2017 was 75%. Fiscal Year 2018: For the FY 2018 ANNH award cycle, the consolidated appropriation for ANNH (CFDA 10.228) was $3,194,000. After deductions for legislatively authorized set-asides, a distributed Payment to States amount for ANNH was $3,065,340. Grant types are as follows:Regular grants ($150,000 - $450,000)Collaborative grants ($300,000 - $1,000,000)Each eligible individual institution, independent branch campus, and branch institution of State system may receive, or be a party to, a maximum of two (2) grant awards one (1) Regular Grant and one (1) Collaborative Grant. A total of seven (7) ANNH applications were received: 1.collaborative grant for a consortium project of nine (8) institutions in Alaska; 2.collaborative grant of consortium project of nine (8) institutions in Hawaii; 3.regular application from two (2) institution in Hawaii; and,4.regular application from three (3) institution in Alaska.The peer review panel recommended four (4) of the proposals for funding two (2) collaborative grant applications, two (2) regular grant application). Since the four (4) recommended projects totaled $2,841,996, budget modifications will be made. It is expected that all available funds of $3,065,340 will be awarded in FY 2018.The anticipated funding ratio for the ANNH Program in FY 2017 is 57%. Fiscal Year 2019: Fiscal Year (FY) 2019:It is projected that $3,065,340 will be available for similar projects in FY 2019. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 A consortium of institutions will be funded to lead a collaborative grant that supports an Agribusiness Incubator Program, which provides educational programs for the state. These programs target a variety of degree levels, including Associate of Science, and Bachelors of Science. Also, the program emphasizes Student Experiential Learning, and Student Recruitment, Retention, and Educational Equality, with focus on developing student leadership skills, and building capacity among the states rural agriculture communities, including a large number of traditionally underserved minority populations. Project outcomes include a higher number of graduates in agricultural sciences; and increased productivity and profitability of the states agribusinesses.A consortium of institutions will be funded to lead a collaborative grant to plan for the sustainability of indigenous knowledge and usage paired with Western science programs. This grant aims to build on previous work to strengthen career pathways for the states native and rural students. Subsistence knowledge and usage is a term used to refer to those targeted USDA sciences that assist individuals and communities to better understand and improve food, shelter, transportation, and other material aspects of rural/village life. The proposed plan of work continues to build on the accomplishments of earlier funding to deliver coursework and support students in Ethnobotany, Environmental Studies (including sustainable energy), High Latitude Range Management and continued development of new opportunities in tribal natural resource management. Funding will also support the continued development of a coastal resource science program and a continued marine science career pathway program.A university will lead a regular grant to support the institutions approach to improve recruitment and retention efforts of underserved populations in the state. Through expanding educational opportunities and teaching resources, the institution seeks to create a well-supported, science-based and culturally-relevant learning pathway for underserved students from regional high schools into the institutions Sustainable Community Food Systems (SCFS) degree, while providing research, professional experience and leadership skills for their careers in food and agriculture. Goals of the project include: enhancing educational equity and leadership skills for underrepresented students in food system careers; strengthen educational capacities at the institution in the agri-food sciences to respond to state, regional and national needs; increased student enrollment and retention; support undergraduate students from underrepresented groups by partnering with K-12 institutions and providing financial support for students throughout college, and facilitate coalition building between other academic institutions in the state and private and non-profit organizations to improve the teaching of agri-food sciences. 2018 A university is creating a unique culturally appropriate tiered approach to engage rural students in science based discovery, highlighting the health benefits of their traditional subsistence lifestyle and promoting their transition to higher education and lifelong community engagement. The program will: 1) Engage with rural communities that are inaccessible by road via a pre-college mobile riverboat laboratory to investigate issues pertaining to local food security, community health disparities, and traditional activities that can be integrated into local science curricula and showcased at the Statewide High School Science Symposium; 2) Support continued community engagement and more intensive bioexploration on subsistence health and Arctic resilience by providing university scholarships to promising rural high school researchers who will then act as research mentor for the next round of rural students; and 3) Smooth the transition and integration of students in university life by working with existing initiatives to strengthen academic/research advisories, food storage/sharing resources, and organized traditional activities that celebrate subsistence foods and their positive health impacts. A university will address water-quality concerns through supporting a water analysis laboratory along with the following goals: 1) build a student leadership program; 2) recruit students through summer bridge program and adult learners through online noncredit modules; 3) develop a laboratory technician certificate; and 4) create non-credit water quality testing modules. Furthermore, the student leadership program will empower students through participating in undergraduate research experience and provide community extension education on central water issues. A consortium of institutions will be funded to lead a collaborative grant that provide place-based programs and distance learning courses that integrate Indigenous knowledge and Western science that promote engagement in the subsistence sciences. The program main goal is to enhance educational equity while strengthening the sustainability and development of rural communities. Objectives include: 1) Advance Indigenous and Western knowledge and its application to food and energy security; 2) Increase leadership in resource stewardship and civics; and 3) Facilitate collaborations to strengthen place-based subsistence knowledge and practice. A consortium of institutions will be funded to lead a collaborative grant that provides workforce training in science, technology, and business to ensure the developing agriculture market is comprised of small, entrepreneurial agricultural entities that produce for the local market. Goals of this program include: 1) developing and strengthening the local agricultural and food production workforce through education and training and 2) expanding local agricultural and food production through more productive agribusinesses. This program prepares students for careers in the food, agricultural, natural resource and human sciences, and develops their leadership abilities. 2019 Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: Project data is not yet available. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: ERS research explores how investments in rural people, business, and communities affect the capacity of rural economies to prosper in the new and changing global marketplace. The agency analyzes how demographic trends, employment opportunities, Federal policies, and public investment in infrastructure and technology enhance economic opportunity and quality of life for rural Americans. Equally important is ERS's commitment to help enhance the quality of life for the Nations farmers who increasingly depend on these rural economies for employment and economic support, as well as to analyze new developments in the linkages between these farmers, consumers, and local economies. ERS continues to monitor changing economic and demographic trends in rural America, particularly the implications of these changes for the employment, education, income, and housing patterns of low-income rural populations. The rural development process is complex and sensitive to a wide range of factors that, to a large extent, are unique to each rural community. Nonetheless, ERS assesses general approaches to development to determine when, where, and under what circumstances rural development strategies will be most successful. ERS research and analysis provide insight into market conditions facing U.S. agriculture, potential avenues for innovation and market expansion, and strategies for managing risk. ERS produces USDAs estimates of farm income. In addition, the ERS program identifies and analyzes market structure and technological developments that affect efficiency and profitability. The ERS climate change research program develops models and other analytical techniques to predict responses of farmers to greenhouse gas mitigation options, analyze the impact of mitigation options on domestic and global agricultural markets and land and water use, and evaluate adaptation by farmers to a new climate regime through use of alternative technologies. The ERS climate change research program builds on extensive expertise on the economics of land use and land management, technology adoption, conservation program design, economics of biofuels, and value and dissemination of public investment in research and development. In addition, ERS is continuing to contribute to USDAs efforts to improve the science behind Federal environmental, water and air quality regulations and programs. As part of its analysis of environmental regulations and conservation incentive policies, ERS research continues to provide insight into developing policies for controlling nonpoint source pollution. More generally, ERS research analyzes the economic efficiency, environmental effectiveness, and distributional implications of alternative designs of resource, conservation, environmental, and commodity programs and their linkages. ERS conducts research on technological innovation in agriculture, the economic performance, structure and viability of the farm sector and of different types of farms, and the state of global food security. ERS effectively communicates research findings to policy makers, program managers, and those shaping the public debate. The research program identifies key economic issues and uses sound analytical techniques to understand the immediate and broader economic and social consequences of alternative policies and programs related to the sustainability and use of biotechnology in U.S. agriculture, including policies to promote trade of U.S. products. ERS has a broad program of work examining the production and marketing characteristics of the U.S. organic sector. Ongoing activities include research on the adoption of certified organic farming systems across the U.S., analysis of consumer demand and prices in specific markets, and surveys of organic producers and markets. The ERS research program includes an ongoing assessment of global food security. ERS provides research, analysis, and information on food security, including factors affecting food production and ability to import food, in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the Commonwealth of Independent States to decision makers in the United States and throughout the world. ERS is also investigating conceptual and measurement challenges inherent in assessments of undernourishment at the country, household, and individual level with experts in academia and international organizations. An annual report provides ERS up-to-date assessment of global food security. Fiscal Year 2018: ERS conducts research that strengthens our understanding of American farms, the agricultural sector, and rural communities. This includes analysis of commodity markets, the competitiveness of U.S. farms at home and abroad, and the general health of the rural economy. ERS research and analysis provides insights into market conditions facing U.S. agriculture, potential avenues for innovation and market expansion, and the effects of farm policies. The agency conducts research on the effects of new agricultural technologies and practices on farm business and farm sector performance as well as their implications for the changing size and organization of U.S. farms. ERS produces USDAs estimates of farm business and farm household income and identifies and analyzes market structure and technological developments that affect farm efficiency and profitability. ERS research and analysis provides insights into how the agricultural sector is evolving in both the short and long term. Analysis of the major factors driving the near and long-term outlook for agricultural commodity markets plays a central role in supporting USDAs monthly flagship report, World Agriculture Supply and Demand Estimates (WASDE). This report serves as the benchmark for information on major global commodities, and also supports the annual USDA baseline, ten-year agricultural projections that go into the Presidents budget baseline. ERS research explores how investments in rural businesses, communities, and people affect the capacity of rural economies to prosper in a changing global marketplace. The agency analyzes how employment opportunities, Federal policies, demographic trends, and public investment in infrastructure and technology enhance economic opportunity and quality of life for rural Americans. The ERS natural resources and environmental economics research program improves understanding of the economic relationships behind Federal environmental, water and air quality regulations and programs. As part of its analysis of environmental regulations and conservation incentive policies, ERS provides insight into developing policies for controlling nonpoint source pollution. More generally, ERS research analyzes the economic efficiency, environmental effectiveness, and distributional implications of alternative designs of resource, conservation, environmental, and commodity programs and their linkages. ERS develops models and other analytical techniques to estimate the impacts of alternative approaches used by farmers to adapt to changing weather conditions and resource constraints as the demand for agricultural production grows. The models predict responses of farmers to USDA programs including voluntary incentives for drought mitigation, and improved soil health and nutrient management. A related area of research addresses the implications of regional drought for U.S. agriculture, including producers production and investment decisions, and their participation in conservation and other risk-mitigating programs. ERS research on farmer responses the implications for markets and natural resources builds on expertise in the economics of land use and land management, technology adoption, conservation program design, economics of biofuels, and value and dissemination of public investment in research and development. ERS conducts research on the economic performance and competitiveness of the U.S. agriculture in international markets. U.S. producers rely on export markets to sell agricultural and food products, to sustain and grow revenues, and to contribute to employment, particularly in rural communities. This research program examines emerging patterns of agricultural trade and the associated economic drivers including income and population growth, and domestic and trade policies, and provides information on the principal underlying factors affecting U.S. and global agricultural trade. ERS conducts research on the state of global food security, including factors affecting food production and the ability to import food, in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the Commonwealth of Independent States. By investigating conceptual and measurement challenges inherent in assessments of undernourishment at the country, household, and individual level, ERS informs decision makers in the United States and throughout the world with its annual assessment of global food security.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2018 ERS will conduct the following research on the rural and farm economy: Large-Scale Farms in the United States. Farm production continues to shift to larger operations. ERS will analyze this shift for different regions and commodities, and will assess reasons for its continuation. The study will also focus on the attributes of very large U.S. farms using a new top sales class of $10 million or more. ERS will examine size and growth, management, ownership, commodity focus, and financial performance of the largest farms. Implications of Changing Land Values for Financial Stress and Land Ownership. ERS research will examine the potential vulnerability of the farm sector to changes in agricultural land values, interest rates, and commodity prices. Farm real estate values reached record highs in 2013, but forecasts indicate a slowing rate of appreciation, or possibly even a decline in land values caused in part by lower commodity prices and rising interest rates. Financial Stress, Bankruptcies, and Loan Delinquencies. After several years of strong growth in farm income, the sectors overall returns have declined, with net farm income now forecast for 2016 to be 45 percent below the $123.8 billion peak in 2013. The decline may lead to increased financial stress within the sector; two possible indicators of financial stress would be increases in farm bankruptcies and in loan delinquencies. ERS is analyzing trends in bankruptcies and loan delinquencies over time in order to understand and identify drivers of financial stress in the sector. Preliminary results using the most recent available data indicate minimal signs of financial stress in the agricultural sector. Both farm bankruptcy rates, considered a lagging indicator of financial stress, and commercial bank delinquency rates for agricultural loans, are low compared to historical levels and to more recent history in the 2000s. Trends in Mortality Rates among Rural Residents. Preliminary ERS research has identified rising mortality rates among some subgroups in the rural U.S. population during the twenty-first century. This analysis focuses on the largest such group, middle-aged white men, tracing the upward trend in death rates since 2000 and examining possible correlates of this trend, including access to health care and increasing economic distress in some rural regions. Analysis of the Rural Rental Housing Program. ERS research will examine the current allocation of USDAs housing and the communities served, areas presently underserved or at risk of becoming underserved, the factors contributing to the risk of loss of affordable rental housing, and the communities and populations likely to be affected. Since 1963, USDA has made subsidized direct loans to developers to finance affordable, multi-family rental housing in rural areas for low and moderate income families, elderly people, and persons with disabilities. This research will inform policy makers concerned about the need for affordable rental housing in rural areas. ERS will conduct the following research on farm and commodity policy: Analysis of USDA Risk Management Programs. American farmers face risks from weather and markets for the inputs they purchase (e.g., energy, labor) and products they sell. ERS will continue to provide research that analyzes the environment in which farmers operate and USDAs risk management programs. Building on a set of ERS studies completed or to be completed in FY17 on risk management policies and programs under the 2014 Farm Bill programs, ERS will conduct analysis that could have implements for program design. One study will provide a broad overview of the different risk management tools available in different countries, which in turn will inform an empirical analysis for domestic producers of how changes to their agricultural risk management portfolio impacts their downside revenue risk. Motivated by the notion that weather data is rapidly collected for all counties, another study will empirically examine for U.S. crop producers the differences in impacts on risk management of crop insurance policies and other commodity support policies using a weather-based yield index rather than farm yield-based. Improved Season-Average Price Forecasts. ERS will conduct research on using forward-looking data and methods to improve the accuracy and expand market information provided from USDAs situation and outlook program. The analysis will use public USDA reports and daily futures and options prices to better inform market participants about price uncertainty in major agricultural commodity markets. Ultimately, derivatives markets are a technology that improves the discovery of market price levels given supply and demand fundamentals. To the degree that the latter are well understood, markets function more efficiently. Feed Grains Database Developments. The ERS Feed Grains Database is an important component in USDA monitoring of the grain, oilseed, and livestock complex, providing data on four feed grains (corn, grain sorghum, barley, and oats), seven foreign coarse grains (feed grains plus rye, millet, and mixed grains), hay, animal unit indexes of grain and roughage, rail rate indexes, and grain shipments. The database serves as an important, timely, accurate, reliable, and official source of information for stakeholders. Planned program enhancements include applications to enhance the delivery of information and expansion to other commodities. Updated Commodity Cost and Returns Estimates. ERS produces annual cost and returns estimates for nine crop commodities, as well as hogs and milk. The annual estimates update baseline estimates with information on changes in input and commodity prices, while the baselines are set using data on technologies, production processes, and expense shares from commodity-specific questionnaires of the ARMS. ERS will set new baselines for corn and milk with surveys from the 2016 ARMS, and will design a wheat questionnaire for the 2017 ARMS to help set a new wheat baseline estimate (the surveys are completed by spring of the year following the reference year). Analysis of the Dairy Margin Protection Program. ERS will conduct an ex-post examination of the Dairy Margin Protection Program, which offers dairy producers catastrophic coverage at no cost. The analysis will use the USDA baseline to examine margin expectations and milk output and how margins are likely to increase in nominal terms by the next Farm Bill. This research will further explain how feed efficiency and milk output could impact the national averages calculated for the program. U.S. Hog Production: Continuing Trends in Productivity Growth. Total factor productivity in the U.S. hog industry will be estimated using Agricultural Resource Management Survey (ARMS) data to determine productivity trends. Information pertaining to changes in industry structure and production practices including changes in the size of operations, the use of production contracts, growth-promoting antibiotics, and innovative technologies are reported and evaluated relative to productivity growth. ERS will conduct the following activities related to homeland security: Analysis of Animal Disease Outbreaks. ERS researchers will collaborate with Federal and academic researchers to examine how economic variables and factors affect animal and crop disease outbreak assessments. This work will examine how economic analysis can help to develop clearer views of actual and hypothetical outbreaks, and to more fully identify what factors are significant in measuring the success of a mitigation or prevention effort. This research focuses on efforts to introduce economic components into epidemiological analysis that will allow analysts and decision makers to include social (e.g., impacts on rural communities) considerations and expand the number of criteria that may be used to determine effective outbreak responses. ERS will continue to invest in the data and analytical capacity needed to provide the current market context and data needed to support USDA Homeland Security event assessments and planning efforts, and support the USDA Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza multiagency coordination. In addition, ERS is contributing expertise as subject matter experts to the Department of Homeland Security, Science and Technology Directorate, for the Agro-terrorism Risk Assessment, and the NSTC Foreign Animal Disease Threats Interagency Working Group. ERS will conduct the following research on conservation, water, and environmental issues: Conservation Compliance. To maintain eligibility for most agriculture-related federal programs, Conservation Compliance requires farmers to implement approved conservation systems on highly erodible cropland and refrain from draining wetlands. The Agricultural Act of 2014 eliminated Direct Payments and Countercyclical Payments which previously accounted for a large proportion of compliance incentives but also created shallow loss programs and linked crop insurance premium subsidies to Conservation Compliance requirements. ERS research will investigate the effectiveness of conservation compliance, changes in incentives due to the Agricultural Act of 2014, and the effectiveness of these incentives in protecting highly erodible cropland and wetlands. Economics of Reducing Nutrient Losses from Agriculture in the Mississippi Atchafalaya River Basin. ERS research will examine the economic consequences of reducing nutrient losses from agriculture to the Gulf of Mexico and its implications for improving environmental quality. Every summer a large hypoxic zone forms in the Gulf of Mexico. Low dissolved oxygen in the Gulf is a serious environmental concern that can impact valuable fisheries and disrupt sensitive ecosystems. Reducing agricultural nutrient losses has been a major conservation goal for USDA and many Mississippi Basin states. However, despite years of investment in conservation measures, most cropland does not meet criteria for good nutrient management. ERS expects to publish a report that examines policy options for reducing nutrient losses in the Mississippi/Atchafalaya River Basin. Changes in Climate and Crop Insurance. The changing climate has the potential to introduce greater uncertainty into agricultural production, with implications for farm profitability. This can influence the demand for crop insurance products and the costs to government of providing crop insurance premium subsidies. ERS researchers are examining how a changing climate will affect crop insurance premium subsidies in 2080. The ERS analysis combines models of crop risk, land allocation, prices, and crop insurance premiums to simulate total premium subsidy costs under alternative scenarios. Determinants of Unfinished Conservation Practices. Since 1996, USDA working lands programs have entered into hundreds of thousands of conservation contracts. Many of the practices specified in these contracts are never installed as planned, leading to lost opportunities for additional conservation activity. ERS researchers are examining reasons why practices get dropped, using EQIP program administrative data to ascertain whether changes to conservation plans are due solely to adaptive management (adjusting to unforeseen weather or financial conditions) or to other reasons related to contract design. Conservation Legacy Effects. An aspect of conservation policy that has received little attention is how financial assistance may provide conservation benefits beyond the specific location and duration of program participation. ERS researchers are using EQIP administrative data along with satellite data to study the extent to which participation leads farmers to retain conservation tillage practices after the contract has expired or to adopt conservation tillage on non-contract fields, or the extent to which participation leads neighboring farmers to adopt conservation tillage on their land. This research improves our understanding of the long-term benefits from conservation, and would help in the development of better metrics for measuring program success. Herbicide Resistant Weed Management in Corn. Weed resistance to the herbicide glyphosate (popularly known as Round-up) is a growing problem in field crops, and there are also emerging concerns with insect resistance to seeds genetically engineered with the Bt toxin. ERS has elicited information on pesticide use, seed choices, and resistance management practices from farmers in the 2016 Corn Production Practices questionnaire of the ARMS. ERS research will evaluate farm strategies to manage weed and insect resistance, and track how those strategies have changed since the earlier 2010 ARMS corn survey; the research will also draw on related ARMS soybean surveys for 2006 and 2012. ERS will conduct the following research on global agricultural markets and food security: Investments in Agricultural Research in High-Income Countries. There is a growing concern that agricultural productivity growth, especially in high-income countries, may be slowing, and that current agricultural R&D levels may not be sufficient to address this concern. Some Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development countries have introduced policy reforms to improve the financing and performance of their public agricultural R&D systems. However, there is a lack of comprehensive and comparable information on these trends and developments, particularly for countries outside of the U.S. ERS is analyzing trends in U.S. agricultural research funding and agricultural research policy reforms in the context of global changes. This analysis will demonstrate the impact of R&D investments on agricultural productivity growth and examine the complementary roles of public and private research, and relate public investments to the size of the agricultural sector and to public science investments across the economy. The Next Horizon: The Agricultural Trade Policy Landscape in 2016 and Beyond. ERS will quantify the potential for gains from trade reform under existing forms of policies targeted at agriculture. The core of the product would be an estimate of economic impacts of selected current domestic and border intervention policies, focusing on tariffs and tariff-rate quotas and other trade-related policies, domestic support, and non-tariff measures. To examine the impacts of different policy scenarios, the trade modeling framework will remove these policies separately and in combination in the context of multilateral trade liberalization. Global Price Determination. While price in a given region reflects local (current and expected) supply and demand fundamentals, important agricultural commodities are often traded internationally, meaning that regional prices are also affected by the prices and therefore the fundamentals of their trading partners. ERS research will examine whether shifting production and trading patterns for several major commodities have affected the degree to which U.S. prices inform global prices, and also the influence international production and demand shocks have over prices paid to farmers domestically. Chinas Commodity Markets and Efficiency. China has become more integrated with global agricultural markets since its accession to the World Trade Organization (WTO) in 2001. China is the worlds largest producer and consumer of most agricultural commodities, so its integration with global markets is an important determinant of the efficiency of those markets. ERS research will evaluate the efficiency of agricultural commodity markets before and after Chinas WTO accession to characterize the countrys degree of global integration. International Food Security Assessment. ERS produces an annual assessment of the prevalence and depth of food security in low- and middle-income countries. ERS makes available the full historical database used for the model projections on its website. ERS developed new model capabilities, included in the 2017 report, including the ability to assess the impact of changes in food prices and income on demand. This allows ERS analysis to address all four dimensions of food security: availability, access, utilization and stability. Progress and Challenges in Global Food Security. ERS will analyze progress made in reducing global food security, as well as new areas of challenge, drawing on 25 years of data from the International Food Security database. The analysis will examine progress in food security measurement, agricultural trade and food security, agricultural productivity and food safety nets. It will also highlight emerging issues that create new food security challenges, such as nutrition, risk management, climate change and urbanization. It integrates the analysis with priorities developed in the Global Food Security Act of 2016. ERS will conduct the following research on production technologies: Developments in Markets for U.S. Organic Exports. ERS research will examine developments in the U.S. organic export market. In addition to developing absolute and relative measures of organic trade performance over time, by commodity, and by trading partner, ERS will analyze the impact of equivalency agreements on observed trade flows. Results will inform the extent to which observed increases in U.S. organic exports can be attributed to these agreements as compared to changes in market fundamentals. Evolution of Markets for Genetically Engineered Seeds. Since their commercial introduction in 1996, most acreage planted to genetically engineered (GE) seeds have been planted to three crops: corn, cotton, and soybeans and has featured two traits, one for insect resistance and one for herbicide tolerance. In recent years, GE acreage has expanded to other field crops, such as alfalfa, canola, and sugarbeets, and seed developers have added more complex combinations of the two key traits as well as new traits for drought tolerance. ERS research will draw on questions introduced into the 2016 ARMS to track the spread of new types of GE technologies. 2019 ERS will discontinue research relative to farm, conservation and trade policy, and on investments in agricultural research and development. ERS will also discontinue its annual estimates of international food security for low- and middle-income countries and research on international development that supports this activity. At the proposed funding level, research and extramural agreements associated with special initiatives such as on research innovations for policy effectiveness, drought resilience, new energy sources (including bioenergy, renewable energy and shale oil and gas), local and regional food markets, beginning farmers and ranchers, invasive species, and markets for environmental services will be eliminated. With these reductions, ERS will continue to provide analysis and monthly newsletters to support participation in USDAs Inter-Agency Commodity Estimate Committees and provide modeling and data related to USDAs Agricultural Baseline Projections. ERS will refocus its international activities to ensure continued expertise and market analysis on major agricultural trading countries such as China, Brazil, and India, which are necessary to support the Inter-Agency Commodity Estimates Committees (ICEC) and USDA baseline development. ERS will produce high-quality, objective measures of farm business and household income and wealth, cost of production, and report on farm practice adoption. Research and data development including the Agricultural Resource Management Survey (ARMS) will prioritize activities necessary to ensure objective and reliable statistics as well as the capacity to interpret and predict emerging data trends and to respond to short turn-around requests for such

OBJECTIVES:

To provide economic and other social science information and analysis for public and private decisions on agriculture, food, natural resources, and rural America. ERS produces such information for use by the general public and to help the executive and legislative branches develop, administer, and evaluate agricultural and rural policies and programs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Dissemination of Technical Information, Project Grants
USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

ERS performs economic research and analyses related to U.S. and world agriculture that address a multitude of economic concerns and decision making needs of Federal, State, and local governments, farmers, farm organizations, farm suppliers, marketers, processors, and consumers. There are no restrictions on the use of ERS produced information. The objective of the consumer data program is to enhance existing public and private data collection systems and availability to answer the most important policy questions. This objective is achieved by: (1) supplementing existing government surveys with separate modules when possible, (2) integrating and linking data from disparate surveys, (3) investing in proprietary data, and (4) enhancing existing surveys.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017; ERS studies the relationship among the many factors that influence food choices and health outcomes. At the household level, research focuses on food price trends, income, and individual characteristics such as age, race and ethnicity, household structure, knowledge of diet and health, and nutrition education. At the industry level, research focuses on the interaction among firms, consumers, and government programs and policies. Childrens food access, food security, and child and adult obesity continue to be important foci of the ERS research program. ERS research related to adult and child obesity includes approaches taken from behavioral economics to investigate how psychological mechanisms related to food choices might contribute to poor dietary quality and obesity. Through its food assistance and nutrition research and by working closely with USDAs Food and Nutrition Service, ERS studies and analyzes the Nations nutrition assistance programs. These programs receive substantial Federal funding and affect the daily lives of millions of Americas children. Long-term research themes include dietary and nutritional outcomes, food program targeting and delivery, and measurement of program participation. ERS research is designed to meet the critical information needs of USDA, Congress, program managers, policy officials, the research community, and the public at large. ERS food safety research focuses on enhancing methodologies for valuing societal benefits associated with reducing food safety risks, understanding consumer response to food safety incidents, assessing industry incentives to enhance food safety through new technologies and supply chain linkages, and evaluating regulatory options and change. ERS research also investigates the safety of food imports and the efficacy of international food safety policies and practices. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2018 ERS will conduct the following research on USDA's food and nutrition assistance programs: Food Insecurity in Veteran Households. Food insecurity as a measure of well-being for veterans and their households is relatively unstudied. Previous studies have been restricted to non-nationally representative samples or focused on veterans with disabilities. This study uses a nationally representative sample of veterans to describe the prevalence of food insecurity among veterans, subpopulations of veterans, and veteran households by selected characteristics. Using Administrative Data to Improve Research on the Causal Effects of the SNAP Program on Labor Supply. This project continues the work on the effects of food assistance program participation on individuals' incentives to work. Previous work examined the issue using Current Population Survey (CPS) data from Census that contain labor supply information as well as information on whether the individual participated in the SNAP program. Misreporting of SNAP participation in CPS data is a major issue with uncertain effects on estimates of the effect of participation on outcomes. The goal of the project will be to link administrative data sources to CPS data, examine how estimates of causal effects of SNAP participation on labor supply are affected by SNAP misreporting, and examine possible solutions to bias created by misreporting. The Food Assistance National Input-Output Multiplier (FANIOM) Model and Stimulus Effects of SNAP. This project will examine the role of SNAP as a stimulus measure during an economic downturn. Using the Food Assistance National Input-Output Multiplier (FANIOM) model, we estimate the multiplier effect of a hypothetical SNAP expansion on economic output and employment. Since the end of the Great Recession, new research and new data sources are available to inform on this topic. Borrowing on these new sources, this project extends the work of ERS researchers in 2012 to provide an updated estimate of the multiplier effect of the SNAP program on the economy. Additionally, we review new literature examining the impact of the SNAP program on the economy during the Great Recession. The Role of SNAP in the Rural Economy. ERS research will compare the rural impacts of the Supplemental Food Assistance Program (SNAP) to those in urban areas and to impacts of other Federal programs targeted to rural areas, such as agricultural commodity and rural development programs. Although SNAP is the largest USDA program, little research has investigated the economic effects of SNAP in rural areas. The project will examine how SNAP affects household savings and consumption decisions, impacts of SNAP on employment in rural vs. urban communities, and impacts of SNAP compared to impacts of agricultural commodity programs nationally and in selected regions. Characteristics of School Districts Offering Free School Meals to All Students Through the Community Eligibility Provision. This project will study the determinants of school and district participation in the Community Eligibility Provision (CEP). In 2010, Congress mandated the CEP as a reimbursement option that allows schools serving high percentages of low-income students to offer USDA school meals at no charge to all students with reduced administrative burden. USDA's Food and Nutrition Service expects the CEP to result in expanded participation with most impact on poor or near-poor students who may benefit the most from USDA's child nutrition programs. Food Costs of Large School Food Authorities in the National School Lunch Program. The Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reimburses school food authorities (SFAs) for the estimated costs of providing school lunches and breakfasts. Reimbursement rates are based on cost accounting techniques that measure SFA labor, food purchase, and operating material costs. All SFAs in the 48 contiguous states receive the same reimbursement rates regardless of size or geographic location. Thus FNS implicitly assumes that labor and food purchase costs are the same across SFAs. Recent research shows that economies of scale exist in meal service and food costs vary across SFAs. Yet SFAs vary in size from large, urban SFAs serving millions of meals per year to small, rural and suburban SFAs serving less than 10,000 meals. This research will determine if cost differences exist in food purchases and if so, how these differences in costs shape food choices. WIC and the Retail Markup of Infant Formula. This project will examine the retail markup of the formula purchased through WIC. The number of participants in WIC who can be served within the fixed budget depends heavily on the programs' food-package costs, which in turn are significantly affected by the cost of infant formula. Do retailers charge higher markups for the WIC contract brand than for the non-WIC brands of formula? This is an important question because retail markups, along with the net prices, are what WIC and ultimately U.S. taxpayers pay for infant formula. The answer to this question may also have implications for the prices that non-WIC participants pay for infant formula. ERS will conduct the following research on food safety, foodborne illness, and industry practices: Estimating Food Attributable Fractions of Foodborne Illness from Time Series Data. Reliable measures of the relative role of different foods in foodborne illness caused by specific pathogens are critical to governments and industry's ability to target food safety interventions effectively. USDA, FDA and CDC have all identified a need for new, more reliable methods to estimate this relationship. This collaborative study between ERS, CDC and the University of California, Berkeley pioneers use of Nielsen HomeScan time series data on food consumption and FoodNet foodborne illness surveillance to estimate the relative contributions of specific foods to illnesses caused by major foodborne pathogens. Trends in Food Product Recalls: 2004-2013. Food product recalls, the removal of risky food products from the marketplace, can impose significant burdens for consumers, producers, and regulators. This report analyzes trends and patterns of food product recall events from 2004 to 2013. The analysis considers multiple factors, including the types of foods being recalled, the reasons for initiating the recalls, the severity of the risks posed by the recalled products, and the geographic distribution. The 2011 Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) and the Fresh Produce Industry. Using new survey data collected through a joint ERS/NASS initiative, ERS researchers will assess pre-implementation food safety practices relative to several FSMA rules specifically focused on fresh produce. Results will compare food safety practices and costs of adoption for different size farms or post-harvest operations, for different regions of the country, and to the extent possible for different produce commodities. The research will provide a baseline for eventual assessment of effectiveness of FSMA adoption. 2019 ERS will continue to produce the Loss-Adjusted Food Availability Data, annual statistics to measure U.S. food security, and monthly retail food price forecasts. ERS will eliminate research and other data products on USDA food and nutrition assistance programs and on food consumption and nutrition, including all data resources related to food access and consumer food choices, including the Food Environment Atlas, Food Access Research Atlas, SNAP Data System, Fruit and Vegetable Prices, and Price Spreads from Farm to Consumer. The Consumer Data Information Program (CDIP) funds data purchases and research to develop new data sources that support research by ERS and the academic community on the food system beyond the farm gate. In FY 2019, with the goal to rescale core responsibilities, ERS will continue to support core data for U.S. food security statistics, but will eliminate other data purchases including retail scanner data, grocery store and restaurant location data, modules on national surveys (e.g., Eating & Health Module in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' American Time Use Survey and the Flexible Consumer Behavior Survey in the National Center for Health Statistics National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey), investments in USDAs National Household Food Acquisition and Purchase Survey (FoodAPS), and will discontinue support for the academic community's access to restricted data for research.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: The Research Innovation and Development Grants in Economics (RIDGE) Program encourages new and innovative research on food and nutrition assistance issues and broadens the participation of social science scholars in such research. RIDGE is funded by USDAs Economic Research Service and Food and Nutrition Service and administered in partnership with several universities during FY 2016-18: The RIDGE Center for National Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Institute for Research on Poverty, University of Wisconsin-Madison (ended FY 2016), and The RIDGE Center for Targeted Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Center for Regional Development, Purdue University (ended FY 2016); Tufts University, Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy, and the University of Connecticut (beginning FY 2017). The RIDGE partnership institutions oversee the application, peer review, award, and performance processes of the research grants provided through the RIDGE Program. The institutions serve as a hub for mentoring and training researchers interested in food and nutrition assistance issues and provide a source of timely and accessible information on new research findings. RIDGE Program Activities, FY 2017 The newly established Tufts/UConn RIDGE Program announced a call for research projects in FY 2017. To evaluate the proposals, Tufts/UConn developed an online proposal and submission site through the FluidReview platform, formed an external advisory committee, and established a community of proposal reviewers and project mentors. A diverse set of projects was selected through this competitive review process, with input from ERS and FNS, for research to be conducted during FY 2017-18. RIDGE is funded by USDAs Economic Research Service and Food and Nutrition Service and administered in partnership with several universities during FY 2016-18: The RIDGE Center for National Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Institute for Research on Poverty, University of Wisconsin-Madison (ended FY 2016), and The RIDGE Center for Targeted Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Center for Regional Development, Purdue University (ended FY 2016); Tufts University, Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy, and the University of Connecticut (beginning FY 2017). The RIDGE partnership institutions oversee the application, peer review, award, and performance processes of the research grants provided through the RIDGE Program. The institutions serve as a hub for mentoring and training researchers interested in food and nutrition assistance issues and provide a source of timely and accessible information on new research findings. Projected RIDGE Program Activities, FY 2018 Research projects funded by Tufts/UConn in FY 2017 will be completed during FY 2018 and findings presented at the annual RIDGE Conference scheduled in October 2018. Additional activities of the Tufts/UConn RIDGE Program and awarding of further research projects are dependent upon availability of funding.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Prior to FY 2017, the RIDGE program was administered in partnership with the RIDGE Center for National Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Institute for Research on Poverty, University of Wisconsin-Madison, and the RIDGE Center for Targeted Food and Nutrition Assistance Research at the Center for Regional Development, Purdue University. In October 2016, findings from research projects funded through these two RIDGE Centers in FY 2015 were presented at the annual RIDGE Conference. Also in FY 2017, summaries of these research studies were added to the ERS website at Competitive, Special, and Facilities Research Grant Act, Public Law 89-106, 7 USC Code 450i. Section 406 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) (7 U.S.C. 7626), as reauthorized by Section 7306 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) (Public Law 110-246), authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a competitive grants program that provides funding for integrated, multifunctional agricultural research, extension, and education activities. Subject to the availability of appropriations to carry out this program, the Secretary may award grants to colleges and universities [as defined by section 1404 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA) (7 U.S.C. 3103)], as amended, on a competitive basis for projects that address priorities in United States agriculture and involve integrated research, education, and extension activities, as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the National Agricultural Research, Extension, Education, and Economics Advisory Board (NAREEEAB). Section 7129 of the FCEA amended section 406(b) of AREERA (7 U.S.C. 7626(b)), adding Hispanic-serving agricultural colleges and universities (HSACUs) as eligible entities for competitive funds awarded under this authority (see Part III.B. of RFA for more information)., 7 USC Code 7626. OBJECTIVES:

GENERAL:NIFA Integrated Programs provide support for integrated research, education, and extension activities. Integrated, multi-functional projects are particularly effective in addressing important agricultural issues through the conduct of problem-focused research that is combined with education and extension of knowledge to those in need of solutions. These activities address critical national, regional, and multi-state agricultural issues, priorities, or problems. Integrated Programs hold the greatest potential to produce and disseminate knowledge and technology directly to end users while providing for educational opportunities to assure agricultural expertise in future generations. See individual program Requests for Applications for additional information about the topics.SEVERAL PROGRAMS ARE FUNDED UNDER CFDA 10.303.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES ARE AS FOLLOWS:(1) Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program: National Integrated Water Quality ProgramThe goal of the National Integrated Water Quality Program is to improve the quality of our Nation's surface water and groundwater resources through research, education, and extension activities. Projects funded through this program will facilitate achieving this goal by advancing and disseminating the knowledge base available to agricultural and rural communities. Funded projects should lead to science-based decision-making and management practices that improve the quality of the Nation's surface water and groundwater resources in agricultural and rural watersheds. See RFA for priority areas.(2) Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program: National Integrated Food Safety InitiativeThe purpose of the National Integrated Food Safety Initiative is to support food safety projects that demonstrate an integrated approach to solving problems in applied food safety research, education, or extension. Various models for integration of applied research, education, and extension will be considered for funding. Applications describing multi-state, multi-institutional, multidisciplinary, and multifunctional activities (and combinations thereof) are encouraged. Applicants are strongly encouraged to address at least two of the three functional areas of research, education, and extension (i.e., research and extension, research and education, or extension and education).(3) Integrated Research, Education, And Extension Competitive Grants Program: Regional Integrated Pest Management CentersThe goal of the Regional Integrated Pest Management Centers (IPM Centers) is to promote the development and implementation of IPM by facilitating collaboration across states, disciplines, and purposes. IPM Centers will establish and maintain information networks, build partnerships to address pest management challenges and opportunities, evaluate the impact of IPM implementation, communicate positive outcomes to key stakeholders, and manage funding resources effectively. Successful applicants to this program will demonstrate the capacity and commitment necessary to advance the goals of the National Roadmap for Integrated Pest Management (www.ipmcenters.org/IPMRoadMap.pdf), and evaluate the progress of this advancement. The IPM Roadmap addresses pest management needs for production agriculture, natural resources and recreational environments, and residential and public areas.(4) Integrated Pest Management: Crops at Risk ProgramThe goal of the CAR program is to enhance the development and implementation of innovative, ecologically based sustainable IPM system(s). Preferably, this should involve a diversity of tactics and approaches for a single or specific food or fiber commodity in commercial production for pre- and/or post-harvest system(s). The program addresses either a major acreage or high value crop commodity such as key fruits and vegetables. The primary emphasis is on crop productivity and profitability, while addressing critical environmental quality and human health issues. The CAR program will fund integrated multifunctional/multidisciplinary research, education, and extension projects for crops with high priority IPM needs as identified by stakeholders.(5) Integrated Pest Management: Risk Avoidance and Mitigation ProgramThe goal of the Risk Avoidance and Mitigation (RAMP) program is to enhance the development and implementation of innovative, ecologically based sustainable IPM strategies and system(s) for (a) multi-crop food and fiber production systems; (b) an area-wide or a landscape scale agroecosystem; or (c) a documented pesticide impact on water, human or environmental health. RAMP applications may address major acreage agricultural production systems, high value crops such as key fruit and vegetable systems, or other agroecosystems. The primary emphasis of the application should be on productivity and profitability while addressing critical environmental quality and human health issues. The intent of RAMP is to fund medium-term projects that emphasize systems approaches.(6) Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program: Integrated Pest Management: Methyl Bromide Transitions ProgramThe goal of the Methyl Bromide Transitions (MBT) program is to support the discovery and implementation of practical pest management alternatives to methyl bromide uses or minimize methyl bromide emissions for which the United States is requesting critical use exemptions. The program is focused on integrated commercial or field scale research that targets short- to medium-term solutions.(7) Integrated Organic ProgramThe purpose of the Integrated Organic Program is to solve critical organic agriculture issues, priorities, or problems through the integration of research, education, and extension activities. The Organic Transitions Program (ORG) funds the development and implementation of research, extension, and higher education programs to improve the competitiveness of organic producers and producers who are adopting organic practices. Funding opportunities for the ORG Program is included in the same Request for Applications (RFA) as the Organic Research and Extension Initiative (OREI).PLEASE NOTE: THIS PROGRAM DOES NOT FUND START UP BUSINESSES.(8) Regional Rural Development Centers (RRDCs):The RRDCs play a unique role in USDA's service to rural America. They link the research and educational outreach capacity of the nation's public universities with communities, local decision makers, entrepreneurs, families, and farmers and ranchers to help address a wide range of development issues. They collaborate on national issues that span regions-like e-commerce, the changing interface between rural, suburban, and urban places, and workforce quality and jobs creation. Each tailors programs to address particular needs in its region.

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This research, education, and extension competitive grants program provides funding for integrated, multi-functional agricultural research, extension, and education activities which addresses priorities in United States agriculture. Grant funds must be used for allowable costs necessary to conduct approved integrated research, extension and education objectives to address food and agricultural sciences, in the broadest sense.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Minority group; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; State agricultural experiment stations, State cooperative extension services, all colleges and universities, other research and extension institutions and organizations, Federal agencies, private organizations or corporations, and individuals to facilitate or expand promising breakthroughs in areas of the food and agricultural sciences of importance to the United States.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Minority group; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; State agricultural experiment stations, State cooperative extension services, all colleges and universities, other research and extension institutions and organizations, Federal agencies, private organizations or corporations, and individuals to facilitate or expand promising breakthroughs in areas of the food and agricultural sciences of importance to the United States.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: Methyl Bromide Transition Program (MBT): <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/methyl-bromide-transition> Organic Transition-Risk Assessment

(ORG): <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/organic-transitions-org> Regional Rural Development Centers: <https://nifa.usda.gov/regional-rural-development-centers> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database--

Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 2271 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-2271 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 ACTIVE Programs: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, the amount appropriated for this Program was $8,000,000. The amount available for awards was $7,571,059, after legislatively mandated set-asides. (F) Methyl Bromide Transition Program (MBT) Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program-Methyl Bromide Transition; For FY 2017, The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) made four (4) awards that ranged from $393,049 to $499,998. The total amount awarded was approximately $1.8 million. The funding rate was 31%. (G) Organic Transition-Risk Assessment Organic Transition Program (ORG); and NOTE: Also see CFDA 10.307 OREI For the FY 2017 award cycle, approximately $3.7 million was available for project grant awards, after legislatively mandated set-asides. A total of 44 applications, requesting a total of $20,832,046 were received. In June 2017, a 12-member (plus two ad hoc) peer review virtual panel evaluated these applications. The peer panel included faculty from land grant universities, researchers from USDA Agricultural Research Service and a non-profit stakeholder group. Funds were available to support a total of 8 new awards. The funding ratio for this program in FY17 was 18%. Funded projects seek to support the development and implementation of research, extension and higher education programs to improve the competitiveness of organic livestock and crop producers, as well as those who are adopting organic practices by studying and documenting environmental services provided by organic farming systems in the area of soil conservation and climate change mitigation, including greenhouse gases. Projects were also funded to develop cultural practices and other allowable alternatives to substances recommended for removal from the National Organic Programs National List of Allowed and Prohibited Substances. All projects integrate research, education and/or extension activities. (H) Regional Rural Development Centers; The amount available for support of this program in FY 2017 was $1,899,520 ($474,880 per Center). Four (4) proposals were submitted, reviewed and accepted. Four (4) proposals underwent a Noncompetitive Merit Review by three (3) reviewers with NIFA. All four (4) were recommended to receive funding for Regional Rural Development Centers grant. Four (4) proposals were reviewed and recommended for funding. NIFA announced the availability of grant funds and requests applications for the Regional Rural Development Centers (RRDC) Competitive Grants Program for fiscal year (FY) 2018 to link the research and educational outreach capacity of the nation's public universities with communities, local decision makers, entrepreneurs, families, and farmers and ranchers to help address a wide range of development issues for prosperity for sustainable and secure communities will always be a matter of public interest. RRDCs leverage land-grant resources in pursuit of USDAs rural development mission by bringing together the most innovative minds from inside and outside universities to address cutting-edge issues without regard to state boundaries. They respond to emerging issues, generate credible science-based information to clarify these issues, and create public-private partnerships to address them. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 ACTIVE Programs: (F) Methyl Bromide Transition Program (MBT)Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program-Methyl Bromide Transition;Projects supported for FY 2017 were:1.Integration of allyl-isothiocyanate, steam and exothermic compounds for soil disinfestation in strawberry nurseries. This award for $499,749 will develop methyl bromide alternatives through development of fumigant and non-fumigant treatments for strawberry plant nurseries. 2.Integration of food grade coatings into ham nets as a means to control ham mite infestations. The overall goal of this $498,387 project is to determine the technical feasibility, effectiveness, and cost-effectiveness of infusing propylene glycol based coatings into textile fibers that are used to manufacture ham nets as an alternative to methyl bromide fumigation for controlling mite infestation in dry-cured products.3.Pyramiding biofumigants and trap crops for eradication of Globodera pallida. This research award for $499,998 is proposed to identify and improve effective biological alternatives for the management of the potato cyst nematode, Globodera pallida.4.Evaluation of vacuum and steam heat as a methyl bromide alternative for phytosanitary treatment of hardwood and softwood logs. This research award for $393,049 is proposed to evaluate the efficacy of vacuum and steam heat treatment on thousand canker disease complex and oak wilt in infested logs using a portable log treating unit. In addition, the team proposed the drafting of design concepts for a commercial scale unit.(G) Organic Transition-Risk Assessmentaka Organic Transition Program (ORG); andNOTE: Also see CFDA 10.307 OREI 2017-03405: Going underground: Perennial and Annual Organic Transition Systems to Optimize Soil Health, Carbon Sequestration, and Profitability Production. Farmers interested in transitioning from conventional to organic systems are faced with unique challenges regarding weed control, fertility, improving soil health, and generating income during the transition period. Many transition systems rely on tillage to control weeds and annual crop rotations, which have been associated with soil carbon (C) loss. Intermediate wheatgrass (IWG) is a cool-season grass that is being bred for increased seed yields to become the first perennial grain crop. IWG could help producers overcome the challenges of organic transition, while also simplifying management, reducing tillage-associated C emissions, and improving soil health relative to annual crop-based organic transitions. This study will compare six organic transition systems that include IWG, summer and winter annuals, perennial legumes, and systems with various combinations of grain, forage, and cover crops.2017-03371: Facilitating improved environmental and soil quality through increased biodiversity and crop/livestock integration on organic farms. Agricultural systems that restore biodiversity improve sustainability and lower dependence on external inputs, which is vital in organic production. The focus of this project is to investigate the effects of integration of cover crops and livestock grazing on soil quality and crop yield. Results will be utilized in the development of educational programs on organic crops, livestock and soil health through university curriculum development, courses on organic principles and practice, open-source learning modules, and producer outreach. The educational programming will improve understanding of organic principles by students who are both today's consumers and tomorrow's farmers and future drivers of agricultural policies and practices. Intermediate and long-term outcomes include producer adoption of practices increasing on-farm biodiversity, leading to greater economic and environmental stability in organic production. 2017-03378: Development of effective biological control of fire blight for the Eastern United States. Fire blight is a devastating disease of apples and pears. The termination of antibiotics in organic production requires alternative management options. Biological control represents an important group of organic management tools. Yet, none of the available biocontrols has provided consistent, high level of control against fire blight under humid climates in the Eastern U.S. This study will perform the first comprehensive search and testing for bacterial and fungal biocontrol strains isolated from apple stigmas under humid climate in Eastern U.S. Using a combined approach of antibiosis screen, crab apple bioassay, and metagenomics, the research team will identify microorganisms with antimicrobial producing abilities and preemptive exclusion properties. 2017-03409: An ecological approach to disease risk management on organic poultry farms. Outdoor poultry are exposed to parasites and pathogens in the soil, or vectored by wild birds. These infections endanger animal and human health. There have been very few holistic studies of factors that make organic poultry farms susceptible or resistant to parasite/pathogen invasion. Growers inability to predict and manage these risks forms a major barrier to organic transition. This study will: (1) Measure frequencies of poultry contact with wild birds and soil; (2) Survey pathogen and parasite communities within on-farm wild bird populations, while characterizing transmission routes between wild and domesticated birds; and (3) Characterize properties of soil that affect persistence of fecal-borne poultry parasites and pathogens. 2017-03389: Introducing organic to producers of grain-only and pasture-grain wheat cropping systems of northern Texas. Organic agriculture is nearly absent in the northern Southern Great Plains region of Texas, despite large demand for organic products that could be produced there and low producer incomes. The team proposes to utilize a systems approach to directly compare conventional grain-only and pasture-grain wheat systems to transitional organic systems with management customized to the region. The experiment will occur at a large field scale, which is the only way to provide results directly transferrable to regional stakeholders. We will quantify system management impacts on crop and animal performance; soil microbial properties, nutrient, greenhouse gas emission, and moisture dynamics; and economic outcomes. (H) Regional Rural Development Centers; Examples of funded projects: 1. Focused on the following priority areas within the area: Extension-Community Capacity Building; Workforce Development, Entrepreneurship and Job Creation and Economic Resilience; Local and Regional Foods; Land Use and Balanced Use of Natural Resources; and Issues Related to Behavioral Health in Communities. 2. Focused on the following priorities: (1) Develop Pathways to Resilient Communities; (2) Build Strategic Partnerships; and (3) Mobilize Resources around Emerging Issues and Opportunities. 3. Focused on the following priorities: (1) Building a 21st Century Economy; (2) Sustainable Communities; (3) Leadership Development and Civic Engagement; and (4) Community Health and Wellness. 4. Project goal to strengthen rural communities by sharing and coordinating scientific discovery and application of sustainable practices with researchers, Extension educators and community development practitioners via research, conferences, trainings, workshops, and publications. The overarching goal is to help rural communities prosper, thrive economically, and become self-sustaining. The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (A) Water Quality (also Conservation Effects Assessment Projects (CEAP)) aka Integrated - Water Quality; (B) National Integrated Food Safety Initiative (aka NIFSI); (C) (Regional) IPM (Integrated Pest Management) Centers; (D) Crops at Risk from FQPA Implementation; and SPECIAL NOTE: See CPPM - CFDA # 10.329(E) FQPA Risk Mitigation Program for Major Food Crop System (aka Risk Avoidance and Mitigation Program); SPECIAL NOTE: See CPPM - CFDA # 10.329. 2018 Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 ACTIVE Programs: (F) Methyl Bromide

Transition Program (MBT) Integrated Research, Education, and Extension Competitive Grants Program-Methyl Bromide Transition; The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) anticipates finalizing the competitive awards by September 30, 2018. For the FY 2018 award cycle, NIFA anticipates making awards totaling $1,862,229. The following projects were recommended for funding: 1. Rapid cycle radio frequency technology for wood packaging materials used in international trade to replace methyl bromide for QPS purposes. The goal of this research award for $499,979 is to expedite broad-scale adoption of radio frequency (RF) technology as a sustainable, economically competitive solution to replace methyl bromide for treatment of wood packaging materials (WPM) used in international trade. 2. IPM for the Ham Mite using Alternatives to Methyl Bromide. The overall goal of this award for $499,713 is to have a collection of tools that can be used in IPM programs for prevention, monitoring and mitigation of ham mite pest populations in the dry cured ham industry and in other commodities where the mite can be a problem such as aged cheeses and pet foods. 3. Addressing gaps of current fumigants and advancing non-fumigant IPM solutions to manage soilborne pests in tomato production systems. The overall goal of this $486,842 project is to develop an arsenal of integrated approaches to manage soilborne diseases and weeds for a diverse range of farmers who farm a few to hundreds of acres. 4. Integrated management of fusarium wilt, nematode and weed complex using methyl bromide alternatives in the watermelon production system. The goal of this $375,695 project is to develop, optimize, and integrate current methyl bromide alternatives with non-fumigant nematicides and pre-plant herbicides to improve Fusarium wilt, root-knot nematode, and nutsedge management in watermelon plasticulture system in Georgia and Florida. (G) Organic Transition-Risk Assessment aka Organic Transition Program (ORG); and NOTE: Also see CFDA 10.307 OREI 2018-03547: Overcoming barriers to transitioning small ruminants to organic production: Effects of feeding birdsfoot trefoil on parasite control, nutritional status and profitability. In organic production systems, production of small ruminant livestock can be limited by gastrointestinal nematode infections. Forages containing certain tannins have anthelmintic properties, but the majority of research into this area has focused on forages grown in warm climates. The Kotcon research group has shown that birdsfoot trefoil has promise for use as an anthelmintic forage, but additional research will be required to identify birdsfoot trefoil varieties and management practices that will optimize the anthelmintic effect. This project focuses on both animal pathology and agronomic field trials and will include research conducted on various scales, both on- and off-farm. Extensive outreach efforts are planned as part of the project to disseminate relevant findings to producers. 2018-03535: Breaking Down the Barriers to Organic No-Till Soybean and Dry Bean Production Through Improved White Mold Management. White mold is a devastating disease affecting dry edible bean and soybean, as well as other important crops. The Pethybridge team has collected preliminary evidence showing that cultivation of no-till roller-crimped cereal rye can be suppressive of both weeds (another serious problem in organic crop production) and white mold disease. However, the planned future project will further explore the integrated effects of cereal rye cover crops on both weeds and white mold. One concern is that the large amounts of cereal rye residue required for optimal weed suppression may create an environment conducive to white mold infection. Farmer-to-farmer extension activities, as well as on-farm demonstrations are planned as outreach efforts to disseminate results. 2018-03548: Optimization of bacteriophage for management of fireblight disease. Fire blight is a very serious and widespread bacterial disease that infects fruit trees, especially apple trees. Organic options for controlling this disease are limited. This project will explore a novel approach toward controlling this devastating disease. This research will investigate using a bacteriophage for fire blight control, with exploration into formulation and application developments to increase efficacy. Large-scale field testing will ensure applicability of results. Project results will be shared with producers using a variety of outreach and education approaches, including demonstration plots. 2018-03574: Decision support tool to optimize establishment and management of alfalfa as trap crop in organic strawberry productions. In California, annual strawberry production value exceeds $1.8 billion and is equivalent to over 80% of the national production. A complex of Lygus species is a major pest on strawberry, especially in organic productions. Compared to strawberry, alfalfa is a highly preferred host for Lygus. The innovative component of this project is that establishment of an alfalfa-based trap crop at the perimeter of organic strawberry fields is combined with an optimized combination of vacuuming, strip cutting, and releases of natural enemies to suppress Lygus populations in the alfalfa trap. The project focus is to simultaneously optimize: 1) alfalfa-based trap crop establishment (not establish more alfalfa trap crop than is needed, and 2) required management efforts (identify when management is needed and also identify the most feasible and cost-effective combination of vacuuming, strip cutting, and releases of natural enemies).2018-03523: Manure and Pasture Management to Reduce Swine Parasites in Organic Pastured Pork Production. Managing swine intestinal parasites continues to be an obstacle for organic pig farmers because there is a lack of organically-approved options for controlling parasites. The purpose of this project is to explore manure and pasture management strategies that would control swine parasites by reducing parasite contamination and transmission in organic pig production. Specific objections are to: 1) evaluate parasite pressures on organic pig farms, 2) determine effectiveness of manure composting on eliminating swine parasites and its underlying mechanisms, 3) assess a novel approach to swine parasite control in pastures via biofumigation, and 4) determine effects of grazing rapeseed by organic pigs on reducing swine parasite contamination in pastures.(H) Regional Rural Development Centers;The Regional Rural Development Centers (RRDC) Review Panel recommended four (4) awards. 10.304 Homeland Security Agricultural FOOD AND AGRICULTURE DEFENSE INITIATIVE (FADI)(aka Homeland Security Program),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA), Section 1472, 7 U.S.C. 3318., 7 USC Code 3318. Homeland Security (Cooperative Agreements): Section 1484 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977., 7 USC Code 3351.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide funding to protect the food supply and agricultural production. This is accomplished by providing federal assistance, through existing cooperative agreements, to four (4) national agricultural homeland security networks: the National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN), the National Plant Diagnostic Network (NPDN), the Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN), and the Pest Information Platform for Education and Extension (ipmPIPE).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

These funds are subject to the provisions of 31 U.S.C. 1301 requiring their use only for the purpose for which they were appropriated. Funding is limited to support for the four (4) aforementioned agrosecurity networks.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Anyone/general public; In accordance with section 1472(c) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, (NARETPA) applicant may be: State agricultural experiment stations, State cooperative extension services, all colleges and universities, other research or education institutions and organizations, Federal and private agencies and organizations, individuals, and any other contractor or recipient, either foreign or domestic, to further research, extension, or teaching programs in the food and agricultural sciences of the Department of Agriculture.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Anyone/general public; State; In accordance with section 1472(c) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, (NARETPA) applicant may be: State agricultural experiment stations, State cooperative extension services, all colleges and universities, other research or education institutions and organizations, Federal and private agencies and organizations, individuals, and any other contractor or recipient, either foreign or domestic, to further research, extension, or teaching programs in the food and agricultural sciences of the Department of Agriculture.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant.Applicants must furnish the information required in the Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) solicits proposals to fund existing and new cooperative agreements through a request for application process. All RFAs are published on the Agencys website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year 2017:In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, the amount appropriated for this Program was $8,000,000. The amount available for awards was $7,680,000, after legislatively mandated set-asides.(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):Six applications were received and awarded. The awards totaled $3,030,660.(B) National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (aka FADI):FADI: For FY 2017, the Food and Agriculture Defense Initiative (FADI) continued to support three multi-institutional homeland security networks via non-competitively awarded cooperative agreements: The National Plant Diagnostic Network, the National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN), and the Extension Disaster Education Network. All three networks continued to help prepare, prevent, detect, respond and recover from high-consequence disease threats and other disasters. NAHLN: During FY 2017, NIFA supported 16 laboratories (10 level 1 labs; 2 level 2 labs; and, 4 level 3 labs) with $4,278,540 payment to states. This amount represents an increase of $1,260,540 (from 2016) provided in the FADI appropriation and designated by Congress specifically for NAHLN. NIFA funded two new labs (MI; PA-Harrisburg) and 14 renewal labs in FY 2017. The Wyoming lab moved up from a level 3 lab (2016) to a level 2 lab (2017). Other labs being supported by NIFA in 2017 maintained the same level as in FY 2016.Critical surveillance and suspect-sample testing was supported to address the mission of safeguarding public health, enhancing the health of all animals, and improving the economic well-being of livestock producers nationwide. Thousands of samples were processed testing for high-consequence livestock pathogens and tens of thousands of samples for some of more common disease organisms. Member laboratories have completed or maintained proficiency certification for several important endemic and foreign animal diseases, including: avian influenza, Newcastle disease, John's disease, classical swine fever, foot and mouth disease, bovine spongiform encephalopathy, leptospirosis, bovine leukemia virus, bluetongue, chronic wasting disease, and equine infectious anemia.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):One award was made in the Extension Disaster and Education Network to Purdue University in the amount $370,800. Fiscal Year 2018: Fiscal Year 2018:In Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, the amount appropriated for this Program was $ 8,000,000.The amount available for awards was $7,680,000, after legislatively mandated set-asides.(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):Six applications have been received and are being awarded. The awards totaled $3,030,660(B) National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (aka FADI):FADI: The Food and Ag Defense Initiative (FADI) will continue to support three multi-institutional homeland security networks via non-competitively awarded cooperative agreements: The National Plant Diagnostic Network, the National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN), and the Extension Disaster Education Network. New cooperative agreements were established in 2016 for the National Plant Diagnostic and National Animal Health Laboratory Networks; therefore, FY 2018 represents the second award renewal cycle under the new cooperative agreement. NAHLN: Overall, NIFA is supporting 19 laboratories (11 level 1 labs; 3 level 2 labs; and, 5 level 3 labs) with $4,266,000 payment to states. This amount represents a stable amount from FY2017, maintaining the increase of $1,260,540 (from 2016) provided in the FADI appropriation and designated by Congress specifically for NAHLN.NIFA is funding three new labs (NY; HI; TX-Texas Animal Health Commission) and 16 renewal labs in FY 2017. Award recommendations are being processed with start dates anticipated to be September 1, 2018.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):This program continues to support three multi-institutional homeland security networks: National Plant Diagnostic Network, National Animal Health Laboratory Network, and the Extension Disaster Education Network through cooperative agreement. EDENs allocation is anticipated to be $383,000. Fiscal Year 2019: Fiscal Year 2019:The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar.Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar.It is projected that six applications were received and awarded a total amount of $3,030,660(B) National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (aka FADI):The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that that changes in lab membership from FY 2018 into FY 2019 will be minor since continuity is an important consideration in sustaining agrosecurity preparedness. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar.Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fiscal Year 2017:(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):The National Plant Diagnostic Network (NPDN) which comprises of five regional hubs/centers and an IT data center provides a cohesive, distributed system to quickly detect and identify pests and pathogens of concern. These centers work closely with laboratories in their region and play a critical role in agricultural biosecurity by protecting the health and productivity of agricultural plants and natural ecosystems through the U.S. NPDN laboratories immediately report their findings to appropriate responders and decision makers. The centers have the appropriate laboratory infrastructure and training, they have developed an extensive network of first detectors and enhance communication among public agencies and stakeholders in order to respond to and mitigate new outbreaks of pest and diseases of importance. The laboratories associated with the network are involved in detection, diagnosis and reporting for diseases, insect pests and weeds including regulated pests and certain invasive species. In 2017, the NPDN laboratories successfully worked towards their goals. Over 680,000 samples were tested including samples from hosts infected with regulated pests that were identified and reported. The regulated pests were identified with very high accuracy (>99%). Additionally, the NPDN teams in the regions were involved in 2,147 publications and presentations that reached more than 850,000 stakeholders. Several of these publications were first reports of various pests in the concerned state.(B) National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (aka FADI):NAHLN: NIFA made 16 awards supporting National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) laboratories. The NAHLN has implemented national surveillance systems for highly pathogenic avian influenza, classical swine fever, bovine spongiform encephalopathy, and other important animal diseases. These surveillance programs have been used, among other things, to demonstrate freedom from disease in support of international trade, resulting in increased trade income. These awards have allowed labs to continue to: (1) improve their systems for enhancing the quality, traceability, utility, and connectivity of diagnostic information (incoming, intra-laboratory, and outgoing), including enhancement of their Laboratory Information Management System (LIMS) capabilities and the fitness of the resulting veterinary diagnostic records for use in any number of web-based (inter-laboratory) animal health management or reporting applications; (2) enhance Foreign Animal Disease preparedness and NAHLN testing capacities; and, (3) continue to improve and maintain vital staff training on foreign and emerging animal diseases.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):As a result of Food and Agriculture Defense funding and in-kind support through FTEs from the Cooperative Extension System, EDEN accomplished the following:Executed a national-level food and agricultural exercise for Federal Emergency Management Agencies (FEMA) Emergency Management Institute with focus on agrosecurity.Developed the Community Capacity-Building Program for Drought Response. Enhanced a youth preparedness project that FEMA gave national recognition to in 2015.Funded support for Extension Community Development educators and specialists to develop a community-based disaster resilience program.Hosted a national-level workshop for 1890 Institution specialists to establish priorities to enhance the 1890s delivery of disaster education.Hosted a national level agrosecurity workshop to set priorities for projects and further involvement in the tactical sciences to protect U.S. food and agriculture enterprises. 2018 Fiscal Year 2018:(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):The National Plant Diagnostic Network (NPDN) which comprises of five regional hubs/centers and an IT data center provides a cohesive, distributed system to quickly detect and identify pests and pathogens of concern. NPDN laboratories located at the land grant universities or other partner organizations are involved in detection and diagnosis of diseases, insect pests and weeds including regulated pests and invasive species. Their findings are reported immediately to appropriate responders and decision makers. In 2018 we anticipate the NPDN laboratories will continue fulfill their function and provide diagnoses of pests and diseases with high levels of accuracy.(B) National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (aka FADI):NAHLN: In FY 2018, NIFA expects to fund 19 cooperative agreement applications supporting National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) laboratories. The NAHLN will continue its national surveillance for, and rapid response to, suspected or actual cases of highly pathogenic avian influenza, classical swine fever, bovine spongiform encephalopathy, and other important animal diseases. This includes support for the current Exotic Newcastle Disease outbreak in California. These surveillance programs have been used to ensure early detection of high-consequence livestock disease, and to demonstrate freedom from foreign animal disease in support of international trade, resulting in increased trade income. Additional focus to improve Laboratory Information Management System (LIMS) and messaging capabilities across the NAHLN is anticipated.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):The Coordinating Institute will: Guide public affairs effort for EDENManage project analysis and evaluationSupervise sub-contracts for project managementMonitor disaster trends to guide EDEN in disaster communications and responseWork with EDEN leaders to establish further partnerships for delivering food and agriculture and all hazards education.One institution will coordinate network and database support; which includes whole issue management as well as technical support, ensuring the disaster educational information and communications are state of the art. Another university will lead the effort to enhance the 1890s delivery of disaster education. Last, a multi-disciplinary team will enhance the current national website www.EDEN.lsu.edu The funds will be used to keep updated information on the website. 2019 Fiscal Year 2019:(A) National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):The National Plant Diagnostic Network (NPDN) which comprises of five regional hubs/centers and an IT data center provides a cohesive, distributed system to quickly detect and identify pests and pathogens of concern. While we expect to continue to support three multi-institutional homeland security networks via existing non-competitively awarded cooperative agreements: The National Plant Diagnostic Network, the National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN), and the Extension Disaster Education Network. The agency does not expect to renew any of the current NAHLN awards in the current budget scenario. More specific details to be provided by Program in next years report.(C) Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):EDEN is strategically planning for continuing to address disasters through education. Funding level will determine how and whether the network is able to expand to further combat reducing the impact of disasters through education.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

In Fiscal Year (FY) 2002, a panel of USDA scientists knowledgeable in the Nation's plant and animal disease diagnostic capability, recommended to the Secretary a plan of initiating a comprehensive national network of laboratories for the rapid detection and diagnosis of plant and animal diseases. The institutions selected by the panel for initial inclusion in the network were recommended using the following criteria: (1) Existing scientific capacity; (2) Existing laboratory capacity which could be modified to meet Biosafety Level 3 requirements; (3) Both animal and plant diagnostic capabilities; (4) Geographical location meeting one or more of the following requirements: located in an area with a high risk of disease/pest incursions; located in an area with high concentration of vulnerable agricultural activity; complements or supplements regional Federal laboratory activity or is in an area not effectively served by an existing Federal facility; (5) State-of-the-art communication and information technology systems. Must be capable of managing secure communications with other laboratories and central reporting unit; and (6) An effective outreach/extension system. These recommendations were utilized to select the original cooperative agreement recipients and are annually evaluated by USDA/NIFA in network planning. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program.SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the following websites for further specific and pertinent details: National Plant Diagnostic Network for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative (NPDN):<https://nifa.usda.gov/national-plant-diagnostic-network>National Animal Health Laboratory Network (NAHLN) for the Food and Agricultural Defense Initiative<https://nifa.usda.gov/national-animal-health-laboratory-network>Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN):<https://nifa.usda.gov/extension-disaster-education-network>

10.306 Biodiesel

(Biodiesel Fuel Education Program),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Section 9006 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (Public Law 110-246), amended the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (7 U.S.C. 8101 et seq.) to re-establish the Biodiesel Fuel Education Program which requires that the Secretary make competitive grants to eligible entities to educate governmental and private entities that operate vehicle fleets, other interested entities (as determined by the Secretary), and the public about the benefits of biodiesel fuel use. The Secretary delegated this authority to the Chief Economist, who in turn delegated this authority to the Director of the Office of Energy Policy and New Uses (OEPNU). OEPNU has joined with NIFA for assistance in administering Biodiesel Education under the authorities found in the Economy Act (31 U.S.C. 1535) and Section 1472 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3318). Specific Biodiesel Education administrative provisions are found in 7 CFR 2903., 7 USC Code 3318.

OBJECTIVES:

The goals of the Biodiesel Fuel Education Program as originally established in Section 9004 of the Farm Security Investment Act of 2002 (7 U.S.C. 8104) were to stimulate biodiesel consumption and to stimulate the development of a biodiesel infrastructure. The information and outreach activities to raise awareness of the benefits of biodiesel fuel use complemented the incentives provided by the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (EPA) (Public Law 109-58), and the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007 (Public Law 110-140). As a result of increased awareness and consumption of biodiesel over the past 5 years, the FY 2008 Biodiesel Education program will focus on educational programs which will support advances in infrastructure, technology transfer, fuel quality, fuel safety and increasing feedstock production.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This funding is used for education and outreach activities. Program funds may not be used for renovation or refurbishment or research space; the purchase or installation of fixed equipment in such space; or the planning, repair, rehabilitation, acquisition or construction of buildings or facilities.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Eligibility is restricted to nonprofit organizations or institution of higher education (as defined in section 101 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001)).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Nonprofit organizations or institutions of higher education (as defined in section 101 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001)).

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/biodiesel-fuel-education> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database--Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. A non-Federal entity that expends less than $750,000 during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards is exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017: In continued partnership with the Office of the Chief Economist, the program continued to support the work of professional education within the field of biodiesel production and use. Two (2) proposals received continuation funding in the amount of $893,760. Fiscal Year 2018: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018: It is anticipated that a continuation grant will be funding for approximately $896,640. Fiscal Year 2019: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. It is projected to be approximately $896,640 will be available for new awards. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

10.307 Organic Agriculture Research and Extension Initiative

(OREI),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Section 7206 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) amended section 1672B of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade (FACT) Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 5925b) amending and re-authorizing the Organic Agriculture Research and Extension Initiative (OREI). The FACT Act, as amended, authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the National Agricultural Research, Extension, Education, and Economics Advisory Board (NAREEAB), to make competitive grants to support research and extension activities regarding organically grown and processed agricultural commodities for eight legislatively-defined goals. See RFA Part I.B. for further general information and specific details., 7 USC Code 5925b.

OBJECTIVES:

Facilitate the development of organic agriculture production, breeding, and processing methods. Functionally identify soil microbial communities and ways to manage microbial dynamics to enhance nutrient cycling and disease suppression; Develop systemic approaches to weed, insect and disease management; Prevent, control, and treat internal and external parasites in various livestock species; and

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Breed crops for disease and insect resistance, good yield in a biologically diverse system, compatibility with intercropping, good response to organic fertility sources, horizontal resistance (traits determined by multiple genes). Evaluate the potential economic benefits to producers and processors who use organic methods. Analyze potential economic costs, returns and risks of organic production systems; Use environmental valuation tools to quantify externalities of producing food, and compare externalities of producing organic and conventional food; - Analyze price and market structures, including ability of small, medium-, and large-scale growers to access different markets, in order to frame policies that minimize concentration within the industry; and Analyze marketing channels to document how organic food is distributed, what share of the organic food dollar is returned to the farmer, and the implications of large-scale manufacturers entering the organic market. Explore international trade opportunities for organically grown and processed agricultural commodities. Compare compatibility of certification standards used in different parts of the world, with the ultimate goal of harmonization and reciprocity; Undertake marketing studies of international consumer demand for U.S. produced organic goods; and Perform Welfare analyses (quantified gains and losses for producers and consumers) of trade policies affecting international competitiveness, including implementation of the National Organic Program, domestic support programs such as the Conservation Security Act, country of origin labeling, GMO labeling, etc. Determine desirable traits for organic commodities. Examine relationships between nutrients in the soil and nutrients in the food grown on that soil, including long-term soil nutrient and crop nutrient profiles under conventional and organic management; Perform comparisons of nutrient levels between organic and conventional crops and relationship, if any, between taste and nutrient profile; Investigate the role of post-harvest handling and treatment in the maintenance of quality in fresh market organic products; and Determine the reasons for consumer preferences for organic goods. Identify marketing and policy constraints on the expansion of organic agriculture. Analyze opportunities and constraints to organic agriculture resulting from provisions of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002; Investigate specific barriers to markets, such as scale-based regulations that restrict family farm access to processors and/or markets; Study negative lender perception of organic farming and ways to change this; and Analyze regulatory barriers, such as lack of access to Federal farm programs, and developing solutions to these challenges. Conduct advanced on-farm research and development that emphasizes observation of, experimentation with, and innovation for working organic farms, including research relating to production and marketing and to socioeconomic conditions. (Note: Many topics from other goal areas can be conducted on working farms.) Develop rigorous on-farm systems research designs; and Conduct long-term, interdisciplinary systems research.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Integrated Organic Program is particularly interested in proposed projects that emphasize research and outreach that assist farmers and ranchers with whole farm planning and ecosystem integration. Projects should plan to deliver applied production information to producers. Fieldwork for both program areas must be done on certified organic land or on land in transition to organic certification, as appropriate to project goals and objectives. Refer to the USDA National Organic Program (<http://www.ams.usda.gov/nop>) for organic production standards.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Individual/Family; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Applications may be submitted by State agricultural experiment stations, all colleges and universities, other research institutions and organizations, Federal agencies, national laboratories, private organizations or corporations, and individuals. For both ORG and OREI, all award recipients may subcontract to organizations not eligible to apply provided such organizations are necessary for the conduct of the project.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; State agricultural experiment stations, all colleges and universities, other research institutions and organizations, Federal agencies, national laboratories, private organizations or corporations, and individuals.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/organic-agriculture-research-and-extension-initiative> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/organic-agriculture-research-and-extension-initiative> RFAs are generally released annually. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 100%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Funds are awarded competitively. No formula grants are awarded under Subtitle K of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 [7 U.S.C. 3319e]. Cost Sharing or Matching: (1) General Requirement The Secretary shall require the recipient of a grant under this section to provide funds or in-kind support from non-Federal sources in an amount at least equal to the amount provided by the Federal Government. See R&R Budget section regarding matching funds Part IV, B., 6. of this RFA for more details. (2) Waiver NIFA may waive the matching funds requirement specified in the above paragraph for a grant if NIFA determines that: (a) the results of the project, while of particular benefit to a specific agricultural commodity, are likely to be applicable to agricultural commodities generally; or (b) the project involves a minor commodity, the project deals with scientifically important research, and the grant recipient is unable to satisfy the matching funds requirement. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

In accordance with statutory time limits, project periods, including no-cost extensions of time, are not to exceed five (5) years. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, about $17,589,850 was available for grant awards after legislatively authorized set-asides were deducted. A total of 79 applications, requesting a total of $78,732,241 were received in the FY 2017 competition. Funds were available to support a total of 16 new awards. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 was 20%. Funded projects seek to solve critical organic agricultural issues, priorities, or problems through the integration of research, education and extension activities. They include high priority research, education and extension projects that will enhance the ability of producers and processors who have already adopted organic standards to grow and market high quality organic agricultural products. Priority concerns include biological, physical, and social sciences, including economics. Fiscal Year 2018: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 award cycle, about $17,596,826 was available for grant awards after legislatively authorized set-asides were deducted. A total of 92 applications, requesting a total of $89,743,018 were received in the FY 2018 competition. Funds were available to support a total of 15 new awards. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 was 16%. Funded projects seek to solve critical organic agricultural issues, priorities, or problems through the integration of research, education and extension activities. They include high priority research, education and extension projects that will enhance the ability of producers and processors who have already adopted organic standards to grow and market high quality organic agricultural products. Priority concerns include biological, physical, and social sciences, including economics. Fiscal Year 2019: The Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 RFA will focus on the following eight (8) legislatively-defined goals: (1) Facilitating the development of organic agriculture production, breeding, and processing methods; (2) Evaluating the potential economic benefits of organic agricultural production and methods to producers, processors and rural communities; (3) Exploring international trade opportunities for organically grown and processed agricultural commodities; (4) Determining desirable traits for organic commodities; (5) Identifying marketing and policy constraints on the expansion of organic agriculture; (6) Conducting advanced on-farm research and development that emphasizes observation of, experimentation with, and innovation for working organic farms, including research relating to production and marketing, food safety, socioeconomic conditions, and farm business management; (7) Examining optimal conservation and environmental outcomes relating to organically produced agricultural products; and (8) Developing new and improved seed varieties that are particularly suited for organic agriculture. The total amount available is pending on a new Farm Bill. Per the Budget Office, it is projected that approximately $18.9 million will be available for this Program.

2017 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017: Developing Multi-use Naked Barley for Organic Farming Systems. The long-term goal of this study is to provide organic gardeners, growers, processors, and consumers with an alternative crop, food, and raw material that will be economically rewarding and sustainable. The team will breed for naked barley and a modest level of -glucan to create varieties suitable for brewing, feed use, and that will meet FDA guidelines for soluble fiber in human diets. The work will be conducted in five (5) representative regions/states - Pacific Northwest (OR, WA), Upper Midwest (MN, WI) and North East (NY) The outreach efforts will familiarize students, gardeners, growers, processors, and consumers with the benefits of naked barley varieties and provide guidance for capitalizing on the advantages these varieties can offer. Economic and environmental sustainability of heifer development strategies in pasture-based organic dairy systems. Dairy products constitute the second largest sector of the organic agriculture industry in the US. And dairy cow replacement costs are second only to feed costs in magnitude for the average dairy farm: between one-third (1/3) and one-fourth (1/4) of the entire herd is replaced every year. Given the National Organic Program requirement that ruminant animals be managed on pasture and graze daily throughout the grazing season, heifer development within organic systems is more challenging, and more costly than in confinement systems. The primary objective of the project is to innovate new strategies for organic forage-based dairy heifer development, and then to inspire widespread adoption of these practices for enhanced farm sustainability. One-two punch for Organic Poultry Processing: Knocking out foodborne pathogens with plant derived antimicrobials and farmer training. Both conventional and organic poultry products have been identified as major sources of Salmonella and Campylobacter, the two (2) most common food-borne pathogens in the US. This study aims to reduce Salmonella and Campylobacter on poultry meat/ eggs using plant-derived antimicrobials applied as wash, spray, fumigation or coating treatment at critical post-harvest control points. Managing the Most Significant Biotic Challenges for Organic Onion Production Across the Great Lakes Region. Organic onions are a highly valuable commodity in the Great Lakes region and their economic viability has been critically threatened by pests and pathogens that are difficult to manage. Stakeholders have identified onion thrips, Thrips tabaci, as the most serious insect pest and Stemphylium leaf blight (SLB), which is caused by Stemphylium vesicarium, as the most important foliar pathogen in this region. The long-term goal of this project is to develop and implement an effective IPM program for onion thrips and SLB that will ensure the sustainability and profitability of organic onion production in the Great Lakes. Participatory Breeding and Testing Networks: A Maize Based Case Study for Organic Systems. This integrated Multi-Regional Project will conduct advanced on-farm research to identify biophysical and social/legal factors influencing the performance of organic maize cultivars and dependent businesses. Objectives are to: (1) build capacity that supports a participatory testing and breeding program; (2) conduct a maize-based case study to explore on-farm factors influencing crop fitness and grain quality; and (3) identify and communicate how organizational structures, sharing and intellectual property agreements can promote client-oriented breeding programs to improve our organic seed supply. Important inputs include promising cultivars, experienced advisers, and significant farmer input. 2018 2018-02820 Selection to Distribution: Delivering Regionally Adapted Cover Crop Varieties to Organic Farmers. Legume cover crops are essential to long-term sustainability of organic cropping systems because they fix nitrogen, improve soil health, suppress weeds, and provide resources for beneficial organisms such as pollinators. Unlike cash crops, cover crops have not been bred to optimize the traits that organic farmers need. This team of organic and cover crop experts from multiple universities, non-profit organizations, and governmental agencies will work in partnership with leading seed companies and farmers, to breed new varieties of hairy vetch, winter pea, and crimson clover. These regionally adapted varieties will be tailored to organic cropping systems and create a foundation from which future public legume cover crop breeding programs can develop improved varieties. 2018-02805 Development and Implementation of Biological Control Tactics for Key Vegetable Insect Pests in the Southeastern US. Acreage of organic cucurbits and tomatoes in the Southeast US is growing, but production is limited by damaged caused by spider mites, whiteflies, and thrips, and in the case of the latter two pests, the viruses they transmit. Neither OMRI approved pesticides nor resistant cultivars can serve as stand-alone methods for control. The goal of this project is to improve augmentation and conservation of predatory natural enemies for the management of these pests through three objectives: (1) improve augmentative releases of commercially available predatory (2) improve conservation biocontrol (3) disseminate research results and general information regarding biological control online and in-person, using eOrganic for web-based outreach. 2018-02881 Northern Vegetable Improvement Collaborative (NOVIC) 3. Organic food production is rapidly growing, but growers lack access to certified-organic seed and improved vegetable varieties adapted to organic production. NOVIC builds on two previous rounds of funding from OREI. This project seeks to increase the number of organically adapted vegetable varieties through farmer-participatory trialing and breeding. Long-term goals are to enhance organically managed agriculture and increase compliance with NOP requirement for certified-organic seed. Research objectives are to breed and to trial varieties for organic systems, and to develop easy to maintain and productive OPs. Breeding will be conducted for disease resistant, flavorful tomatoes for outdoor (OR) and high tunnel (WI) production, high-quality, early-maturity sweet and savory corns (WI & WA), long storing winter squash (NY), early blocky bell peppers (NY), red and green storage cabbage (WA) and fertile gynoeious cucumbers (NY). Local variety trials at research hubs and on farm will focus on regional priority crops. 2018-02799 Breeding Biofortified Pulse and Cereal Crops for US Organic Cropping Systems. Current organic grain production depends on cultivars that have been bred for non-organic production, but these are often not suited to organic production. Pulse crops, field pea show great potential for biofortification, and are suited to meeting consumer demand for organic plant-based protein, prebiotic carbohydrates, and micronutrients especially within allergen- and gluten-free markets. Field pea, a new southern cash crop, can be planted in late December to mid-January, with the crop then harvested just in time for planting sorghum. Sorghum is an excellent crop for South because of its high productivity and stress tolerance. Very little science has been done with respect to reducing the yield gap or developing genomic tools for selecting both field pea and sorghum cultivars with increased nutritional quality for organic farming systems. The objectives of this project are to (1) develop biofortified organic field pea and sorghum varieties using on-farm field selection with aims to increase crop yield and nutritional quality; (2) develop genomic and bioinformatics capabilities to address the genetic diversity of desired agronomic and nutritional traits; and (3) develop on-farm educational and extension activities. 2018-02850 CREEP STOP: Integrating Biological, Cultural, and Mechanical/Physical Tools for Long-Term Suppression of Creeping Perennial Weeds in northern Great Plains and Pacific Northwest Cropping Systems. Most organic wheat, lentil, and other cool-season grains are produced in the northwestern U.S. Increasingly, fields are being removed from organic certification because of invasion and infestation by Canada thistle and field bindweed. Recent meta-analyses indicate that research targeting suppression/control of these weed species in organic environments is limited. A multi-state effort is proposed to develop weed management tactics for suppression/control of these creeping perennial weeds in the northern Great Plains and Pacific Northwest. Biological, cultural, and mechanical tactics will be compared for their efficacy on 10 organic farms and 3 research centers in each of 4 years. Correlations between weed population genotypes and the microbiome at the weed/soil interface with different suppression/control tactics and their efficacy across weed populations will be established. 2019 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019: We anticipate making about 20 awards in FY 2019. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.308 Resident Instruction Grants for Insular Area Activities

Grants for Insular Areas - Resident Instruction Grants for Insular Areas (RIIA),
FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

This program is administered under the provisions of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (Section 7501 of Public Law 107-171) as reauthorized in Section 7143 of Public Law 110-246, which amended the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3101 et seq.) by providing for a program of resident instruction grants for insular areas (7 U.S.C. 3363). Funds are available for a program of competitive grants, with funds to be awarded to one or more individual, eligible institutions of higher education in Insular Areas (Insular Area Institutions) or consortia of such eligible institutions, to carry out teaching and education programs in the food and agricultural sciences., 7 USC Code 3363.

OBJECTIVES:

In General. -The Secretary of Agriculture shall make competitive grants to eligible institutions to- (1) strengthen institutional educational capacities, including libraries, curriculum, faculty, scientific instrumentation, instruction delivery systems, and student recruitment and retention, in order to respond to identified State, regional, national, or international education needs in the food and agricultural sciences; (2) attract and support undergraduate and graduate students in order to educate them in identified areas of national need in the food and agriculture sciences; (3) facilitate cooperative initiatives between two or more insular area eligible institutions, or between those institutions and units of State Government or organizations in the private sector, to maximize the development and use of resources such as faculty, facilities, and equipment to improve food and agricultural sciences teaching programs; and (4) conduct undergraduate scholarship programs to assist in meeting national needs for training food and agricultural scientists.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The purpose of the Resident Instruction Grants Program for Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas (RIIA) is to promote and strengthen the ability of Insular Area Institutions to carry out teaching and education programs within the broadly defined food and agricultural sciences-related disciplines. Food and agricultural sciences include programs in agriculture, food and fiber, renewable energy and natural resources, forestry, aquaculture, veterinary medicine, family and consumer sciences, home economics, nutrition and dietetics, rural human ecology, rural economic and community development, and other higher education activities and fields of study related to the production, processing, marketing, distribution, conservation, utilization, consumption, research, and development of food and agriculturally-related products and services.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The Secretary of Agriculture shall ensure that each eligible institution, prior to receiving grant funds under subsection (a), shall have a significant demonstrable commitment to higher education programs in the food and agricultural sciences and to each specific subject area for which grant funds under this section are to be used. The Secretary of Agriculture may require that any grant awarded under this section contain provisions that require funds to be targeted to meet the needs identified in section 1402.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Private nonprofit institution/organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; The Secretary of Agriculture shall ensure that each eligible institution, prior to receiving grant funds under subsection (a), shall have a significant demonstrable commitment to higher education programs in the food and agricultural sciences and to each specific subject area for which grant funds under this section are to be used. The Secretary of Agriculture may require that any grant awarded under this section contain provisions that require funds to be targeted to meet the needs identified in section 1402.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/resident-instruction-grants-program-institutions-higher-education-insular-areas> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Reports:

REEReport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEReport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEReport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEReport system. Information on REEReport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reerport> and the REEReport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEReport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEReport) All projects must be documented in REEReport. The NIFA contact for all REEReport documentation is: REEReport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEReport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, Subpart F Audit Requirements nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards must have a single or program-specific audit conducted for that year in accordance with the provisions of this part. A non-Federal entity that expends less than $750,000 during the non-Federal entity's fiscal year in Federal awards is exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 200.503. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For Fiscal Year (FY 2017), the consolidated appropriation for Insular Area Grants (CFDA 10.308 and 10.322) was $2 million. After deductions for legislatively authorized set-asides, a distributed Payment to States amount for the RIIA and Agriculture and Food Science Facilities and Equipment (AGFEI) Grant Programs was $1,149,900. AGFEI and RIIA Project type in FY 2017 is Regular Grant only at a ceiling amount of $150,000. An eligible university system may receive up to a maximum of three (3) Regular grant awards. A second program, the Agriculture and Food Sciences Facilities and Equipment (AGFEI) for land-grant colleges and universities in the Insular Areas was attached to this CDFA for the first time. The AGFEI's legislative authority is 7 U.S.C. 3222b-2. A total of 15 applications, six for AGFEI and nine form RIIA were received. One application was declined for review due to submission guidelines As evaluated by a peer review panel and due to limited funding, only four (4) RIIA and four (4) AGFEI out of the 14 proposals were funded. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 is 57 percent (57%). SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.322 for other pertinent financial information. Fiscal Year 2018: For Fiscal Year (FY 2018), the consolidated appropriation for Insular Area Grants (CFDA 10.308 and 10.322) was $2 million. After deductions for legislatively authorized set-asides, a distributed Payment to States amount for the RIIA and Agriculture and Food Science Facilities and Equipment (AGFEI) Grant Programs was $1,902,600. AGFEI and RIIA Project type in FY 2018 is Regular Grant only at a ceiling amount of $150,000. An eligible university system may receive up to a maximum of three (3) Regular grant awards. A second program, the Agriculture and Food Sciences Facilities and Equipment (AGFEI) for land-grant colleges and universities in the Insular Areas was attached to this CDFA for the second consecutive year. The AGFEI's legislative authority is 7 U.S.C. 3222b-2. A total of 11 applications, three for AGFEI and eight from RIIA were received. As evaluated by a peer review panel and due to limited funding, only five (5) RIIA and two (2) AGFEI out of the 11 proposals were funded. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2018 is 64 percent (57%). SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.308 for other pertinent financial information. Fiscal Year 2019: For FY 2019 it is projected that the budget for the Insular Areas Program will be comparable to Fiscal Year FY 2018 and will be distributed in the same way. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date. SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.308 for other pertinent financial information.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

Not Applicable.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:The final eight (8) Awards will range from the lowest of $138,686 to the highest of $145,750. RIIA project: Engineering Teams Optimizing Agricultural Technology Work proposed herein takes advantage of the strong engineering programs available at the institution to foster the optimization of agricultural technology. Such goal will be achieved by preparing and focusing teams of two (2) to four (4) engineering students to work on specific agricultural science problems impacting the island. Attainment of such objective requires the establishment of a curricular sequence in Agricultural Science that allows Engineering students to grasp fundamental knowledge of agriculture. The curricular sequence includes a capstone/design course that requires application of the Engineering tools to a current problem of the islands agriculture. Student capstone design project will be identified after interaction with stakeholders (e.g., Extension agents, farmer or professional associations, government officials, industry representatives). The project starts by testing the strategy at Industrial and Mechanical Engineering with the long-term goal of institutionalizing the improved approach to the various engineering departments at the institution. By intersecting engineering know-how with agricultural opportunity areas, the initiative should impact the islands economic activity. RIIA Project: Developing Resident Instruction in Food & Agriculture Related Sciences at Community College. RIIA funding will continue to support three (3) full-time instructors, which has resulted in increase in enrollment, number of graduates, students receiving scholarships and stipends, and students participating in experiential learning programs. Continued support from RIIA will help to ensure further successes in the institutions long-term measures. The project goals focuses on three (3) Educational Need Areas (ENA) ENA (2) Faculty Preparation & Enhancement for Teaching, ENA (5) Student Experiential Learning, and ENA (6) Student Recruitment, Retention, and Educational Equity. With the ENAs as a guiding tool, the objectives of the project are: to maintain a funding source for faculty; to participate in a Summer Internship project with insular area colleges/universities; to provide local and regional summer internships; to provide Summer Institute scholarships; to provide off-island scholarships for students pursuing Bachelors degrees in food and agricultural related sciences; and to provide financial support for faculty and staff professional development. These objectives will help the institution meet its outcomes and overall NIFA objectives of increasing the number and diversity of students pursuing degrees in food and agricultural sciences, and enhancing the quality of postsecondary instruction to help meet current and future workplace needs. RIIA project: Engaging Prebaccalaureate Students in Educational Agricultural Research. The project will engage undergraduate students in educational agricultural research opportunities. Research faculty at the Agricultural Experiment Station will engage students through mentoring them in educational agricultural research within their programs. One (1) of the challenges faced by institutions operating in insular areas is having sufficient resources for many aspects of everyday life and education. In addition to much needed financial support, this RIIA grant will provide undergraduate students with opportunities to develop their problem solving and decision making capabilities and their level of technical expertise to enhance their overall college experience in leadership and to broaden the scope of their education. Students can use their experience in an Agriculture Extension Station (AES) research program to excel in subsequent academic ventures. A student will also be given an opportunity to participate in a summer internship in 2018 at another Insular Area Institution. The select student will be able to learn and experience tropical agriculture from a different region and share their experience upon return with other undergraduate students. Four students will also be selected to visit a continental US universitys main campus and off campus research stations focusing on tropical agriculture to expose them to other students and research institutions. AGEFEI Project: Rainwater Harvesting, Storage, and Micro-Irrigation for Water Self-Sufficiency. This project will merge existing irrigation infrastructure with rainwater catchment, distribution, and irrigation technologies that provide state-of-the-art solutions to water conservation and agricultural sustainability in the hot, humid tropics. They will construct a farm equipment building for storage and maintenance that will enhance the rainwater catchment capacity of the green water system. The green water system will utilize rainwater catchment, storage, and distribution at the AES field research site that incorporates micro-irrigation technologies. The goal of this proposal is that water use at the AES field research programs (irrigation and livestock consumption) will become self-sufficient from harvested rainwater. AGEFEI Project: A Science Hub Facility for Agriculture and Plant Protection. The project aims to substantially upgrade and modernize the facilities located in a Center for Excellence in Quarantine and Invasive Species, with a view to strongly enhancing the technological aspects of agricultural education and training in the island. The Center for Excellence possesses lab space, greenhouses and a quarantine facility for the study of invasive pests and pathogens, constituting a front line initiative for their control, before they affect the mainland US. The Center is currently host to 12 undergraduate and graduate students, being trained in modern techniques of pest and pathogen detection, monitoring (GIS) and biological and biomolecular characterization, including Next Generation Sequencing (NGS) techniques. The project goals are to: Firstly, to develop networking capability, involving the creation of an improved multimedia classroom in the Library, which will act as hub for live teaching and seminars, teleconferencing, and the creation of online content in both Spanish and English. This will enable groups in diverse parts of the island to easily access and contribute expertise and knowledge. An important function will be to establish connectivity with groups outside the island, in the mainland US, Caribbean region, and rest of the world. Secondly, to implement computational infrastructure that will facilitate high throughput analyses, in particular genomics that may be used as a training tool in undergraduate and graduate research and education. Thirdly, to upgrade existing experimental equipment to the state of the art. This will include digitization and improvement of microscopic equipment, acquisition of high throughput sample processing equipment such as DNA automated extraction for sampling screening and biological process documentation. 2018 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018:The final eight (8) Awards will range from the lowest of $112,300 to the highest of $149,980. AGEFEI Project: Supporting Tropical Agriculture Research by the Acquisition of Cutting-Edge Technology for Phytopathology Laboratories. The goal of this project is to develop two labs into specialized scientific research centers, specifically, a Molecular Plant-Pathology Center and a Cell Biology Imaging Center. These centers will work together to serve as a teaching, research, and training facilities for faculty and students allowing them the experience with hands-on state-of-the-art research instruments to develop research skills and experiences through their research projects. AGEFEI Project: Strengthen Agricultural Sciences Programs by Integrating Precision Agriculture Technologies. This project will support the acquisition and integration of precision agricultural technologies (PAT) into the laboratories of various agricultural sciences courses and by providing student experiential learning activities to develop leadership skills. The acquisition of a new tractor with auto-guidance, variable rate technology, unmanned aerial vehicles, and crop and soil sensing technologies will provide the knowledge and experience necessary to address stakeholder identified needs. Strengthening the scientific instrumentation and equipment available will support existing courses and also provide opportunities to create new courses and new academic programs at the College of Agricultural Sciences. Students will be trained in critical thinking, problem solving and professional communication. The outcomes of the project will ensure a competent and better-qualified workforce to serve the needs of current and future national food and agricultural science. RIIA Project: Integrating Soil Education with Organic Agriculture. This project will bring experiential learning activities to teach undergraduate students, agriculture teachers and extension agents about soils as an integral and active part of an agroecosystem, indispensable for organic agricultural systems and sustained agricultural productivity. The proposed project will design experiential learning activities focused on the soil teaching principles: uniqueness of soil, fieldwork, limited use of jargon, active learning using real problems, connections across concepts, systems thinking, communications, group problem solving, feedback, assessment and understanding of resulting outcomes. The educational modules and activities will be specifically designed for undergraduate students and incorporated as a summer internship. Educational workshops, based on the most important soil related problems in organic agriculture as identified by stakeholders, will be specifically designed for agriculture teachers and extension agents. RIIA Project: Increasing Agricultural Experiential Learning Opportunities The proposed project will focus on increasing agricultural experiential learning opportunities for Pacific Islanders including experiential learning programs with the following aims: (a) improvement of students research skills and (b) increase in students knowledge of agricultural and social environments of other cultures. The proposed project will also provide scholarships for qualified new graduate students to pursue advanced degrees in the newly established MS degree program of Sustainable Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources. RIIA Project: Developing Resident Instruction This project will support goals focused on three educational need areas (1) faculty preparation and enhancement for teaching; (2) student experiential learning; and (3) student recruitment, retention, and educational equity. Students will participate in summer internships with insular area colleges/universities. This project will also support scholarships to provide local and regional summer internships and off-island scholarships for students pursuing Bachelors degrees in food and agricultural related sciences. Furthermore, this project will provide financial support for faculty and staff professional development. These objectives will help increase the number and diversity of students pursuing degrees in food and agricultural sciences, and enhancing the quality of post-secondary instruction to help meet current and future workplace needs. 2019 For FY 2019, it is projected that approximately 10-20 applications will be received, and approximately seven (7) to eight (8) awards will be made. Specific data is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. 10.309 Specialty Crop Research Initiative

(SCRI),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

The Specialty Crop Research Initiative (SCRI) is authorized by Section 7311 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008, which added section 412 to the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA). Section 412 of AREERA establishes a specialty crop research and extension initiative to address the critical needs of the specialty crop industry by developing and disseminating science-based tools to address needs of specific crops and their regions., Public Law 105-185, 7 USC Code 7632.

OBJECTIVES:

The Specialty Crop Research Initiative (SCRI) was established to solve critical industry issues through research and extension activities. SCRI will give priority to projects that are multistate, multi-institutional, or trans-disciplinary; and include explicit mechanisms to communicate results to producers and the public. Projects must address at least one of five focus areas: research in plant breeding, genetics, and genomics to improve crop characteristics; efforts to identify and address threats from pests and diseases, including threats to specialty crop pollinators; efforts to improve production efficiency, productivity, and profitability over the long term; new innovations and technology, including improved mechanization and technologies that delay or inhibit ripening; and methods to prevent, detect, monitor, control, and respond to potential food safety hazards in the production and processing of specialty crops including fresh produce.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grant funds must be used for allowable costs necessary to conduct approved research and extension objectives. Funds shall not be used for the construction of a new building or facility or the acquisition, expansion, remodeling, or alteration of an existing building or facility (including site grading and improvement, and architect fees). Funds may not be used for any purposes other than those approved in the grant award documents.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Small business (less than 500 employees); Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Anyone/general public; Applications may be submitted by Federal agencies, national laboratories, colleges and universities, research institutions and organizations, private organizations or corporations, State agricultural experiment stations, individuals, or groups consisting of two or more of these entities.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Small business; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; Anyone/general public; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Applications may be submitted by Federal agencies, national laboratories, colleges and universities, research institutions and organizations, private organizations or corporations, State agricultural experiment stations, individuals, or groups consisting of two or more of these entities.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Preapplication Coordination:

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program.SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application.Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA).2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, $47,924,066 was available for the Specialty Crop Research Initiative (SCRI) program and $21,653,967 was available for the Emergency Citrus Research and Extension Program (CDRE). Pre-applications were solicited separately for each program and subject to separate stakeholder relevancy reviews. A total of 155 pre-applications were received for SCRI and 42 pre-applications were received for CDRE. Following the relevancy review processes, 83 full applications were solicited for SCRI and 25 for CDRE. Separate scientific merit panels were then convened to evaluate the scientific quality of the applications and to combine that evaluation with the results of the relevancy review. Panelists included faculty from land grant and non-land grant colleges and universities, industry scientists, and practitioners from the food and agricultural industry. NIFA made 12 new SCRI awards (approximately $35 million), which translates into a 14% success rate for full applications. When the pre-application success rate is included, the combined success rate for applicants is 7%. In addition, five (5) SCRI continuation awards were made for approximately $12 million.NIFA made five (5) new CDRE awards (approximately $17 million), which translates into a 20% success rate for full applications. When the pre-application success rate is included, the combined success rate for CDRE applicants was 12%. Fiscal Year 2018: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 award cycle, approximately $48,072,478 was available for the SCRI program and approximately $21,689,759 for CDRE. Pre-applications were solicited separately for each program and subject to separate stakeholder relevancy reviews. A total of 187 pre-applications were received for SCRI and 43 pre-applications were received for CDRE. Following the relevancy review processes, 101 full applications were solicited for SCRI and 25 for CDRE. Separate scientific merit panels were then convened to evaluate the scientific quality of the applications and to combine that evaluation with the results of the relevancy review. Panelists included faculty from land grant and non-land grant colleges and universities, industry scientists, and practitioners from the food and agricultural sciences community. NIFA made 18 new SCRI awards (approximately $31 million), which translates into a 18% success rate for full applications. When the pre-application success rate is included, the combined success rate for applicants is 10%. In addition, five (5) SCRI continuation awards were made for approximately $17 million.For CDRE, the FY 2018 merit review panel has not convened, so information is not yet available for new awards. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date. Fiscal Year 2019: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 award cycle, approximately $51,512,127 is projected to be available for the SCRI program and $23,283,472 for CDRE. Relevancy review of pre-applications will be followed by a scientific merit review of solicited full applications. These sequential review steps are conducted separately for SCRI and CDRE.NIFA anticipates funding one (1) continuation award for SCRI (approximately $2 million).

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 FOR FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:1.Developing sustainable pollination strategies for U.S. specialty crops2.CucCAP: Leveraging applied genomics to increase disease resistance in cucurbit crops3.New detection, research, and extension tools for managing wood-canker diseases of fruit and nut crops4.Building Market Foundations for Sustainable Vegetable Production and Processing: A Consumer and Metrics-Based Approach5.Identification, assessment and delivery of antimicrobial compounds for the management of citrus HLB 2018 FOR FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018:1.Accelerating implementation of HLB tolerant hybrids as new commercial cultivars for fresh and processed citrusSeveral projects are not yet awarded, but the following are anticipated:1.A coordinated agricultural project that will improve the genetics of sweet corn. Sweet corn is the fifth most popular vegetable in the United States and this will help breeders address emerging challenges for the crop.2.A project which will optimize the cost-effectiveness of lighting in greenhouse. Greenhouses have potential to provide optimal conditions, but light typically is less controllable than other conditions and can result in variability in crop yield and quality. This project will address that.3.Whitefly transmitted viruses are a serious threat to vegetable production in the southeast. This project will create a pre-planting risk prediction model of the risk of white fly virus transmission and make it available via smartphone to allow the rapid dissemination of risk prediction. The project will allow an area wide pest management approach to controlling whitefly transmitted viruses in vegetables.4.Lentils are a uniquely suited crop to the northern Great Plains and Pacific Northwest, but root rot is a major threat to the industry. This project aims to build a better lentil through plant breeding and improving management. 2019 FOR FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019:The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is anticipated that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar.Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

(AFRI),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Competitive, Special and Facilities Research Grant Act, Section 2(2)(b), 7 U.S.C. 450i., 7 USC Code 450i.

OBJECTIVES:

To establish a competitive grants program to provide funding for fundamental and applied research, extension, and education to address food and agricultural sciences.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grant funds must be used for allowable costs necessary to conduct approved fundamental and applied research, extension and education objectives to address food and agricultural sciences. The competitive grants program shall address the following areas:A) Plant health and production and plant products; B) Animal health and production and animal products; C) Food safety, nutrition, and health; D) Renewable energy, natural resources, and environment; E) Agriculture systems and technology; and F) Agriculture economics and rural communities.Funds shall not be used for the construction of a new building or facility or the acquisition, expansion, remodeling, or alteration of an existing building or facility (including site grading and improvement, and architect fees). Funds may not be used for any purposes other than those approved in the grant award documents.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Profit organization; Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; This initiative supports integrated and non-integrated programs. Please refer to Part III, A of the current Agriculture and Food Research Initiative (AFRI) Request for Applications for the complete eligibility requirements.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; This initiative supports integrated and non-integrated programs. Please refer to Part III, A of the current Agriculture and Food Research Initiative (AFRI) Request for Applications (RFA) for the complete eligibility requirements.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS)

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application.Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA).2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program.SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 50%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Funds are awarded competitively. No formula grants are awarded under this authority. For equipment grants Unless criteria is met to qualify for waiver by the Secretary, matching shall not exceed 50 percent of the cost of the special research equipment or other equipment acquired using funds from the grant. For applied research if the grant is commodity-specific; and not of national scope, the grant recipient is required to match USDA funds awarded on a dollar-for-dollar basis from non-Federal sources with cash and/or in-kind contributions. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The term of a competitive grant under this program may not exceed ten (10) years. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report.1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs.c.Final Technical ReportThe Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable:Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment.FINANCIAL REPORTING:As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA.Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425:NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov.If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact:Awards Management Division (AMD)Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM)National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA)U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA)STOP 22711400 Independence Avenue, SWWashington, DC 20250-2271Telephone: (202) 401-4986SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-

Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For Fiscal Year 2017 the Appropriations amount for the Agriculture & Food Research Initiative Grants Program (AFRI) was $375,000,000.The amount available for awards was $342,971,061 after legislatively mandated set-asides.Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 ACTIVE Programs: (C) AFRI: Food Safety: In FY 2017, the Antimicrobial Resistance program in the Food Safety Challenge area made awards totaling over $10 million. The program received 47 proposals and funded a total of ten (10) grant projects. Funded projects included nine (9) Standard Integrated and one (1) Standard Strengthening Integrated grants.(D) AFRI: Sustainable Bioenergy:Two (2) continuation awards were made under the Coordinated Agricultural Projects (CAP) program. Eleven (11) awards were made under the Bioenergy Lignin or Nano-cellulosic Co Products from Biomass Feedstocks and six (6) Biomass Feedstock Genetic Development and Evaluation program areas. (F) AFRI: Childhood Obesity Prevention:For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, approximately $8.6 million was available for project grant awards. Sixty-four applications requesting a total of $134,525,404 were received in this years competition. In September 2017, a 15-member peer review panel evaluated these applications. The peer panel includes faculty from 1862 land grant universities, Minority Serving Institutions, private universities, USDA-EPSCoR states, and small and mid-sized universities. Funds were available to support research, education and extension efforts for four (4) standard awards, one (1) conference award and one (1) strengthening awards that addressed the childhood obesity prevention program. The funding ratio for this program for FY 2017 was 7%.(G) AFRI: Foundational Program:For FY 2017 AFRI Foundational Program award cycle, a total budget of $169,000,500 was used to fund the new awards from the applications submitted to 28 individual programs under the AFRI Foundational Program solicitation. A total of 1949 applications were received and 616 awards were made in this years AFRI Foundational Program competition. (I) Joint Plant Feedstock:Within this interagency program NIFA recommended and funded to two (2) awards totaling $2 million ($1 million each). (J) AFRI: Water (for Agriculture):The AFRI Food Security and Water for Agriculture Challenge Areas were consolidated into a new Challenge Area, Water for Food Production Systems (WFPS), which sought approximately $34 million in FY 2017 to support projects that addressed current agricultural challenges to ensure sustainable production of safe and nutritious food. A total of 87 applications were received for a single priority: The WFPS RFA invited applications that employed systems approaches that lead to solutions for water challenges in U.S. agricultural production. These solutions must be feasible and simultaneously take into consideration a broad spectrum of kinds of agricultural producers, other competing industries, consumers and the communities where they live, and other relevant stakeholders. The impacts will be measured as appropriate changes needed by water users, consumers, and policy makers to improve resolution in conflicts over water supplies by reducing water use or increasing water use efficiency for the next several decades or more. NIFAs customers considered the WFPS the fourth year of the Water for Agriculture Program as a broader challenge area to address critical water resources issues such as drought, excess soil moisture, flooding, quality and productivity for food production in an agricultural context. The program focused on developing solutions for water management that linked food, water, climate, energy, and environmental issues. Funding was used to develop management practices, technologies, and tools for farmers, ranchers, forest owners and managers, public decision-makers, public and private managers and citizens to improve food production while remaining true to conserving water resource quantity and quality. NIFAs approach linked social, economic, and behavioral sciences with traditional biophysical sciences and engineering to address local to regional scale issues with shared hydrological and agricultural processes, and meteorological and basin characteristics. WFPS was restricted to Coordinated Agricultural Projects (CAP) awards only (up to $5.2 M per project over 5 years)six CAPs, integrated across research and education or extension and one capacity (FASE) CAP grant integrated across research and extension were awarded to a set of U.S. four-year degree granting universities or colleges with a wide geographic distribution for a total of $34,922,500. Eleven CAP projects were continued from awards in 2014, 2015 and 2016 for a total of $13,333,128. A grand total for FY 2017 funding for Water for Agriculture and Water for Food Production Systems was $47,255,628.(M) Innovation at the Nexus of Food, Energy, and Water Systems (INFEWS):During Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 the program made $5 million in new awards under two (2) areas: (1) Food, Energy, and Water System (FEW) Modeling; and(2) Research to Enable Innovative System Solutions. This program is joint program with the National Science Foundation (NSF). NSF fully funded 16 awards, contributing $36 million in new awards in the above two (2) areas as well as Visualization and Decision Support for Cyber-Human-Physical Systems at the FEW Nexus. All proposals were received by NSF and evaluated by joint panels. The NSF received roughly 375 proposals for the 20 awards funded between NSF and USDA NIFA.(N) AFRI - Education and Workforce Development:Research and Extension Experiential Learning for Undergraduates (REEU) Program: NIFA accepted 75 proposals for review. 18 award recommendations were executed. The success rate for the program was ~24%. Applications addressed the goal of promoting research and extension experiential learning for undergraduates such that upon graduation they may enter the agriculture workforce with exceptional skills. Professional Development Opportunities for Secondary School Teachers and Education Professionals (PD-STEP): NIFA accepted 38 proposals for review. 8 award recommendations were executed. The success rate for the program is ~21%.Predoctoral and Postdoctoral Fellowships: NIFA received 222 proposals. 110 proposals were recommended for funding. Applications addressed the development of new scientists and professionals to enter research, education, and extension fields within the Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Human Sciences, and focused upon at least one of the six Farm Bill priority areas.(O) AFRI - Sustainable Agricultural Systems:Not Applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2017.(P) Comparative and Evolutionary Genomics Research for Accelerated Animal Breeding (Joint NIH Project):Not Applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2017.(Q) Cyber-Physical System Program (Interagency Solicitation):This is a joint program with several agencies where National Science Foundation was the lead agency that received the applications. NIFA encourages projects that advance science and technology applied to Smart & Connected Communities (both rural and urban) and real-time agricultural data analytics and control. All applications for FY 2017 involved real-time agricultural data analytics and control. A total budget of $5,000,000 from NIFA was used to fund seven awards. Awards for FY 2017 were distributed between cropping systems and animal agriculture. (R) National Robotics Initiative:This is a joint program with several agencies where National Science Foundation was the lead agency that received the applications. NIFA encourages robotics research, applications, and education to enhance agricultural production, processing, and distribution systems that benefit consumers and rural communities. A total budget of $2,769,222 was used from NIFA to fund three applications submitted to this program. Awards for FY 2017 were equally distributed between cropping systems, animal agriculture, and aquaculture. (S) Joint NIFA/NSF Plant and Animal Microbiome DCL:The Dear Colleague Letter: NSF-USDA-BBSRC Joint Funding Opportunity was developed.(T) NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program:For FY 2017, the available funding for awards in the NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program was $8,962,504.The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (A) AFRI: Agricultural and Natural Resources Science for Climate Variability and Change;(B) AFRI: Food Security;(E) AFRI: Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources and Human Sciences Education and Literacy Initiative (ELI);NOTE: Formerly known as AFRI Fellowships; and (L) International Wheat Yield Partnership. Fiscal Year 2018: For Fiscal Year 2018 the Appropriations amount for the Agriculture & Food Research Initiative Grants Program (AFRI) was $375,000,000.The amount available for awards was $363,145,135 after legislatively mandated set-asides.Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 ACTIVE Programs: (C) AFRI: Food Safety: In FY 2018, all Challenge Area programs, including Food Safety were subsumed under the new Sustainable Agricultural Systems (SAS) Integrated program. (D) AFRI: Sustainable Bioenergy:Two (2) continuation awards were made under the Coordinated Agricultural Projects (CAP) program.However no new awards will be funded under the Sustainable Bioenergy and Bioproducts (SBEBP) Challenge Area. Potential applicants should view the Agriculture and Food Research Initiative (AFRI) - Sustainable Agricultural Systems Request for Applications (RFA)(F) AFRI: Childhood Obesity Prevention:In Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, NIFA will no longer support new awards.(G) AFRI: Foundational Program:For FY 2018 AFRI Foundational and Applied Science (formerly known as AFRI Foundational Program) award cycle, approximately, $182,000,000 is available to fund new applications submitted to the FY 18 AFRI Foundational and Applied Science Program solicitation. Applications were solicited for 35 individual programs. The Currently, all the programs are either receiving applications or the program staff is screening applications submitted to the programs. Therefore, complete data for the Foundational and Applied Science program is not available at this time.(I) Joint Plant Feedstock:Within this interagency program NIFA recommended and funded two (2) awards totaling $2 million ($1 million each). A total of 35 applications were received for funding between NIFA and DOE.(J) AFRI: Water (for Agriculture):It is anticipated that seven (7) WFPS projects were fully funded in FY 2018. Funding is allocated for the 11 CAP projects funded as continuations into the future totaling $16,082,153. The Fiscal Year 2018 Awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.(M) Innovation at the Nexus of Food, Energy, and Water Systems (INFEWS):USDA NIFA leadership reallocated the $5 million set aside for the FY 2018 INFEWS program to the AFRI Water for Food Production.Program continuation awards to cover a shortfall in the program.USDA NIFA will not fund any new awards in FY 2018. Funding for awards in FY 2018 will be to support continuations awards for the FY 2017 awards. Further, NSF is not funding any new awards in FY 2018.(N) AFRI - Education and Workforce Development:REEU Program: Awards have not been finalized for this program as of yet. 79 proposals have been accepted and 16 award recommendations are anticipated. The projected success rate for the program is ~20%. Professional Development Opportunities for Secondary School Teachers and Education Professionals (PD-STEP): Approximately 48 proposals and 10 award recommendations are anticipated. The projected success rate for the program is ~21%. Predoctoral and Postdoctoral Fellowships: Approximately 250 proposals and 100 award recommendations are anticipated. (O) AFRI - Sustainable Agricultural Systems: This is a new program in FY 2018 and a total budget of $80 million is available to fund the new applications submitted to this program. The Fiscal Year 2018 Awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (P) Comparative and Evolutionary Genomics Research for Accelerated Animal Breeding (Joint NIH Project): Not Applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2018. (Q) Cyber-Physical System Program (Interagency Solicitation): This is a joint program with several agencies where National Science Foundation was the lead agency that received the applications. NIFA encourages projects that advance science and technology applied to Smart & Connected Communities (both rural and urban) and real-time agricultural data analytics and control. It is anticipated that a total budget of $5,000,000 from NIFA will be used to fund approximately seven (7) awards. (R) National Robotics Initiative: This is a joint program with several agencies where National Science Foundation was the lead agency that received the applications. NIFA encourages robotics research, applications, and education to enhance agricultural production, processing, and distribution systems that benefit consumers and rural communities. A total budget of $5,694,935 from NIFA was used to fund ten (10) awards. Awards for FY 2018 were distributed between cropping systems, animal agriculture, forestry, and aquaculture. (S) Joint NIFA/NSF Plant and Animal Microbiome DCL: The Dear Colleague Letter was published on January 5, 2018. https://www.nsf.gov/pubs/2018/nsf18039/nsf18039.jsp?WT.mc_id=USNSF_179 Two-page summaries (134) were received by March 14, 2018, of which 39 were encouraged to submit a full application. A total of 39 applications were received for review by July 16, 2018, and are currently under review. Final award recommendations are anticipated by September 20, 2018. The Program anticipates making 20 awards by December 31, 2018, of which NIFA anticipates funding ten (10) awards with $3 million funding from the FY 2018 AFRI Foundational and Applied Science Program: Plant breeding program for agricultural production program area priority. (T) NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program: We anticipate that the funding available for the NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program in FY 2018 will be $8.1 million. The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (A) AFRI: Agricultural and Natural Resources Science for Climate Variability and Change; (B) AFRI: Food Security; (E) AFRI: Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources and Human Sciences Education and Literacy Initiative (ELI); NOTE: Formerly known as AFRI Fellowships; and (L) International Wheat Yield Partnership. Fiscal Year 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If the Programs are funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. For Fiscal Year 2019 the Appropriations amount projected for the Agriculture & Food Research Initiative Grants Program (AFRI) is $375,000,000. The amount available for awards was $34,935,000 after legislatively mandated set-asides. Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 ACTIVE Programs: (C) AFRI: Food Safety: For FY 2019, it is projected that all Challenge Area programs, including Food Safety will be subsumed under the new Sustainable Agricultural Systems (SAS) Integrated program. (D) AFRI: Sustainable Bioenergy: Information is not yet available. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date. (F) AFRI: Childhood Obesity Prevention: Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: There will be no standalone AFRI Childhood Obesity Prevention RFA in FY 2018 or any years going forward. The priority area will be included in the Sustainable Agriculture Systems RFA. (G) AFRI: Foundational Program: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (I) Joint Plant Feedstock: Information is not yet available. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date. (J) AFRI: Water (for Agriculture): Continuation funding, if available and awarded, will be applied to the final three (3) Water for Agriculture CAPs funded in FY 2016 for a total of $3,288,450. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (M) Innovation at the Nexus of Food, Energy, and Water Systems (INFEWS): USDA NIFA projects that $5 million will be available for support of the continuation portion of the FY 2017 awards. This consistent with the FY 2018 estimated funds needed to cover the awards. NSF projects that approximately $35 million will be available for new awards for this program; and anticipates making approximately 16 new awards. (N) AFRI - Education and Workforce Development: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (O) AFRI - Sustainable Agricultural Systems: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (P) Comparative and Evolutionary Genomics Research for Accelerated Animal Breeding (Joint NIH Project): It is projected that this newly funded Program will make up to two (2) awards; totaling up to $3 million. (Q) Cyber-Physical System Program (Interagency Solicitation): The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (R) National Robotics Initiative: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (S) Joint NIFA/NSF Plant and Animal Microbiome DCL: It is projected that approximately 20 projects will be funded and research will be initiated. (T) NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program: We project that the funding available for the NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program in FY 2019 will be $8 million. The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (A) AFRI: Agricultural and Natural Resources Science for Climate Variability and Change; (B) AFRI: Food Security; (E) AFRI: Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources and Human Sciences Education and Literacy Initiative (ELI); NOTE: Formerly known as AFRI Fellowships; and (L) International Wheat Yield Partnership.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

As an administrator of U.S. government support, NIFA works in partnership with grantees to ensure responsible stewardship of federal funds. behavioral interventions that focus on building parenting skills to support healthy behaviors are often needed for recommendations to be followed but these kinds of interventions have not yet been integrated into pediatric care in the United States.
Embedding these programs within and in coordination with primary health care has the potential to significantly impact the obesity epidemic and improve society, child and adult health, and wide-ranging economic outcomes. We will recruit and enroll 180 families with children ages 2 to 8 years who have elevated risk for obesity due to poor dietary habits and being low-income--both are related to risk for excess weight gain. After assessing the family, 117 will be assigned to a group that will be offered an evidence-based parenting intervention called the Family Check-Up for Health in addition to the health care services through their pediatrician's office. The remaining 63 will continue in pediatric care as usual. (G) AFRI: Foundational Program:The AFRI Foundational Program provides funding for Research, Education and Extension projects in the six AFRI Farm Bill priority areas.The following are selected examples of funded projects: Use of a Bovine Overgrowth Syndrome to Characterize the Molecular Etiology of BWS;Cold Batter Mixing For Low-Sodium And Low-Fat Processed Meats;Understanding the contributions of remotely sensed chlorophyll fluorescence for domestic and international crop monitoring programs;Innovative Manure Management Strategies to Promote Phosphorus Balance and Sustain Agriculture on the Delmarva Peninsula; andThe Right-To-Farm for Small and Medium-Sized Farmers: A National Legal Analysis.(I) Joint Plant Feedstock:In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, two
(2) applications were recommended for funding. Anticipated Project objectives includes:Advancing field pennycress as a new oilseed biofuels feedstock; and Discovery and characterization of dose-dependent disease resistance loci in poplar.(J) AFRI: Water (for Agriculture):Developing Public--Private Partnerships (PPPs) to Target Legacy Phosphorus Fields To Increase Water Quality And Availability:Focuses on the inability to access privately held data needed to identify and target critical source areas of nutrient runoff. To overcome this barrier, the team will address two knowledge gaps: 1) How can public-private partnerships (PPPs) be formed to target best management practices (BMPs) to agricultural fields that disproportionately degrade water quality; and 2) What gains in water quality can be achieved by targeting these fields? These knowledge gaps are important globally, and particularly relevant in the western Lake Erie Basin where more than 5% of cropland has greater than 2.5 times the maximum recommended level of soil phosphorus (P). These legacy P fields can leach nutrients at an elevated rate to downstream ecosystems for decades, and, globally, have been identified as a major contributor to nutrient runoff and impacts such as harmful algal blooms and eutrophication. The team will develop an initial PPP to target BMPs to legacy P fields and support expansion of this approach with: 1) socio-economic analyses for expansion protocols; 2) watershed modeling to project large-scale impacts; and 3) extension programming to build knowledge, assist adoption and support.Technology for Trade: New Tools and New Rules for Water Use Efficiency in Agriculture and Beyond: The team will concentrate on identifying the promising emerging technologies and synergistic institutional innovations (i.e., changes in law, administrative rules, contracts) to improve technical and allocative water use efficiency in irrigated agriculture. Water markets are a focal element of this proposal. They can be a powerful tool for directing water to high-valued uses, but in practice trades are hindered by information problems that make trades time-intensive and expensive to execute, and can preclude some transactions. This project focuses on three (3) technologies that can help address these information-related bottlenecks, especially when paired with complementary institutional innovations. These technologies are: (1) Seasonal forecasting of water availability and crop productivity, which better informs the decision context of potential market participants; (2) Satellite-based automated monitoring of consumptive use, which facilitates the monitoring that is a prerequisite of consumptive-use trades or leasing of partial water rights; and (3) Computer based smart market technology, which can streamline water trading and reduce administrative and transaction costs. SmartPath: Grower-directed Convergence of Nanotechnology and Smart Decision Analytics for Irrigation Water Quality Management Related to Pathogens: The team will seek to solve agricultural water shortage problems that arise from unsustainable freshwater usage. Their project focuses on reducing overall freshwater use by developing new smart irrigation systems emphasizing the quality of alternative water sources with potential pathogen contamination (SmartPath). The team will develop innovative software and hardware solutions for on-farm water management, enabling small farmers that do not have access to a nearby analytical lab service to meet the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) requirements for testing water quality within eight hours of sampling. Treatment systems will be coupled with sensing systems for measuring physical, chemical and biological constituents including: temperature, pH, salinity (ions), dissolved oxygen, nitrate and phosphate, and fecal bacteria, and integrated into a wireless decision support system. Economic feasibility will be evaluated across spatial scales (from individual farms to regions) for growers in four key regions of the US with varying drought conditions (Florida, Texas, Iowa and Maryland) and three types of alternative water sources, treated domestic wastewater, brackish groundwater and surface water that does not meet regulatory requirements. Cover Crops: The Cornerstone of Water Management in the Face of Increasing Demand: The team will elucidate the technology adoption potential of conservation tillage (CT) in combination with cover crops (CC), both playing an important role in preserving long-term water and food security. The team will develop a network of early CC and CT adopters to address gaps between perception and reality of how these tools influence water dynamics. PDs will measure the CC impacts on soil water for multiple farms in the mid-Atlantic and Southeast to support modeling efforts that are translated to assist in decisions made by producers, stakeholders and policy educators. The team will: 1) Quantify how on-farm management influences CC biomass quantity/quality and subsequent effects on water dynamics across the Mid-Atlantic and Southeast US; 2) Model soil water and CC decomposition to determine water availability to sustain the cash crop and how much water is draining out of the profile; 3) Quantify and simulate how soil and CC management under current and future climates influence corn and soybean yield (potential, stability and economics) in the mid-Atlantic and Southeast; 4) Develop an outreach program, informed by our early adopter network of farmers, that identifies and overcomes misconceptions about the cost and value of CCs; and 5) Provide science-based data supporting integration of CCs into federal crop insurance programs and increased farmer adoption of advanced risk management tools. Use of Domestic Wastewater for Food Production: The team will couple the nutrient and water resources in domestic wastewater to urban controlled environment agriculture systems (DWW-CEAs). PDs will: 1) Confirm that produce growth rates and quality don't diminish compared to control experiments where synthetic hydroponic fertilizers are used; 2) Confirm that chemical contaminants don't accumulate in the produce; 3) Confirm that the produce is pathogen free; 4) Reduce DWW treatment costs by using the latest in energy-positive treatment technology; 5) Developing a sustainable Food, Energy and Water system using modelling approaches to minimize investments in DWW-CEA systems while maximizing the utility of the systems; 6) Providing an education in Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Mathematics in high-tech wastewater treatment and CEA technologies; 7) develop a veteran workforce to help operate DWW-CEAs; and 8) Guide local policy to provide sustainable and long-lasting solutions to conserve nutrient and water resources. To accomplish the project goal/objectives, a pilot-scale hydroponic system will be constructed and operated using DWW mined from the sewer system in Georgia. The DWW will be treated to remove contaminants and pathogens before being used to irrigate hydroponic systems to assure food and farm worker safety. Multiple fruit and vegetable varieties will be grown year-round. Water quality and chemical and microorganism contamination will be measured continuously. (M) Innovation at the Nexus of Food, Energy, and Water Systems (INFEWS): NIFA funded four (4) awards for this program. NIFA funded $1.2 million to a university to research reducing resource use at the seafood-energy-water Nexus focusing on reducing waste and water in aquaculture and energy production. A $1.25 million Food and Agricultural Science Enhancement (FASE) award to a university will support a project conducting research to sustain California's food production through integrated water and energy management. A university received $1.25 million to develop process-based model that support sustainable irrigation across the United States. A university received $1.24 million to develop new photovoltaic chemistry for greenhouse that would collect the wavelengths of light not need for plant production for solar which would heat the greenhouse and recycle water in a closed loop, self-sustaining system. (N) AFRI - Education and Workforce Development: REEU: Projects were funded that promote research and extension learning experiences for undergraduates such that upon graduation they may enter the agricultural workforce with exceptional skills. Successful proposals enhanced the capacity of institutions to produce graduates with skills needed to address challenges of the 21st Century in the Food, Agricultural, Natural Resources, and Human (FANH) sciences. PD-STEP: Projects were funded that increase the number of K-14 teachers and educational professionals trained in the FANH sciences. Successful proposals developed pathways to identify and replicate best practices to engage youth in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) fields within the FANH sciences. Predoctoral and Postdoctoral Fellowships: Projects were funded that will develop the next generation of leaders who will be actively engaged in agriculture, forestry, and food related research, education, and extension careers. Successful proposals focused on developing the next generation of scientists who will lead agriculture into the future by solving current and future challenges facing our society. The awarded projects also targeted talented, highly-motivated doctoral candidates and postdoctoral trainees that demonstrate remarkable promise and demonstrated the ability to increase the number of gifted agricultural professionals in the United States. (O) AFRI - Sustainable Agricultural Systems: Not applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2017. (P) Comparative and Evolutionary Genomics Research for Accelerated Animal Breeding (Joint NIH Project): Not applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2017. (Q) Cyber-Physical System Program (Interagency Solicitation): Selected Examples of Funded Projects: 1) CPS: Medium: Multimodal Sensing for Early Detection and Real-Time Correction of Water Stress and Nutritional Needs in Plants; 2) CPS: Medium: Collaborative Research: Closed Loop Sustainable Precision Animal Agriculture; 3) CPS: Medium: Robust Deep Learning and Decision making for Mechanical Weeding Agbots; 4) CPS: Medium: Multi-Scale Planning in Robot Teams for Persistent Monitoring and Intervention in Precision Grazing; and 5) CPS: Medium: SMART IRRIGATION - Big Data approach for accurate water stress detection and precision irrigation in fruit crops. (R) National Robotics Initiative: Examples of the funded projects: NRI: FDN: Machine Vision Robotic Systems for Automated Disassembling Crab Complex Compartments and Extracting Meats Extent Able To Large Scale Food And Post-Harvest Processing; NRI: INT: Autonomous Unmanned Aerial Robots for Livestock Health Monitoring; and NRI: INT: Multi-Robot Farming on Marginal, Highly, Sloped Lands. (S) Joint NIFA/NSF Plant and Animal Microbiome DCL: Not applicable. This Program was not yet funded in FY 2017. (T) NSF-NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program: The NSF/NIFA Plant Biotic Interactions Program supports research on processes that mediate beneficial and antagonistic interactions between plants and their viral, bacterial, oomycete, fungal, parasitic plant and invertebrate symbionts, pathogens and pests. It supports research along the entire range from basic to translational/applied. The following projects have start dates of September 1, 2018: Basis of Xanthomonas Tissue-Specific Behavior During Plant Pathogenesis; Integrative Approaches to Understanding How Insect Vectors and Plant Viruses Interact and Manipulate Their Plant Hosts; Cotton Resistance and Susceptibility to Bacterial Blight; CRISPR-editing of Sweet Basil Susceptibility Genes to Improve Downy Mildew Resistance; and Genomic Mechanisms of Pathogenic Adaptation in Phytophthora sojae. The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (A) AFRI: Agricultural and Natural Resources Science for Climate Variability and Change; (B) AFRI: Food Security; (E) AFRI: Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources and Human Sciences Education and Literacy Initiative (ELI); NOTE: Formerly known as AFRI Fellowships; and (L) International Wheat Yield Partnership. 2018 Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 ACTIVE Programs: (C) AFRI: Food Safety: In FY 2018, all Challenge Area programs, including Food Safety were subsumed under the new Sustainable Agricultural Systems (SAS) Integrated program. (D) AFRI: Sustainable Bioenergy: Two (2) continuation awards were made under the Coordinated Agricultural Projects (CAP) program, however no new awards will be funded

10.311 Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program

(BFRDP).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 7405 of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002, [7 U.S.C. 3319f], Public Law 107-171, 7 USC Code 3319f.

OBJECTIVES:

To support the nations beginning farmers and ranchers by making competitive grants to new and established local and regional training, education, outreach, and technical assistance initiatives that address the needs of beginning farmers and ranchers.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Competitive grants are made to support:(A) mentoring, apprenticeships, and internships;(B) resources and referral;(C) assisting beginning farmers or ranchers in acquiring land from retiring farmers and ranchers;(D) innovative farm and ranch transfer strategies;(E) entrepreneurship and business training;(F) model land leasing contracts;(G) financial management training;(H) whole farm planning;(I) conservation assistance;(J) risk management education;(K) diversification and marketing strategies;(L) curriculum development;(M) understanding the impact of concentration and globalization;(N) basic livestock and crop farming practices;(O) the acquisition and management of agricultural credit;(P) environmental compliance;(Q) information processing; and(R) other similar subject areas of use to beginning farmers or ranchers.In addition, cooperative agreements may be awarded to establish Education Teams:(1) In General: In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall establish beginning farmer and rancher education teams to develop curricula and conduct educational programs and workshops for beginning farmers or ranchers in diverse geographical areas of the United States.(2) Curriculum:In promoting the development of curricula, the Secretary shall, to the maximum extent practicable, include modules tailored to specific audiences of beginning farmers or ranchers, based on crop or regional diversity.(3) Composition: In establishing an education team for a specific program or workshop, the Secretary shall, to the maximum extent practicable: (A) obtain the short-term services of specialists with knowledge and expertise in programs serving beginning farmers or ranchers; and(B) use officers and employees of the Department with direct experience in programs of the Department that may be taught as part of the curriculum for the program or workshop.(4) Cooperation: (A) In General:In carrying out this subsection, the Secretary shall cooperate, to the maximum extent practicable, with: (i) State cooperative extension services;(ii) Federal and State agencies;(iii) community-based and nongovernmental organizations;(iv) colleges and universities (including an institution awarding an associates degree) or foundations maintained by a college or university; and(v) other appropriate partners, as determined by the Secretary.(B) Cooperative Agreement:Notwithstanding chapter 63 of title 31, United States Code, the Secretary may enter into a cooperative agreement to reflect the terms of any cooperation under subparagraph (A).An award also may be made to establish a Curriculum and Training Clearinghouse. The Secretary shall establish an online clearinghouse that makes available to beginning farmers or ranchers education curricula and training materials and programs, which may include online courses for direct use by beginning farmers or ranchers.Set-Aside:Not less than 25 percent of funds used to carry out this subsection for a fiscal year shall be used to support programs and services that address the needs of:(A) limited resource beginning farmers or ranchers (as defined by the Secretary);(B) socially disadvantaged beginning farmers or ranchers (as defined in section 355(e) of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 2003(e)); and(C) farmworkers desiring to become farmers or ranchers.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Sponsored organization; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; The recipient must be a collaborative, State, tribal, local, or regionally-based network or partnership of public or private entities, which may include: state cooperative extension service; community-based and nongovernmental organization; college or university (including institutions awarding associate degrees); or any other appropriate partner. Others may be eligible to apply. Please refer to Part III of the current BFRDP Request for Applications for complete eligibility requirements.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Local; Sponsored organization; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; The recipient must be a collaborative, State, tribal, local, or regionally-based network or partnership of public or private entities, which may include: state cooperative extension service; community-based and nongovernmental organization; college or university (including institutions awarding associate degrees); or any other appropriate partner. Others may be eligible to apply. Please refer to Part III of the current BFRDP Request for Applications for complete eligibility requirements.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant.Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/beginning-farmer-and-rancher-development-program-bfrdp> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Approximately 35 projects were funded in Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 with a 24% success rate for a total of $17,777,572 after legislatively mandated set-asides. Funds were utilized to address unique training, education, outreach and technical assistance needs of beginning farmers and ranchers, such as land acquisition, business and financial management, farming and ranching practices, natural resource conservation, risk management, legal strategies, marketing strategies, and more. Funds were also utilized for educational team efforts to train the trainers and help enhance other beginning farmer and rancher education programs in the nation. Fiscal Year 2018: Approximately 35 projects will be awarded in Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 with a 21% success rate for an estimated total of $17,758,724. Funds for this Program were authorized in the 2014 Farm Bill. The projects funded will work towards increasing the number, success and sustainability of beginning farmers and ranchers in the United States by providing them with the knowledge, skills, and tools needed to make informed decisions. Anticipated accomplishments would include growing new farmers, The topics addressed by Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program (BFRDP) projects are diverse, driven by the needs of the audiences they serve. Most projects provide education, mentoring, and technical assistance on a variety of topics spanning production, marketing, business management, and legal and human resource issues. Fiscal Year 2019: Unless we have an authorized 2019 Farm Bill, there will be a lapse in BFRDP grant funding in FY-2019 due to the fact that BFRDP operates on mandatory funding. In accordance with projections from the Budget Office, NIFA anticipates that approximately $19 million will be available for BFRDP grants.Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:The BFRDP program encourages projects that address a range of topics rather than a narrow focus, by stating Most successful standard grant applicants provide training and assistance with business and financial management, as well as production and marketing topics aligned with the BFRDP priorities. Five (5) exemplary projects funded are as follows: (1)A project located in the Western region is working with 20% of participants without farm experiences and they are being converted to real farmers; 50% of the farmers will be developed into beginning farmers who understand commercial farming; 25% of farmers would start product and enterprise diversification.(2)A project in the Southern region provided 6 beginning farmers with stipends and is ensuring that these farmers gain knowledge and skills to enhance their farm operations and networking opportunity; 50% of the 369 farmers being trained will be assisted to start farming; 35% of the beginning farmers will implement a business plan; 46% of the military personnel on the project would complete business and strategic planning; in farm safety, 57% of the 369 participants to date have made positive changes in work behavior.(3)A project working with Heir property and assisting forest landowners to start farming will assist 100 minority farmers to start farming; 20% will improve farm successes; 30% will be assisted with project plans to increase the ability of socially disadvantaged and limited resource farmers to operate their farms and forestry enterprises; project will increase farmers capacity to access farming and forestry related program needs. (4)This project works with socially disadvantaged and military farm veterans; 50% of the 150 farmers being trained would increase farm yields by at least 30%; 10% of the beginning farmers being trained are projected to start farming upon project completion; 75% of the farmers being trained would have increased their knowledge to acquire and retain ownership of farmland; 20% of the beginning farmers would acquire farmland; 33% of the farmers will keep business records; 65% of the farmers will gain farm business knowledge; 60% of the farmers will gain production techniques.(5)One (1) veteran program plans to train 50% of the 51 military veterans to operate businesses throughout the project period; Project plans to support new farm businesses through wholesale market contracts; 100% of participants would receive farm businesses and finance training ; graduating farmers will be guaranteed a source of income. 2018 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018:Projects scheduled to be funded in FY 2018 will address the concerns of socially disadvantaged, veteran farmers, new and beginning farmers, refugees, immigrants, urban farmers, women farmers and small farmers.Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

2019 FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019:It is projected that projects funded in FY 2019 will be similar to prior years projects if there is a 2019 Farm Bill. With Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program being a mandatory program, without a 2019 Farm Bill, there will be no projects funded in 2019.Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1.) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program.

10.313 Veterinary Medicine Loan Repayment Program

(VLMRP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NAREPTA), Section 1415A [7 U.S.C. 3151a], Public Law 95-113, 7 USC Code 3151a.

OBJECTIVES:

The program responds to the current shortage of large animal veterinarians in rural areas by encouraging veterinarians, through loan repayment, to provide veterinary service in designated shortage areas. To carry out a program of entering into agreements with veterinarians under which the Secretary shall pay specified amounts of the principal and interest of qualifying educational loans of the veterinarians.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

(1) SERVICE IN SHORTAGE SITUATIONS. The Secretary shall carry out a program of entering into agreements with veterinarians under which the veterinarians agree to provide, for a period of time as determined by the Secretary and specified in the agreement, veterinary services in veterinarian shortage situations. For each year of such service under an agreement under this paragraph, the Secretary shall pay an amount, as determined by the Secretary and specified in the agreement, of the principal and interest of qualifying educational loans of the veterinarians. (2) SERVICE TO FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IN EMERGENCY SITUATIONS. (A) IN GENERAL. The Secretary may enter into agreements of 1 year duration with veterinarians who have agreements pursuant to paragraph (1) for such veterinarians to provide services to the Federal Government in emergency situations, as determined by the Secretary, under terms and conditions specified in the agreement. Pursuant to an agreement under this paragraph, the Secretary shall pay an amount, in addition to the amount paid pursuant to the agreement in paragraph (1), as determined by the Secretary and specified in the agreement, of the principal and interest of qualifying educational loans of the veterinarians. (B) REQUIREMENTS. Agreements entered into under this paragraph shall include the following: (i) A veterinarian shall not be required to serve more than 60 working days per year of the agreement. (ii) A veterinarian who provides service pursuant to the agreement shall receive a salary commensurate with the duties and shall be reimbursed for travel and per diem expenses as appropriate for the duration of the service. None of the funds appropriated to the Secretary under subsection (f) may be used to carry out section 5379 of title 5, United States Code.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; The Secretary may enter into agreements with veterinarians under which the veterinarians agree to provide, for a period of time as determined by the Secretary and specified in the agreement, veterinary services in veterinarian shortage situations.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; The Secretary may enter into agreements with veterinarians under which the veterinarians agree to provide, for a period of time as determined by the Secretary and specified in the agreement, veterinary services in veterinarian shortage situations.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants must furnish the information required in the request for applications (RFAs), which include: (1) a Loan Information Form for each loan to be considered for repayment; (2) an Intent of Employment form providing assurance that the applicant will be engaged in employment at a NIFA-designated veterinary shortage area for not less than three years from the anticipated effective date of the VMLRP contract between the individual and NIFA; and (3) a signed VMLRP Contract by which the applicant agrees to serve the obligated minimum period of three years providing veterinary service in a designated veterinary shortage area. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applications should be submitted as outlined in the RFA. Applications must follow the instructions provided per the VMLRP website at www.nifa.usda.gov/vmlrp. Qualified individuals interested in participating in the VMLRP should visit the VMLRP website for all application forms and requirements. The application will be evaluated by a peer review panel, convened for this purpose by the NIFA. In selecting applicants for participation in the VMLRP, the panel will consider eligibility status, quality of the applicant, and the applicants career plan focus. All selections are subject to final approval by the VMLRP manager. The NIFA will notify the State Animal Health Official and the applicant of the outcome of the review. Several Federal statutes and regulations apply to VMLRP applications considered for review and to service agreements awarded under this program. Please refer to Section # 140 for specific details.

Award Procedure:

Once the applicant is selected to participate in the VMLRP, the applicant and the NIFA Director (or Secretary of Agriculture) will sign a written binding contract stating the terms and conditions for participating in the VMLRP. The effective date of the contract will be the date it is signed by the NIFA Director, or the date employment/service begins at an NIFA-designated veterinary shortage area, whichever is later.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Dates for specific deadlines are announced in the RFAs or guidelines for each fiscal year.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. A VMLRP participant completing the initial 3-year period of qualified veterinary service has an option to extend the obligatory period of service on an annual basis.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The VMLRP will pay equal quarterly payments to the lenders. Each payment will be made shortly after the end of each full quarter of satisfactory service. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: quarterly

Reports:

1) Quarterly Report: VMLRP recipients will be required to verify that the terms of the VMLRP contract are being met on a quarterly basis. Subsequent quarterly loan repayments will not be disbursed until this verification is provided. This report will be due ten business days after the end of each 3 month interval during the VMLRP contract for the previous 3 month period and must include the following information: (a) A listing of states, counties, and/or insular areas served (b) A listing of veterinary services and activities provided in the shortage situation (c) Percentage time (on a 40-hour week basis) providing service to veterinary shortage situation identified in the agreement. Program participants are responsible for notifying NIFA of any changes in the service being provided in the specified shortage situation during the 3-year period. It is strongly recommended that program participants advise NIFA of these changes at least 2 months in advance to allow sufficient processing time. Failure to provide the updated information may result in the termination of the VMLRP contract and the program participant may be subject to penalties as outlined in Section C, Paragraph 3 of the contract. SPECIAL NOTES: See below for information regarding submission of the Termination Report. Please refer to 7 CFR Part 3431 and annual RFA for further details. See above for information regarding submission of Quarterly Reports. See below for information regarding submission of the Termination Report. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to 7 CFR Part 3431 and annual RFA for further details. 2) Termination Report: At the end of the term of the agreement, the recipient and his/her supervisor will each prepare and submit to NIFA a Termination Report that addresses the following, as well as any other information the participants wish to share with NIFAs VMLRP leadership: a. A summary of the services provided toward mitigation of the original veterinary shortage situation, as well as other veterinary services provided to the local community, institution, or other employing entity, b. An assessment of the current state of veterinary services in the recipients service area and adjacent service areas, or specialty area, with emphasis on identification of ongoing shortage situations, c. An assessment of future veterinary service needs and trends in the recipients service (or specialty area) and, to the extent such information may be known, adjacent service areas, with emphasis on identification of ongoing shortage situations, either geographic or disciplinary, d. An appraisal of the overall effectiveness of the VMLRP in addressing the specific veterinary shortage situation served by the awardee, including the role of the mentor (where applicable). The Termination Report must be submitted by email attachment to vmlrp@nifa.usda.gov, preferably as an MS Word or WordPerfect document. The subject line and the first line of the body of the email should include, in the following order: Termination Report: <Last name of recipient>, <award number>, <shortage situation code>. SPECIAL NOTES: See above for specific details regarding submission of the Quarterly Reports. Please refer to 7 CFR Part 3431 and annual RFA for further details.

Audits:

This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements. Please refer to 7 CFR Part 3431 for guidance.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017: The Veterinary Medicine Loan Repayment Program (VMLRP) received and reviewed 167 completed applications. Although 59 offers of awards were made, only 56 were accepted and executed. Per the Budget Office, veterinarians will receive loan repayment awards totaling approximately $5,850,000 in exchange for their commitment to provide professional food supply or public health-related veterinary services in designated US food supply veterinary shortage situations for three (3) years. Fiscal Year 2018: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018: The Veterinary Medicine Loan Repayment Program (VMLRP) received 154 applications for review. It is anticipated that in 2018, 65-70 veterinarians will receive loan repayment awards totaling approximately $7,200,000 in exchange for their commitment to provide professional food supply or public health-related veterinary services in designated US food supply veterinary shortage situations for three (3) years. Fiscal Year 2019: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. NIFA projects receiving and reviewing approximately 180 applications and that of these, 55 to 60 veterinarians will receive loan repayment awards in exchange for their commitment to provide professional food supply or public health-related veterinary services in designated US food supply veterinary shortage situations for three (3) years.

Additional guidelines are described in the RFAs.

10.318 Women and Minorities in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics Fields

WAMS; Women and Minorities in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics Fields (STEM) program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 7204 of the Food Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) (Public Law 110-246) amends section 1672 of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 (FACT) (7 U.S.C. 5925) to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to make competitive grants to support research and extension activities. The Secretary shall make these grants in consultation with the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education, and Economics Advisory Board.

OBJECTIVES:

The Women and Minorities (WAMS) in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) Fields program was authorized to increase participation by women and underrepresented minorities from rural areas in the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics, with priority given to eligible institutions that carry out continuing programs funded by the Secretary. The goal of the WAMS program is to develop and implement robust partnerships to increase the representation, participation, and entrepreneurship of women in STEM careers, thereby contributing to national economic prosperity. The purpose of the grant program is to support projects that: Provide STEM knowledge, skills and competency to Women and Minorities from Rural Areas with successful placement (a) in the workforce in STEM fields, or (b) as innovators and entrepreneurs adding value to the STEM fields in areas that have relevancy to the USDA Secretarys priorities.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grant funds must be used for allowable costs necessary to conduct approved fundamental and applied research and extension grants to increase participation by women and underrepresented minorities from rural areas in the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics, with priority given to eligible institutions that carry out continuing programs funded by the Secretary.

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/women-and-minorities-science-technology-engineering-and-mathematics-fields> RFAs are generally released annually. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Requirements: Percent: 100%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Grant recipients are required to match the USDA funds awarded on dollar-for-dollar basis from non-Federal sources with cash and in-kind contributions. NIFA may waive the matching funds requirement for a grant if NIFA determines that: (a) the results of the project, while of particular benefit to a specific agricultural commodity, are likely to be applicable to agricultural commodities generally; or (b) the project involves a minor commodity, the project deals with scientifically important research, and the grant recipient is unable to satisfy the matching funds requirement. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

In accordance with statutory time limits, project periods, including no-cost extensions of time, are not to exceed five (5) years. Further details are provided in the Award document Form NIFA-2009 and the NIFA General Terms and Conditions Grants and Cooperative Agreements (dated October 2016) at: <https://nifa.usda.gov/resource/nifa-general-terms-and-conditions-grants-and-cooperative-agreements-october-2016>. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database--Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEportNational Institute of Food and AgricultureU.S. Department of AgricultureSTOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213Telephone: (202) 690-0009E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 2271 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-2271 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES:

(1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. RFAs are generally released annually and provide the most current and accurate information available. EXPENDITURE REPORTS: See above for pertinent and specific details.

PERFORMANCE MONITORING: See above for pertinent and specific details.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, approximately $379,000 was funded through four (4) projects. 35 projects were accepted for review. The funding rate was 11%. Fiscal Year 2018: In the Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 award cycle, approximately $363,000 was recommended for funding four (4) projects. 56 projects were accepted for review. The funding rate is 7%. Fiscal Year 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: CULTIVATING ACCESS: AGRICULTURE CAREER COMMUNITIES TO EMPOWER STUDENTS IN STEM The goal of this project is to increase participation by women and minorities from rural areas in STEM-related agricultural careers by fostering mentoring relationships between high-school students, college students, and industry professionals throughout the agricultural production-to processing pipeline. This program includes research guided mentor training of industry professionals and college student ambassadors, an online ACCESS Portal containing educational and career development resources for youth and parents, and the implementation of scaffolded mentoring curriculum designed to foster understanding of STEM careers in agriculture and enhance employability skills such as leadership, teamwork and communication. This project intends to impact 90 students (60 high school and 30 undergraduates) and 15 faculty during the grant period. PROMOTING STEM EDUCATIONAL EQUITY (STEM-EE) FOR RURAL MINORITY YOUTH THROUGH EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING AND MENTORING OPPORTUNITIES This 4-H extension and research project has objectives of promoting life skills, higher learning, STEM career exploration and commitment. This will be accomplished through volunteer-mentor delivered STEM-based experiential educational activities with recruited rural minority youth in non-formal community settings. The next level of intervention involves youth attending a state level Summit to work with faculty mentors on a capstone project to be presented in their communities and statewide. The research portion of the project compares STEM-EE recipients with matched rural, minority recipients of STEM educational activities restricted to local level (control comparison group). EMPOWERING WOMEN IN AGRICULTURE This project from Montana State propose the following activities: 1) Survey study on women in Montanas agriculture; 2) Two-credit online summer course for students of 2-year tribal and community colleges focused on the contributions of women in agriculture in five different workforce pathways research, Extension, marketing, farming, and administration and conditions for career success; 3) Student internship program; 4) Annual summit on women in agriculture; and 5) Video-clip repository on the life-journey of women in Montanas agriculture. The expected project outcomes include: 1) Findings about the needs, aspirations, and achievements of women in Montanas agriculture; 2) Increase student understanding of the role of women in agriculture and paths for career success; 3) Student real-life work experiences; and 4) Increase public understanding of the roles, contributions, and life-journey of woman to the Northern Rockies agriculture. The project intends to directly impact 45 students and 13 faculty during the grant period. INCREASING AWARENESS AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR WOMEN AND MINORITY STUDENTS IN SUSTAINABLE BIOMATERIALS EDUCATION The purpose of this project is to increase awareness and preparation of women and minority students for careers in the field of renewable energy and biobased products. Objectives are to (1) create informative recruiting materials that attract women and minority students to biomaterials undergraduate programs and 2) develop and test SBIOCAMP, a model for a week long summer camp for women and minority high school students that highlights the new discipline of biomaterials science. Plans to accomplish these goals include creation of videos, brochures, and webpages that raise interest and describe the career prospects in the new bioeconomy sector and development of a new summer camp model that provides opportunities to practice critical thinking and leadership skills in a nonjudgmental setting, solve real world case studies using research and analysis, tour local biomaterials businesses and recycling center, and be immersed in Virginia Techs campus culture. Women and minority students will be recruited for the camp from rural areas of Virginia with particular emphasis on first generation students and students from the coal mining and underserved population regions. This project intends to directly impact 2 faulty, 20 undergraduate students and 20 high school students during the grant period. They aim to impact an additional 68 faculty and 400 high school students per year indirectly as the summer camp is replicated at universities throughout the country with natural resources programs. 2018 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: SOUTHERN UTAH UNIVERSITY PRE-FRESHMAN ENGINEERING PROGRAM (PREP), A PROGRAM DESIGNED TO HELP BUILD STEM PROFICIENCY, AMONG UNDERREPRESENTED POPULATIONS AND WILL ADDRESS APPLIED MATH PROFICIENCY. In Utah several barriers prevent students from obtaining post-secondary STEM degrees. We seek to remedy this through implementation of our program, SUU PREP. We will identify southern Utah students, entering seventh grade, who have already expressed an interest in and aptitude for STEM fields, but who come from underrepresented groups, including: girls, children of color, students of low socioeconomic status, students from an agricultural heritage, and first generation college students. SUU PREP will involve these students in a three-year intensive academic summer program integrating STEM disciplines with a focus on mathematics. SUU PREP will incorporate best practices that have been demonstrated to support success for underrepresented students in STEM pathways, as well as a tested curriculum developed over several decades. Our goal is to increase the number of students, from underrepresented groups, pursuing post-secondary STEM education. Short-term objectives include: improved attitude toward STEM, increased mathematics aptitude, increased critical thinking aptitude, and increased aptitude in all SUU PREP courses. Impact: 90 students, 1 faculty, ~30 curricular products developed. ENGAGING WOMEN AND MINORITIES IN AGRICULTURE-RELATED STEM DISCIPLINES THROUGH MENTORING, LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT, AND EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING We propose to engage and equip female and minority high school students in agriculture-related research and leadership training under the guidance and mentoring of successful women and minority faculty working in FANH STEM disciplines. Technical knowledge gained through problem-based, learning experiences will be coupled with development of professional soft skills (e.g., problem solving, team work, and communication). Career awareness, professional development, and leadership skills will be enhanced through participation in professional development training, networking opportunities, hands-on research experiences, and research symposia. Agriculture is the top industry in this rural state. Developing the professional capacity of women and minorities in agricultural-related STEM disciplines will promote sustainable agriculture systems and resilient rural communities as well as support a workforce representative of the regions constituency. This proposal addresses USDA Strategic Goals to assist rural communities (Goal #1), conserve natural resources (Goal #2), and promote agricultural production (Goal 3). Direct impact: 170 students, 20 faculty, 32 curricular products developed. PATHWAYS TO SUSTAINABLE MATERIALS SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING: SUPPORTING RURAL WOMEN FROM COLLEGE TO CAREER NC SU's Department of Forest Biomaterials has successfully instituted a STEM-based Sustainable Materials and Technology undergraduate program. Program faculty proposes to extend this success to K-14 students to prepare future workforce in the holistic discipline of sustainability. The grant will focus on minority women attending community colleges since historically they have been under-represented in the forest biomaterials field. The goal is to expand their opportunities for professional careers and educational equity in sustainable materials science and engineering. This will be accomplished by providing a multi-tiered support system at every phase of the students postsecondary academic career --- specifically through community support, academic mentorship, experiential learning, community research projects, professional development, and university scholarship/admission guidance. The project will enhance participants scientific and professional competencies, leadership and communication skills, professionalism, critical and problem-solving skills, and team-building ability. The project is based on accountability; project-component outcomes will be assessed using proven methodologies. Impact: 46 students, 1 faculty, 20 curricular products developed. ALASKA NATIVE YOUTH INVESTIGATE FOOD SYSTEMS AND EXPLORE CAREER PATHS IN FOOD AND AGRICULTURE This project seeks to bridge gaps in STEM educational opportunities for Alaska Native students in remote villages, while edging them towards health, food security, and food policy engagement. We would develop an intensive, two week module for Alaska Native students who would delve into agriculture, food and nutrition science through active learning and student-driven research. The long-term goal of this project is that Interior Alaska Native high school students are inspired and empowered to pursue a STEM career, whether in agriculture, nutrition, or another science; they have a deep understanding and curiosity about food in Alaska how our food is produced, why we eat what we eat, and the health implications for what we eat; and they gain the power and knowledge to affect food policy that influences their lives and that of their families and communities. Impact: ~10 students, 100 community members, 1 circular product developed. 2019 For Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: Project data is not yet available Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.319 Farm Business Management and Benchmarking Competitive Grants Program

(FBMB).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1672D of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 (7

U.S.C. 5925f), 7 USC Code 5925f.

OBJECTIVES:

To establish a competitive research and extension grants program for the purpose of: (1) improving the farm management knowledge and skills of agricultural producers; and (2) establishing and maintaining a national, publicly available farm financial management database to support improved farm management.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

In general: The Secretary may make competitive research and extension grants for the purpose of: (1) improving the farm management knowledge and skills of agricultural producers; and (2) establishing and maintaining a national, publicly available farm financial management database to support improved farm management. Selection criteria: In allocating funds made available to carry out this section, the Secretary may give priority to grants that: (1) demonstrate an ability to work directly with agricultural producers; (2) collaborate with farm management and producer associations; (3) address the farm management needs of a variety of crops and regions of the United States; and (4) use and support the national farm financial management database. Administration: Paragraphs (4), (7), (8), and (11)(B) of subsection (b) of section 450i of this title shall apply with respect to the making of grants under this section. Authorization of appropriations: There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this section.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Applications may be submitted by qualified public and private entities. Pursuant to 7 U.S.C. 450i(7), this includes: (A) State agricultural experiment stations; (B) colleges and universities; (C) university research foundations; (D) other research institutions and organizations; (E) Federal agencies; (F) national laboratories; (G) private organizations or corporations; (H) individuals; or (I) any group consisting of 2 or more of the entities described in subparagraphs (A) through (H). Award recipients may subcontract to organizations not eligible to apply provided such organizations are necessary for the conduct of the project. An applicants failure to meet an eligibility criterion by the time of an application deadline may result in the application being excluded from consideration or, even though an application may be reviewed, will preclude NIFA from making an award.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Applications may be submitted by qualified public and private entities. Pursuant to 7 U.S.C. 450i(7), this includes: (A) State agricultural experiment stations; (B) colleges and universities; (C) university research foundations; (D) other research institutions and organizations; (E) Federal agencies; (F) national laboratories; (G) private organizations or corporations; (H) individuals; or (I) any group consisting of 2 or more of the entities described in subparagraphs (A) through (H). Award recipients may subcontract to organizations not eligible to apply provided such organizations are necessary for the conduct of the project. An applicants failure to meet an eligibility criterion by the time of an application deadline may result in the application being excluded from consideration or, even though an application may be reviewed, will preclude NIFA from making an award.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/farm-business-management-and-benchmarking-fbmb-competitive-grants-program> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USFAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: The amount available for support of this program in Fiscal Year 2017 was $1,346,556, after legislatively mandated set-asides. Fifteen (15) proposals were submitted; however four (4) were declined; therefore, eleven (11) proposals were accepted and reviewed. Eleven (11) proposals were reviewed and ranked by a panel of four (4). The panel recommended three (3) proposals to receive funding to deliver the Farm Business Management and Benchmarking grant. Amount funds awarded to the three institutions throughout the United States are: Location #1: $451,749Location #2: $450,227Location #3: $444,580 Fiscal Year 2018: NIFA announced the availability of grant funds and requested applications for the Farm Business Management and Benchmarking (FBMB) Competitive Grants Program for fiscal year (FY) 2018 to improve the farm management knowledge and skills of agricultural producers; and maintain a national, publicly available farm financial management database to support improved farm management. The amount available for support of this program in FY 2018 was $1,918,875. Grant deadline was April 20, 2018.Nine (9) proposals were submitted; however, two (2) of the submitted proposals were declined for duplication and/or non-compliance with the requirements within the Request for Applications. Seven (7) proposals were reviewed by a panel of five (5) reviewers on May 30, 2018.Five (5) proposals were recommended for funding. Fiscal Year 2019: This program is subject to congressional budget approval for FY 2019. At this time, the projected funding level is Zero ($0). However, if funding is provided, it is anticipated that similar projects will be awarded.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Examples of funded projects are: 1.Maintain and expand the existing national farm financial database with specific focus on collecting information from more diverse producer groups; establishing new partnerships and approaches for data collection; and creating resources and opportunities to facilitate data use and interpretation to a broader farming and research audience. Specific goals of this project include: increasing the diversity of the existing database; expanding collaborations with farm financial management programs; developing additional tools to improve overall database efficiency and collaborative efforts; enable more research opportunities using the database; provide training to emerging benchmarking programs in order to ensure consistency and integrity of collection processes; directly assist small and mid-sized producers with benchmarking efforts; and create training resources to help producers, educators, and lenders to interpret and apply benchmarking principals in ways that are most beneficial to operational management.2.Continuation of a partnership between farm business management associations and two land-grant universities focused on improving the knowledge of U.S. farmers and ranchers. The intention of our project is to improve long-term profitability and producer risk management decisions through the use and development of the National Farm Financial Benchmarking Database. These collaborating partners are committed to expanding their organizations by increasing the number of participants (especially beginning and small- and medium-sized farms), increasing the quality of financial records, and creating a comprehensive annual report to be used in the national database. The collaborating associations will support research efforts related to farm profitability, improved risk management decision-making under financial stress, efficiency indicators, and cost of production. This project will also develop a high quality research program through the two universities that will focus on improving producer profitability and risk management decision-making.3.Increase the number of New York and Ohio crop and livestock farms completing regular farm business analysis using FINPACK. With these analyses in hand we will hold introductory and advanced producer workshops. The goal of these workshops is to reduce risk in today's volatile market through the provision of regional benchmarks and ratios by which farms can compare their data to identify areas of improvement. 2018 FBMB Review Panel recommended five (5) awards. The awards will be announced after the Awards Management Division has finalized the official award. Information is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date. 2019 Information is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.320 Sun Grant Program

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

The Sun Grant Program, was originally established in section 778 of the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-199), which amended the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (7 U.S.C. 8101 et seq.) adding section 9011, entitled the Sun Grant Research Initiative Act of 2003. Section 7526 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (7 U.S.C. 8114) establishes the Sun Grant Program, replacing the Sun Grant Research Initiative Act of 2003. Authority for the Sun Grant Program is delegated to the National Institute of Food and Agriculture in title 7 Part 2.66 subpart (a) section (153) of the Code of Federal Regulations., 7 USC Code 8114.

OBJECTIVES:

This program responds to the need to enhance national energy security with biobased energy technology; promote diversification and environmental sustainability through biobased technology; promote economic diversification in the rural U.S. through biobased technology; and enhance the efficiency of biobased technology research and development (R&D) through collaborations among USDA; Department of Energy (DOE); and Land Grant Institutions. Grants will be awarded to the sun grant centers and subcenter for the purposes of carrying out a competitive grants program and to conduct multi-institutional and multistate research, extension, and education programs on technology development; and integrated research, extension, and education programs on technology implementation.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Sun Grant Program was established to:(1) Enhance national energy security with biobased energy tech;(2) Promote diversification and environmental sustainability through biobased tech;(3) Promote economic diversification in the rural US through biobased technology; and(4) Enhance the efficiency of biobased technology R&D through collaborations among the United States Department of Agriculture, Department of Energy, and Land Grant Institutions.A Sun Grant Center or Subcenter shall use 75 percent of the funds to provide competitive grants to entities that are(i) eligible to receive grants under subsection (b)(7) of the Competitive, Special, and Facilities Research Grant Act (7 U.S.C. 450i(b)(7)); and(ii) located in the region covered by the Sun Grant Center or Subcenter.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Only the Sun Grant Centers and Subcenter as specifically designated in 7 U.S.C. 8114 are eligible to apply for funding under this program.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Only the Sun Grant Centers and Subcenter as specifically designated in 7 U.S.C. 8114 are eligible to apply for funding under this program.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: The Sun Grant program supports a national network of land-grant universities and national laboratories that are partnering to help build the bioeconomy. As described in the 2014 Farm Bill, this effort is conducted across five (5) regions and one (1) sub-region headed by a land-grant university to conduct annual solicitations that focus on improving rural economic development through the production of sustainable biomass feedstocks for biofuels and biobased products. This represents a continuation grant and funding was provided at $2,787,840 Fiscal Year 2018: Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: The program will continue to support the work of the regional centers identified through the merit review. The program will be funded through a continuation process. Anticipated funding level is $2,815,488. Fiscal Year 2019: Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.

10.322 Distance Education Grants for Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas

Grants for Insular Areas - Distance Education Grants for Insular Areas (DEG)[Formerly: Distance Education Grant (DEG)],

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Distance Education for Insular Areas (Resident Instruction Grants for Insular Area Activities),. 7 USC Code 3363. Distance Education Grants for Insular Areas (Distance Education Grants for Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas),. 7 USC Code 3362.

OBJECTIVES:

To strengthen the capacity of Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas to carry out resident instruction, curriculum, and teaching programs in the food and agricultural sciences through distance education technology.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The purpose of Distance Education Grants for Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas is to strengthen the capacity of Institutions of Higher Education in Insular Areas to carry out resident instruction, curriculum, and teaching programs in the food and agricultural sciences through distance education technology. Grant funds must be used for allowable costs necessary to conduct approved fundamental and applied research, extension and education objectives to address food and agricultural sciences. The use of grant funds to plan, acquire, or construct a building or facility is not allowed under this program. With prior approval, and in accordance with the cost principles set forth in OMB Circular No. A-21, some grant funds may be used for minor alterations, renovations, or repairs deemed necessary to retrofit existing teaching or research spaces in order to carry out a funded project. However, requests to use grant funds for such purposes must demonstrate that the alterations, renovations, or repairs are essential to achieving the major purpose of the project.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Individual land-grant colleges and universities, and other institutions that have secured land-grant status through Federal legislation, and which are located in Insular Areas are automatically eligible for awards under the DEG grants program, either as direct applicants or as parties to a consortium agreement.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Other public institution/organization; Individual land-grant colleges and universities, and other institutions that have secured land-grant status through Federal legislation, and which are located in Insular Areas are automatically eligible for awards under the DEG grants program, either as direct applicants or as parties to a consortium agreement.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/distance-education-grants-institutions-higher-education-insular-areas-deg> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/distance-education-grants-institutions-higher-education-insular-areas-deg> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d)

the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/distance-education-grants-institutions-higher-education-insular-areas-deg> RFAs are generally released annually. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: For fiscal Year (FY) 2017, the consolidated appropriation for Insular Area Grants (CFDA # 10.308 and # 10.322) was approximately $2 million. After deductions for legislatively authorized set-asides, the distributed Payment to States amount for the Distance Education Grants for Insular Areas Grant Program (DEG) approximately $766,500 was available for awards. Project type in FY 2017 is Regular Grants only at a ceiling amount of $175,000. An eligible university system may receive up to a maximum of three (3) Regular grant awards. Ten (10) applications were received, three (3) of them were declined due to not following RFA guidelines. The remaining seven (7) proposals ranging from $129,000 to $175,000 were reviewed. As evaluated by a peer review panel and due to limited funding, only five (5) of the seven (7) proposals were funded. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 is 71 percent (71%). SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.308 for other pertinent financial information. Fiscal Year 2018: For fiscal Year (FY) 2018, the consolidated appropriation for Insular Area Grants (CFDA # 10.308 and # 10.322) was approximately $2 million. After deductions for legislatively authorized set-asides, for the Insular Grants Program approximately $1,902,600 was available for awards. Approximately $800,000 was distributed under the DEG Program. Project type in FY 2018 is Standard Grants only at a ceiling amount of $150,000. An eligible university system may receive up to a maximum of three (3) Standard grant awards. Fourteen (14) applications were accepted for review ranging from $144,605 to $150,000. As evaluated by a peer review panel and due to limited funding, only seven (7) of the fourteen (14) proposals were funded. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2018 is 50 percent (50%). SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.322 for other pertinent financial information. Fiscal Year 2019: Per the Budget Office, it is projected that approximately $1.9 million will be available for the Insular Area Grants Program (CFDA # 10.308 and # 10.322). Funds will be allocated between DEG and RIIA. For FY 2019 it is projected that the budget for the Insular Areas Program will be comparable to Fiscal Year FY 2018 and will be distributed in a similar manner. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date. SPECIAL NOTE: See CFDA # 10.322 for other pertinent financial information.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:Water Ambassador ProgramThis project seeks funding for two (2) years to create a Water Quality Ambassadors Pilot Program through Distance Education that promotes a synergy between researchers, youth in a public high school on and Institutions staff. STEM centered DE seminars and presentations will focus on active research so youth may understand issues related to water quality, technology, agriculture and nutrition and weather and climate. This proposal will bridge other projects into one (1) pilot project to advance STEM education for youth and create DE pilot program. Its connected to the Institutions Observatory which uses climate data to build models when the observatory telescope should be opened and closed, and to the Department of Agriculture which is building a set of similar stations for data collection and water management prediction. Youth will be trained in Citizen Science research.Improving Distance EducationThe supporting objectives of the proposed project are to: (1) train five (5) (representing 30 percent, 30%) faculty members in online education methods and technologies; (2) develop six (6) agricultural sciences online courses; (3) evaluate the effectiveness of online courses in advancing agricultural education at the institution; (4) educate teachers and other faculty members about online education methods and technologies; and (5) improve wireless access to all laboratory areas assigned to the Department of Agricultural Technology.Developing Interactive Distance Education Curricula for Delivery with or without the InternetThis project will address the following four (4) objectives, as follows:(1) develop curricula for online delivery; (2) develop a portable LMS/Moodle server; (3) assisting Online Science and Math Course Development; and(4) support teaching students and teachers about technology in the classroom. An online tropical arboriculture course will be developed that be delivered on a portable LMS server that does not require high-speed bandwidth. Lack of high-speed bandwidth is a bottleneck for delivering courses in the Western Pacific. Faculty in the Math and Science Programs at the Institution will be given technical support for developing online course materials.Increase capacity in the field of food and agriculture science by providing resident instruction, curriculum, and teaching programs through distance learning educationThe Institutions will use the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) grant funding to accomplish its goal in placing food and agriculture science courses online. This will be the first time in the institutions history that food and agriculture science courses will be offered in an online environment. The courses are scheduled to be offered in the Fall 2018 semester through Spring 2020 semester. USDA-NIFA grant funding will be used in the development of courses, recruitment and hiring of instructors, staff training, and procuring necessary supplies to successfully launch the online courses. The main objective of this project is to give students the option to enroll in online food and agriculture science courses while achieving college credit. Additionally, the development of online food and agriculture science courses may provide a gateway for students interested in pursuing a career in food and agriculture science.Developing Distance Education (DE) in Food and Agricultural Related Sciences in the Insular AreaThe project goals are to encourage use of DE and computer-lab equipment; enhance capacity of the institutions student lab and quality of instruction program, provide scholarships for students pursuing degrees in food and agricultural and related sciences, and to provide financial support for faculty and staff professional development. These objectives will help the institution meet its outcomes and overall NIFA objectives of increasing the number and diversity of students pursuing degrees in food and agricultural sciences, and enhancing the quality of postsecondary instruction to help meet current and future workplace needs. 2018 Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:Expanding Boundaries: A Distance Learning AdventureThis program supports an assessment-based update of its Master program before developing online versions of its courses. Current and former students of the Program, as well as, industry representatives and government officials will be among the stakeholders included in the assessment process. The new distance education option will address factors hindering participation in the current program such as time conflicts between course schedules and work. This program will enhance curricula design, materials development, faculty preparation for teaching, and instruction delivery system.Training and Technical Support for Faculty Developing STEM Courses for Online DeliveryThis program will support activities that prepare individuals with skill sets in research and applied sciences to help:1. address local food, agriculture, and environmental needs; 2. Prioritize the needs to be addressed for preparing students to successfully complete theirdegrees in a timely manner; 3. Identify a workflow using a portable LMS servers and the internet to enhance course delivery; and4. Increase the number of science and math courses available for online delivery in the US Insular Institutions. The emphasis of this project will be to train and support faculty on the best practices of developing science courses for online delivery. This will lead to an increase on the number of science courses delivered online enabling a greater number of students to gain knowledge in STEM subjects.Building Faculty Capacity and Enhancing Instruction Delivery Through Distance Education for Agriculture and Related Science ProgramsThis project will strengthen curricula for Agriculture Sciences associate of science and associate of applied science degree programs, enhance quality of instructional delivery methods through various forms of distance education to broaden the students learning experiences and ultimately increase retention and graduation rates. This project will prepare students for the workforce and/or transition to four-year colleges and universities, enhance trained instructors with technical skills ready to embrace technology and integrate it into their instructional delivery methods making e-learning, digitized resource platform, and course pages online more engaging and appealing to students.Using Distance Education Technologies to Advance K-16 Agriculture EducationThis program will support a school garden initiative to increase the participation communication, horizontality and leadership among school and university participants, to make it more sustainable in the long term. The proposed project seeks to fulfill this necessity through the achievement of the projects supporting objectives: 1) increase distance education technology knowledge among undergraduate students and faculty; 2) create educational modules on the use of distance education technologies for agricultural education in schools; 3) engage undergraduate students in the teaching of distance education technologies to teachers and students; 4) develop a web-supported school garden network; and 5) promote the interaction of students and teachers within the network and with other regional school garden networks.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Overall, this program will improve agriculture education through the use of distance education technologies. Strengthening Distance Education in the STEAM Studies This program focuses on Faculty Preparation and Enhancement of Teaching through projects such as lecture capture for asynchronous access, the support of faculty professional development, the acquisition and sharing of Indigenous knowledge for Science for Sustainable Island Living, and a leadership camp to enhance the knowledge and skills of more than 60 students, teachers, instructors, and leaders. 2019 For FY 2019, it is projected that approximately 10-20 applications will be received, and approximately seven (7) to eight (8) awards will be made. Specific data is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.326 Capacity Building for Non-Land Grant Colleges of Agriculture (NLGCA)

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act 2012, Public Law 112-55, National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act (7 U.S.C. 3319i) as amended by section 7138 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008, Public Law 110-246, 7 USC Code 3319i.

OBJECTIVES:

To assist the NLGCA Institutions in maintaining and expanding their capacity to conduct education, research, and outreach activities relating to agriculture, renewable resources, and other similar disciplines.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

To maintain and expand the capacity of the NLGCA Institution to: compete, successfully, for funds from Federal grants and other sources to carry out educational, research, and outreach activities that address priority concerns of national, regional, State, and local interest; disseminate information relating to priority concerns to interested members of the agriculture, renewable resources, and other relevant communities; the public; and any other interested entity; and encourage members of the agriculture, renewable resources, and other relevant communities to participate in priority education, research, and outreach activities by providing matching funding to leverage grant funds. This can be accomplished through the: purchase or other acquisition of equipment and other infrastructure; professional growth and development of the faculty of the NLGCA Institution; and development of graduate assistantships.

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Only a non-land-grant public college or university (NLGCA) offering a baccalaureate or higher degree in the study of agriculture or forestry. The terms "NLGCA Institution" and "non-land-grant college of agriculture" do not include - (i) Hispanic-serving agricultural colleges and universities; or (ii) any institution designated under - (I) the Act of July 2, 1862 (commonly known as the "First Morrill Act"; 7 U.S.C. 301 et seq.); (II) the Act of August 30, 1890 (commonly known as the "Second Morrill Act") (7 U.S.C. 321 et seq.); (III) the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (Public Law 103-382; 7 U.S.C. 301 note); or (IV) Public Law 87-788 (commonly known as the "McIntire-Stennis Cooperative Forestry Act") (16 U.S.C. 582a et seq.)

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; A non-land-grant public college or university offering a baccalaureate or higher degree in the study of agriculture or forestry, faculty of NLGCA, students engaged in the study of agriculture or forestry, the public, interested members of the agriculture, renewable resources, and other relevant and interested communities.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); 2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and 3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved.2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 Congressional Appropriations of $5 million for this program were late and as such, the Request for Applications was posted in May with a September 15, 2017, closing date. It is anticipated that we will receive at least 50 applications in this Fiscal Year. A peer review panel will convene late fall 2017. We anticipate $4,795,500 being available for awards. Fiscal Year 2018: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018:This program is subject to congressional budget approval for FY 2018. At this time, the projected funding level is Zero ($0). However, if funding is provided, it is anticipated that the number of proposals received and projects awarded will be similar to prior years.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Global AgLeader: Development of Leadership and Global Competency to Enhance Recruitment and Retention of Minority Students in AgricultureThis project will improve agricultural education for students from underrepresented and minority groups to support their recruitment and retention in academic institutions as well as hire-ability in the workforce. The project objectives are to 1) increase awareness of career opportunities in the FANH science among minority students; 2) develop a professional leadership program for undergraduate and graduate students; 3) provide international and domestic career and experimental learning opportunities; and 4) develop and implement an innovative international exchange program.Building Research and Education Capacities to Strengthen the Black Walnut Breeding ProgramThis project is building a collaborative black walnut breeding program. In addition to mapping populations for genetic analysis of agriculturally important traits of the Black Walnut, this project also builds black walnut breeding education capacity for undergraduates and graduates through course enhancement and by training two graduate students.Finding Specialty Niche Markets For Farmers Using Social Aspects of FoodThis project will assist small and medium sized farmers in developing new marketing strategies to increase efficiency and profitability. The projects goals are to:1) identify the prestige-seeking and social status -achieving behaviors of consumers for food products; 2) characterize different consumer segments more likely to engage in direct-to-consumer niche markets and assess their price sensitivity; 3) thoroughly disseminate project results to stakeholders; and 4) evaluate the direct socioeconomic impacts to farmers of using customer segmentation targets.Building Partnerships between Stakeholders Involved in the Local Production, Marketing and Education of Vegetable Production in Western MissouriThis large-scale collaborative project takes a holistic approach to micro-scale agricultural economies. The goal of the project is to increase the capacity and diversity of local vegetable production in western Missouri through partnerships, education, research and marketing. Additional educational opportunities for students include internships and new courses on fruit and vegetable production and agricultural marketing. Partners Against Invasive Species This collaborative project will provide education and extension to regional landowners, foresters, farmers, ranchers and others related to a variety of invasive species in west Alabama and east Mississippi. The objectives of the project are: 1) ensure stakeholder awareness by developing programs to enhance knowledge of the damage invasive species inflict on the region; 2) provide outreach assistance to regional landowners in the control and management of the invasive species; 3) enhance career opportunities for students in conservation biology programs through education, and hands on experience and training; and 4) develop a regional center of expertise and dedication toward research and management of invasive species. Enhancing Undergraduate Agribusiness Students Marketing Knowledge through Experiential Learning Opportunities This project will build capacity for delivering agricultural marketing courses by establishing a marketing lab. The lab will include computer hardware, trading software and data analysis tools for hands on training for students. The project will also provide opportunities for short-term undergraduate research projects on commodity markets. 2018 Projects for FY 18 will not be awarded until the final quarter of the fiscal year due to the late receipt of appropriations. We anticipate projects will address current and emerging issues in agricultural research, Extension/outreach, and education. Project data is not yet available. Pertinent details to be provided by Program at a future date. 2019 Project data is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.328 National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance Competitive Grants Program

National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance (aka FSMA),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Drug Cosmetic Act, 21 U.S.C. 391 et seq. Section 209 of FSMA added section 1011, Subsection (d) entitled National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach and Technical Assistance Program. Paragraph (d)(1) requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to enter into a Memorandum of Understanding or cooperative agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a competitive grant program within the National Institute of Food and Agriculture. This program will award competitive grants to organizations to provide food safety training, education, extension, outreach, and technical assistance to owners and operators of small and medium-sized farms, beginning farmers, socially-disadvantaged farmers, small processors, or small fresh fruit and vegetable merchant wholesalers. The authority for the National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance Competitive Grants Program is under Section 405 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7625).

OBJECTIVES:

The National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance Program will award grants that increase the understanding and adoption of established food safety standards, guidance, and protocols. Grants awarded through this program will be carried out in a manner that facilitates the integration of food safety standards and guidance with a variety of agricultural production and processing systems, including conventional, sustainable, organic, and conservation and environmental practices carried out by the eligible entities. The assistance provided by these programs shall be coordinated with and delivered in cooperation with similar services or assistance by other federal agencies or programs serving those eligible entities.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The new National Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance proposals are expected to describe Regional Centers that have a leading role in coordinating the development of FSMA-related training, education, and outreach programs and resources for small and medium-sized farms, beginning farmers, socially disadvantaged farmers, small processors, and/or small fresh fruit and vegetable merchant wholesalers. An outreach plan for conducting education and training to a cadre of regional FSMA trainers must be developed, along with an implementation plan for extending both training and technical assistance to the targeted audiences of farmers, processors and vendors in the respective regions. In addition, the Regional Centers must work collaboratively with a National Coordination Center for Food Safety Training, Education, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance to ensure that training curricula and resources cover core competencies across all funded regional centers, and to provide annual reports to NIFA on overall program objectives.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); The Cooperative Extension Service for a U.S. state or territory; A non-profit community-based or non-governmental organization representing owners and operators of farms, small food processors, or small fruit and vegetable merchant wholesalers that has a commitment to public health and expertise in administering programs that contribute to food safety; An institution of higher education (as defined in Section 101(a) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001(a)) or a foundation maintained by an institution of higher education; Federal, State, Local, or Tribal Agencies, A collaboration of two or more eligible entities; or Such other appropriate entity, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; Native American Organizations; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; The Cooperative Extension Service for a U.S. state or territory; A non-profit community-based or non-governmental organization representing owners and operators of farms, small food processors, or small fruit and vegetable merchant wholesalers that has a commitment to public health and expertise in administering programs that contribute to food safety; An institution of higher education (as defined in Section 101(a) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001(a)) or a foundation maintained by an institution of higher education; Federal, State, Local, or Tribal Agencies, A collaboration of two or more eligible entities; or Such other appropriate entity, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/food-safety-outreach-program> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All Requests for Applications (RFAs) are published on the Agencies website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. Please see the following Grants.gov link for more information: http://www.grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications.2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:Prior year funding was provided to establish the national infrastructure in FY 2015 as the National Food Safety Training, Extension, Outreach, and Technical Assistance Program and in FYs 2016-2017 an expansion of this work was created to build the Food Safety Outreach Competitive Grant Program. For FY 2017, there were 43 applications received of which 10 pilot, 17 community outreach, and 16 multistate education projects have been funded at the level of $4.7 million. Fiscal Year 2018: Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:The anticipated amount available for Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 to support the Program is $6.6 million. We received 48 proposals: [twenty-two (22) pilot, 22 community outreach and 4 regional center projects]. NIFA anticipates funding approximately 28 total awards. The Food Safety Outreach Program was funded at $6.6 million in which it has an investment of projects focused on the delivery of customized training for owners and operators of small farms, food processors, small fruit and vegetable wholesalers, food hubs, farmers markets, terminal markets, and farms that lack access to food safety training and other educational opportunities.The request for applications was published with a closing date of June 7, 2018. A total of 48 applications were received and were subjected to the peer panel review process. Thirty-one (31) awards in the amount of up to $80K for each pilot award, up to $150K for each community award, and up to $400K for each regional center award including 1 lead RCC at $217K. We anticipate funding: (12) Pilots, (15) Community & Outreach, and (4) Regional Center projects which included one Lead Regional Center. The estimated success rate for the program is approximately 50% -65%. Fiscal Year 2019: Fiscal Year (FY) 2019:The FY 2019 funding levels have not yet been established by Congressional Appropriations. If this Program is funded in FY 2019, it is projected that the funding level will be comparable and the types of projects will be similar.We project receiving approximately 60 proposals and project funding success rate of approximately 30%.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: NIFA has built upon the national infrastructure with a focus on the delivery of customized training to a very specific target audience. In FY 2017, we solicited for 10 pilot, 17 community outreach, and 16 multistate education and training projects. Example projects include the following:
ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENTS TO CUSTOMIZE FOOD SAFETY TRAINING FOR VERY SMALL TO SMALL STRAWBERRY PRODUCERS IN THE SOUTHEASTERN UNITED STATES (MULTI-STATE) The long-term goal of this multi-state project is to reduce the burden of foodborne disease (FBD) attributed to on-farm contamination of fresh berries. An intermediate step to achieving this goal is the development of a novel food safety outreach 'add-on' curriculum. The add-on curriculum aims to facilitate integration of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) Produce Safety Rule among very small and small-sized strawberry growers in the southeastern United States. The three objectives to achieve the program aim are: 1. Conduct surveys and interviews with very small to small-sized strawberry growers in the southeastern United States. 2. Conduct environmental assessments on very small to small-sized strawberry farms in Arkansas. 3. Develop and evaluate the add-on curriculum delivered to very small to small-sized strawberry growers in Arkansas.
LOCAL PRODUCE SAFETY INITIATIVE (COMMUNITY OUTREACH) The Carolina Farm Stewardship Association aims to expand to level the playing field for small-scale, limited-resource, and new and beginning farmers seeking access to the high-value market for local foods in Carolina communities; as the local food market shifts increasingly to wholesale distribution channels, these types of producers will have to demonstrate effective farm food safety programs, and our work provides scale-appropriate training and support to do so. Objective 1: Conduct eight 1-day workshops covering Principles of Fresh Produce Safety and Navigating the GAP Audit to 120 workshop participants. Objective 2: Conduct eight 1-day workshops covering Food Safety Program and Plan Development to 120 workshop participants. Objective 3: Provide direct Food Safety Program and Plan Development assistance to 60 small-scale farms seeking GAP certification.

FOOD SAFETY BITES: A WEEKLY FOOD SAFETY PODCAST (PILOT) With the implementation of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA), the need to educate farmers as to how to best adopt and adapt good food safety practices on their farms is increasingly imperative. Most food safety education for farmers takes place all at once, with a large amount of information delivered during focused sessions, usually presented during the non-production season. Many, if not most farmers leave feeling overwhelmed; and many do not revisit the information in the timely manner that best facilitates learning. Even with take-home resources, they also leave with the challenge of how to best transmit the information to other individuals managing and working on their farms. To address this need, we will produce and publish a 36-week series of short, 20-minute podcasts covering practical food safety practices and FSMA requirements. Each of the 36 episodes in the podcast series will cover a single, targeted food-safety topic, such as How and when to wash your hands; Why working while sick isn't a good idea; How to mix, store, and test sanitizer solutions; and What are biofilms and how to combat them. By "dripping" the content over the course of the growing season in small, digestible bites, this podcast will facilitate increased engagement with topics that are timely to the work being done on the farm. In addition, by providing information in small doses, farmers will have the opportunity to take action to improve a single area of their farm each week. We anticipate that with this mode of delivery and the content provided, farmers will better have the tools to comply with the FSMA regulation, and begin to view food safety as a routine activity on their farms.
FAMILY FARMED: ON-FARM FOOD SAFETY WEBSITE TRANSLATION AND FOOD SAFETY TRAINING EXPANSION (COMMUNITY OUTREACH) FamilyFarmed will expand its existing On-farm Food Safety education and outreach programs to Spanish-speaking farmers and train new presenters (including bilingual instructors) to reach more farmers. This project will enable FamilyFarmed to broaden the scope of our food safety/farmer training to be able to reach a larger number of both English- and Spanish-speaking fruit and vegetable farmers. In addition, this project will enable FamilyFarmed to update, modify and maintain training program materials, including the Food Safety Binder, onfarmfoodsafety.org website, and Wholesale Success Food Safety sections to ensure that they are consistent with Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) guidelines and regulations. Using the free, online tool -- developed in partnership with the USDA, and a wide range of national partners -- farmers are guided through the steps necessary to create a personalized food safety plan. To date, over 1,000 food safety plans have been completed using the tool. 2018 Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: In fiscal year 2018, NIFA will expand the goals of the food safety outreach program to reach additional pilot, community outreach, regional center projects. To date, 48 applications were received in which twelve (12) pilots, 15 community outreach, and four (4) regional center projects are projected for funding. Example projects include the following:
GEORGIA SMALL FARMS FOOD SAFETY COALITION (Community Outreach) The Global Growers Network will support the growth and expansion of the Georgia Small Farms Food Safety Coalition to provide food safety education to small-scale, limited-resource, refugee/immigrant and beginning growers who distribute produce through local food system supply chains. The project will extend the reach of existing training materials by reaching new farmers through strategic partnerships and will pilot new activities based on input received from project stakeholders. The long-term goals of the project is: a) to prepare farmers to be competitive in their local marketplace and meet the rising demand for local, nutritious food by accessing new markets that will be regulated through FSMA; and b) to increase coordination and collaboration among individuals and organizations in the agricultural services sector so that activities are executed through existing farmer networks. The proposed project will broaden the scope of our successful program and offer practical tools for food safety for more than 300 food producers through strategic partnerships. The project has three primary objectives: 1) Increase statewide capacity to deliver effective food safety training to target audience by leveraging partnerships among farmer service organizations, community-based organizations, food hubs, and wholesale buyers; 2) Increase knowledge and understanding of FSMA regulations, GAP certifications, and local wholesale buyer requirements that are relevant to produce farmers in Georgia who distribute primarily within the local marketplace; and 3)

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Share resources with growers that will increase their capacity to develop, implement, and manage food safety plans. EXPANDING ACCESS TO ON-LINE PRODUCE SAFETY PLANNING AND RECORDKEEPING FOR SMALL FARMS (Community Outreach) Over the past four years, University of Vermont Extension and the Vermont Vegetable and Berry Growers Association have collaborated to develop the Community Accreditation for Produce Safety (CAPS) program. CAPS helps small-scale fruit and vegetable write produce safety plans and document their implementation, using a proprietary on-line platform. To date, 98 farms have written plans, had their records peer-reviewed, and earned CAPS accreditation. The project will make CAPS available to farmers and organizations everywhere by transferring its content to farmOS, an open-source web-based application for farm management, planning, and record keeping. CAPS content can then be modified by users to meet their unique needs. Current CAPS users will be assisted with moving their farm folders to farmOS, and new users will be widely recruited. At least 150 Vermont farms plus 100 farms from other states will utilize CAPS in farmOS to write produce safety plans, and most farms will complete associated implementation records. At least 150 of these 250 farms, with aggregate annual sales of fresh produce estimated at $30 million, will achieve CAPS accreditation through the VVBGA in 2020. At least three other states or organizations serving a total of 800 farms will begin the process of utilizing CAPS in farmOS for their produce safety education and technical support programs. 2019 Fiscal Year (FY) 2019: Project data is not yet available. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.329 Crop Protection and Pest Management Competitive Grants Program

Crop Protection and Pest Management (CPPM),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

The Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2014 (H.R. 3547) provided NIFA with funding for competitive grants programs authorized under section 406 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7626), including the Crop Protection and Pest Management Program. These funds are available to support integrated, multifunctional agricultural research, extension, and education activities. Subject to the availability of appropriations to carry out this program, the Secretary may award grants to colleges and universities (as defined by section 1404 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA) (7 U.S.C. 3103)), as amended, on a competitive basis for projects that address priorities in United States agriculture and involve integrated research, education, and extension activities, as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the National Agricultural Research, Extension, Education, and Economics Advisory Board., 7 USC Code 7626.

OBJECTIVES:

CPPM was created to consolidate five previous NIFA programs with related purposes. CPPM will provide funding to address critical state, regional and national integrated pest management (IPM) needs to ensure food security and effectively respond to other major societal challenges. The CPPM program supports projects that address high priority IPM challenges with coordinated state, regional, and national research and extension efforts. The impact of these research and extension efforts will be increased by the establishment of communication networks and stakeholder participation in setting priorities. Effective FY 2014, the CPPM program provided support for projects to conduct applied research and development, extension implementation, and regional coordination.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The new CPPM program provides support for three linked programs that emphasize research (discovery), extension (translation) of that knowledge, and enhanced coordination, collaboration and communications among related CPPM programs and grantees. The three program areas are: Applied Research and Development Program Area (ARDP) To enhance the development and implementation of innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM tactics and strategies that address regional and/or national IPM priorities. Extension Implementation Program Area (EIP) To assure the implementation of IPM through extension activities and coordination with other EIP grantees and other CPPM program areas based on defined state, multi-state, regional, national, or international needs. Regional Coordination Program Area (RCP) To increase coordination and improve efficiency of IPM research and extension efforts; facilitate collaboration across states and disciplines; and promote further development and adoption of IPM through regional pest management information networks, collaborative team building and broad-based stakeholder participation.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Colleges and universities (as defined in section 1404 of NARETPA) (7 U.S.C. 3103) are eligible to submit applications for the CPPM program. Section 1404 of NARETPA was amended by section 7101 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) to define Hispanic-serving Agricultural Colleges and Universities (HSACUs), and to include research foundations maintained by eligible colleges or universities. For the purposes of this program, the terms college and university mean an educational institution in any state which (1) admits as regular students only persons having a certificate of graduation from a school providing secondary education, or the recognized equivalent of such a certificate; (2) is legally authorized within such state to provide a program of education beyond secondary education; (3) provides an educational program for which a bachelors degree or any other higher degree is awarded; (4) is a public or other nonprofit institution; and (5) is accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting agency or association. Applications also may be submitted by 1994 Land-Grant Institutions (see Part VIII, E), HSACUs, and research foundations maintained by eligible colleges or universities. Section 7206 of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 amended section 406(b) of AREERA to add the 1994 Land-Grant Institutions as eligible to apply for grants under this authority.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS)

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFAs are available as follows: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/crop-protection-and-pest-management> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Formal applications are solicited and should be submitted to USDA, NIFA, as outlined in the guidelines and/or request for applications. Application procedures are contained in the guidelines or request for applications. Applications should be submitted as outlined in the RFA. Applications must follow the instructions provided per Grants.gov and in the Agency guide to submitting applications via Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the RFA. 2 CFR Part 200 Subpart C and Appendix I apply to this program. 2 CFR Part 400 applies to this program.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. From 30 to 180 days. Specific details are provided in the Request for Applications (RFA) each fiscal year. Information is also available via our website and may be obtained via the Grants.gov website. Respective links are provided below: <http://nifa.usda.gov/grants> <http://www.grants.gov>

Appeals:

Other. Not Applicable. 2 CFR Part 200 Subparts D & E apply to this program.

Renewals:

Other. Specific details are provided in the Request for Applications (RFA).

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. When a grant provides a particular benefit to a specific agricultural commodity, the grant recipient must match awarded USDA funds with cash and in-kind contributions on dollar-for-dollar basis from non-Federal sources (see RFA for specific details). NIFA may waive the matching funds requirement for a grant if we determine that: (a) the results of the project, while of particular benefit to a specific agricultural commodity, are likely to be applicable to agricultural commodities generally; or (b) the project involves a minor commodity, the project deals with scientifically important research, and the grant recipient is unable to satisfy the matching funds requirement. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The length of projects under this program varies. In accordance with statutory time limits, project periods, including no-cost extensions of time, are from one (1) to five (5) years. 2 CFR Part 200, Subpart D applies to this program. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: letter

Reports:

REEReport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEReport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEReport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEReport system. Information on REEReport can be found on NIFA's web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reereport> and the REEReport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEReport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEReport) All projects must be documented in REEReport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, the amount appropriated for this Program was $20,000,000. The amount available for awards was $18,862,054, after legislatively mandated set-asides. In FY 2017, the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) funded four (4) continuation Regional Coordination Program Area projects; i.e. one (1) Regional Integrated Pest Management Center in each USDA region. Three (3) awards were for $1,000,000 each and one (1) award was for $1,150,000. NIFA competitively funded 47 new continuations and 6 new Extension Implementation Program Area projects ranging from $67,800 to $358,000 to fund an extension integrated pest management coordination projects at eligible institutions. The funding success rate was 98%. NIFA competitively funded 15 new awards for the Applied Research and Development Program Area in FY 2017. The awards from $195,456 to $325,000 funded integrated pest management research (single-function), research-led, or extension-led projects for two (2) to four (4) years. The funding success rate was 16%. Fiscal Year 2018: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, the amount appropriated for this Program was $20,000,000. The amount available for awards was $19,021,619, after legislatively mandated set-asides. In Fiscal Year (FY) 2018, NIFA anticipates competitively funding four (4) new continuation Regional Coordination Program Area projects, i.e. one (1) Regional Integrated Pest Management Center in each USDA region. Three (3) awards are projected to be $1,000,000 each and one (1) award is projected to be $1,150,000. The anticipated funding success rate is approximately 100%. NIFA anticipates funding 47 continuation Extension Implementation Program Area ranging from $95,092 to $390,000 to fund integrated pest management extension coordination projects at eligible institutions. NIFA anticipates competitively funding 14 new awards for the Applied Research and Development Program Area in FY 2018 for a total of approximately $4.1 million. These awards, from $200,000 to $325,000 in size, will fund integrated pest management research (single-function), research-led, or extension-led projects for two (2) to four (4) years. The anticipated funding success rate is approximately 17%. Fiscal Year 2019: This program is subject to congressional budget approval for FY 2019. Contingent upon Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 funding, NIFA projects funding four (4) continuation Regional Coordination Program Area projects, i.e. one (1) Regional Integrated Pest Management Center in each USDA region. Three (3) awards are projected to be $1,000,000 each and one (1) award is projected to be $1,150,000. NIFA projects funding 45 continuation Extension Implementation Program Area awards up to $300,000 each to fund integrated pest management extension coordination projects at eligible institutions across the U.S. NIFA projects competitively funding 13-16 new awards for the Applied Research and Development Program Area in FY 2019 for a total of approximately $4.1 million. These awards from $200,000 to $325,000 will fund integrated pest management research (single-function), research-led, or extension-led projects for 2-4 years. NIFA projects s that the funding success rate will be approximately 15-18%. NIFA will provide pertinent data at a future date.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Awards in Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 included projects for three (3) program areas in the Crop Protection and Pest Management Program: the Regional Coordination Program Area, the Extension Implementation Program Area, and the Applied Research and Development Program Area. The following are examples of funded projects: (1) Regional Coordination Program Area Award: A $1 million award, A Western IPM Center Led by California, Oregon, and Arizona, will bring together the expertise needed to successfully address high-priority pest-management issues confronting farmers, pest managers, communities, and others in the West. The Center obtains ongoing stakeholder input on IPM needs and provides extensive regional coordination for addressing IPM priorities and integrating IPM research, extension, and education in the West. The Center will continue to facilitate partnerships among researchers, pest managers, communities, and others in the West. (2) Extension Implementation Program Area Award: A $186,000 continuation award, Crop Protection and Pest Management Extension Implementation for South Carolina to Advance Stakeholder Adoption in Key Commodities, will focus on economically important commodity and IPM priority areas for South Carolina including IPM in Agronomic Crops (corn, cotton, soybean and sorghum) and IPM in Specialty Crops (peaches, strawberries and vegetables including those produced on limited resource and minority-owned farms, and nursery crops). The main program focus will be on Extension activities to transfer scientific research and new knowledge to state stakeholders through a combination of formal and informal training methods, including field demonstrations and experiential learning. (3) Applied Research and Development Program Area Award: A $324,992 award, Integrated Management Techniques to Combat Potential Shifts in Horseweed Emergence will develop chemical and cultural weed management practices for suppressing horseweed prior to establishment of a soybean crop under no-till conditions. (4) An Applied Research and Development Program Area Award: A $325,000 award, Developing Host Plant Resistance to Thrips in Cotton to Address Emerging Insecticide Resistance, will evaluate cotton landraces for resistance to thrips and investigate mechanisms of resistance. (5) An Applied Research and Development Program Area Award: A $323,493 award, Use of Precision Steam to Control Soilborne Pathogens and Weeds in Lettuce, will develop a steam and co-product applicator for soil disinfestation to minimize lettuce drop disease incidence and in-row weed emergence in lettuce. 2018 Awards for projects for Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 are anticipated to include projects on integrated pest management topics for the three (3) program areas in the Crop Protection and Pest Management Program: Regional Coordination Program Area, Extension Implementation Program Area, and the Applied Research and Development Program Area. NIFA anticipates competitively awarding the four (4) continuation awards for the Regional Coordination Program Area to fund Regional Integrated Pest Management Centers. Three (3) awards are projected to be $1,000,000 each and one (1) award is projected to be $1,150,000. NIFA anticipates funding approximately 47 continuation Extension Implementation Program Area ranging from $95,092 to $390,000 to fund integrated pest management extension coordination projects at eligible institutions. NIFA anticipates competitively awarding 13-15 new proposals for the Applied Research and Development Program Area for an approximate total of $4.1 million. These awards will fund integrated pest management research (single-function), research-led, or extension-led projects. Applied Research (single-function) projects will develop innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems that address regional and/or national IPM priorities. Research-led projects enhance the adoption of innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems. Extension-led projects extend implementation of innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems by IPM practitioners and growers. NIFA will provide pertinent data regarding the awards at a future date. 2019 Awards for projects for Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 are anticipated to include projects on integrated pest management topics for three (3) program areas included in the Crop Protection and Pest Management Program: Regional Coordination Program Area, Extension Implementation Program Area, and the Applied Research and Development Program Area. NIFA projects awarding the four (4) continuation awards for the Regional Coordination Program Area as described above to fund four (4) Regional Integrated Pest Management Centers. Three (3) awards are projected to be $1,000,000 each and one (1) award is projected to be $1,150,000. NIFA anticipates awarding approximately 45 continuation Extension Implementation Program Area awards up to $300,000 each to fund integrated pest management extension coordination projects at eligible institutions across the U.S. NIFA projects soliciting new competitive proposals for the Applied Research and Development Program Area for an approximate total of $4.1 million. These awards, projected at approximately 13-16, will fund integrated pest management research (single-function), research-led, or extension-led projects. Applied Research (single-function) projects will develop innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems that address regional and/or national IPM priorities. Research-led projects enhance the adoption of innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems. Extension-led projects extend implementation of innovative, ecologically-based, sustainable IPM strategies and systems by IPM practitioners and growers. NIFA will provide pertinent data on the awards at a future date.

It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Preapplication coordination is not applicable. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. An environmental impact statement is required for this program.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USDA's Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEportNational Institute of Food and AgricultureU.S. Department of AgricultureSTOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W.Washington, D.C. 20250-2213Telephone: (202) 690-0009E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Fiscal Year 2017: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, $2,083,825 was available for grant awards. A total of fourteen (14) applications were received that requested a total of $3,459,886. An eight (8) member peer-review panel evaluated these applications on June 22, 2017. The peer panels included faculty from land grant universities and Federal and industry scientists. Funds were available to support a total of eight (8) new integrated research and extension projects awards totaling $2,083,825. The funding success rate for this program in FY 2017 was 57% for new awards. This program seeks to improve the yield of alfalfa forage and seed crops, improve persistence of production fields, reduce pest and pathogen pressure, improve germplasm by breeding, and reduce losses in harvesting and storage of the crop. Fiscal Year 2018: For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 award cycle, $2,086,631 was available for grant awards. A total of 13 applications were received that requested a total of $3,890,106. In June 2017, an eight member peer-review panel evaluated the applications. The peer panel included faculty from 1862 and 1890 land-grant institutions (LGIs), Federal scientists, and an industry farmer. Funds were available to support a total of seven (7) new awards as Integrated Research & Extension Projects totaling $2,086,631. There was a 54% funding success rate for the FY 2017 program. This program seeks to establish interdisciplinary and multi-location research and extension networks to address national priorities or regional science needs of the U.S. alfalfa forage industry. It supports the development of improved alfalfa forage and seed production systems, practices, and supporting technologies. Fiscal Year 2019: FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2019: This program is subject to congressional budget approval for FY 2019. At this time, the projected funding level is Zero ($0). However, if funding is provided, it is anticipated that similar projects will be awarded. Pertinent data to be provided by Program at a future date.

10.331 Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive Grants Program

Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive Program (FINI),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

The Agricultural Act of 2014 (Pub. L. 113-79) amended Section 4405 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (7 U.S.C. 7517) and established the competitive grant program, the Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive program (FINI).

OBJECTIVES:

The Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) grant program is a competitive program. Projects funded under this program provide incentives to low-income consumers participating in the supplemental nutrition assistance program (SNAP) to purchase fruits and vegetables at the point of sale. The projects supported by this program have the support of State agencies and include use of effective and efficient benefit redemption technologies that can serve as a replicable model for benefit redemption.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The FINI grant program projects will provide incentives to low-income consumers participating in SNAP to increase their purchase of fruits and vegetables. These projects will be evaluated for their success in increasing the purchase of fruits and vegetables and improving nutrition and health outcomes. Proposals must have the support of the State agency, provide incentives at the point of sale, and include effective and efficient technologies for benefit redemption systems that could be replicated. All FINI grant program recipients will be required to participate in a comprehensive FINI program evaluation conducted by an independent evaluator and conduct a self-evaluation of their own project.

Applicant Eligibility:

Government - General; Federal; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; Eligible entities include governmental agencies and nonprofit organizations.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Private nonprofit institution/organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Eligible entities include governmental agencies and nonprofit organizations.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fresh Checks for Fresh Produce The Fresh Checks for Fresh Produce in the Takoma/Langley Crossroads Food Insecurity Nutrition Incentive (FINI) project aims to bring affordable, fresh fruits and vegetables to the Takoma/Langley Crossroads community, a primarily immigrant, low-income area that straddles Maryland's Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties just outside Washington, D.C. The goal of the project is to increase purchases of locally grown, culturally appropriate, fresh fruits and vegetables among 1,000 SNAP shoppers at the established Crossroads Farmers Market and in the markets growing Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program through expansion of the Fresh Checks incentive program, by providing incentives to double the amount of produce low-income shoppers can buy, they will increase consumption of fruits and vegetables, leading to improved nutrition, and thereby health benefits. 2018 Ohio Produce

Perks: Harvesting Health in the Heartland Through Statewide Nutrition Incentive Program Expansion Produce Perks Midwest proposes a FINI Large-Scale project to pioneer innovative approaches to scale and sustain the Ohio Produce Perks (OPP) nutrition incentive program statewide. This project will generate over $3,000,000 in fruit and vegetable purchases at 142 locations through grocery-retail and direct-to-consumer (DTC) markets, reach 70,000+ SNAP consumers, benefit 2,300+ farmers, and contribute new findings regarding the impact of nutrition incentive redemption at diverse outlets on produce purchasing and consumption. Committing 76% of USDA funds to direct incentives, the project will directly contribute to FINI goals of increasing fruit and vegetable purchasing by SNAP consumers by providing monetary incentives at the point of purchase. This project aligns with all 9 FINI priorities, builds upon recent federal, state, and local investment, and 7+ years experience operating nutrition incentive programs. 2019 For FY 2019: Information is not yet available. in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA.

Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors:

(a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. 10.336 Veterinary Services Grant Program

VSGP,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 7104 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (the Farm Bill) (H.R. 2642), 7 USC Code 3151b.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the Veterinary Services Grant Program (VSGP) is to relieve veterinarian shortage situations and support veterinary services. The Secretary shall carry out a program to make competitive grants to qualified entities that carry out programs or activities for the purpose of developing, implementing, and sustaining veterinary services through education, training, recruitment, placement, and retention of veterinarians and veterinary students. Grants will also be made to establish or expand veterinary practices.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants awarded under this Program shall be considered to be competitive research, extension, or education grants. USES: Funds provided may be used for any of the following purposes: (A) To promote recruitment (including for programs in secondary schools), placement, and retention of veterinarians, veterinary technicians, students of veterinary medicine, and students of veterinary technology. systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant.Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFA is available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/program/veterinary-services-grant-program> RFAs are generally released annually. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors:

(a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application.Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA).2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program.SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

10.404 Emergency Loans

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FARM SERVICE AGENCY, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Agricultural Act of 2014, Statue 128-838, Public Law 113-79, 7 USC Code 1961. Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended, Subtitle C, Sections 321-330, Public Law 92-419, 7 U.S.C. 1961- 1984; Public Law 96-438; Public Law 97-35; Public Law 98-258; Public Law 99-198; Public Law 100-233; Public Law 100-387; Public Law 101-624.

OBJECTIVES:

To assist established (owner or tenant) family farmers, ranchers and aquaculture operators with loans to cover losses resulting from major and/or natural disasters, which can be used for annual farm operating expenses, and for other essential needs necessary to return disaster victims' farming operations to a financially sound basis in order that they will be able to return to private sources of credit as soon as possible.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Loans

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Loan funds may be used to repair, restore, or replace damaged or destroyed farm property (real and chattel) and supplies which were lost or damaged as a direct result of a natural disaster; under certain conditions, refinance secured and unsecured debts made necessary by the disasters; finance adjustments in the farming, ranching or aquaculture operation(s) determined necessary to restore or maintain applicants' operations on a sound financial basis equivalent to their predisaster potential. The total of all actual loss loans is based on actual dollar value of production and physical losses. Loans are made at the Agency's current Emergency Loan actual loss interest rate, with a maximum limit of 100 percent of the actual production loss and 100 percent of the actual physical loss, or $500,000 total indebtedness. Loans are made in counties: (1) Named by the Federal Emergency Management Agency as being eligible for Federal assistance under a major disaster or emergency declaration by the President; (2) designated as natural disaster areas by the Secretary of Agriculture; and (3) designated by the FSA Administrator for severe physical losses, only, as a result of a natural disaster.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Minority group; Requires that an applicant: (a) Not have caused a loss to the Agency after April 4, 1996, or received debt forgiveness on no more than 1 occasion prior to April 4, 1996. (b) be an established family farmer, rancher, or aquaculture operator (either tenant-operator or owner-operator), who was conducting a farming operation at the time of occurrence of the disaster either as an individual proprietorship, a partnership, a cooperative, a corporation, or a joint operation; (c) have suffered qualifying crop loss and/or physical property damage caused by a designated natural disaster; (d) be a citizen of the United States or legal resident alien, or be operated by citizens and/or resident aliens owning over a 50 percent interest of the farming entity; (e) be unable to obtain suitable credit from any other source(s) to qualify for subsidized loss loans; (f) have sufficient training or farming experience in managing and operating a farm or ranch (1 year's complete production and marketing cycle within the last 3 years immediately preceding the application); (g) be able to project a feasible and sound plan of operation; (h) be a capable manager of the farming, ranching, or aquaculture operations (in the case of a cooperative, corporation, partnership or joint operation, if members, stockholders, partners or joint operators own a majority interest and are related by blood or marriage, at least one member, stockholder, partner or joint operator must operate the family farm; if not related, the majority interest holder(s) must operate the family farm); (i) have legal capacity to contract for the loan; (j) obtain eligibility certification; (k) provide adequate collateral to secure the loan request; (l) have not been convicted of crop insurance fraud (in certain situations); (m) have crop insurance if available for affected crops comply with the highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions of Public Law 99-198 (16 U.S.C. 3801 et seq.), (Title 12 and 13) the Food Security Act of 1985 and the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990. Applicants who cannot meet all of these requirements are not eligible. Assistance is available in the 50 States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and, to the extent the Secretary determines it to be feasible and appropriate, the Trust Territories of the Pacific Islands, when those areas (by county) are designated.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Minority group; Native American Organizations; Farmer/Rancher/Agriculture Producer; Land/Property Owner; Black; American Indian; Spanish Origin; Asian; Other Non-White; U.S. Citizen; Women; Low Income; Rural; Applicants/borrowers are the direct beneficiaries when they meet all eligibility criteria. Families, individuals and entities who are farmers, ranchers or aquaculture operators are the beneficiaries.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants must establish that substantial physical property damage and/or severe production losses, caused by the designated natural disaster, has occurred. To qualify for loss loans, the applicant must be unable to get credit elsewhere and demonstrate repayment ability on the loan. This program is excluded from coverage under OMB Circular No. A-87. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

10.405 Farm Labor Housing Loans and Grants

(Labor Housing).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

RURAL HOUSING SERVICE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Housing Act of 1949, as amended, Sections 514 and 516, Public Laws 89-117 and 89-754, 42 U.S.C 1484 and 1486.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide decent, safe, and sanitary low-rent housing and related facilities for domestic farm laborers.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Loans, Guaranteed/Insured Loans, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The loans and grants may be used for construction, repair, or purchase of year-round or seasonal housing; acquiring the necessary land and making improvements on land for housing; and developing related support facilities including central cooking and dining facilities, small infirmaries, laundry facilities, day care centers, other essential equipment and facilities or recreation areas. Funds may also be used to pay certain fees and interest incidental to the project. Restrictions on the use of funds are: Developers' fees, resident services, cost of unrelated commercial space, costs associated with other lenders/grantors. Housing financed with labor housing loan or grant funds must be occupied by domestic farm laborers, individuals who derive a substantial portion of their income from farm labor, and their families. The occupants must also be a U.S. citizen or permanent resident.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Loans are available to farmers, family farm partnership, family farm corporations, or an association of farmers. Loans and grants are available to States, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, political subdivisions of States, broad-based public or private nonprofit organizations, federally recognized Indian Tribes and non-profit corporations of farm workers. Grants are available to eligible applicants only when there is a pressing need and when it is doubtful that such facilities could be provided unless grant assistance is available.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Farmer/Rancher/Agriculture Producer; U.S. Citizen; A domestic farm laborer is any person who receives a substantial portion of his/her income as a laborer on a farm in the United States and is either (1) a citizen of the United States, or (2) has been legally admitted for permanent residency.

Credentials/Documentation:

The applicant must furnish factual evidence of the following: (a) The number of domestic farm laborers currently being used in the area; (b) the kind of labor performed; (c) the future need for domestic farm labor in the area; (d) the kind, condition, and adequacy of housing presently used for such labor; (e) ownership of presently occupied housing; (f) ability of workers to pay necessary rent; and (g) with the exception of State and local public agencies, be unable to provide housing from its own resources or credit on terms and conditions that would enable the applicant to provide labor housing. Costs will be determined in accordance with 7 CFR part 3015 or 3016 for State and local governments. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The Section 514/516 Program is awarded through Notice of Solicitation of Applications (NOSA) announced in the Federal Register.

Award Procedure:

Applications will be scored on the following factors: (1) The presence and extent of leveraged assistance for the units that will serve RHS income-eligible tenants at basic rents comparable to those if RHS provided full financing, computed as a percentage of the RHS total development cost. A minimum of ten percent leveraged assistance is required to earn points; however, less than ten percent and the proposal includes donated land, two points will be awarded for the donated land, (0 to 20 points); (2) Seasonal, temporary, migrant housing (5 points for up to and including 50 percent of the units; 10 points for 51 percent or more); National Office initiative will be based on the presence of and extent to which a tenant services plan exists that clearly outlines services that will be provided to the residents of the proposed project. Two points will be awarded for each resident service included in the tenant services plan up to a maximum of 10 points,(0 to 10 points). Application selection process: (1) States will review and score the applications and submit a list of applications in rank and point score order to the National Office; (2) the National Office will rank applications on a nation-wide basis and will advise States of the results.

Deadlines:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 60 to 90 days. RHS uses a two-stage application process for the Farm Labor Housing Program. First, applicants submit preapplications, which are used to determine preliminary eligibility and feasibility. RHS then invites some applicants to submit formal applications. Section 514/516 funds are divided between off-farm housing and on-farm housing. The off-farm program provides loans and grants to organizations that assist farm workers at off-farm locations with no restrictions that workers be employed on a particular farm. Under new regulations effective June 1999, preapplications for the off-farm program funds must be submitted in response to a Notice of Solicitation of Applications (NOSA) published in the Federal Register every year. RHS scores the preapplications, using a ranking process to determine which applicants will be invited to submit formal applications. The on-farm program makes loans to eligible farmers (or a group of farmers) to provide Housing, usually for their own laborers. Preapplications for on-farm units, or for repair And rehabilitation of existing off-farm units, may be submitted at any time are processed on a first-come, first-served basis.

Appeals:

From 15 to 30 days. A person or organization who is directly and adversely affected by an administrative decision by Rural Development should follow the procedures found in 7 CFR part 1900, Subpart B of "Rural Development Administrative Appeal Procedures."

Renewals:

Not Applicable.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 10%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Section 516 grants for off-farm FLH may not exceed the lesser of 90 percent of the total development cost (TDC) as provided in 7 CFR 3560.562(c)(1).MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Loans are usually made for 33 years at 1 percent interest. Grants may cover up to 90 percent of development cost. The balance may be (and usually is) a Section 514 loan. RHS rental assistance (RA) subsidy can be used to limit tenant payments to 30 percent of their income. RA can be used as an operating subsidy for projects or units with Section 516 funding that serve migrants. It is RHS policy to attempt to use less than a 90 percent grant when RA is utilized. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: lump sum.

10.410 Very Low to Moderate Income Housing Loans

(Section 502 Rural Housing Loans),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

RURAL HOUSING SERVICE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Housing Act of 1949

OBJECTIVES:

To assist very low, low-income, and moderate-income households to obtain modest, decent, safe, and sanitary housing for use as a permanent residence in rural areas.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Loans, Guaranteed/Insured Loans

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Direct and guaranteed loans may be used to buy, build, or improve the applicant's permanent residence. New manufactured homes may be financed when they are on a permanent site, purchased from an approved dealer or contractor, and meet certain other requirements. Under very limited circumstances, homes may be refinanced with direct loans. Dwellings financed must be modest, decent, safe, and sanitary. The value of a home financed with a direct loan may not exceed the area limit. The property must be located in an eligible rural area. Assistance is available in the States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana's, and the Trust Territories of the Pacific Islands.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Applicants must have very low-, low- or moderate incomes. Very low-income is defined as below 50 percent of the area median income (AMI); low-income is between 50 and 80 percent of AMI; moderate income is below 115 percent of AMI. Families must be without adequate housing, but able to afford the housing payments, including principal, interest, taxes, and insurance (PITI). Qualifying repayment ratios are 29 percent for PITI to 41 percent for total debt. In addition, applicants must be unable to obtain credit elsewhere, yet have an acceptable credit history.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Moderate Income; Low Income; Rural; Applicants must meet eligibility requirements. Guaranteed Loan Low and Moderate income eligible.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants may need to submit evidence of inability to obtain credit elsewhere, verification of income, debts, and other information on the application; plans, specifications, and cost estimates. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. For direct loans, application is made at the Rural Development field office serving the county where the dwelling is or will be located. For guaranteed loans, application is made to a participating private lender.

Award Procedure:

Rural Development field offices have authority to approve most Direct loan requests. Processing of guaranteed loans varies in each State. Consult your local telephone directory under U.S. Department of Agriculture for a Rural Development field office listing or visit the website <http://offices.sc.egov.usda.gov/locator/app> for a State Office listing. If no backlog exists, decisions on direct loan applications are made within 30 to 60 days. Requests for guarantee loans are acted upon in 3 days of receipt of the lender's request for guarantee.

Deadlines:

Not Applicable.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. For direct loans, from 30 to 60 days subject to availability of funds, from the time the application is filed if no backlog of applications exists. A 'pre-qualification' may be provided to potential direct loan applicants upon call or visit to a Rural Development office, though results are not binding. For guarantees, a decision is required within 3 days of loan package submission by the approved lender.

Appeals:

Other. Agency regulations providing customers with the rights for an informal review, mediation or alternative dispute resolution (ADR), or appeal to the National Appeals Division (NAD) are contained in 7 CFR Part 3550. NAD regulations are found at 7 CFR Part 11. Requests for an informal review, mediation and ADR must be received within 30 days from the date of the adverse decision. Requests for an appeal to NAD must be received within 30 days of receipt of the adverse decision.

Renewals:

Other. Applicants may reapply at any time.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. This program has no matching requirements. A basic formula is used to allocate program funds to various States. The criteria used in the basic formula include the States percentage of the National: Number of rural occupied substandard units, rural population, rural population in places of less than 2,500 population, number of rural households between 50 and 80 percent of the area median income, and number of rural households below 50 percent of the area median income. The data source for each of these criteria is based on the latest census data available. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

This assistance is available throughout the year by means of quarterly allocations. Funds may be disbursed at loan closing or deposited in a supervised bank account for purchase of a building site, and purchase or repair of a dwelling, or in multiple advances for construction. For guaranteed loans, funds are disbursed after all work is complete. Applications for direct loans far exceed available funding. There is generally a waiting list for direct loan funding. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: quarterly

Reports:

Borrowers receiving a payment subsidy must submit verification of household income annually for recalculation of benefits. Borrowers are not required to, but should retain copies of loan-related documents.

10.435 State Mediation Grants

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FARM SERVICE AGENCY, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Agricultural Credit Act of 1987, Public Law 100-233

OBJECTIVES:

To assist States in establishing and administering mediation programs and services for agricultural producers, creditors of producers (as applicable), and persons directly affected by actions of the Department of Agriculture.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants are to be used for the operation and administration of a State's mediation program which has been certified by the Administrator of the Farm Service Agency (FSA) as meeting the requirements of Section 501 (c) of Title V of the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987 (U.S.C. 510), as amended. A grant will not exceed 70 percent of the total fiscal year funds that a qualifying State requires to operate and administer its mediation program, or $500,000, whichever is less. Eligible costs are limited to those that are reasonable and necessary to carry out the mission of the State's mediation program and may include activities related to the intake and scheduling of cases, the provision of background and selected information regarding the mediation process, financial advisory and counseling services, and the mediation session.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); State governments.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Agricultural producers, creditors of producers (as applicable) and persons directly affected by actions of the Department of Agriculture.

Credentials/Documentation:

Have a mediation program which has been certified by the Administrator of FSA, and for which certification has not been withdrawn; provide evidence to justify the estimated costs of operating and administering the State's mediation program. The Governor of a State or head of an entity designated by the Governor of a State must make a written request to FSA on or before August 1 of each year to receive a matching grant during the fiscal year commencing on October 1, of that same year. Request for certification are accepted after August 1 of each year; however, the State will be considered in order of date received for reserved grant funds. Costs will be determined in accordance with OMB Circular No. A-87 for State and local governments. To be certified as a qualifying State, the mediation program of the State must mediate issues involving agricultural loans (regardless of whether the loans are made or guaranteed by the Secretary of Agriculture or made by third party); and may provide mediation services for disputes involving wetlands determinations, compliance with farm programs including conservation programs, rural water loan programs, grazing on National forest system lands, pesticides, and such other issues, under the jurisdiction of the Secretary meeting the requirements of Section 501 of Title V of the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987 (7 U.S.C. 510), as amended. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. No additional information provided.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The standard application forms as furnished by the Federal agency and required by 7 CFR part 3016, must be used for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under OMB Circular No. A-110.

Award Procedure:

Grant funds will be distributed on a first come, first served basis to qualifying States. If, however, when funds for a fiscal year become available, there are not sufficient funds to give all qualifying States 70 percent of their justified estimated expenses for the fiscal year, the percentage allocation will be reduced so as to give all States the same percentage of their expenses. FSA views the use of grant funds to provide financial advisory or other services in an advocacy context to be inconsistent with the premise of a mediation program, which is to provide a neutral forum for resolution of disputes.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Thirty days from receipt of a complete application package.

Appeals:

Other. If a certified State mediation program is available as part of the informal appeal hearing process, the participant will be offered the right to choose such mediation.

Renewals:

Other. Section 506 of Title V of the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987, Public Law 100-233 and Section 1853 of the Food, Agricultural, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990, Public Law 101-624, Section 22 of the Agricultural Credit Improvement Act of 1992, Public Law 102-554, Section 282 of the Federal Crop Insurance Reform and Department of Agriculture Reorganization Act of 1994, Public Law 103-354, and the United States Grain Standards Act of 2000, Public Law 106-472.

10.450 Crop Insurance

Crop Insurance,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

RISK MANAGEMENT AGENCY, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Crop Insurance Act, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1501-1520, Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, 7 (U.S.C. 1501; Federal Crop Insurance Act of 1980, as amended, Public Law 101-624; Federal Crop Insurance Reform Act of 1994, Public Law 103-354; Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996, Public Law 104-127; Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998, Public Law 105-185; Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 1999, Public Law 109-97; Agriculture Risk Protection Act of 2000, Public Law 106-224; Food, Conservation and Energy Act of 2008, Public Law 110-234; and Agricultural Act of 2014, Public Law No. 113-79.

OBJECTIVES:

Risk Management Agency's (RMA) mission is serving America's agricultural producers through effective, market-based risk management tools and solutions to strengthen the economic stability of agricultural producers and rural communities. To carry out this mission, RMA operates and manages the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC). FCIC provides crop insurance and risk management strategies to American producers. Private sector insurance providers, approved by FCIC, sell and service the policies. RMA develops and/or approves premium rates, administers the premium and expense subsidies, approves and support products, and reinsures the Approved Insurance Providers (AIPs). In addition, RMA sponsors educational programs and seminars on risk management.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Insurance

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) is a wholly owned government corporation created February 16, 1938 (7 U.S.C. 1501.) The program was amended by Public Law (P.L.) 96-365, dated September 26, 1980, to provide for nationwide expansion of a comprehensive crop insurance plan. FCIC is administered by the Risk Management Agency (RMA), and promotes the national welfare by improving the economic stability of agriculture through a secure system of crop insurance. FCIC provides an actuarially sound risk management program that protects against agricultural production losses due to unavoidable causes such as drought, excessive moisture, hail, wind, hurricane, tornado, lightning, and insects. In addition to these causes, revenue insurance programs are available under which producers of certain crops are protected against loss of revenue stemming from low prices, poor yields, or a combination of both. Federal crop insurance is available to producers through private insurance companies that market and service policies and also share in the risk. Thus, the program delivery is a joint effort between the Federal government and the private insurance industry. Federal government subsidizes insurance premiums at a variety of levels depending on level of insurance coverage.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Unless otherwise restricted by the insurance policy, owners or operators of farmland, who have an insurable interest in a crop in a county where insurance is offered on that crop, are eligible for insurance.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Farmer/Rancher/Agriculture Producer; Land/Property Owner; This program is excluded from coverage under OMB Circular No. A-87.

Credentials/Documentation:

Different types of crop productions information is required depending on the crop insurance purchased. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Application for crop insurance offered by a company reinsured by FCIC must be filed with a crop insurance sales agent. Both catastrophic and additional coverage are available only from private companies. In general, crops and acreage must be reported to establish insurance coverage for crop insurance and, if not eligible for crop insurance. This program is excluded from coverage under OMB Circular No. A-110.

Award Procedure:

The insurance contract becomes effective upon issuance of a Notice of Acceptance by the insurance company. Notices of Acceptance for insurance coverage are issued upon a determination that the applicant is eligible.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. From 15 to 20 days.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year 2017: Over the past seven decades, Federal crop insurance has been the primary product provided by the FCIC (administered by the Risk Management Agency (RMA)) and consists of various alternatives designed to improve the economic stability of agriculture. Recent legislative mandates have prompted significant program growth and the development of many large and complex new programs. RMA continuously strives to provide adequate risk protection for our Nations agricultural producers and to identify and address concerns about Federal crop insurance. RMA continues to evaluate risk management products, review and approve private sector products to be reinsured by FCIC, and ensure delivery of these products to agricultural producers. Risk management products can help producers protect themselves from yield risks, market risks, or both. Examples of more recent, new and innovative insurance tools are Stacked Income Protection (STAX), Supplemental Coverage Options (SCO), whole farm, and Pasture Rangeland and Forage (PRF). For 2017, with over 1.13 million policies on over 312 million net acres, the program provided nearly $74.6 billion in risk protection. Beginning in 2016 (July 2015), Whole Farm Revenue Protection is available in every county in the United States a first for the crop insurance program. In addition, eligibility for Whole Farm Revenue Protection was expanded to include beginning farmers and farms that are exclusively livestock or greenhouse. Whole Farm program was enhanced to require more accurate record keeping, development of record keeping tools, and to allow for expanding farm operations. Pasture, Rangeland, and Forage, an area-based insurance plan that covers perennial pasture, rangeland, or forage used to feed livestock, has been expanded to an additional 19 states, which makes it available in all 48 contiguous states. In addition, updates to pricing better reflect the replacement cost of feed and the producers loss experience. Price changes allow organic producers to receive a price guarantee that better reflects the value of their crop. These additions will bring the total number of crops with organic prices from 73 in crop year 2016 to 79 in crop year 2017.

10.458 Crop Insurance Education in Targeted States

(Targeted States).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

RISK MANAGEMENT AGENCY, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Crop Insurance Act, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1524(a)(2)

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of this cooperative agreement program is to deliver crop insurance education and information to U.S. agricultural producers in certain, designated States that have been historically underserved with respect to crop insurance. The States, collectively referred to as Targeted States, are Alaska, Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Entities receiving funding will use funds to (a) plan a local program of crop insurance education for agricultural producers, (b) develop and assemble instructional materials, (c) promote awareness for crop insurance and educational opportunities, (d) deliver crop insurance educational activities to agricultural producers and agribusiness professionals, and (e) document project activities. Applicants may propose additional uses of funds that meet the objectives of the program. RMA will be substantially involved in the management and direction of the project. Indirect costs allowed for projects submitted under this program will be limited to ten percent of total direct costs of the cooperative agreement. Funds may not be used to (a) plan, repair, rehabilitate, acquire, or construct a building or facility including a processing facility, (b) purchase, rent, or install fixed equipment, (c) repair or maintain privately owned vehicles, (d) pay for the preparation of the cooperative agreement application, (e) fund political activities, (f) purchase alcohol, give-away promotional items, or entertainment, (g) lend money to support farming or agricultural business operation or expansion, (h) pay entrance fees, conference registration fees, or other expenses to conferences or similar activities for any person not on the agenda or not working at an event booth promoting RMA programs or the RMA funded project. These expenses will not be paid for the recipients Board of Directors, family members or similar entities, (i) pay costs associated 501(c) applications, and (j) Fund any activities prohibited in 2 CFR Parts 200 and 400, as applicable.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Eligible applicants include State departments of agriculture, universities, non-profit agricultural organizations, and other public or private organizations with the capacity to lead a local program of crop insurance education for farmers and ranchers in a Targeted State. Individuals are eligible applicants. Although an applicant may be eligible to compete for an award based on its status as an eligible entity, other factors may exclude an applicant from receiving federal assistance under this program (e.g. debarment and suspension; a determination of non-performance on a prior contract, cooperative agreement, grant or partnership; a determination of a violation of applicable ethical standards).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; The ultimate beneficiaries of this education program are agricultural producers in the Targeted States. Applicants receiving awards will ensure that such producers receive effective crop insurance education and information either directly or through agribusiness professionals that can impart crop insurance information to producers.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants must demonstrate the capacity to deliver crop insurance education and information programs to producers in the written narratives and statements of work that accompany applications. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Application Procedures that are required during the application process are outlined in the Request for Application.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Eligible applicants must complete and submit a valid application to RMA Headquarters by the application deadline. All applicants must submit applications in compliance with the criteria outlined in the Request for Applications (RFA) by the deadline specified in the Notice. Applications must be submitted electronically. Hard copy applications are not acceptable. Program application materials may be downloaded from the RMA website at www.rma.usda.gov.

Award Procedure:

Each application will be evaluated using a two-part process. First, each application will be screened by RMA personnel to ensure that it meets the requirements listed in the Request for Applications announcement. Second, a review panel will consider the merits of all applications that meet the requirements in the announcement. The panel will examine and score applications based on the evaluation criteria contained in the Request for Applications. Other review panel information is provided in the Request for Applications announcement. Following its review, the panel will report to the Manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) with a listing of the recommended applicants to receive cooperative agreements. The Manager of FCIC will make the final determination on applications that will be awarded funding.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 90 to 120 days. Deadlines and other key dates are listed in the Request for Applications. Applicants may contact headquarters or a regional office if they have additional questions.

10.479 Food Safety Cooperative Agreements

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FOOD SAFETY AND INSPECTION SERVICE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 108-7, Sec. 713, 117 Stat. 39

OBJECTIVES:

To reduce the incidence of foodborne illnesses associated with meat, poultry, and egg products and to protect the food supply. FSIS is authorized to use cooperative agreements to reflect a relationship between FSIS and cooperators to carry out educational programs or special studies to improve the safety of the nation's food supply. Also, FSIS has been directed to further develop the Food Emergency Response Network, a network of Federal, state and local laboratories that provides the nation the analytic capabilities and capacity it needs to cope with agents threatening the food supply.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Available discretionary funds are contingent on annual appropriations. Work products, where appropriate, are to be made available for use by other government agencies and accessible by the general public.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; State, local and tribal government agencies; academic institutions and non-profit organizations).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; General public.

Credentials/Documentation:

This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Academic institutions; State, local and tribal government agencies; and non-profit organizations are invited to submit brief proposals (two to four pages) for cooperative agreements in any of the areas described in the request for proposals along with an SF-424. These proposals will be reviewed by FSIS. The criteria used by FSIS to assess proposals are listed for each cooperative agreement program area in the request for proposals. Cooperators whose proposals are selected for further project development will need to discuss and reach agreement with FSIS on project details to permit establishment of a cooperative agreement. Unlike typical Federal grants, cooperative agreements involve a Federal agency's active participation with the cooperator during both project development and project execution. Work products, where appropriate, are to be made available for use by other government agencies and accessible by the general public. All proposals should address the following points: * Project description, including specific goals, timeline, and deliverables; * Description of national public benefit expected, including expected utility of work products, for example, training manuals, CDs, and videos; * Projected costs, including cooperator contributions; * Projected performance measures; * Primary contact, principal investigator, and other likely participants, and; * All work products may be freely reproduced and distributed by FSIS.

Award Procedure:

Cooperative agreement awards are made upon selection through a competitive process directed by the relevant FSIS program area. The program area identifies the awardees to the FSIS Administrative Services Division, which prepares and executes required documentation.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Generally from 30 to 90 days from the deadline listed in the request for proposals.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. Renewals or extensions may be available under extraordinary circumstances if approved prior to the closing date of the initial agreements.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Generally, funding will be available for projects up to one year. Multi-year projects will be considered, but they are subject to annual renewal and may be affected by changes in FSIS' annual budget. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: lump sum.

Reports:

The cooperative agreement will specify the submission of performance progress reports. A comprehensive final report is required which documents all activities conducted within the partnership. The cooperative agreement will specify the frequency of submission of performance progress reports, which will not be more frequently than quarterly or less frequently than annually. A comprehensive final report is required which documents all activities conducted within the partnership.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Recipients are subject to audit by the Office of the Inspector General, USDA, as set forth in OMB Circular No. A-133, or in Federal Acquisition Regulations.

Records:

The recipient will maintain at its place of business all records required by the partnership agreement and the applicable OMB Circulars.

Account Identification:

12-3700-0-1-554.

10.500 Cooperative Extension Service

(CES),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

SPECIAL NOTES:(1) Numerous Programs are funded under CFDA 10.500. Most of the Cooperative Extension Service (CES) grants were issued under the general authority of the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to 7 U.S.C. 343 (d) (2) Listed below are several programs, which are indicative of the types of projects currently funded under CFDA 10.500. However, please be advised that the listing is NOT exhaustive. 1. SMITH-LEVER 3(b) & (c): (a) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (aka 3b & c Capacity Grants - formerly known as Formula Funds) Sections 3(b) and 3(c) of the Smith-Lever Act provide funding for agricultural extension programs at 1862 Land-grant universities. (b) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (Special Needs) Sections 3(b)(1) and 8 of the Smith-Lever Act provide the basis of funding special needs agricultural extension programs at 1862 Land-grant institutions. (c) Smith-Lever Special Needs Program Section 7129 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA), re-authorizes Section 3(b) & (c) of the Smith-Lever Act, allowing the Secretary of Agriculture, acting through the Director of the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA), to conduct competitive grant programs to State Extension Services at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions to support innovative, education-based approaches to addressing emergency preparedness and specific responses related to natural and man-made disasters. (d) CSRS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET CSRS Retirement) Funds available for distribution under the Smith-Lever Act, Section 3(b) and (c), statutory formula.(e) FERS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET FERS Retirement) Federal funds are available for distribution under the Smith-Lever Act, Section 3(b) and (c), statutory formula. (f) District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (Cooperative Extension Programs) aka EUDC Sections 208 of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act provides, in pertinent part, that In the administration of the Act of August 30, 1890 (7 U.S.C. 321-326, 328) (known as the Second Morrill Act), the University [of the District of Columbia] shall be considered to be a university established for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts in accordance with the provisions of the Act of July 2, 1862 (7 U.S.C. 301-305, 307, 308) (known as the First Morrill Act); and the term "State", is used in the laws and provisions of law listed in the preceding, paragraphs of this section shall include the District of Columbia. In the administration of the Act of May 8, 1914 (7 U.S.C. 341-346, 347a-349) (known as the Smith-Lever Act) the University [of the District of Columbia] shall be considered to be a university established for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts in accordance with the provisions of the Act of July 2, 1862 (7 U.S.C. 301- 305, 307,308); and the term "State" as used in such Act of May 8, 1949, shall include the District of Columbia, except that the District of Columbia shall not be eligible to receive any sums appropriated under section 3 of such Act. In lieu of an authorization of appropriations for the District of Columbia under section 3 of such Act of May 8, 1914, there is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to provide cooperative agricultural extension work in the District of Columbia under such Act. Any reference in such Act (other than section 3 thereof) to funds appropriated under such Act shall in the case of the District of Columbia be considered a reference to funds appropriated under this subsection. Therefore, this grant funds the development of practical applications of research knowledge and giving of instruction and practical demonstrations of existing or improved practices or technologies in agriculture, uses of solar energy with respect to agriculture, home economics, and rural energy, and subjects relating thereto to persons not attending the University of the District of Columbia, and imparting information on those subjects through demonstrations, publications, and otherwise and for the necessary printing and distribution of information in connection with the subjects. Section 7417 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (Public Law 110-234) amended section 208 of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act to eliminate any matching requirement for the extension formula funds provided to the University of the District of Columbia, effective October 1, 2008. 2. Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University and (newly designated) Central State University (Section 1444) (7 U.S.C. 3221)Section 1444 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act Of 1977 (NARETPA), enacted as Title XIV of Public Law 95113 (The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977) on Sept. 29, 1977, is also known as the Section 1444 Program. This law provides the basis for Federal funding for agricultural extension activities at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University and Central State University. 3. SMITH-LEVER 3(d): (a) Expanded Food and Nutrition (EFNEP) (ENUT Nutrition Education) Section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act provides that the Secretary of Agriculture may fund extension work in the several States, Territories, and possessions. Section 1425 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (as amended) (7 U.S.C. 3175) provides the statutory formula for the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP). This program supports Federal funding for extension activities associated with disseminating the results of food and nutrition research performed or funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to enable low-income individuals and families to engage in nutritionally sound food purchase and preparation practices. Funding extends to EFNEP at State land-grant colleges established under the Morrill Act of July 2, 1862, as amended, and the Morrill Act of August 30, 1890, as amended, including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University. Section 7116 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) amended Section 1425 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3175) to accomplish various goals as indicated in Part I.A. of the Capacity Grant Request for Application (Capacity RFA). (b) Youth at Risk Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(c) Improve Rural Quality of Life Represents a new program: Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(d) Farm Safety See 7 U.S.C. 343 (d). Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(e) New Technologies at Ag Extension See 7 U.S.c. 343 (d). Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(f) Pest Management Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(g) Sustainable Agriculture (SARE-PD) Effective FY 2014 this Program was consolidated under Research. See CFDA 10.215 for pertinent details.(h) Federally Recognized Tribes See 7 U.S.C. 343 (d). Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(i) Youth Farm Safety Education & Certification See 7 U.S.C. 343 (d). Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(j) EIPM Support Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(k) EIPM Coordination Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.4. OTHER EXTENSION ACTIVITIES: (a) Renewable Resources Extension Act The Renewable Resources Extension Act of 1978 (P.L. 95-306, 92 Stat. 349, 16 U.S.C. 1671 et seq.) provides for an expanded and comprehensive extension program for forest and rangeland renewable resources. The majority of the appropriated funds are distributed to eligible institutions based on a formula that considers the geographic extent, ecosystem productivity, economic contribution, and population for each state. Since FY 2002, a small amount of these funds have been used to fund National Focus Fund Projects which have served to expand comprehensive extension programs for forest and rangeland renewable resources on a national, regional, or multi-institutional scale through better program coordination, innovative technologies, and extension models that can be easily duplicated. (b) Rural Health and Safety The authority for this program is under Section 502 (i) of Title V of the Rural Development Act of 1972, as amended (7 U.S.C. 2662). The Omnibus Appropriations Act, 2009 (Pub. L. 111-8) appropriates funds under Division A, Title I. The Rural Health and Safety Education Competitive Program addresses the Individual and Family Health Education component of the authorization.(c) Extension Services at the 1994 Institutions This program is authorized under Section 534(b) of the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 201 note), as amended by the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) (7 U.S.C. 7601). This section amends Section 3 of the Act of May 8, 1914 (Smith-Lever Act) (7 U.S.C. 341 et seq.), as amended. Under this authority, appropriated funds are to be awarded to the 1994 Land-Grant Institutions (hereinafter referred to as 1994 institutions) for Extension work and funds are to be distributed on the basis of a competitive application process.(d) Grants to Youth Serving Institutions Title IV of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7630) authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to make grants to the Girl Scouts of the United States of America (GSUSA), the Boy Scouts of America (BSA), the National 4-H Council (4-H Council), and the National FFA Organization (FFA). Section 7309 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act (FCEA) of 2008 reauthorized 7 U.S.C. 7630, which was also amended to provide additional flexibility in content delivery to each organization receiving funds and to allow recipients to redistribute all or part of the funds to individual councils or local chapters without further need of approval from the Secretary. In FY 2009, Terms and Conditions of these awards should facilitate the redistribution without further need of approval. The Omnibus Appropriations Act, 2009 (Pub. L. 111-8) appropriates funds under Division A, Title I for grants to youth organizations pursuant to 7 U.S.C. 7630.(e) Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database Program (FARAD) Title VI Section 604 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7642) states that -The Secretary of Agriculture shall continue operation of the Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database program (referred to in this section as the FARAD program) through contracts, grants, or cooperative agreements with appropriate colleges or universities. (f) Federal Administration DIRECT APPROPRIATION Pertinent details will be provided at a future date.(g) 1890 Facilities (Section 1447) Pursuant to the authority contained in Section 1447 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (NARETPA) [7 U.S.C. 3222b], and reauthorized by Section 7123 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) (Pub. L. 110-246) grants will be awarded under the Facilities Grants Program to the 1890 land-grant institutions, including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University. The Omnibus Appropriations Act, 2009 appropriates funds under Division A, Title I.(h) Agriculture Risk Management Education Partnership Grants Program (aka ARPA and RME): Section 133 of the Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000 (ARPA), (Pub. L. 106-224), amended the Federal Crop Insurance Act to add section 524(a)(3); [7 U.S.C. Section 1501 as amended by section 132(a) and section 524]; which requires the Secretary, acting through the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA), to establish a competitive grants program for the purpose of educating agricultural producers about the full range of risk management activities. Section 524(a) of the Federal Crop Insurance Act, 7 U.S.C. 1524(a) was further amended by Section 12026 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008, (FCEA) (Pub. L. 110-246), which requires that the Secretary place special emphasis on risk management strategies, education, and specifically targeted outreach., 7 USC Code 341-349.

OBJECTIVES:

GENERAL: [As reflected in Part I.B. of the Request for Applications (RFA) or Capacity Requests for Applications (Capacity RFA)]1. Smith-Lever (3b) & (c) Capacity Grants (formerly known as Formula Funds)a Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (formerly known as 3b & c Formula Funds) These funds are used by institutions eligible to receive funds under the Act of Congress approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled An Act donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts (Twelfth Statutes at Large, page five hundred and three) (1862 Land-grant Institutions), for the development of practical applications of research knowledge and giving of instruction and practical demonstrations of existing or improved practices or technologies in agriculture, uses of solar energy with respect to agriculture, home economics, and rural energy, and subjects relating thereto to persons not attending or resident in 1862 Land-grant Institutions in the several communities, and imparting information on those subjects through demonstrations, publications, and otherwise and for the necessary printing and distribution of information in connection with the subjects. The purpose of this funding is to conduct agricultural extension work.(b) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (Special Needs) The purpose of this funding is to increase the level of agricultural extension work. These funds are used to support extension activities identified in the eligible institutions approved 5-Year Plan of Work. Special Needs funds are allocated to a State Cooperative Extension Service to fulfill a purpose or overcome a condition peculiar to the State, as compared to the country as a whole, or for a purpose not normally a part of the continuing extension program.(c) Smith-Lever Special Needs Program Funds support innovative extension education approaches to addressing risks, hazards and disasters. The Cooperative Extension Service (CES) has an important role in reducing the impact of disasters through extension education. The Extension Special Needs program sponsors targeted projects that enable CES to assist in preparing for, providing an educational response to, and recovering from disasters. Education programming funded by this program will help communities, families and individuals become more self-sustaining by strengthening and increasing their resiliency to disaster. Some types of hazards and disaster related events funded in previous years include uncertainties caused by losses of economic infrastructure, severe weather or other natural disasters, security breaches, human disease, or high consequence animal diseases and plant pests. There has been an increase in public awareness regarding the number and severity of disaster type critical incidents involving earthquakes, tsunamis, tornadoes, wildfire, drought, contagious disease, and terrorist events. The National Academy of Sciences Committee on Environment and Natural Resources and the Subcommittee on Disaster Reduction of the National Science and Technology Council have acknowledged the many effective roles that the Cooperative Extension System (CES) has played in disaster preparedness, response and remediation. Within the states and territories, the CES has repeatedly served as the trusted community organization that has helped to enable families, communities, and businesses to successfully prepare for, respond to and cope with disaster losses and critical incidents. Once a disaster has occurred, the local extension outreach includes: 1) Communicating practical science-based risk information, 2) Developing relevant educational experiences and programs, 3) Working with individuals and communities to open new communication channels, and 4) Mitigating losses and facilitating recovery. Never was this more evident than after hurricanes Katrina, Rita and Wilma in 2005 and during the 2008 Midwestern Summer flooding. During and after these incidents, local Extension agents served as a critical communication node throughout affected urban and rural areas, particularly when traditional communication systems were temporarily overwhelmed or destroyed. The Extension Special Needs RFA encourages proposals that specifically address one or more of the following six key target areas: 1. Education and Technical assistance through inter-disciplinary and multi-state disaster training programs and demonstration projects for problem solving, especially those which build upon already existing strengths, contribute to or expand the EDEN and/or eXtension educational materials related to disaster preparation, mitigation, response and recovery; 2. Collaboration with Federal, state and local agencies and other disaster relief organizations to support education and service activities that enhance recovery of impacted rural communities, schools, businesses and agricultural-based activities; 3. Long range family, community and regional planning projects that will enhance implementation of programs that serve public needs in preparation for, during and after emergency situations within impacted States and across impacted regions; 4. Communication delivery of key information that meets end-users needs in a timely fashion with consideration of potentially limited communication channels due to disaster situations; 5. Dissemination of credible, science-based information that is reliable and easily accessible even if electronic access is compromised; and 6. Integrated Research and Extension Planning Projects (up to $15,000) are intended to provide assistance to applicants in bringing together teams for the development of highly competitive grant proposals where extension personnel would apply for large grants (in excess of $250,000) from other grant programs (e.g., the Agriculture and Food Research Initiative and etc) and lead nationally important disaster prevention, protection and mitigation projects. Fundable projects should support education and extension activities which: 1. Reduce risk through planning, disaster preparedness and emergency response by improving communication between the public, community leaders, state and Federal agencies; 2. Develop strategies and educational materials and/or programming in the area of emergency planning, infrastructure design and disaster recovery operation; 3. Develop community networks that provide real-time disaster education information; and/or 4. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive, Non-Competitive and/or Capacity Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive and/or Capacity RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. All RFAs are published on the Agency's website and Grants.gov. Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. GENERAL PERTINENT DETAILS: 1. SMITH-LEVER 3(b) & (c): (a) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions [(aka 3b & c Capacity Funds), formerly known as "Formula" funds]] Pre-award form submissions must be submitted to the Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions program as a new application on the www.grants.gov website. As noted in the Capacity Request for Applications (Capacity RFA), these application packages complement, rather than duplicate, the information collected via the Plan of Work (POW) system, and together satisfy all legislative and regulatory pre-award requirements. Section 202 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) amended the Smith-Lever Act and the Hatch Act to require approved plans of work for agricultural extension and research activities at 1862 Land-grant Institutions in order to receive Federal funding. Therefore, each 1862 Land-grant Institution must submit both a 5-Year Plan of Work Update (i.e., submitted each year as an update) and an Annual Report of Accomplishments and Results. Both reports were due by April 1. (b) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (Special Needs) : Pre-award form submissions must be submitted to Special Needs Program as a new application on the www.grants.gov website. As noted in the Capacity Request for Applications (Capacity RFA), these application packages complement, rather than duplicate, the information collected via the Plan of Work (POW) system, and together satisfy all legislative and regulatory pre-award requirements. Section 202 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) amended the Smith-Lever Act and the Hatch Act to require approved plans of work for agricultural extension and research activities at 1862 Land-grant Institutions in order to receive Federal funding. Therefore, each 1862 Land-grant Institution must submit both a 5-Year Plan of Work Update (i.e., submitted each year as an update) and an Annual Report of Accomplishments and Results. Both reports were due by April 1. (c) Smith-Lever Special Needs Program : Pertinent info to be determined at a later date. (d) CSRS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET CSRS Retirement): This program is no longer funded by NIFA. The deadline for the FY 2015 Request for Applications (RFA) was October 15, 2014. (e) FERS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET FERS Retirement): This program is no longer funded by NIFA. The deadline for the FY 2016 RFA was July 20, 2015. (f) District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (Cooperative Extension Programs) aka EUDC: Pre-award form submissions must be submitted to the DCPPERA program as a new application on the www.grants.gov website. As noted in the Capacity Request for Applications (Capacity RFA), these application packages complement, rather than duplicate, the information collected via the Plan of Work (POW) system, and together satisfy all legislative and regulatory pre-award requirements. Section 105 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) amended the Smith-Lever Act and the Hatch Act to require an approved Plan of Work for extension and research activities at 1862 Land-grant Institutions in order to receive Federal funding. As stated in the Preface to the Federal Register Notice at 71 FR 4107, Although the District of Columbia receives extension funds under the District of Columbia Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act, Public Law 93471, as opposed to the Smith-Lever Act, NIFA has determined that it should be subject to the POW requirements imposed under these guidelines except where expressly excluded. Therefore, the University of the District of Columbia must submit both a 5-Year Plan of Work Update (i.e., submitted as an annual update) and an Annual Report of Accomplishments and Results. Both reports were due April 1. 2. Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University (Section 1444): Pre-award form submissions must be submitted to the Section 1444 Program as a new application on the www.grants.gov website. These application packages complement, rather than duplicate, the information collected via the Plan of Work (POW) system, and together satisfy all legislative and regulatory pre-award requirements. Section 225 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) amended NARETPA to require an approved Plan of Work for agricultural extension and research activities at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions in order to receive Federal funding. Therefore, each 1890 land-grant institution, including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University, must submit both a 5-Year Plan of Work Update and an Annual Report of Accomplishments and Results. Both reports are due April 1. Further, in accordance with Section 7129 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (House Conference Report 113-333, to accompany H.R. 2642), Central State University has the Designation as 1890 Institution. 3. SMITH-LEVER 3(d): (a) Expanded Food and Nutrition (EFNEP) (ENUT Nutrition Education): No Standard Form (SF) 424-A, Budget Information for Non-Construction Programs, and no Budget Narrative Attachment Form are required for either the initial or the final submissions. However, the EFNEP-specific forms will be required. Pre-award form submissions must be submitted to EFNEP as a new application on the www.grants.gov website. The SF-424M Application Package should include: Application for Federal Assistance (Standard Form (SF) 424M (Mandatory) NIFA Supplemental Information Form Key Contacts Form (b) Youth at Risk (CYFAR): Refer to the most current Request for Applications (RFA) for specific instructions. Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. SPECIAL NOTE:Please refer to the Competitive and/or Capacity Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive and/or Capacity RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.1. SMITH-LEVER 3(b) & (c):(a) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions [(aka 3b & c Capacity Grants (formerly known as "Formula" Funds)):States are eligible for funds appropriated under this Act according to the following formula: Out of each annual allocation, each State will be entitled to receive a sum of money equal to the sums available from Federal cooperative extension funds for the fiscal year 1962, and subject to the same requirements as to furnishing of equivalent sums by the State, except that amounts heretofore made available to the Secretary for allotment on the basis of special needs shall continue available for use on the same basis. Further, the University of Guam and the University of the Virgin Islands will receive $100,000 each in addition to the sums appropriated for the several States of the United States and Puerto Rico under the provisions of sections 3(b) and 3(c) of the Smith-Lever Act. Of the remainder so appropriated for each fiscal year 20 per cent will be paid to the several States in equal proportions, 40 per cent will be paid to the several States in the proportion that the rural population of each bears to the total rural population of the several States as determined by the census, and the balance will be paid to the several States in the proportion that the farm population of each bears to the total farm population of the several States as determined by the census. Any appropriation made under sections 3(b) and 3(c) of the Smith-Lever Act will be allotted in the first and succeeding years on the basis of the decennial census current at the time the appropriation is first made, and as to any increase, on the basis of decennial census current at the time such increase is first appropriated.Cost Sharing or MatchingSection 3(e)(1) of the Smith-Lever Act (7 U.S.C. 343(e)(1)) states, with regard to institutions in the 50 states, no allotment shall be made to a State under subsection (b) or (c), and no payments from the allotment shall be made to a State, in excess of the amount that the State makes available out of non-Federal funds for cooperative extension work. However, section 3(e)(4) of the Smith-Lever Act (U.S.C. 343(e)(4)) provides that Effective beginning for fiscal year 2003, in lieu of the matching funds requirement of paragraph (1), the insular areas of [American Samoa,] the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, [Micronesia, the Northern Marianas Islands,] and the Virgin Islands of the United States shall provide matching funds from non-Federal sources in an amount equal to not less than 50 percent of the formula funds distributed by the Secretary to each of the insular areas, respectively, under this section..... The Secretary may waive the matching fund requirement [of 50 percent] for any fiscal year if the Secretary determines that the government of the insular area will be unlikely to meet the matching requirement for the fiscal year.(b) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (Special Needs) :Funds will be distributed to the institutions on a quarterly basis. See Appendix A of the Capacity Request for Applications (RFA) for the specific allocation.

Cost Sharing or Matching 1862 Land-grant Institutions in the 50 States must match 100 percent of the Special Needs funds they receive with funds from non-Federal sources such as State or county appropriations. The matching must be in the form of cash. Matching funds must be used for extension activities approved in the eligible institutions 5-Year Plan of Work.

(c) Smith-Lever Special Needs Program :Cost Sharing or Matching Pursuant to rules and policies governing Section 3(b) & (c) of the Smith-Lever Act, as amended through Public Law 107-293, no allotment shall be made to a State under subsection (b) or (c), and no payments from the allotment shall be made to a State, in excess of the amount that the State makes available out of non-Federal funds for cooperative extension work.

1. To comply with the matching requirements of the Special Needs Program, applicants are required to provide 100 percent matching funds from non-federal sources for all proposed federal funds sought in the application. In-kind and third party contributions are not allowed for the Smith-Lever Special Needs program. Grant awards cannot be issued until ALL required matching has been documented and verified.

2. Matching Alternative. Extension Directors may certify an offset of guaranteed non-Federal funds to your application. The signed certification of offset must be scanned and included as a PDF attachment (see Part IV.,B.,2.,c.,(1) for specific instructions).

3. Matching Exception. Insular Areas: In lieu of the matching funds requirement, the insular areas of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands of the United States shall provide matching funds from non-Federal sources in an amount equal to not less than 50 percent of the grants awarded. The Secretary may waive this matching fund requirement for any fiscal year if the Secretary determines that the government of the insular area will be unlikely to meet the matching requirement for the fiscal year. Insular applicants may submit a waiver request as a PDF attachment to the application (see Part IV.,B.,2.,c.,(2) for specific instructions).

For all projects:Matching: Applications shall include written verification of commitments of matching support from non-federal sources.

Written verification means:The sources and the amount of all matching support from outside the applicant organization should be summarized on a separate page and placed in the application as a part of the Budget Justification attachment (see Field K on the Form SF 424 (R&R) Budget). Include the matching amount, the budget category for the match, and detail how the matching support, from each source, will be used (e.g., salary and position supported). Additionally, all pledge agreements must be included as a PDF attachment in Field K as well.

The value of applicant contributions to the project shall be established in accordance with the applicable cost principles. Applicants should refer to OMB Circulars A-21, Cost Principles for Educational Institutions; A-87, Cost Principles for State, Local, and Tribal Governments; 2 CFR Part 215, Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Agreements With Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Non-Profit Organizations (OMB Circular A110); for further guidance and other requirements relating to allowable costs.

(d) CSRS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET CSRS Retirement):This program is no longer funded by NIFA. The deadline for the FY 2015 Request for Applications (RFA) was October 15, 2014.

(e) FERS Retirement Contributions Program (aka ERET FERS Retirement):This program is no longer funded by NIFA. The deadline for the FY 2016 RFA was July 20, 2015.

(f) District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (Cooperative Extension Programs) aka EUDC:There is no matching requirement for these funds.

2. Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University (Section 1444):The 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, including Tuskegee University and West Virginia State University, are eligible for funds appropriated under this Act according to the following formula: Any funds annually appropriated under NARETPA section 1444 up to the amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1978, pursuant to section 3(d) of the Act of May 8, 1914, as amended, for eligible institutions, will be allocated among the eligible institutions in the same proportion as funds appropriated under section 3(d) of the Act of May 8, 1914, as amended, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1978, are allocated among the eligible institutions. Of the funds in excess of that amount, 20 per cent will be allotted among the eligible institutions in equal proportions; 40 per cent will be allotted among the eligible institutions in the proportion that the rural population of the State in which each eligible institution is located bears to the total rural population of all the States in which eligible institutions are located, as determined by the last preceding decennial census current at the time each such additional sum is first appropriated; and the balance will be allotted among the eligible institutions in the proportion that the farm population of the State in which each eligible institution is located bears to the total farm population of all the States in which the eligible institutions are located, as determined by the last preceding decennial census current at the time each such additional sum is first appropriated. For purposes of computing the distribution, the allotments to Tuskegee University and Alabama A&M University will be determined as if each institution were in a separate State.

Cost Sharing or Matching NARETPA section 1449 (7 U.S.C. 3222d) states that the State shall provide matching funds from non-Federal sources. Such matching funds shall be for an amount equal to not less than ... 100 percent of the formula [capacity grant] funds to be distributed to the eligible institution for fiscal year 2007 and each fiscal year thereafter. ... Notwithstanding [redistributing the funds], the Secretary may waive the matching funds requirement ... above the 50 percent level for any fiscal year for an eligible institution of a State if the Secretary determines that the State will be unlikely to satisfy the matching requirement.

7 CFR 3419.1 defines matching funds as funds from non-Federal sources made available by the State to the eligible institutions ... [for] programs or activities that fall within the purposes of agricultural research and cooperative extension under sections 1444 and 1445 of NARETPA ... or [for] qualifying educational activities. Matching funds means cash contributions and excludes in-kind matching contributions. It defines non-Federal sources as funds made available by the State to the eligible institution either through direct appropriation or under any authority (other than authority to charge tuition and fees paid by students) provided by a State to an eligible institution to raise revenue, such as gift acceptance authority or user fees. Finally, it defines qualifying educational activities as programs that address food and agricultural sciences components of an eligible institution.

7 CFR 3419.6 states that The required matching funds for the formula programs shall be used by an eligible institution for agricultural research and extension activities that have been approved in the plan of work required under sections 1444(d) and 1445(c) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977... or for .. qualifying education activities.

Further, in accordance with Section 7129 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (House Conference Report 113-333, to accompany H.R. 2642), Central State University has the Designation as 1890 Institution.

3. SMITH-LEVER 3(d):(a) Expanded Food and Nutrition (EFNEP) (ENUT Nutrition Education):Section 7116 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA) amended Section 1425 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3175) to accomplish the following:Notwithstanding section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914 [7 U.S.C. 343(d)] for administration, technical, and other services for coordinating the extension work of the Department and the several States, Territories, and possessions the remainder shall be allocated among the States as follows:

1. 1862 Institutions shall receive a base in an amount equaling their FY 1981 allocation.
2. Four percent (4%) shall be available for administrative expenses.
3. $100,000 will be distributed to each 1862 and 1890 Land-Grant Institution including the University of the District of Columbia.
4. Effective fiscal year (FY) 2009 10 percent of funds appropriated for EFNEP in excess of funds appropriated will be allocated to the 1890 Institutions in an amount that bearing the same ratio to the population living at or below 125 percent of the poverty level (as prescribed by the Office of Management and Budget and as adjusted pursuant to section 673(2) of the Community Services Block Grant Act (42 U.S.C.9902(2))) in the State where the 1890 Institution is located; bears to the total population living at or below 125 percent of the poverty level in all States where 1890 Institutions are located; as determined by the most recent decennial census at the time when the appropriated amount first exceeds levels appropriated for EFNEP. The FY 2009 rate of 10 percent is to increase by 1 percentage point annually until FY 2014 maxing out at 15 percent and remaining at that level for every year thereafter.
5. The remainder will be allocated to each 1862 Land-Grant Institutions in an amount that bears the same ratio to the total amount allocated as the population living at or below 125 percent of the poverty level in the State; bears to the total population living at or below 125 percent of the poverty level in all States; as determined by the most recent decennial census at the time at which each such additional amount is first appropriated.

Cost Sharing or Matching There is no cost-sharing or matching requirement for these funds.

OTHER EXTENSION ACTIVITIES:(a) Renewable Resources Extension Act (RREA):The majority of the appropriated funds are distributed to eligible institutions based on a formula that considers the geographic extent, ecosystem productivity, economic contribution, and population for each state.Since FY 2002, a small amount of these funds have been used to fund National Focus Fund Projects. (RREA-NFF).NIFA does not require matching support for this program and matching resources will not be factored into the review process as evaluation criteria.(b) Rural Health and Safety (RHSE):The Rural Health and Safety Education Competitive Grants Program provides funds to meet national goals for addressing the health and access needs of rural Americans.NIFA does not require matching or cost sharing support for this program and matching resources will not be factored into the review process as evaluation criteria.NIFA has determined that grant funds awarded under this authority may not be used for the renovation or refurbishment of research, education, or extension space; the purchase or installation of fixed equipment in such space; or the planning, repair, rehabilitation, acquisition, or construction of buildings or facilities.(c) Extension Services at the 1994 Institutions (TCEP):Appropriated funds are to be awarded to the 1994 Land-Grant Institutions for Extension work and funds are to be distributed on the basis of a competitive application process.NIFA does not require matching support for this program, and matching resources will not be factored into the review process as evaluation criteria.Under the TCEP, the use of grant funds to plan, acquire, or construct a building or facility, or to acquire land, is not allowed. With prior approval, in accordance with the cost principles set forth in OMB Circular No. A-21, grant funds may be used to purchase equipment, or for improvements, alterations, renovations, or repairs to land, buildings, or equipment, deemed necessary to retrofit existing spaces and resources in order to carry out a funded project under this grant. However, requests to use grant funds for such purposes must demonstrate that such expenditures are incidental to the major purpose for which the grant request is made and no more than twenty-five percent of the project budget may be used to purchase equipment. Any equipment purchased with Federal funds is the property of the grantee or the subgrantee, as appropriate.(d) Grants to Youth Serving Institutions (RYD):This Program has not been funded for several years.(e) Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database Program (FARAD):Refer to the most current Request for Applications (RFA) for specific instructions. Pertinent details to be reflected in the CFDA database at a future date. .(f) Federal Administration (DIRECT APPROPRIATION):Refer to the most current Request for Applications (RFA) for specific instructions. Pertinent details to be reflected in the CFDA database at a future date. .(g) 1890 Facilities (Section 1447):NIFA assessed four percent (4%) of the appropriated amount for Federal Administration, distributed sixty percent (60%) of the balance equally, and distributed the remaining forty percent (40%) based on the formula found in Section 1444 of NAREPTA of 1977, as amended (Pub. L. No. 95-113).Within each institution, the research, teaching and extension programs must each receive at least 20 percent of the annual allocation. The remaining 40 percent may be allocated based on institutional needs for research, teaching, or extension. No more than 60 percent of the total allocation should be directed to research, teaching, or extension. However, if there are unique situations in your institution which warrant a deviation from these guidelines, we will consider requests for reallocation. Such reallocations must be justified by the submission of a situation statement which describes the research, teaching, and extension facilities needs in your institution and how previously available Federal funds were utilized.NIFA does not require matching support for this program and matching resources will not be factored into the review process as evaluation criteria.The obligation and expenditure of funds awarded under these grants are limited to equipment, land, buildings and other related costs which are or will be used in the administration and conduct of approved research, teaching and extension activities. In accordance with NARETPA Section 1447 (e), funds provided for this program may not be used for the payment of any overhead costs of the eligible institutions.Further, in accordance with Section 7129 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (House Conference Report 113-333, to accompany H.R. 2642), Central State University has the Designation as 1890 Institution.MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The statutory time limits, project periods, including no-cost extensions of time, varies: For some of the projects, funds must be fully expended in the fiscal year of appropriation. For some projects, funds may be carried over for up to one (1) year after the end of the year for which they were appropriated. For other projects, the statutory time limit may range from one (1) to five (5) years. NOTE: The applicable statutory time limit is reflected in the Award document and the Award Terms and Conditions. Further details are provided in the Award document Form NIFA-2009 and the NIFA General Terms and Conditions Grants and Cooperative Agreements (dated October 2016) at: <https://nifa.usda.gov/resource/nifa-general-terms-and-conditions-grants-and-cooperative-agreements-october-2016>.SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Capacity, Competitive, and/or Non-Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for specific and pertinent details. Annual Progress Reports.All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report.1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs.c. Final Technical ReportThe Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable:Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment.FINANCIAL REPORTING:As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA.Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425:NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov.If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact:Awards Management Division (AMD)Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM)National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA)U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA)STOP 22711400 Independence Avenue, SWWashington, DC 20250-2271Telephone: (202) 401-4986SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Capacity, Competitive, and/or Non-Competitive Requests for

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved.2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 ACTIVE Programs: In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, the amount available for awards was $455,489,177, after legislatively mandated set-asides.(A), (B) and (CC) - Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (LGIs) and District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (aka DCPPERA) (A) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions For Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, approximately $300 million was appropriated for the Smith-Lever 3(b) & (c) Programs.Per the Budget Office, $289,045,417 was available for awards for this Program.Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions were allocated funds to support Extension activities. Awards ranged from $1,133,542 to $13,255,226.(B) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (Smith-Lever Special Needs) FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:Special Needs program was allocated $1,029,979 to support individual projects that may be initiated under this program. Awards ranged from $11,347 to $11,504.(CC) University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA)In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, $1,204,360 (representing the Appropriation, less the legislatively mandated set-asides), was available to fund this program allocated solely to the University of the District of Columbia (UDC). There is no matching requirement for this program. Administrative costs are taken from Smith-Lever funds. (C) Smith-Lever Special Needs Competitive Grants Program [Section 3 (b) & (c)]Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) funded Smith Lever Special Needs projects to implement applied scientific programs that serve public needs in preparation for, during and after local or regional emergency situations or disasters. The program received eight (8) applications and awarded six (6) projects, totaling $461,619.(D) Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University (aka 1890 LGIs)Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:Approximately $45.5 million was appropriated for this program to support the Extension programs at the 19 1890 Land-Grant Universities, in 18 states. After legislatively authorized set-asides, approximately $43.7 million was available for awards.Funds are distributed on a formula basis. This program requires a dollar for dollar match. However, NIFA may consider and approve matching waiver requests above the 50 percent level. (E) & (EE) - Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (aka EFNEP) [Smith-Lever -

Section 3 (d)] and EFNEP WebNEERS (Competitive)FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:The Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) brings together federal, state, and local resources to target two (2) primary audiences: low-income families with young children and low-income youth. The program is delivered by the 1862 and the 1890 Land-Grant Institutions. Since 1969, EFNEP has reached more than 33 million low-incomes families and youth, improving their diets and food-related behaviors. Each year EFNEP enrolls nearly half a million new program participants. In FY 2017, EFNEP received $67,417,320 in federal funding. EFNEP reached 108,216 adults and 366,327 youth directly; and more than 300,000 family members indirectly (source: EFNEPs evaluation and reporting system, WebNEERS; see https://nifa.usda.gov/sites/default/files/resource/EFNEP-2017-Annual-Report.pdf). 82% of EFNEP participants who reported income were at or below 100% of poverty, earning $24,600 a year or less for a family of four (4). At least 71% of all EFNEP adults identify as minorities. This is significant because poor health disproportionately affects minority and low-income populations. EFNEP consistently demonstrates strong results. FY 2017 data confirms adult graduates: Improve their diets: 94% report more closely following dietary recommendations, including consuming an extra 1/2 cup of fruits and vegetables Improve their nutrition practices: 89% improve nutrition practices, such as making healthier food choices and reading nutrition labels Stretch their food dollars farther: 84% improve food resource management practices, such as planning meals and shopping with a grocery list Handle food more safely: 65% improve food safety practices, such as storing and thawing food properly Increase their physical activity rates: 40% increase their physical activity level by 30 minutes or more(G), (H) & (W) Farm Safety, Youth Farm Safety Education and Certification, and Assistive Technology Program for Farmers with Disabilities (AgrAbility Project) NOTE: Programs were combined in FY 2012.In Fiscal Year (FY) 2012 Congress consolidated Extension 3(d) line items Farm Safety (AgrAbility) and Youth Farm Safety Education and Certification into a single line item.In FY 2017, after legislatively mandated set asides, approximately $4,423,770 was available to support Farm Safety (i.e., AgrAbility) and Youth Farm Safety Education and Certification (YFSEC) programs. Of the above amount, $4,123,770 was made available to support AgrAbility projects: 17 continuation awards, all State/Regional AgrAbility Projects (SRAPs); one (1) continuation National AgrAbility Project (NAP); and three (3) new SRAPs. All AgrAbility projects are partnerships between Cooperative Extension at 1862 and 1890 Land-Grant Colleges and Universities and private non-profit organizations that provide direct service to individuals with disabilities. SRAPs and NAP focus on increasing the likelihood that individuals with disabilities and their families engaged in production agriculture (AgrAbility customers) will become more successful. NIFA received ten (10) new SRAP proposals in FY 2017 and competitively funded three (3). Funding ratio was 30%. In FY 2017, NIFA had $300,000 available for YFSEC projects. Applications were solicited for three (3) different types of projects: (1)Safety in Agriculture for Youth (SAY) National Clearinghouse Project to continue efforts made to date with SAY Clearinghouse, curricula submission and review, marketing of the Clearinghouse, and SAY National Steering Committee. (2)YFSEC Instructor Training Project to support recruitment and training of youth farm safety instructors in currently available youth farm safety curricula. (3)YFSEC Youth Training Project to continue with development of new/enhancement of current youth farm safety curricula, implementation/piloting of those curricula with youth, and evaluation of youth training. NIFA received six (6) YFSEC proposals and competitively awarded funding to three (3). Funding ratio was 50%. Each of the projects was approved funding for four (4) years, at $100,000 per year. (I) New Technologies at Ag Extension (aka NTAE)In Fiscal Year (FY) 2017, NIFA awarded a continuation grant in the amount of $1,488,000 to the New Technologies for Ag Extension (NTAE) program, and eXtension continued to work from its FY 2015-2018 strategic plan which charged eXtension to apply its technology expertise and broad national network to become a major catalyst for increasing innovation and the impact of Cooperative Extension Service (CES) professionals work throughout the entire CES.(J), (U) & (V) - Children, Youth, and Families At-Risk (aka CYFAR), Sustainable Community Projects (aka CYFAR-SCP) and Professional Development and Technical Assistance (aka CYFAR-PDТА)FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:Total CYFAR funding was $8,054,025. Sustainable Community Project funding represented 45 successful applicants (new and continued awards) and successful applicants will receive $7,040,000 for Fiscal Year 2017. The funding ratio for new projects was 10%.The CYFAR Professional and Development and Technical Assistance (PDТА) funding was $563,340.The CYFAR Military PDТА funding was $450,000.(L) Federally-

Recognized Tribes Extension Program (aka FRTEP)In Fiscal Year 2017, the FRTEP program began a new four-year continuation. NIFA awarded $2,912,490 to 36 extension offices through its 1862 Land Grant Universities. Awards will range from $68,580 to $123,000. $35,000 from the $123,000 award was used to support all 36 Extension offices along with attendance at the 2017 Extension Professional Development conference in Polson, Montana.(M) & (BB) - Extension Services at the 1994 Institutions Program (aka Tribal Colleges Extension Program and TCEP) and Tribal Colleges Extension - Special Emphasis (aka TCEP-SE)Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:The program awarded $ 4,262,160 to states to support informal community education at the 1994 Land Grant institutions. As in 2016, roughly $3.2 million was funded in capacity to support Extension offices at 32 institutions. In addition, $1.1 million went to 14 special emphasis awards, given to 13 institutions. One school received two special emphasis projects. As in 2016, two schools decided not to participate in the program in 2017. Tribal Colleges Extension (TCEP) funds community based, informal learning on rural reservations. Programs mainly involve youth development and may also include the promotion of rural entrepreneurship, healthy lifestyles and production agriculture. Every other year eligible institutions can complete for Tribal Colleges Extension - Special Emphasis (TCEP-SE) which funds pilot projects for informal, community focused learning. In FY 2017, both TECP capacity and special emphasis were in a continuation cycle. Capacity grants were in their fourth year of a four year cycle. The amount available to support 19 facilities projects (one per 1890 land-grant university) was $18,940,800. Funding levels ranged from $701,302 to $1,510,956.(R) Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database Program (aka FARAD) For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 award cycle, Congress appropriated $1,200,000 to support FARAD, which was funded under its own line item authority.Four (4) applications were received and evaluated under competition waiver administrative processes. FARAD applications were merit reviewed internally by National Program Staff and all four (4) entities were funded. This 31-year-old high performing integrated consortium of collaborating institutions currently includes at each Land Grant campus a lead Project Director (PD), and his/her respective scientific staff. The funding ratio for this program in FY 2017 was 100% due to the competition waiver process.FARAD is a university-based national program that serves as the nations primary source for scientifically-based recommendations regarding safe withdrawal intervals of drugs (used off label) and chemicals in food-producing animals. As such, FARAD is a key resource for protection of our nation's food supply, including meat, milk and eggs, against accidental contamination of animal-derived foods with residues of drugs, pesticides or other agents that could compromise food safety.(T) Agriculture Risk Management Education Program (aka RME Program);NOTE: Mandatory program delegated to another USDA agency (Risk Management Agency) but administered by NIFA. The amount available for support of this last year continuation grant in Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 was: $4,468,800. Five (5) proposals were submitted, accepted and underwent a Noncompetitive Review NIFA National Program Leader. All five (5) were recommended to receive funding for Agriculture Risk Management Education grant. The purpose of the Healthy Homes Partnership is to link the resources of the USDA National Institute of Food & Agriculture Land Grant Universities with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Lead Hazard Control and Healthy Homes for a public outreach program that reduces housing deficiencies and risks associated with childhood diseases and injuries. The project reduced hazards in the home related to air quality (carbon monoxide, radon, and mold), drinking water, pests, and pesticides to improve families health resulting in decrease in asthma & allergies and improved home safety. (GG) Agriculture in the ClassroomFiscal Year (FY) 2017:NIFA provided $529,920 to support Agriculture in the Classroom (AITC). AITC programs were implemented by state-operated programs to improve agricultural literacy, awareness, knowledge, and appreciation among pre-K through 12th-grade teachers and their students. In FY 2017, AITCs curriculum website had over 111,000 visitors who accessed 397 standards-based lesson plans and 722 companion resources. Over 1 million teachers and 7 million students were reached through direct contact through AITC staff and volunteers in FY 2017. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 ACTIVE Programs: (A), (B) and (CC) - Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (LGIs) and District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (aka DCPPERA) (A) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions Fiscal Year 2017 The Healthy Lifestyle Programs: Maricopa County increased nutritional & physical activity knowledge, and improved associated behaviors and health through research-based nutrition education programs. Horticulture Program: Extension demonstrated and taught various horticulture topics for 24 internet videos. Footage was produced, edited and posted on YouTube and Vimeo. Viewers accessed these 24 videos 113,623 times in 2017. The video on Killing Stumps has been the most accessed video on the USU Extension Channel. Food Safety Program: a total of 132 individuals were trained and certified on the ServSafe program, Better Processing for School trained 205 food handlers, 68 persons acquired skills on the Seafood HACCP, GAP training was conducted for 330 farmers and producers and 510 persons gained food safety knowledge and skill through workshops and seminars. Human Health, Environment, Family, Youth, Society and Community Program: A workshop was developed specifically for people who work with agricultural producers and farm families who want to know more about managing farm-related stress and learn ways to approach and communicate with those in need. 501 participants attended the program: 76% increased their understanding of the current agriculture financial situation; 88% increased their understanding of the impact that stress has on their own bodies; 92% were able to recognize warning signs of depression, suicide, and mental illness; 96% learned where to send people for help in the community, and of those, over 60% said their awareness of community resources greatly increased. Natural Resources and Environmental Stewardship Program: In one state, farmers attending field days reported they implemented no-till/ strip till on 79,546 acres, of which 7,758 were new acres, and fall seeded cover crops on 38,258 acres, of which 12,203 were new acres. Attendees also reported that they had seeded 513 acres of prairie strips within row crop fields. (B) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (Smith-Lever Special Needs) Fiscal Year (FY)

2017: University of Alaska-Fairbanks supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Arizona supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. Colorado State University supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Idaho supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Vermont supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. (CC) University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA) The College of Agriculture, Urban Sustainability and Environmental Sciences (CAUSES) implement cooperative extension program. CAUSES offered a wide range of cooperative extension and continuing education programs through five land-grant centers: (1) the Center for Urban Agriculture & Gardening Education; (2) the Center for Sustainable Development and Resilience, which includes the Water Resources Research Institute; (3) the Center for Nutrition Diet & Health, which includes the Institute of Gerontology; (4) the Center for 4-H & Youth Development; and (5) the Center for Architectural Innovation and Building Science, which includes the Architectural Research Institute and the Building Science Institute. (C)) Smith-Lever Special Needs Competitive Grants Program [Section 3 (b) & (c)] Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: Examples of projects funded through the Smith Lever Special Needs Grants are: (1) National Youth Preparedness Initiative: Preparing Teens; Preparing Communities - Phase 2; (2) Community Decision Making and Financial Planning for Natural and Man-made Disasters; (3) Disaster Education in Rural Southern Appalachian Communities with Large Transient Populations; and (4) Increasing Southeastern Public Wildfire Preparedness through the Master Gardener Volunteer Education Program (D) Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University (aka 1890 LGIs) Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: Strengthening Families In one state there were 39 founded cases of child fatalities, 51 cases of unfounded fatalities and 31 pending cases of fatalities and a total of 120 investigations of child deaths due to suspected abuse or neglect in 2017. That same year, there were 55,258 reported cases of possible abuse/neglect. Research consistently indicates that living in poverty, unemployment, inadequate housing and conflict between parents are stressors that interfere with a parents ability to effectively raise children. The results/outcomes of the training is as follows: 95 % of parents increased knowledge in understanding child development, 90 % of parents increased knowledge of effective parenting practices; 97 % of parents increased knowledge in nurturing children 95% of parents increased knowledge in guiding children. Practice outcomes: 93 % of parents have adopted practices in guiding children; 95 % of parents will use community resources to meet their needs; 97% of parents adopted practices to reduce family conflict and manage stress. Social and Economic Opportunity: Small Farm Program is an Extension program designed to help farm families with decision-making skills to solve farm and home problems. One of the goals of the Small Farm Program is to focus on developing a sub-wholesale system that will readily provide nutrient-dense foods of high quality and reduced price to the communities. Food Systems and Food Safety Historically Disadvantaged Farmers Go Commercial-The Institution helped a group of farmers to: form the Small Farmer Agricultural Cooperative; negotiate agreements with Wal-Mart and each other, and obtain production equipment and supplies and wells, access to transportation and refrigeration units, and training and technical assistance on commercial-level harvesting and grading, packing and processing, food safety, integrated pest management, and record keeping. Agricultural Production and Processing: Detection of diseases in farmed raised fish is not as readily visible as in other terrestrial livestock species. Fish are raised in aquatic environments and are not easily visible to the farmer. Proper diagnosis of fish diseases prevents catastrophic losses to the producer. Healthy fish used as foodfish, baitfish, or for stocking waters for recreational fishing ensures the safety of seafood for human consumption and prevents the spread of diseases to other aquatic systems. The Institutions Fish Health Inspection labs conducts routine health inspections; issues health certificates for fish being shipped to other states and countries, conducts inspections for the baitfish certification program, analyzes water quality, and identifies aquatic weeds. In 2017, personnel at the labs conducted 342 disease diagnostic cases (1670 fish total and 414 water quality/aquatic weed identification cases).(E) & (EE) - Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (aka EFNEP) and EFNEP WebNEERS (Competitive)FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:The Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) is funded as a national program, not as individual projects. All seventy-six 1862 and 1890 Land-Grant Institutions receive EFNEP funding each year and these are the only entities eligible for EFNEP funding. EFNEP is designed to assist limited resource audiences in acquiring the knowledge, skills, attitudes, and changed-behavior necessary for nutritionally sound diets, and to contribute to their personal development and the improvement of the total family diet and nutritional well-being. Specific examples of EFNEP outcomes and impacts are given in EFNEPs 2017 Impact Report (see <https://nifa.usda.gov/sites/default/files/resource/EFNEP-2017-Annual-Report.pdf>).(G), (H) & (W) Farm Safety, Youth Farm Safety Education and Certification, and Assistive Technology Program for Farmers with Disabilities (AgrAbility Project) NOTE: Programs were combined in FY 2012.Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:The AgrAbility program at NIFA enhances the quality of life for agricultural workers with disabilities by providing farmers and ranchers with disabilities with farm safety education, assistive technology assistance, and networking support that enable them to return to / remain active in production agriculture.Funded at $180,000 per year, SRAPs provide substantial, sustained return on NIFAs investment in farm safety. The following are selected examples of AgrAbility projects funded in FY 2017: AgrAbility of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, VA; Kentucky AgrAbility, University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY. Colorado AgrAbility Project, Colorado State University, Ft. Collins, CO; AgrAbility of Utah, Utah State University, Logan, UT. The FY 2017 YFSEC awards, made through a competitive grant process, helped build upon and strengthen SAY activities and accomplishments to date, as well as identify and address curricula and outreach gaps.The following are YFSEC projects funded in FY 2017: YFSEC Instructor Training Project, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN; Safety in Agriculture for Youth Enhancing Youth Training Resources, Ohio State University, Wooster, OH; Safety in Agriculture for Youth: Maintaining a National Clearinghouse, University of Nebraska Medical Center, Omaha, NE; (I) New Technologies at Ag Extension (aka NTAE)Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:The NTAE grant enable eXtension to scale up the successful Impact Collaborative model and focus on three key issues: behavioral health, food systems; and diversity and inclusion. (J), (U) & (V) - Children, Youth, and Families At- Risk (aka CYFAR), Sustainable Community Projects (aka CYFAR-SCP) and Professional Development and Technical Assistance (aka CYFAR-PDTA)FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2017:(1)This CYFAR has partnered with Juvenile Justice and Office of Children's Services to provide life skills and workforce development for teens ages 14-18 who are going on parole or aging out of the foster care system.(2)This Family Leadership Training Institute strengthens the Extension system by providing staff development and program delivery in two (2) high need communities to improve outcomes for youth and families.(3)This Sustainable Community Project will utilize parenting education through food safety, physical activity and gardening activities. Childhood overweight and obesity and proper nutrition will also be targeted to provide healthy living alternatives.(4)The CYFAR Project supports teen decision-making and empowerment at all levels of the program and actively encourages youth-adult partnerships as a key component of the learning process. Teens meet once a week during the school year, after school. During the summer, teens will be involved in skill building camps and conferences/service retreats to develop new skills as well as prepare for the next year's focus.(5)This CYFAR Project mission is to provide positive growth and character development experiences for children who qualify for the program based on family income. The curriculum is focused on healthy lifestyle choices and during the five (5) week intensive opportunity, it is centered on sports, fitness, swimming, nutrition, computers, financial literacy, careers, gang avoidance, service learning, and select special events.(L) Federally-Recognized Tribes Extension Program (aka FRTEP)Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:Washington State University Colville Reservation Extension Program:A few of the objectives are as follows:(1)Improve trust of USDA and enhance utilization of University and USDA resources through building upon the established Colville Reservation Extension Office and the outreach it has offered;(2) Provide culturally relevant information and educational outreach to promote efficiencies, marketing, risk management, and competitiveness for geographically isolated agricultural enterprises; and(3)Provide reservation focused outreach education and programs to American Indian agricultural producers and land managers on the reservation to improve the sustainable management of agricultural land, forests, rangelands, water and other natural resources;University of Wyoming Wind River:One (1) objective is to improve agricultural operations for farmers and ranchers through the continued facilitation of producer association meetings and the promotion of value added/marketing activities at educational seminars. Montana State University FRTEP:One (1) objective includes providing youth development programming in mentoring to develop social, emotional and academic competencies, provide cultural and natural resource 4-H projects, Youth Aware of Mental Health training, and 4-H project clubs.University of Florida Increasing the Knowledge of Optimal Production Strategies for Agricultural Operations, and Empowering Youth with Beneficial Life Skills in the Seminole Tribe of Florida:The agriculture/ranching component is primarily focused on improving profits of Seminole Ranchers.University of Nevada Walker River Paiute Tribe FRTEP Project:The long-term goal of this FRTEP program for the Walker River Paiute Tribe is to build capacity with farmers and ranchers in production and financial management, create a strong youth development component, and assist the tribe in economic development planning. The short-term goals are to increase knowledge: 1) in agricultural best practices, livestock production, and what USDA programs are available; 2) in youth workforce development, increase vegetable intake and build life-skills; and 3) in economic development planning for the tribal and individual tribal members.(M) & (BB) - Extension Services at the 1994 Institutions Program (aka Tribal Colleges Extension Program and TCEP) and Tribal Colleges Extension - Special Emphasis (aka TCEP-SE)Fiscal Year (FY) 2017:1)Tundra Garden Project:This special emphasis project supports an indigenous garden in Barrow, Alaska that promotes knowledge of nutrition and traditional foods. The grant funding will support several experts including agronomists, herbalists, and traditional healers who can in the expansion of the project.2)Cultivating Future Leaders through Education, Experience and Civic Engagement:This special emphasis project is designed to create a pool of students ready to pursue post-secondary education in areas of agriculture, life sciences, forestry and natural sciences, mainly through mentoring and camps.3)Nueta Hidatsa Sahnish College Full Circle Nutrition Program:This special emphasis project is a "Garden to Plate" program. The campus garden will provide food for the campus cafeteria so that students gain a stronger connection to food, nutrition, culture and community supported agriculture. 4)Improving Agricultural Production for Navajo Farmers and Ranchers through effective Tribal College Extension Service:This project provides support to reservation farmers and ranchers. Dine Extension professionals will establish one-on-one relationships with producers and visit them monthly to introduce new management techniques and strategies to enhance Navajo agricultural production. 5)Aaniiih Nakoda College Extension Program Capacity Grant:The program will provide a reservation wide network of educators and service providers focusing on issues of health, wellness, nutrition, and community development on the Fort Belknap Indian Reservation. Training included irrigation, pest control, soil management, plant identification and weed control. (N) & (O) - Renewable Resources Extension Act Program (aka RREA) and - National Focus Fund (Competitive) Projects (aka RREA-NFF)Congress appropriated $3,597,600 for the RREA Capacity Program in Fiscal Year (FY) 2017. These funds supported a total of 73 1862, 1890, and insular land-grant universities.Examples of project impacts include:1.Your Land, Your Legacy: Deciding the Future of My Land - Land is probably one of the most valuable assets a landowner has. Deciding what will happen to the land after the owner is gone is a critical step in land stewardship. 2.Kentucky Forest Sector Economic Contribution - Forests cover nearly half the state of Kentucky and are the foundation of a forest sector that is a major economic force in the Commonwealth and as of 2016, account for $13.92 billion in total economic contributions. 3.Oregon Citizen Fire Academy - Oregon Citizen Fire Academy is a collaborative education and service program designed to increase the outreach capacity of fire agencies and, ultimately, to maintain and enhance fire-adapted communities. 4.Heirs Property - Land loss among limited resource and minority landowners has increased dramatically over recent years and continues to impact the ability to generate income and sustain their ownerships. One of the most serious problems is that of heir property, where land has been passed down through generations with little if any documentation of ownership. 5. Reading the Range - Reading the Range is a collaborative program involving ranchers, range Extension Specialists, and agency personnel that aims to increase rangeland monitoring as a standard operating procedure on ranches by providing examples, called demonstration ranches, and technical assistance. (P) Rural Health and Safety (aka Rural Health & Safety Education) RHSE projects funded in FY 2017 focused on chronic disease prevention and management and the prevention and reduction of opioid misuse and abuse. A few examples are as follows: University Extension Engaged to Raise Awareness and Prevent Opioid Misuse Before It Starts: A USDA-funded grant with State Extension Service, Preventing Opioid Misuse and Abuse in the SouthEast (PROMISE) Initiative, is integrating an upstream, multi-phased approach to promoting prescription opioid misuse prevention including: (1) Community engagement forums to assess the perceived needs and readiness of community for education on this topic; (2) Extension agent-led and peer-to-peer education; (3) a social marketing campaign; and (4) placement of prescription drug take-back boxes throughout the community. Nearly half the state is categorized as rural. Therefore, the target population of the PROMISE Initiative is rural residents. The PROMISE Initiative is currently in phase one of the project, conducting community engagement forums in three high-risk and rural counties. Evidence-Based Complementary and Alternative Interventions to Prevent Opioid Abuse and Misuse in a Rural State: Opioids are commonly prescribed for chronic pain sufferers, but new CDC guidelines recommend against opioids as the first course of treatment for chronic pain. Instead, CDC advises that non-drug strategies such as muscle strengthening exercise, yoga, and cognitive-behavioral self-management may be more effective long-term. However, these approaches may do little to help rural residents with chronic pain because of extremely limited or nonexistent access to programs and services. Cognitive-behavioral approaches, such as chronic pain self-management programs, are often unavailable in rural counties; access to fitness facilities, classes, and knowledgeable instructors is likewise extremely constrained. Expanding The Evidence-Based Prosper Delivery System to Address the Opioid Epidemic: State University Partnerships in Prevention Science Institute, in collaboration with Extension and Outreach, is working to become part of the solution to the opioid epidemic in rural Iowa communities. The USDA's National Institute on Food and Agriculture is funding the PROSPER Rx project, the goal of which is to reduce prescription opioid demand and availability. This work is being accomplished through community-based teams led by Extension educators in three counties that are delivering evidence-based programming for youth and families, engaging in broad-based awareness-building activities, and coordinating with rural healthcare providers and law enforcement to distribute educational materials promoting safe medication storage and disposal. Preventing Opioid Abuse in a Rural State: A multi-disciplinary team assembled in 2017 and is working through a USDA-NIFA Rural Health and Safety Education Grant to prevent opioid abuse in rural parts of the state using a two-pronged approach. The first approach is targeting youth and families through the PROMoting School-community-university Partnerships to Enhance Resilience (PROSPER) evidence-based model developed by Iowa State and Pennsylvania State Universities to prevent alcohol and drug abuse in youth. Through this model, community teams are developed to oversee implementation of family and school-based interventions. For this project the family-based intervention being used is Strengthening Families 10-14, while Botvin Life Skills Training is being provided to youth in the schools. Empowering Youth and Families: State University is stepping up to the challenge to prevent opioid misuse in rural communities in the state. Through a grant from USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture, the State 4-H Empowering Youth and Families Program together with the State Office of Rural Health, are working to empower families and communities in three rural counties. Families with youth ages 10-14 meet weekly to participate in educational sessions that provide age-appropriate research- and evidence-based training in the art of family building and the impact of opioid misuse. They are given the opportunity to practice their new skills and behaviors. (Q) 1890 Facilities Grant Program (aka Section 1447 Grants) Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: 1890 Facilities Grant Program: Funds were used to continue improvements in instructional, research, and extension facilities, by dedicating funds to construct an access road to the Agricultural Experiment Station. The new road improves travel to and from the facility which is used by research, extension and education faculty, community partners, and visitors. Efforts put forth under this initiative ensures adequate safety of users, durability of vehicles and other equipment traveling on the access road to protect lives. 1890 Facilities Grant Proposal (FY 2017): The Institution established and equipped two new greenhouses that support research and extension activities, installed a 40x40 square foot shade house adjacent to the greenhouses, and purchased and installed three high tunnels in the field near the greenhouse area. Enhancement of Teaching, Research and Extension Facilities 2017: Funds were used to continue with the construction of a Complex for Urban and Sustainable Agriculture, Food, Education and Research Building and the establishment of a Community Garden and Student Farm. Both initiatives will be engaged in education, research, extension, and community outreach activities. The focal point will be sustainable agriculture and urban, local, and community food systems education for producers, consumers, and students. Facilities Grant Program FY 2017: Facilities funds were used to: 1) complete the relocation of an Agricultural and Environmental Research Station to the newly identified and improved site (former rehabilitation center); 2) finalize the renovation of the F. Ray Powers building, which will house the Integrated Research and Extension Facility; and 3) Continue site improvements and begin work to partially condition buildings E and A at the new research station to support additional programming related to Extension and Research activities. Enhancing Research, Extension, and Academic Facilities and Equipment: Funds were used for the following ongoing objectives: 1) reconstruction of the aquaculture research ponds Phase II; 2) renovation to the Adair-Greenhouse building for Human Sciences; and 3) purchase and update various equipment and non-construction materials/supplies to support research, Extension, and instructional needs. (R) Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database Program (aka FARAD) Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: The Funded Project Network Nodes are as follows: (1) Coordinated national program, develop pharmacokinetic modeling approaches and provided pharmacokinetic support to FARAD components, and on a rotating schedule with other network nodes, provided responses to emergency queries (telephone, internet) from the FARAD Hotline. (2) Maintained the pharmacokinetic, bibliographic and call center databases and web-based access to the kinetic and bibliographic citation files. On a rotating basis with other network nodes, this node also provided responses to drug and contaminant residue questions submitted to FARAD. (3) Collected and entered data for the US Approved Animal Drugs Database (US-AADD), maintained internet websites for FARAD, created and supported platforms for mobile devices to access the Veterinarian's Guide to Residue Avoidance Management (VetGRAM) and other mobile-friendly applications, and distributed electronic alerts and updates via email, Twitter and other electronic formats. (4) On a rotating schedule with other network nodes, provided responses to emergency telephone calls from the FARAD hotline. (T) Agriculture Risk Management Education Program (aka RME Program): NOTE: Mandatory program delegated to another USDA agency (Risk Management Agency) but administered by NIFA. For Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: Examples of funded projects are: (1) Empower the strengths and skills of individuals in the Southern region who are involved in the management of agricultural production, marketing, financial, legal and human resource risks. Strive to improve producers ability to manage risk and increase profitability of southern agriculture by delivering programs designed to change risk management behavior among key producer populations; (2) Provide technology support to regional centers. Continue to develop and expand the delivery of risk management education through the online Ag Risk and Farm Management Library. Provide electronic support to provide Results Verification System. Provide public access to a searchable archival database of the results of all risk management education funded projects so risk management education providers can better collaborate and learn from each other; (3) Deliver risk management education to help agricultural producers to manage risks and position their farm or ranch for future growth and success. Identify and assess producer risk management education needs and emerging issues through efforts with several producer and stakeholder groups, including special emphasis audiences. Building on the needs assessment results, the Center will implement an annual competitive grants program for both educational and exploratory projects that deliver or lead to producer-focused, results-based risk management education; (4) Provide U.S. agricultural producers and their families, as appropriate, with knowledge, skills and tools needed to make informed risk management decisions that may enhance the profitability of their operations; and (5) Provide leadership in activities to create environments that support learning, collaboration, and partnerships to develop and deliver programs that improve agricultural producers' ability to manage risk in increasingly uncertain climate and economic environments. (DD) Healthy Homes Partnership Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: 1) Healthy Homes Toolkit Curriculum 2) Healthy Homes publications, Everyone Deserves a Safe and Healthy Home, educators and general public versions. 3) Healthy Homes Social Media messaging 4) Healthy Homes App (Apple Store) 5) Healthy Homes Advisory Groups established in 10 states (GG) Agriculture in the Classroom Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: NIFA provided $529,920 to support Agriculture in the Classroom (AIRC). Activities in the following categories were supported: 1) Strengthening local, state AIRC programs; 2) USDA AIRC recognition programs; 3) AIRC website and national agricultural literacy curriculum matrix maintenance; 4) Research and evaluation projects; 5) Curriculum development and development of materials to support teacher pre- and in-service trainings; 6) Outreach and collaborations with other organizations and agencies; and 7) Support of the national center for agricultural literacy. Additional details and resources available from www.agclassroom.org. (HH) Air Force Personal Financial Readiness Program Evaluation Development Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: No data available. The Program was not yet established. (II) Substance Abuse Program at Joint Base San Antonio, Texas Fiscal Year (FY) 2017: AgriLife Extension provided prevention education through four main programming areas within the Army Substance Abuse Program (ASAP) at Joint Base San Antonio (JBSA). Educational services and programming were disseminated in a "non-clinical" format to military personnel and families. Programming areas include: Prevention Training: AgriLife Extension coordinated and implemented ASAP prevention training programs for service members and families and deliver continuing education training for unit leaders. Trainings delivered included: Army Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention (ADAPT), Driving and Driving, ASAP Informational, Educational Training Brief, Newcomers Brief and Warrior Transition Council (WTC) Training. (JJ) Food and Agriculture Service Learning Program There was no competition in FY 2017. The grantee was awarded a no-cost extension. The listing below represents Programs which have not been recently funded. Hence, no further action is required (N/A/N) for the following Programs: (F) Pest Management; NOTE: Program was subsequently, consolidated under CFDA # 10.329, Crop Protection and Pest Management (CPPM). (K) Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education - Professional Development (aka SARE-PD); NOTE: SARE Chapters 1 & 3 were combined in FY 2014. See CFDA # 10.215. (S) Grants to Youth Serving Institutions (aka Rural Youth Development Grants Program and RYD); (X) Extension IPM Coordination and Support Program (IPM-CS); Program was subsequently, consolidated under CFDA # 10.329, Crop Protection and Pest Management (CPPM). (Y) Extension Outreach on the Marketplace Exchanges of the Affordable Care Act; (AA) Second Language & Culture Exposure for Children Project (aka SLCECY); and (FF) 4-H Military Partnership Professional Development and Technical Assistance Program (4HMP-PDTA). 2018 Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 ACTIVE Programs: (A), (B) and (CC) - Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (LGIs) and District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (aka DCPPERA) (A) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions As outlined in the FY 2018 Plans of Work (POW), the following are five (5) examples of anticipated outcomes: Smith-Lever Special Needs and Smith-Lever 3b/3c(1) Human Nutrition, Health and Food Safety; (2) Childhood Obesity; (3) Economic and Community Vitality; (4) Climate Change; (5) Natural Resources and Environmental Management. (B) Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-grant Institutions (Smith-Lever Special Needs) Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: University of Alaska-Fairbanks supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Arizona supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. Colorado State University supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Idaho supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. University of Vermont supported innovative, education based approaches to provide cooperative agricultural extension work on education and technical assistance; long range family, farm, community and planning projects; communication delivery and dissemination of credible, science-based information. (CC) University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA) For FY 2018, anticipated projects will follow under the following planned program areas: (1) Climate Change; (2) Global Food Security and Hunger; (3) Health, Nutrition and Childhood Obesity; (4) Alternative Energy and Capacity Building; (5) Water Safety and Water Management; and (6) Food Safety. The awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent data will be provided by program at a future date. (C) Smith-Lever Special Needs Competitive Grants Program [Section 3 (b) & (c)] Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: Examples of projects anticipated to be funded through the Smith Lever Special Needs Grants are: (1) Simplified Plans for Food, Water and the Essentials During Disasters; (2) National Youth Preparedness Initiative: Preparing Teens: Preparing Communities Phase 3 Expansion; (3) Inland and Coastal Flooding Preparation, Mitigation and Recovery in Contiguous States; (4) Preparing UC ANR to respond to disasters in California communities; (5) Developing In-Person and On-line Resources for Gardeners and Backyard Poultry Keepers in California Following Wildfires; and (6) LADDER: Local Approach to Discussion-Based Disaster Exercises and Readiness. (D) Agricultural Extension at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, Including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University (aka 1890 LGIs) Fiscal Year (FY) 2018: It is anticipated that the 19 institutions will continue efforts to reach out to the communities, farmers, producers, and others in the promotion of a safe and abundant food supply, financial security training, healthy living, educational attainment, strong family initiatives, and other outreach efforts that will address the FAHN sciences. The awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent data will be provided by program at a future date. (E) & (EE) - Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (aka EFNEP) and EFNEP WebNEERS (Competitive) FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018: It is anticipated that EFNEP will continue to be funded and that similar program outcomes and impacts will be realized. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date. (G), (H) & (W) Farm Safety, Youth Farm Safety Education and Certification, and Assistive Technology Program for Farmers with Disabilities (AgrAbility Project) NOTE: Programs were combined in FY 2012. Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 New Awards: Fourteen (14) new SRAP AgrAbility awards; YFSEC program was not competed in FY 2018. FY 2018 Continuation Awards: Three (3) AgrAbility continuation awards for the 4th year of funding for SRAPs originally approved for funding in FY 2015; One (1) AgrAbility continuation award to support 3rd year of funding for the National AgrAbility Project, originally approved for funding in FY 2016; Three (3) AgrAbility continuation awards for the 2nd Year of funding for SRAPs originally recommended for funding in FY 2017. Three (3) YFSEC continuation awards for the 2nd Year of funding for Safety in Agriculture projects originally recommended for funding in FY 2017. YFSEC continuation projects will continue NIFAs commitment to a coordinated approach to providing agricultural safety and health education for rural youth. SRAP and NAP continuation projects will continue working with individuals with disabilities and their families engaged in production agriculture, increasing AgrAbility customers quality of life and the likelihood of their success in production agriculture. Details regarding new AgrAbility awards made in FY 2018 will be provided by Farm Safety Program at a future date, once awards have been finalized. Latest information about AgrAbility projects funded to date is available at: https://cris.nifa.usda.gov/cgi-bin/starfinder/0?path=fastlink1.txt&id=anon&pass=&search=cg=-41590-*&format=WEBTITLES (I) New Technologies at Ag Extension (aka NTAE) Fiscal Year (FY) 2018 focuses on the following objectives: 1) fostering opportunities for innovation by connecting CES personnel with new and innovative technologies that engage a wide array of learners; 2) provide professional development opportunities that promote use of open networked learning and other forms of online-based teaching resources; 3) build capacity within and across the CES to effectively engage strategic partners so more customers can be reached across multiple platforms in real-time with science-/researched based content; 4) update existing and develop necessary new policies to support the business aspects of eXtension; and 5) develop and implement a comprehensive evaluation, communications, and marketing effort eXtension. (J), (U) & (V) - Children, Youth, and Families At-Risk (aka CYFAR), Sustainable Community Projects (aka CYFAR-SCP) and Professional Development and Technical Assistance (aka CYFAR-PDTA) FISCAL YEAR (FY) 2018: (1) Reduce homelessness, increase workforce skills. Fostering Youth towards a Revolution of Responsibility seeks to provide more preventative intervention efforts early on in order to decrease the need for intervention later on. The programming will be taught through experiential education theory, hands-on model. Focusing on building life skills through experiential learning is the success of the 4-H model. Teens will have a say in what life skills they would like to focus on. (2) The tripartite intervention is based upon family resilience theory and focuses on strengthening self-care and parenting skills in custodial grandparents, developing communication and leadership skills in grandchildren, and increasing the ability of service providers to meet grand-families' needs. The long-term long term goal is to create an effective evidence-based intervention to improve quality of life for custodial grandparents and their grandchildren. (3) Project staff partnered with schools on two reservations to implement STEM during their school science classes. Teachers have been trained in aerial photography, GPS/GIS use of iPad technology to create films and CAD software to create 3D objects and provide in- class, monthly program days where students engage in hands-on activities. (4) Cohort 1 entered their third year of program implementation is focused on interacting with professionals in their community to learn about careers and opportunities in STEM fields. In addition, partnership with faculty at the university each year to offer the Science Pathways Summit during which teens visit faculty to learn about their research and their career path. (5) The program employs cutting-edge food production technology to grow healthy foods while promoting healthy eating in urban neighborhoods characterized as food deserts. Students gained 21st century employment skills through coursework, internships, and service learning projects. Students become enmeshed in new professional networks among local food industry professionals. (L) Federally-Recognized Tribes Extension Program (aka FRTEP)Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:FRTEP programs represent 4-year continuations; so the same projects will be funded from Fiscal Year 2017 through Fiscal Year 2020. The FRTEP Extension Offices are designed and equipped to respond to community and stakeholder needs. These may change regularly as life and nature dictate. Generally, the programming is consistent each year. (M) & (BB) - Extension Services at the 1994 Institutions Program (aka Tribal Colleges Extension Program and TCEP) and Tribal Colleges Extension - Special Emphasis (aka TCEP-SE)Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:1.SCC Cultural Parenting Initiative:We envision that the SCC Cultural Parenting Initiative will provide informal education and leadership in providing positive and culturally appropriate parenting skills for our community to ensure stable and productive families exist for generations to come on the Rocky Boys Indian Reservation.2.Community Health and Vitality: Indigenous Capacity Building:LLTC is committed to our mission of providing quality higher education grounded in Anishinaabe values. As the College looks to incorporate our Land Grant/Extension program into a platform for local empowerment, community resilience, and growth in the LeechLake area, it will require development of LLTCs Land Grant to provide a more secure foundational base. As a complementary effort alongside Leech Lake Tribal Colleges upcoming Extension project, Community Health and Vitality: Improved Well-being Through an Indigenous Lens, our Special Emphasis project will draw upon core Anishinaabe perspectives of comprehensive well-being and leadership, as we focus on Indigenous Capacity Building through a communal effort to further develop our Land Grant. Entitled Community Health and Vitality: Indigenous Capacity Building, this project will enlist the insights of community members, area tribal service providers, and other associated stakeholders, as we begin the strategic planning and blueprint stages of our next Land Grant steps. 3.Special Emphasis Grant for UTTTC Extension: "Extending Food Sovereignty and Food Security":UTTTCs Land Grant Department provides a holistic approach to community outreach and education. Utilizing a Native American medicine wheel concept of mind, body and spirit, our Extension program provides evidence-based education, inclusive of indigenous and western knowledge and practices. This includes educational content and training for individuals (students, staff, and families), community (campus and reservation partners). It also supports systems through researching and sharing best practices among TCU partners and other institutions. 4.Tech4Good@SKC: Center for Collective Impact:The Department of Media Design at Salish Kootenai College proposes to collaborate with SKC Extension (SKCE) and area schools to co-design, develop, and measure collective community impacts. With two years of media co-design and community outreach, Tech4Good@SKC, the Center for Collective Impact (Center) will develop digital and physical media engagement strategies aligned with food and nutrition programs and extension activities. Center goals and objectives are to: 1. Identify engagement strategies for youth, elders, and agricultural professionals with objectives to identify digital and physical engagement strategies; and 2. Partner with K- 12 school gardens to co-design school gardens with objective to map resources and prototype digital and physical media strategies. The creation, prototyping and testing of engagement strategies with rigorous evaluation involving community input will be core activities. 5.Healthy Food Choices at Little Priest Tribal College Wolves Den:This project will increase knowledge and provide students, faculty, staff and the community with healthy food choices at the Wolves Den. The Wolves Den is located on the campus of Little Priest Tribal College (LPTC) in Winnebago, Nebraska, Thurston County. This pilot project is an Extension Special Emphasis proposal. The project will introduce food choices to build healthy eating patterns and promote a lifetime change to help prevent or decrease health problems like obesity, heart disease and type 2 diabetes on the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraskas Indian reservation. The areas of health and nutrition are in the forefront of the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraskas overall plan to increase the health of tribal members.(N) & (O) - Renewable Resources Extension Act Program (aka RREA) and - National Focus Fund (Competitive) Projects (aka RREA-NFF)The FY 2018 capacity projects have been awarded and the expected impacts will be similar to those of FY 2017 as funding has been level for several years. The FY 2018 RREA-NFF projects will be awarded in September, 2018. Projects that will be funded are those that will have regional or national level impacts.(P) Rural Health and Safety (aka Rural Health & Safety Education)RHSE projects funded in FY 2018 focused on the prevention and reduction of opioid misuse and abuse.The awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.(Q) 1890 Facilities Grant Program (aka Section 1447 Grants)Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:Enhancing Research, Extension and Academic Facilities:Funds will be used to acquire land and construct a new building for the School of Agriculture, Fisheries, and Human Sciences. The facility will be visible to the community and present in a neighborhood conducive to attract students, researchers, and limited resource farmers.Facilities Grant Program:The institution will utilize the funds to renovate and upgrade obsolete laboratories, and two obsolete and decommissioned facilities for up-to-standard laboratories. The addition of new research laboratories in areas of specialty crops, food science, and water resource will assist research scientists in leveraging additional resources from external grants for further development of their research programs. It will also provide additional resources for the academic for hand-on training and extension programs to provide more research-based solutions and trainings to farmers. Establishment of the Center for Agriculture Innovation and Entrepreneurship:Funds are being designated to establish a Center of Agriculture Innovation and Entrepreneurship by renovating a historic building that will primarily serve as a small business incubator to promote agribusinesses in the state. The center will provide support for commercialization and marketing of agricultural products required for successful business development.University Facility Grant Plan 2018-2023: The institution has identified the following four (4) objectives: 1) Repair and pave roads at its Research and Development (R&D) Farm; 2) construct a value-added processing building at the R&D Farm; 3) replace and expand the R&D Farm office building and Wet Laboratory; and 4) replace and expand the Aquaculture Office and Laboratory with the Aquaculture Water Quality and Disease Laboratory and the Anatomy and Physiology Laboratory. Renovation and Modernization of Food, Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Human Sciences Facilities:Facilities funds will be used to: 1) Renovate laboratories, office and meeting space in Trigg Hall; 2) renovate and upgrade of facilities supporting human sciences teaching and research; 3) renovate and repurpose the animal exhibition hall within the Food Science and Technology Building as an Agriculture and Science Discovery Center that will underpin its youth development programs in Extension, as well as other extension education training; 4) renovate and modernize the research and education facilities for its small ruminant program; and 5) upgrade research facilities at the Paul Sarbanes Coastal Ecology center to support its aquaculture research and education programs.(R) Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database Program (aka FARAD) Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:The Funded Project Network Nodes are the same as for Fiscal Year 2017, with the exception that there are now five (5) participating institutions instead of four (4).Collaboration between all institutions occurs on research projects that are necessary to validate the FARAD withdrawal interval estimates.(T) Agriculture Risk Management Education Program (aka RME Program);NOTE: Mandatory program delegated to another USDA agency (Risk Management Agency) but administered by NIFA. Fiscal Year (FY) 2018:Agriculture Risk Management Education Panel recommended five (5) awards. The awards have not yet been finalized. Pertinent details will be provided by Program at a future date.(DD) Healthy Homes PartnershipFiscal Year (FY) 2018:1) Healthy Homes publications for tribal audiences2) Healthy Homes Evaluation Portal3) Healthy Homes App (android version)4) Healthy Homes Youth Curriculum 5) Home Flow Training(GG) Agriculture in the ClassroomFor the FY 2018 award cycle, it is anticipated that $520,920 will be used for capacity building for national agricultural literacy through professional development for teachers, development of standards-based curriculum resources, and strategic partnerships with allies, and direct contact with student. The primary objective for this project is to develop and implement comprehensive Personal Financial Readiness program evaluation within the Air Force Readiness Program.(II) Substance Abuse Program at Joint Base San Antonio, TexasFiscal Year (FY) 2018:The primary objective for this project is:To provide drug and alcohol abuse prevention education programs for military personnel and families, Department of Defense civilians, reserve components, and retirees and their family members at JBSA, Texas.This objective will be accomplished through fulfilling the following activities:1)Coordinating and implementing ASAP prevention training programs for service members and families and deliver continuing education training for unit leaders;2) Collaborating with commanders and JBSA leadership to reduce high risk behavior in service members by providing them with educational programs and tools to identify and reduce risk behaviors in service members; and3) Serving as the JBSA point of contact (POC) for suicide prevention and local subject matter expert (SME) on Army/policy and procedures related to suicide prevention.Project does not start until September 1, 2018. (JJ) Food and Agriculture Service Learning ProgramIn FY 2018 one (1) institution was awarded $100,000. The purpose of award is to recognize excellence in teaching in the food and agricultural sciences within U.S. colleges and universities. For the purposes of this RFA, teaching is defined to include all aspects of developing human capital in order to help meet current and future national food, agricultural, natural resources, and human sciences (FANH) workplace needs. Examples of relevant activities under this project type include (but are not limited to) the following: formal classroom instruction; laboratory instruction; and practicum experience such as faculty development, student recruitment and services, curriculum development, and innovative teaching methodologies. It also includes activities that directly or indirectly contribute to student learning such as research, extension/outreach and organizational arrangements needed for the proper functioning of the educational institution. University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA): Sections 208 of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act provides, in pertinent part, that [i]n the administration of the Act of May 8, 1914 (7 U.S.C. 341-346, 347a-349) (known as the Smith-Lever Act) the University [of the District of Columbia] shall be considered to be a university established for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts in accordance with the provisions of the Act of July 2, 1862 (7 U.S.C. 301-305, 307,308); and the term State as used in such Act of May 8, 1914, shall include the District of Columbia, except that the District of Columbia shall not be eligible to receive any sums appropriated under section 3 of such Act., Smith-Lever Special Needs-Competitive (SLSNCGP): Section 3(b) & (c) of the Smith-Lever Act, Pub. L. No. 63-95 (7 U.S.C. 343) allows the Secretary of Agriculture, acting through the Director of the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA), to conduct competitive grant programs to State Extension Services at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions to support innovative, education-based approaches to addressing emergency preparedness and specific responses related to natural and human-made disasters., Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (1862 CES Capacity): 7 U.S.C. 341-346, 347a-349 Sections 3(b) and 3(c) of the Smith-Lever Act (program referred to as SLBC) provide funding for agricultural extension programs at 1862 Land-grant universities., 1862 Smith-Lever Special Needs Capacity Grants Program (SLSN): Sections 3(b)(1) and 8 of the Smith-Lever Act provide the basis of funding special needs agricultural extension programs at 1862 Land-grant institutions.

OBJECTIVES:

1862 Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (Smith-Lever) (1862 CES Capacity) University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganizational Act Program (DCPPERA): The purpose of this funding is to conduct cooperative agricultural extension work. Funding for the Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions authorized under the Smith-Lever Act section 3(b) and (c) (SLBC) and the University of the District of Columbia under the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA) is for the development of practical applications of research knowledge and giving of instruction and practical demonstrations of existing or improved practices or technologies in agriculture, uses of solar energy with respect to agriculture, home economics, and rural energy, and subjects relating thereto to persons not attending or resident in 1862 Land-Grant Institutions, and imparting information on those subjects through demonstrations, publications, and otherwise and for the necessary printing and distribution of information in connection with the subjects. 1862 Smith-Lever Special Needs Capacity Grants Program (SLSN): The purpose of this capacity grant program is to increase the level of agricultural extension activities and reach out to new audiences and to support innovative, education-based approaches to addressing emergency preparedness and specific responses related to natural and human-made disasters. Smith-Lever Special Needs Competitive Grants Program: (SLSNCGP): The purpose of this competitive program is to conduct competitive grant programs to State Extension Services at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions to support innovative, education-based approaches to addressing emergency preparedness and specific responses related to natural and human-made disasters.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

USES: 1862 CES Capacity (Smith-Lever) and DCPPERA: Funding for the Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions authorized under the Smith-Lever Act section 3(b) and (c) (SLBC) and the University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPERA) under Section 208 of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Education Reorganization Act is to be used for the development of practical applications of research knowledge and giving of instruction and practical demonstrations of existing or improved practices or technologies in agriculture, uses of solar energy with respect to agriculture, home economics, and rural energy, and subjects relating thereto to persons not attending or resident in 1862 Land-Grant Institutions, and imparting information on those subjects through demonstrations, publications, and otherwise and for the necessary printing and distribution of information in connection with the subjects. Program and Extension Activities - Smith-Lever Act sections 3(b) and 3(c) Federal funding may only be used for extension programs and an activity identified in the institutions approved 5-Year Plan of Work. 1862 Special Needs Capacity Grants Program (SLSN):1862 Smith Lever Special Needs Capacity funds support extension education initiatives that address risks, hazards and disasters. The SLSN sponsors targeted projects enable Cooperative Extension Service to assist in preparing for, providing an educational response to, and recovering from disasters. Education programming funded by this program help communities, families and individuals become more self-sustaining by strengthening and increasing their resiliency to disaster. The SLSN increases awareness and capacity building of urban/rural communities response to natural and/or human-made disasters by increasing individual, family, farms, small business and community disaster preparedness through extension education, as well as collaboration with other agencies and volunteer organizations. Smith-Lever Special Needs Competitive Grants Program (SLSNCGP):SLSNCGP projects to implement applied scientific programs that serve public needs in preparation for, during, and after disaster. Though national, regional, and/or multi-state efforts are a priority for categories 1-3, highly replicable single-state projects may be considered if they have a strong plan for transferring successful methods to other states. The SLSNCGP also funds the development of educational programs and demonstration activities focusing on disaster preparedness, mitigation, response, and recovery. Successful projects in the past have helped extension educators, who normally do not have a disaster extension focus, to have a greater impact in this area.

Credentials/Documentation:

Credentials/Documentation (083): The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. Competitive Smith Lever Special Needs Competitive (SLSNCGP): We evaluate each application in a two-part process. First, we screen each application to ensure Competitive Smith-Lever Special Needs: that it meets the administrative requirements as set forth in this RFA. Second, a technical review panel will evaluate applications that meet the administrative requirements. We select reviewers based upon their training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: the level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; the need to include experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; the need to include other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; the need to include experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and federal agencies, and private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; the need to maintain a balanced composition with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness of each application to producers and the general public. After each peer review panel has completed its deliberations, the responsible program staff of SLSNCGP will recommend that your project (a) be approved for support from currently available funds or (b) be declined due to insufficient funds or unfavorable review. SLSNCGP reserves the right to negotiate with the PD/PI and/or with the submitting organization or institution regarding project revisions (e.g., reductions in the scope of work, funding level, period, or method of support) prior to recommending any project for funding. RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory Formula: Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Joint Cooperative Extension Programs at 1862 Land-Grant Institutions (1862 CES Capacity & DCPPERA): Section 3(e)(1) of the Smith-Lever Act (7 U.S.C. 343(e)(1)) states, with regard to institutions in the 50 states, no allotment shall be made to a State under subsection (b) or (c), and no payments from the allotment shall be made to a State, in excess of the amount that the State makes available out of non-Federal funds for cooperative extension work. However, section 3(e)(4) of the Smith-Lever Act (U.S.C. 343(e)(4)) provides that Effective beginning for fiscal year 2003, in lieu of the matching funds requirement of paragraph (1), the insular areas of [American Samoa,] the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, [Micronesia, the Northern Marianas Islands,] and the Virgin

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Islands of the United States shall provide matching funds from non-Federal sources in an amount equal to not less than 50 percent of the formula funds distributed by the Secretary to each of the insular areas, respectively, under this section..... The Secretary may waive the matching fund requirement [of 50 percent] for any fiscal year if the Secretary determines that the government of the insular area will be unlikely to meet the matching requirement for the fiscal year. University of the District of Columbia Public Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act Program (DCPPER): There is no match requirement for the DCPPERA Program. 1862 Smith-Lever Special Needs Capacity (SLSN): 1862 Land-Grant Institutions in the 50 States must match 100 percent (100%) of the SLSN funds they receive with funds from non-Federal sources such as State or county appropriations. The matching must be in the form of cash. Matching funds may only be used for extension activities approved in the eligible institutions five (5) year Plan of Work. Smith-Lever Special Needs-Competitive (SLSNCGP): Applicants are required to provide 100 percent matching funds from non-federal sources for all proposed federal funds sought in the application. In-kind and third party contributions are not allowed for this program; thus, all of the matching funds must come from the applicant institution (please note that sub-awards/partner match would be considered third party). MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFA's web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov.a>. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1.) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. Plan of Work (POW): Section 105 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) amended the Smith-Lever Act and the Hatch Act to require an approved POW for extension and research activities at 1862 Land-grant Institutions in order to receive Federal funding. As stated in the Preface to the Federal Register Notice at 71 FR 4107 (January 25, 2006), Although the District of Columbia receives extension funds under the District of Columbia Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act, Public Law 93471, as opposed to the Smith-Lever Act, NIFA has determined that it should be subject to the POW requirements imposed under these guidelines except where expressly excluded. Therefore, the University of the District of Columbia must submit both a 5-Year Plan of Work Update for FY 2017-2021 (i.e., submitted as an annual update) and an Annual Report of Accomplishments and Results. These reports should be submitted online through the NIFA Reporting Portal at the web address <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov/portal>. Additional information about the POW is available at <http://nifa.usda.gov/tool/pow.c>. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: For the SLBC and the DCPPERA programs, SF-425 financial reports for the awards whether annual or final, will be due Dec. 31 each year. See <http://nifa.usda.gov/program/smith-lever-act-capacity-grant> for additional details of annual, final and financial reporting requirements. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, DC 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES: (1) The details of the reporting requirements are included in the NIFA General Terms and Conditions Grants and Cooperative Agreements (dated October 2016). 10.512 Agriculture Extension at 1890 Land-grant Institutions

1890 LGIs Section 1444 Extension,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1444 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act Of 1977 (NARETPA), enacted as Title XIV of Public Law 95113 (The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977) on Sept. 29, 1977, is also known as the Section 1444 Program. This law provides the basis for Federal funding for agricultural extension activities at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University. Further, in accordance with Section 7129 of the Agricultural Act of 2014 (House Conference Report 113-333, to accompany H.R. 2642), Central State University has the designation as an 1890 Institution and is eligible to receive funds under this program beginning in Fiscal Year 2016. It is codified in 7 U.S.C. 3221.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of this funding is to support agricultural and forestry extension activities at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Uses: The purpose of this funding is to support the expenses of conducting extension programs and activities at 1890 Land-Grant Institutions, including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University, and Central State University. RESTRICTIONS: (1) Use of Funds Limitation No portion of the funds allocated under this grant will be applied, directly, or indirectly, to the purchase, erection, preservation, or repair of any building or buildings, or the purchase or rental of land, or in college course teaching, lectures in college, or any other purpose not specified in section 1444 of NARETPA. (2) Approved NIFA Section 1444 Projects Section 1444 Program funding may only be used to support agricultural extension activities identified in the approved 5-Year Plan of Work. (3) Indirect Costs and Tuition Remission In accordance with section 1473 of NARETPA, indirect costs and tuition remission are unallowable as Section 1444 Program formula grant expenditures.

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Applications may only be submitted by 1890 Land-Grant Universities that conduct agricultural extension activities in accordance with NARETPA section 1444(a)(1): Alabama A&M University; Tuskegee University; University of Arkansas - Pine Bluff; Delaware State University; Florida A&M University; Fort Valley State University; Kentucky State University; Southern University; University of Maryland Eastern Shore; Alcorn State University; Lincoln University; North Carolina A & T State University; Central State University, Langston University; South Carolina State University; Tennessee State University; Prairie View A&M University; Virginia State University; and West Virginia State University.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Applications may only be submitted by 1890 Land-Grant Universities that conduct agricultural extension activities in accordance with NARETPA section 1444(a)(1): Alabama A&M University; Tuskegee University; University of Arkansas - Pine Bluff; Delaware State University; Florida A&M University; Fort Valley State University; Kentucky State University; Southern University; University of Maryland Eastern Shore; Alcorn State University; Lincoln University; North Carolina A & T State University; Central State University, Langston University; South Carolina State University; Tennessee State University; Prairie View A&M University; Virginia State University; and West Virginia State University.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following:

Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Capacity Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Section 1449 of NARETPA (7 U.S.C. 3222d) states that the State shall provide matching funds from non-Federal sources. Such matching funds shall be for an amount equal to not less than ... 100 percent of the formula [grant] funds to be distributed to the eligible institution for fiscal year 2007 and each fiscal year thereafter. ... Notwithstanding [redistributing the funds], the Secretary may waive the matching funds requirement ... above the 50 percent level for any fiscal year for an eligible institution of a State if the Secretary determines that the State will be unlikely to satisfy the matching requirement. Most regulations applicable to NIFA awards are housed in Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations. 7 CFR 3419.1 defines matching funds as funds from non-Federal sources made available by the State to the eligible institutions ... [for] programs or activities that fall within the purposes of agricultural research and cooperative extension under sections 1444 and 1445 of NARETPA ... or [for] qualifying educational activities. Matching funds means cash contributions and excludes in-kind matching contributions. It defines non-Federal sources as funds made available by the State to the eligible institution either through direct appropriation or under any authority (other than authority to charge tuition and fees paid by students) provided by a State to an eligible institution to raise revenue, such as gift acceptance authority or user fees. Finally, it defines qualifying educational activities as programs that address food and agricultural sciences components of an eligible institution. 7 CFR 3419.6 states that The required matching funds for the formula programs shall be used by an eligible institution for agricultural research and extension activities that have been approved in the plan of work required under sections 1444(d) and 1445(c) of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 or for qualifying education activities. NIFA may consider and approve matching waiver requests above the 50 percent level. See Part IV, B. 4. for instructions about how to request a waiver. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

States are encouraged to spend Section 1444 Program funds in the year they are appropriated; however, if carryover is necessary, no more than 20 percent of the funds received by an institution in any fiscal year may be carried forward to the succeeding fiscal year. No prior approval from NIFA is required. Carryover limitations are legislatively mandated and NIFA is not authorized to approve any carryover requests beyond the 20 percent and one-year limitations. (7 USC 3221). Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFA is available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/1890-facilities-grants-program-renewals>. RFAs for new and/or renewal applications are generally released annually. The RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Extension Programs at the State and county level are available to the general public.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFA is available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/1890-facilities-grants-program-renewals>. RFAs for new and/or renewal applications are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Not Applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA

Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR parts 400, 415, 416, and 418 apply to this program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFA is available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/1890-facilities-grants-program-renewals>. RFAs for new and/or renewal applications are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. RENEWAL APPLICATIONS: NIFA will evaluate each application in a two-part process. First, we screen each application to ensure that it meets the administrative requirements as set forth in this RFA. Second, a technical review panel will evaluate applications that meet the administrative requirements. 1890 Facilities Grants Program (FGP) reserves the right to negotiate with the Project Director/Principal Investigator (PD/PI) and/or with the submitting organization or institution regarding project revisions (e.g., reductions in the scope of work, funding level, period, or method of support) prior to recommending any project for funding. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I apply to this program. 2 CFR 200, Appendix II Contracts Provisions for Non-federal Entity Contracts Under Federal Awards applies to this program. Reports:

PERFORMANCE AND MONITORING REPORTS: NIFA expects the awarded funds to be used for the acquisition and improvement of agricultural and food sciences facilities and equipment, including libraries, so that the 1890 land-grant institutions, including Tuskegee University, West Virginia State University and Central State University, may participate fully in human capital development in the food and agricultural sciences. A. Performance Reports Awardees of Federal funds are responsible for monitoring day-to-day project performance to ensure that project goals and performance schedules are met, contain costs, and accurately report progress to NIFA. An annual performance report is due in NIFA 90 days after completion of the first 12 months of the initial grant award and annually thereafter during the project period. Each report shall cover work performed during the previous 12-month period, including any funded or unfunded time extensions. If this project is supported in annual funding increments, the performance report required as part of the grantee's annual follow-on grant proposal shall satisfy this reporting requirement through the grantee's final application for funds. Thereafter these annual performance reports shall be submitted to the ADO. Performance reports should not exceed two pages in length, should contain appropriate identifying data and shall provide the following information: 1. A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals or objectives established for the program during the reporting period, including percentage-of-completion data and a computation of square footage costs for all projects undertaken; 2. The reasons for slippage if approved goals were not met; 3. Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. Identify any issues, favorable or adverse conditions, changes, or situations which are expected to impact the scope, size, cost, or completion schedule for the project, along with a discussion of proposed or actual actions taken by your institution to resolve any problems encountered; 4. If the proposed represents any change to your approved five-year plan, please provide a description of, and justification for, the change; 5. A summary of activities to be undertaken during the ensuing 12-month period; 6. A listing of A/E, and construction contracts entered into during this reporting period only for each program component; and 7. A detailed breakdown of all project costs incurred to date (cumulative). In addition to the Annual Performance report described above, the grantee is required to submit an annual progress report in REEport. B. REEport Grant Reporting: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting

(item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. 10.514 Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program

EFNEP,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

Section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act provides that the Secretary of Agriculture may fund extension work in several states, territories, and possessions. Section 1425 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (as amended) (7 U.S.C. 3175) is also known as the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP)., 7 USC Code 3175.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of this funding is to increase the impact of nutrition education disseminated to low-income families and youth in the 50 states, the U.S. territories, and the District of Columbia. EFNEP serves two primary low-income audiences: 1) families with young children (parents and other caregivers with primary responsibility for feeding young children); and 2) youth/children (grade range - kindergarten through 12th grade). The priorities of EFNEP are to assist low-income families and youth in acquiring knowledge, skills, attitudes, and changed behaviors necessary for nutritionally sound diets and to contribute to their personal development and improvement of the total family diet and nutritional well-being. Participation in EFNEP should result in improved diets and nutritional well-being of the total family. Individuals and families should experience improvements in four core areas: Diet Quality and Physical Activity Improved diets and nutritional and physical well-being through the adoption of federal food and physical activity recommendations. Food Resource Management Increased ability to buy, grow, or otherwise appropriately obtain, prepare, and store food that meets nutritional

Award Procedure:

RREA:NIFA will review submitted documents to determine if all program, financial, and administrative requirements have been met and are current. RREA-NFF:Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors:

(a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d)

Reports:

RREA: Recipients have an approved Five (5) year project in REEport and are to provide an Annual Progress Report (by fiscal year), in REEport. The progress report should include program outputs and outcomes that correspond to the RREA strategic issues included in the recipients REEport project. Significant outputs and outcomes from emergent program offerings should also be included in the Annual Progress Report. The following is a description of project data reporting requirements through the REEport system (<http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>), as well as the SF-425 reporting requirements. Institutions must submit a REEport Project Initiation, which includes the Project Description, Project Classification, Assurance Form, and Project Proposal through the REEport System prior to the initiation of each capacity-funded project. The project must undergo a review process and be approved before it is incorporated into the Program of Research. Each institution must submit a REEport Progress Report annually for each eligible project. All Progress Reports are based on the federal fiscal year and must be submitted by March 1st for the preceding fiscal year. A Final Report must be submitted to NIFA through REEport for each completed or terminated project. Such reports must be submitted at the same time as are progress reports on active projects and should include a summary of accomplishments for the entire life of the project. A Project Financial Report must be submitted to NIFA through REEport annually for all eligible projects from the preceding fiscal year. A Project Financial Report is also required for expenditures on all state projects that are to be included in the non-federal funds and matching funds computation. Reports shall be made on the federal fiscal year basis. Financial reporting via the SF-425, Federal Financial Report is due to the ezFedGrants portal, on December 31st, for the period October 1st through September 30th, and annually thereafter until the award is closed out. Information on how to access the ezFedGrants portal can be found under the training on the ezFedGrants page: <https://www.nfc.usda.gov/ezFedGrants>. The final SF-425 is due no later than 90 days after the termination date of the grant. The form should be emailed as a PDF attachment to formulagrants@nifa.usda.gov (link sends e-mail). All questions relating to the SF-425 reports should be directed to the Administrative Contact listed in block 14 of the Award Face Sheet. See <http://nifa.usda.gov/program/renewable-resources-extension-act-capacity-grant> for additional details of annual, final technical, and financial reporting requirements. Instructions for using the REEport system are included on the NIFA web site at <http://nifa.usda.gov/reeport-resources-land-grant-partners>. RREA-NFF: REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov.a>. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEportNational Institute of Food and AgricultureU.S. Department of AgricultureSTOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. The most current RFA is available via: <https://nifa.usda.gov/funding-opportunity/rural-health-and-safety-education-competitive-grants-program-rhse> RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the Competitive RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. 10.517 Tribal Colleges Extension Programs

Tribal Colleges Extension Program Special Emphasis (TCEP-SE); Tribal Colleges Extension Program (TCEP); Federally Recognized Tribes Extension Program (FRTEP) (formerly Extension Indian Reservation Program),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

TCEP-SE This program is authorized under Section 534(b) of the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 301 note), as amended by the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) (7 U.S.C. 7601). This section amends Section 3 of the Act of May 8, 1914 (Smith-Lever Act) (7 U.S.C. 341 et seq.), as amended. TCEP This program is authorized under Section 534(b) of the Equity in Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994 (7 U.S.C. 301 note), as amended by the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (AREERA) (7 U.S.C. 7601). FRTEP This program is authorized under Section 3(d) of the Act of May 8, 1914, Smith-Lever Act, ch. 79, 38 Stat. 372, 7 U.S.C. 341 et seq. Section 7403 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (FCEA)

OBJECTIVES:

TCEP-SE: The TCEP-SE is intended to be a component of the applicant 1994 institution's land-grant roadmap or strategic planning process. To the extent practicable, priorities should reflect NIFA's national critical needs areas: 1) Development of sustainable energy; 2) Increased global food security; 3) Adaptation of agriculture and natural resources to global climate change; 4) Reduction of childhood and adolescent obesity; and 5) Improved food safety. TCEP: The purpose of the TCEP is to enable 1994 institutions to deliver science-based, culturally relevant extension education programs designed to address public needs and improve quality of life. The TCEP is intended to be a component of the applicant 1994 institutions land-grant roadmap or strategic planning process. The following are priority areas: 1. Promotion of energy conservation and development of sustainable energy sources; 2. Increased reservation, pueblo, tribal or other American Indian Community food security; 3. Adaptation of tribal agriculture and natural resources to global climate change; 4. Reduction of childhood and adolescent obesity; and/or 5. Improved food safety. The purpose and intent of this program is to establish an Extension presence and support Extension outreach on Federally Recognized Indian Reservations and Tribal jurisdictions of Federally Recognized Tribes. The intent and mission of this competitive grant program is to establish: 1) An Extension presence to promote equity in access to Extension outreach; 2) To provide resources to address long-standing need among Federally Recognized Tribes. FRTEP: The purpose and intent of this program is to establish an Extension presence and support Extension outreach on Federally Recognized Indian Reservations and Tribal jurisdictions of Federally Recognized Tribes. This program seeks to continue the Land Grants mission of inclusion--providing education and research-based knowledge to those who might not otherwise receive it.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

USES: TCEP-SE Agriculture educational programs help individuals learn new ways to generate income through alternative enterprises, improved marketing strategies, and management skills and help farmers, foresters and ranchers improve productivity through resource management, controlling crop pests, soil testing, livestock production practices, and marketing. 2. 4-H Youth Development builds important life skills in youth that build character and assist them in making appropriate life and career choices. At-risk youth participate in school retention and enrichment programs. Youth learn science, math, social skills, and much more, through hands-on projects and activities. 3. Leadership Development trains extension professionals and volunteers to deliver programs in gardening, health and safety, family and consumer issues, and 4-H youth development and serve in leadership roles in the community. 4. Natural Resources informs landowners and homeowners how to achieve sustainable use of natural resources and enhance environmental values with educational programs in water quality, water conservation, timber management, composting, lawn waste management, and recycling. 5. Family and Consumer Sciences enhances families resiliency and health by teaching nutrition, food preparation skills, positive child care, family communication, financial management, and health care strategies. 6. Community and Economic Development helps local governments investigate and create viable options for economic and community development, such as improved job creation and retention, small and medium-sized business development, effective and coordinated emergency response, solid waste disposal, tourism development, workforce education, and land use planning. TCEP: Projects will be tailored to support current or proposed Extension education infrastructure, personnel and programming. Procurement of educational equipment, extension office accommodation, salaries for Extension personnel, student internships, community outreach and allowable program support expenses are considered part of capacity building. FRTEP Applicants will work towards a comprehensive Extension plan and engage in both direct and indirect activities in support of their proposed programs. Examples of direct programs activities include, but are not limited to, needs assessments, educational workshops, site visits, producer demonstration projects and cultural-learning events. Indirect activities might include, but are not limited to, extending partnerships, expanding communication networks and acquiring additional resources in support of the overall goals and objectives of the proposed project.

Applicant Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; TCEP-SE and TCEP: The Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994, as amended in Section 533(a), requires that each 1994 Land-Grant Institution be accredited or making progress towards accreditation and be recognized as a legal entity. If accreditation is being sought, a college must demonstrate its progress towards accreditation by a letter from a nationally recognized accreditation agency affirming receipt of application for an accreditation site visit or other such documentation. FRTEP: Applications may be submitted by 1862 or 1890 Land-Grant Institutions that have a Federally Recognized Tribe within their state jurisdiction. For a state-by-state listing of Indian tribes or groups that are federally recognized, see <http://www.ncsl.org/research/state-tribal-institute/list-of-federal-and-state-recognized-tribes.aspx>.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

American Indian; Education (13+); TCEP-SE and TCEP: The Educational Land-Grant Status Act of 1994, as amended in Section 533(a), requires that each 1994 Land-Grant Institution be accredited or making progress towards accreditation and be recognized as a legal entity. If accreditation is being sought, a college must demonstrate its progress towards accreditation by a letter from a nationally recognized accreditation agency affirming receipt of application for an accreditation site visit or other such documentation. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required).

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report.1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs.c.Final Technical ReportThe Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable:Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment.FINANCIAL REPORTING:As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA.Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425:NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. 10.518 Food Animal Residue Avoidance Databank

FARAD,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE,
DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Title VI Section 604 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7642) states that -The Secretary of Agriculture shall continue operation of the Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database program (referred to in this section as the FARAD program) through contracts, grants, or cooperative agreements with appropriate colleges or universities., Title 7, Section 604, 7 USC Code 7642.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the FARAD is to provide livestock producers, extension specialists, scientists, and veterinarians with up to date information to prevent drug, pesticide and environmental contaminant residues in food animal products. Collaboration between all institutions occurs on research projects that are necessary to validate the FARAD withdrawal interval estimates.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Food Animal Residue Avoidance Databank (FARAD) is a NIFA funding opportunity for the production of safe foods of animal origin through the development and dissemination of expert-mediated resources supporting prevention and mitigation of violative chemical (drug, pesticide, natural toxins, and environmental contaminant) residues in food animal products. The major roles of each FARAD Center: Kansas State University (KSU) - Develop pharmacokinetic modeling approaches and provide pharmacokinetic support to FARAD centers. In addition, develop an interface that links the developed models (physiologically-based PK models) with drug residue cases managed by responders at UCD and NCSU. The University of California (UCD) Maintain the pharmacokinetic, bibliographic and call center databases and web-based access to the kinetic and bibliographic citation files. On a rotating basis with NCSU also provides responses to drug and contaminant residue questions submitted to FARAD. The University of Florida (UFL)- Collect and enter data for the US Approved Animal Drugs Database (US-AADD), maintains internet websites for FARAD, creates and supports platforms for mobile devices to access the Veterinarian's Guide to Residue Avoidance Management (VetGRAM) and other mobile-friendly applications, and distributes electronic alerts and updates via email, Twitter and other electronic formats. North Carolina State University (NCSU) Develop pharmacokinetic modeling approaches and provide pharmacokinetic support to FARAD centers. In addition, develop an interface that links the developed Population PK models with drug residue cases managed by responders at UCD and NCSU. On a rotating schedule with UCD, provide responses to emergency queries (telephone, internet) from the FARAD Hotline. NCSU will work with a veterinary clinical pharmacologist provide veterinary clinical pharmacology technical support to responders at NCSU and UCD for drug residue cases submitted to FARAD and oversee that appropriate PK models are utilized to resolve FARAD cases submitted to NCSU and UCD response centers. Collaboration between all institutions occurs on research projects that are necessary to validate the FARAD withdrawal interval estimates.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Title VI Section 604 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7642) states that -The Secretary of Agriculture shall continue operation of the Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database program (referred to in this section as the FARAD program) through contracts, grants, or cooperative agreements with appropriate colleges or universities. This 30-year-old high performing integrated consortium of collaborating institutions currently includes at each Land Grant campus a lead PD, and his/her respective scientific staff. The institutions involved are University of California, Davis (UCD), North Carolina State University (NCSU), University of Florida (UFL), and Kansas State University (KSU).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization; Title VI Section 604 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7642) states that -The Secretary of Agriculture shall continue operation of the Food Animal Residue Avoidance Database program (referred to in this section as the FARAD program) through contracts, grants, or cooperative agreements with appropriate colleges or universities. The institutions involved are University of California, Davis (UCD), North Carolina State University (NCSU), University of Florida (UFL), and Kansas State University (KSU).

Credentials/Documentation:

The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM). Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant. Applicants must furnish the information required in the Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Contact the headquarters or regional office, for most current RFA. RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) only accepts electronic applications which are submitted via Grants.gov in response to specific Requests for Applications (RFA). Applicants must complete the Grants.gov registration process. For information about the pre-award phase of the grant lifecycle application processes see: <http://www.grants.gov/web/grants/learn-grants/grants-101/pre-award-phase.html>. Further, applicants must follow the instructions provided in the NIFA Grants.gov Application Guide, which can be assessed as follows: Adobe NIFA Applications. 2 CFR part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards and 2 CFR part 400 USAs Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. RFAs are generally released annually. Hence, the RFAs provide the most current and accurate information available. Any specific instructions in the RFAs supersede the general information provided in the CFDA database.

Award Procedure:

Applications are subjected to a system of peer and merit review in accordance with section 103 of the Agricultural Research, Extension and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7613) by a panel of qualified scientists and other appropriate persons who are specialists in the field covered by the proposal. Within the limit of funds available for such purpose, the NIFA Authorized Departmental Officer (ADO) shall make grants to those responsible, eligible applicants whose applications are judged most meritorious under the procedures set forth in the RFA. Reviewers will be selected based upon training and experience in relevant scientific, extension, or education fields, taking into account the following factors: (a) The level of relevant formal scientific, technical education, or extension experience of the individual, as well as the extent to which an individual is engaged in relevant research, education, or extension activities; (b) the need to include as reviewers experts from various areas of specialization within relevant scientific, education, or extension fields; (c) the need to include as reviewers other experts (e.g., producers, range or forest managers/operators, and consumers) who can assess relevance of the applications to targeted audiences and to program needs; (d) the need to include as reviewers experts from a variety of organizational types (e.g., colleges, universities, industry, state and Federal agencies, private profit and non-profit organizations) and geographic locations; (e) the need to maintain a balanced composition of reviewers with regard to minority and female representation and an equitable age distribution; and (f) the need to include reviewers who can judge the effective usefulness to producers and the general public of each application. Evaluation Criteria will be delineated in the Request for Applications (RFA). 2 CFR 200 Subpart C and Appendix I and 2 CFR part 400 apply to this Program. SPECIAL NOTE: Please refer to the Request for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Contact the headquarters or regional office, for most current RFA. 10.520 Agriculture Risk Management Education Partnerships Competitive Grants Program

ARME,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Crop Insurance Act, 7 USC Code 1501. Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000, Section 133, Public Law 106-224, Federal Crop Insurance Act, 7 USC Code 1524(a). Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008, Section 12026, Public Law 110-246

OBJECTIVES:

To establish a competitive grants program for the purpose of educating agricultural producers about the full range of risk management activities to enhance profitability of their operations. These activities include futures, options, agricultural trade options, crop insurance, cash forward contracting, debt reduction, production diversification, marketing plans and tactics, farm resources risk reduction, and other appropriate risk management strategies. Further the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) is required to place special emphasis on risk management strategies, education, and outreach specifically targeted at: (A) beginning farmers or ranchers; (B) legal immigrant farmers or ranchers that are attempting to become established producers in the United States; (C) socially disadvantaged farmers or ranchers; (D) farmers or ranchers that (i) are preparing to retire; and (ii) are using transition strategies to help new farmers or ranchers get started; and (E) new or established farmers or ranchers that are converting production and marketing systems to pursue new markets.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Qualified public and private entities (including land grant colleges, cooperative extension services, and colleges or universities) may use funds for the purpose of educating agricultural producers about the full range of risk management activities, including futures, options, agricultural trade options, crop insurance, cash forward

Reports:

REEport GRANT REPORTING: All grant reporting must be completed using the Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport). Initial reporting (item a. below) is to be submitted through the REEport system. Annual progress and final reporting (items b. and c. below) also is to be done through the REEport system. Information on REEport can be found on NIFAs web site at <https://nifa.usda.gov/tool/reeport> and the REEport software can be found at <http://portal.nifa.usda.gov>. a. Initial Documentation in the REEport Database-- Research, Education, and Extension project online reporting tool (REEport) All projects must be documented in REEport. The NIFA contact for all REEport documentation is: REEport National Institute of Food and Agriculture U.S. Department of Agriculture STOP 22131400 Independence Avenue, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20250-2213 Telephone: (202) 690-0009 E-mail: electronic@nifa.usda.gov. b. Annual Progress Reports. All projects must report annually into REEport. An annual Progress Report is due 90 calendar days after the awards anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day of which the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. The following information, when applicable, must be included in the Project Modifications section of the annual Progress Report. 1) A comparison of actual accomplishments with the goals established for the reporting period (where the output of the project can be expressed readily in numbers, a computation of the cost per unit of output should be submitted if the information is considered useful); (2) The reasons for slippage if established goals were not met; and (3) Additional pertinent information including, when appropriate, analysis and explanation of cost overruns or unexpectedly high unit costs. c. Final Technical Report The Final Technical Report is required within 90 calendar days after the expiration or termination of the award. The Final Technical Report covers the entire period of performance of the award and must describe progress made during the entire timeframe of the project instead of covering accomplishments made only during the final reporting segment of the project. In addition to supplying the information required under item b. of this article, the final report must include the following when applicable: Identify equipment purchased with any Federal funds under the award and indicate subsequent use of such equipment. FINANCIAL REPORTING: As outlined in 2 CFR 200.327, the recipient must submit financial status reports by the frequency required in the terms and conditions of the award. The following are the financial reporting requirements for NIFA. Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425: NIFA uses the SF-425, Federal Financial Report to monitor cash. A Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due on an annual basis no later than 90 days following the end of the award anniversary date (i.e., one year following the month and day when the project period begins and each year thereafter up until a final report is required). An annual Progress Report covers the most recent one-year period. A final Federal Financial Report, Form SF-425, is due 90 days after the expiration date of this award. The report must be submitted to the Awards Management Division (AMD) as a pdf attachment to an email sent to awards@nifa.usda.gov. If questions are encountered regarding financial reporting requirements, please contact: Awards Management Division (AMD) Office of Grants and Financial Management (OGFM) National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) STOP 2271 1400 Independence Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20250-2271 Telephone: (202) 401-4986 SPECIAL NOTES: (1) Refer to the Competitive Requests for Applications (RFAs) for further specific and pertinent details. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503 Relation to other audit requirements, but records must be available for review or audit by appropriate officials of the Federal agency, pass-through entity, and Government Accountability Office (GAO). This program is also subject to audit by the cognizant Federal audit agency and the USDA Office of Inspector General.

Records:

In accordance with 2 CFR Part 400 - Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Grantees shall maintain separate records for each grant to ensure that funds are used for authorized purposes. Grant-related records are subject to inspection during the life of the grant and must be retained at least three (3) years. Records must be retained beyond the three (3) year period if litigation is pending or audit findings have not been resolved. 2 CFR 200 Subpart D applies to this program.

10.521 Children, Youth and Families At-Risk

CYFAR, CYFAR-SCP and CYFAR-PDTA,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

AUTHORIZATION:

Smith-Lever Act of 1914, 7 USC Code 343(d). Funding for the Children, Youth, and Families At-Risk Sustainable Community Projects (CYFAR SCP) is authorized under section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914, as amended (7 U.S.C. 341, et seq.). Section 7403 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act (FCEA) of 2008 amends section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act of 1914 (7 U.S.C. 343(d)) in regards to eligibility. Legislation indicates that funding for youth-at-risk programs falls under section 3(d) of the Smith-Lever Act., 7 USC Code 341, et seq.

OBJECTIVES:

To marshal resources of the Land-grant Institutions (LGIs) and Cooperative Extension Systems (CES) so that, in collaboration with other organizations, they can develop and deliver educational programs that equip youth who are at-risk for not meeting basic human needs with the skills they need to lead positive, productive, and contributing lives. The CYFAR Program is based on research on effective programs for at-risk youth and families and on the human ecological principle of working across the lifespan in the context of the family and community. To assure that the critical needs of children and families are met, CYFAR supports comprehensive, intensive, community-based programs developed with active citizen participation in all phases. CYFAR promotes building resiliency and protective factors in youth, families, and communities. CYFAR supports collaboration by forming lasting partnerships to achieve greater outcomes and provides a support base for sustaining programs for those at risk. CYFAR also promotes the use of technology to improve programs, provides efficient access to educational resources, and provides essential technological skills for youth and adults in at-risk environments. Further, LGIs and CES, in collaboration with other organizations, develop and deliver educational programs that equip military-connected youth with resiliency skills necessary to lead positive, productive, and contributing lives. The CMPC-PDTA provides for professional development and technical assistance to CYFAR 4-H Military partnership programs to ensure continued development and implementation of CMPC-PDTA.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

USES: The CYFAR SCP has two (2) strategic objectives: 1. To support community educational programs for at-risk children, youth, and families which are based on locally identified needs, soundly grounded in research, and which lead to the accomplishment of one of four CYFAR National Outcomes and 2. To integrate CYFAR programming into ongoing Extension programs for children, youth, and families insuring that at-risk, low income children, youth, and families continue to be part of Extension and/or 4-H programs and have access to resources and educational opportunities. The CMPC-PDTA has three (3) strategic objectives: 1. To provide professional development and technical assistance to the Land-grant institutions and Cooperative Extension Systems, in collaboration with other organizations, to ensure continued development and implementation of the 4-H program on military installations. 2. To support the development of Cooperative

Credentials/Documentation:

Credentials/Documentation (083): The System for Award Management (SAM) combines eight federal procurement systems, including CCR, and the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance into one new system. CCR activities are conducted through SAM (the CCR website will redirect users to SAM).Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) Number and System for Award Management (SAM): Each applicant (unless excepted under 2 CFR 25.110(b) or (c), or has an exception approved by the Federal awarding agency under 2 CFR 25.110(d)) is required to: (i) Be registered in SAM before submitting its application; (ii) Provide a valid DUNS number in its application; and (iii) Continue to maintain an active SAM registration with current information at all times during which it has an active Federal award or an application or plan under consideration by a Federal awarding agency. It also must state that the Federal awarding agency may not make a Federal award to an applicant until the applicant has complied with all applicable DUNS and SAM requirements and, if an applicant has not fully complied with the requirements by the time the Federal awarding agency is ready to make a Federal award, the Federal awarding agency may determine that the applicant is not qualified to receive a Federal award and use that determination as a basis for making a Federal award to another applicant.Applicants must furnish the information required in the Competitive Request for Applications (RFAs). Successful applicants recommended for funding must furnish the information and assurances requested during the award documentation process. These include, but are not limited to the following: Organizational Management Information - Specific management information relating to an applicant shall be submitted on a one time basis, with updates on an as needed basis, as part of the responsibility determination prior to the award of a grant identified under this RFA, if such information has not been provided previously under this or another NIFA program. NIFA will provide copies of forms recommended for use in fulfilling these requirements as part of the preaward process. Although an applicant may be eligible based on its status as one of these entities, there are factors which may exclude an applicant from receiving Federal financial and nonfinancial assistance and benefits under this program (e.g., debarment or suspension of an individual involved or a determination that an applicant is not responsible based on submitted organizational management information). This information collection is approved under OMB Circular Control No. 0524-0026, Assurance of Compliance with the Department of Agriculture Regulations Assuring Civil Rights, Compliance and Organization Information. 10.540 Participant Research Innovation Laboratory for Enhancing WIC Services

FEDERAL AGENCY:

FOOD AND NUTRITION SERVICE, AGRICULTURE, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

The Child Nutrition Act of 1966, Title 17, Part g, Section 5

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of this opportunity is to announce the availability of funds to establish the Participant Research Innovation Laboratory for Enhancing WIC Services. The role of the PRIL will be to support and evaluate local efforts to develop interactive tools, technical resources, or innovative solutions that improve customer service in WIC clinics and/or WIC retailers (referred to hereafter as WIC vendors) and ultimately encourage and improve retention of eligible children in WIC. Research projects will build on and improve our understanding of the diverse personal experiences, perceptions, and attitudes of those eligible for WIC services. Implemented strategies/solutions will be evaluated for their impact on participant satisfaction and retention, and other relevant measures, within the local agency setting. In addition, the Grantee will provide evaluation-related technical assistance to State and local WIC agencies carrying out similar interventions through WIC Special Project Grants or other awards.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements), Salaries and Expenses

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This Request for Applications (RFA) is open to all Accredited Colleges/Universities, and Private or Public Research Institutions. These are requirements for the selected recipient of the Cooperative Agreement, not any potential sub-grantees

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The grant is to be used to establish a cooperative agreement to identify, develop and undertake projects to meet Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) program needs and the food, nutrition, and health needs of WIC eligible participants.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Consumer; Women; Infant (0-5); Low Income; All Accredited

Colleges/Universities, and Private or Public Research Institutions are eligible to apply to this opportunity. This is a requirement for the selected recipient of the grants and cooperative agreements, not the sub-grantees. The recipient of the cooperative agreement is to award sub-grants to local WIC agencies aimed at identifying, developing, and evaluating interventions and innovative approaches to strengthen child retention in WIC.

Credentials/Documentation:

This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program.

Award Procedure:

FNS will pre-screen all applications to ensure that they contain the required documents and information, including but not limited to: all supporting documentation, the narrative proposal, Letters of Commitment from established partners specified in the application, and Agreement to Cooperate with FNS. Complete applications will need to be submitted by eligible applicants, meet all other eligibility requirements stated in this RFA, submitted on or before the required deadlines, and be in the required format. If an application does not include all appropriate information, FNS will consider the application to be non-responsive and will eliminate it from further evaluation. Following the initial screening process, FNS will assemble an evaluation panel to review and determine the technical merits of each application. The evaluation criteria discussed below will be reviewed by a panel of evaluators and used to score proposals. The proposals will be ranked by score starting with the highest score. The panel will present their recommendation to the selecting official based on this ranking. Awards will be considered based on rank order; however, the selection official reserves the right to make an award out of rank order to meet agency priorities, program balance, geographical representation, or project diversity. FNS reserves the right to use this solicitation and competition to award additional grants in the next fiscal year should additional funds be made available through future appropriations. FNS also reserves the right to fund successful applications at an amount less than requested if it is judged that an application can be implemented at a lower funding level. At the completion of the review and awards process, FNS will provide funding for the approved applicant upon receipt of a properly executed agreement.
